Stopped, Has It?

It was such a good watch. I never had it cleaned in five years. That is the remark we hear every day. Is it any wonder watches go to pieces? A watch is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and to give satisfaction and wear a lifetime should be cleaned every eighteen months. Has yours been attended to? If not, bring it in. Our prices are as low as is consistent with good work.

Saturday Afternoon in Picton.

The str. Merritt took her Saturday afternoon excursion to Picton. A most pleasant trip was thoroughly enjoyed by all on board. These Saturday afternoon trips will be continued throughout the season and should be well patronized, as the sail is a most delightful one.

It is Not Necessary

To be troubled longer with those painful and annoying corns. Dr. Russel's Corn Cure has removed hundreds of corns for your friends and will do the same for you. You bathe the feet in warm water for three days night and morning, and apply Dr. Russel's Corn Cure as directed; at the end of that time the corn can be lifted out with the point of a knife without the least pain. Try it. 25 cents. All druggists.

A DISORDERLY "CLUB."

Its Headquarters Were On Pinnacle Street.

For the past few months, residents on Pinnacle st., just west of Bridge st., have been complaining of disorderly conduct on the part of a "club" of thirteen or fourteen young men, who had quarters in rooms in the Henderson block. These young men were in the habit of going to there rooms on Saturday night, having first provided themselves with several kegs of beer, and there in company with their companions, male and female, would spend Sunday in drinking and rioting.

Of late the misconduct of these young men has been so scandalously flagrant that complaints have been made to the police by parties living in the vicinity. Sergeant Downs interested himself in the matter, gave the sports a gentle hint, and the result was that the young men have removed their headquarters to another part of the city. The police, however, have a very good idea where those new quarters are and if the young men continue their scandalous conduct, the premises will be raided and the members of the "club" taken into custody.

Church Services.

At John st. Presbyterian church yesterday evening the choir rendered the anthem "Dear Refuge of My Weary Soul," Mr. Geo. E. Fax taking the solo part. The Sunday School has been closed until completion of the extension now being erected.

In the morning at St. Thomas' Rev. S. Rhodes preached from Rom. viii.-14. In the evening Rev. Canon Burke preached from 1 Chron. ix.-29.

At Bridge st. church yesterday evening Mrs. Jas. Grant delighted the congregation by her rendition of the solo "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." The sacrament was administered at the close of the morning service to a large number of communicants.

In the Reformed Episcopal church yesterday morning the Rev. J. Simpson Trotter's text was John 17:8-10. He pointed out how all christians were or ought to be successors of the Apostles in devotion and loyalty to Christ. His evening text was: "He shall sit as a refiner and purifier of silver."

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should any one go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands, or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York" is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4:30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&w5w

DOUGHERTY IN TOWN.

The Detective Keeps His Own Counsel--Not Ready for the Investigation.

Sunday, as well as week days, had its detective in Belleville. During yesterday afternoon George Dougherty arrived at police headquarters and waited at the station until Chief Newton arrived. They were closeted together for some time. What the detective wanted in this city at the eleventh hour in the Napanee case was not made known to the reporter. When any pointed question was put to him he invariably gave an evasive answer, but on one point he gave the opinion that if Pare and Holden had not shown their greed by using the unsigned bills, these crooks would never have been placed behind the bars charged with robbing the bank at Napanee. When he was asked who he thought forged Mr. Baines' name on the bills, he laughingly said that would be told at the investigation. He also said that nothing of moment would be done in the investigation to-day. Detective Dougher left last night on the Steamer Algerian for the west. Mr. W. B. Northrup, one of the counsel for Ponton, went as far as far as Brighton on the same steamer.

Explain, Mr. Herald.

On Saturday evening the local agents of the Montreal Herald received a telegram to the effect that a very important item in regard to the Ponton case, one which would carry a great deal of weight in the young man's favor, was to appear in that evening's issue. A large number of the local subscribers of the Herald got wind of the message and were on hand yesterday morning to get their papers. To their intense disgust, however, when they opened their papers they found not a word in regard to the case. The presumption is that interested parties stopped the publication of the article, whatever it was.

A STORY ABOUT PARE

Said to Have Been in Dorchester Penitentiary for Robbery.

One of the Pinkerton detectives was in Bathurst, N. B., a few days ago in connection with the bills stolen from the Dominion Bank at Napanee, Ont., a year ago. It is also reported that one of the burglars arrested at Manchester, N. H., for the Napanee bank crime, Edward Pare, alias George E. Belanger, alias Howard, is the man arrested six years ago for the burglary at the office of Jas. Fish, Newcastle, and who was caught on an I.C.R. train, delivered over and taken back to Dorchester under the name of Bell.

Pare and Bell are said to be the same person. Bell escaped from the penitentiary after serving a short time. The penitentiary authorities at Dorchester will most likely send one of the keepers to Napanee, to have a look at the celebrated criminal, who admits that he was the leader of the gang that broke into the Napanee bank.

WHEELMAN DROWNED.

A Young Girl Dangerously Wounded by Accident.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

PETERBOROUGH, Aug. 1.—Fred Foote, a prominent business man of Peterborough, was riding down the hill near Jackson Park on his wheel this morning, when he lost control of the pedals and went over the bank into the artificial lake. When the body was recovered life was extinct. Foote leaves a large family.

Archie Seymour, aged 16 years, was shooting with a 22 calibre rifle at a can attached to a clothes line in the back yard on Saturday evening, when a bullet went through the fence and struck Miss E. Thornton, daughter of T. Thornton, a neighbor, in the neck, narrowly missing one of the principal arteries. The girl is now in the Nichols hospital in a critical condition. The ball has not yet been located.

POLICE NOTES.

Small Boys Must Not Steal Apples.

A telephone message was received at the police station yesterday from Constable Spencer, of Wellington, stating that two men, J. Martin, and J. Morton, had hired a horse and rig there and failed to return. The outfit was afterwards found at Shannonville, the men having boarded a train there.

A number of boys who have been helping themselves to fruit in some of the gardens in West Belleville have been summonsed to appear before the Magistrate tomorrow on the charge of illegally trespassing.

James Goodsell was charged by George Ashley with defrauding him of $5, commission on the sale of a piano. Dismissed with costs. A. R. Walker for the prosecution; W. Carnew for the defence.

Dennis Keegan charged Alex. Smith with non-payment of wages due, amounting to the large sum of 65c. Judgement for 65c. and $2.50 costs.

A BRAVE STRONG HEART.

Talks That are True.

Mrs. S. F. Bull, St. Lawrence st., Madoc, Ont., is enthusiastic in her praise of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. She writes as follows:—

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are a splendid pill. When I began taking them I was in a terrible nervous condition and physically very weak. My heart was very weak, beating unnaturally and spasmodically causing me great suffering and sleepless nights. I felt so ill and weak all the time that I could hardly do light house work. After taking three boxes of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I feel like a different woman. My nerves are strong—Physical weakness has been replaced by strength. My heart is strong and healthy so that it is able to fulfil its functions and beats naturally, in consequence I sleep and rest well. If I had not experienced this great change from extreme physical and nervous weakness to perfect strength of body and nerves I would not have believed such a quick and radical cure possible. I cannot say too much in favor of this great medicine—they do everything that they claim to do, and more. In my opinion they have no equal as a cure for nerve and heart trouble, weakness and general debility. (Signed,) Mrs. S. F. Bull, St. Lawrence st., Madoc, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 6 boxes for $2.00 at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. WARD CO., 71 Victoria street, Toronto. Book of information free. 1-d2t wlt

Two Small Fires.

The brigade received a call yesterday to South Church st., where some grass was burning. It was extinguished with little difficulty, very little damage being done.

Some boys were observed loitering around the office at the Fair Grounds yesterday and shortly afterwards it was found to be on fire. The flames were extinguished by people residing in the vicinity. It is supposed that one of the boys dropped a lighted cigar stub.

Vandervoort Stock Sold.

The stock of J. A. Vandervoort, insolvent, consisting of ready-made clothing and gents' furnishings, was sold on Saturday by Assignee Tew to Mr. N. B. Gould, a leading merchant, of Port Hope. The price paid was 40 cents on the dollar. Mr. Gould will remove the stock to Port Hope.

Went to Trenton.

A large number of the members of Loyal Moria Lodge C.O.O.F., went to Trenton on the Annie Lake yesterday to unite with the brethren there in their annual church parade.

The annual sermon was preached by the Rev. W. T. Wilkins, B. A., in the Presbyterian Church and he delivered a very earnest, practical discourse. There was a very large turnout.

PRINCE BISMARCK HAS PASSED AWAY.

The Great Man's Health Gave Out Suddenly.

PAINLESS DEATH SATURDAY.

Interesting Sketch of the Iron Chancellor's Career—How He Pulled the German States Together and Made the Fatherland—The Man of "Iron and Blood"—His Later Years of Ease—Profound Sorrow in Germany.

Berlin, July 30.—Prince Bismarck died at Friedricharune shortly before 12 p.m. Death had not been expected during the day, but the aged Chancellor took a turn for the worse during the afternoon and his son, Count William Bismarck, was hurriedly summoned and reached the bedside before the end came.

DEATH WAS PAINLESS.

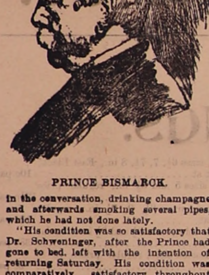

The Prince's Last Words Were "Thanks, My Child," Addressed to His Daughter.

London, Aug. 1.—A special despatch to the Associated Press says the news of Prince Bismarck's death reached Berlin at a late hour and was only generally known Sunday morning. A number of papers, including the Post, the Voorwaerts and the Deutsche Zeitung, did not contain the news of the Prince's demise. The Kreuz Zeitung had only a brief notice.

The Fullest Account.

The Nachrichten gives the fullest details of the last days and death of Bismarck. It says:

"On Thursday evening an improvement set in in the Prince's condition, in which repeated changes for the worse had occurred since October last, and he was able to appear at the table and take part in the conversation, drinking champagne and afterwards smoking several pipes, which he had not done lately.

"His condition was so satisfactory that Dr. Schweninger, after the Prince had gone to bed, left with the intention of returning Saturday. His condition was comparatively satisfactory throughout Friday and Saturday morning. He read the papers and conversed on politics, particularly referring to Russian affairs. In the forenoon he took luncheon, grumbling jocularly at the small proportion of spirits in his drinking water. Then a sudden change for the worse occurred, in consequence of an acute attack of pulmonary oedema, and in the course of the afternoon he frequently became unconscious.

"Recently, besides periods of unusual mental clearness, the Prince had had intervals of drowsiness, falling into long, sound and beneficial sleep, on awakening from which he would be completely refreshed.

"On Saturday evening grave symptoms appeared. Death came easily and painlessly. Dr. Schweninger was able to some extent to lighten the last moments.

His Last Words.

"The last words Prince Bismarck uttered were addressed to his daughter, Countess Von Rantzau, who wiped away the perspiration from his forehead. They were: 'Thanks, my child.'

"The whole family were assembled at the bedside at the time of his death; Dr. Schweninger, Dr. Chrysander and Baron and Baroness Merek were also present. As no breathing movement or pulse was perceptible for three minutes, Dr. Schweninger declared quietly and simply that the Prince was dead.

"Dr. Schweninger telegraphed the news to Emperor William in Norway.

"The Prince lies as he used to sleep, in an easy position, with his head slightly inclined to the left. The expression on his face is mild and peaceful.

"In accordance with Prince Bismarck's wish he will be buried upon the hill opposite the Castle in the vicinity of Hirschgruppe."

The Emperor Deeply Affected.

Bergen, Norway, Aug. 1.—When Emperor William was informed of the Prince's death early Sunday morning he was deeply affected and ordered his yacht to return immediately. The Hohenzollern, with the Emperor on board, will reach Keil to day. The flag on the yacht is flying at half-mast.

Germany's Profound Sorrow.

Berlin, Aug. 1.—The news of Prince Bismarck's death, which became generally known only through special editions of the papers, produced profound sorrow, as so sudden a realization of the fears of his demise was not expected. Several papers Sunday morning published special articles, with mourning borders, expressing in feeling terms the national sorrow, and dwelling on the brilliant and immortal services of the Prince to the Fatherland, his heroic greatness and his truly German character.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S CAREER.

Chief History Points of the Man of Blood and Iron.

The deceased statesman was created Count September 16, 1865, and Prince March, 1871. He was born of an old noble family at Schonhausen April 1, 1815. He led a somewhat tempestuous youth, in the course of which he studied and fought duels at the Universities of Gottingen and Greifswald, spent some time in the army, and subsequently settled down as a country gentleman, managing the family estates and discharging the office of inspector of dykes.

Brought up in the political faith of the Junkers, or Prussian Tory squirarchy, he became in 1846 a member of the Provincial Diet of Saxony and of the Prussian Diet, in which he first attracted attention by his fiery speeches in defiance of the old Monarchical party. During the revolutionary period of 1848 the services he rendered in the public debates to the Conservative cause so impressed the Prussian Ministry that he suddenly found a diplomatic career opened to him. The representation of Prussia in the Diet of the old German Bund at Frankfort falling vacant, the Premier introduced Herr von Bismarck to the King, who appointed him to that important post. Here he remained for several years, discharging the arduous duties of his office with an ability that won for him the admiration of the Prussian court. The remarkable series of private despatches which he addressed to the Prussian Premier are models of diplomatic skill and statecraft.

Austria was then all-powerful in the German Bund, and, supported by nearly all the other German States, had systematically prevented Prussia from exercising that influence in the councils of the Confederation to which from her position as far the greatest of the purely German States, she was justly entitled. From the time of Bismarck's appearance, however, the voice of Prussia began to have increasing weight. The successful audacity with which he checkmated Austrian intrigue at Frankfort was the source of constant irritation at Vienna, and naturally tended to produce some estrangement between the Austrian and Prussian courts. Bismarck was sent as Ambassador to St. Petersburg (1859-62).

In May, 1862, he was promoted to the then most difficult and important post in the diplomatic service—that of Prussian Ambassador at Paris, where Napoleon III. was then in the plenitude of his power. Five months later he was summoned to Berlin and made First Minister of the Prussian Crown.

The first ten years after Herr von Bismarck assumed power are amongst the most remarkable in modern European history. Within that brief period he had humbled the Austrian empire, destroyed the French empire, and created the new German empire. He remodelled the map of Europe, dismembering Denmark and France. He enlarged the frontiers of Prussia by the annexation of various provinces, including the dominions of three dethroned German princes; and succeeded in placing Germany, which had previously been the weakest and least respected of the great powers, at the head of all the states of Europe.

His first task as Minister-President was, however, one from which a statesman of less resolution and of less firm belief in the rights of the Crown might well have recoiled. The Chamber of Deputies had refused to pass the military budget, as it demanded increased grants, which were required to carry out the reorganization of the army in accordance with the ideas of the King. The House uniformly refused these supplies, and for several sessions heated debates and violent scenes, in which the Minister-President and the Liberal leaders were the principal antagonists, were of constant occurrence. In spite of the rejection of the budget by the Chamber the Government spent the money, and the House threatened Von Bismarck with impeachment for violating the constitution.

In the midst of this quarrel a congress of all the Princes of Germany was invited to meet at Frankfort to reorganize the German Bund; but the King of Prussia, by advice of his Minister, refused to appear; and the project, although discussed and approved by five-sixths of the German sovereigns, came to nothing.

The German Bund having, at Herr von Bismarck's instigation, resolved to invade the Elbe duchies in support of the claims of the Duke of Augustenburg, Austria, Prussia and Saxony were intrusted with the execution of the task; and a war broke out in 1864 with Denmark, resulting in the loss to her of the duchies of Schleswig-Holstein and Lauenburg. Instead of giving them up to the Duke, Bismarck determined if possible to annex them to Prussia. The Austrian and Saxon troops were recalled, and the quarrel eventually led (in 1866) to a war between Prussia and Austria, who was joined by Bavaria, Hanover, Hesse-Cassel, Hesse-Darmstadt and Nassau. The arms of Prussia were victorious; Austria suffered a crushing defeat at Sadowa (Koniggratz), in Bohemia. Hanover and the South German States were likewise vanquished; and the war, which was over in seven weeks, led to the treaty of Nikolsburg, by which Austria was permanently excluded from the German Bund, and Hanover, Nassau, Hesse-Cassel and Frankfort, as well as Schleswig-Holstein and Lauenburg, were annexed to Prussia.

The North German Confederation, with Prussia at its head, was established in place of the old Bund, while with the South German States an offensive and defensive alliance was concluded, giving the King of Prussia supreme command of all their troops in time of war. Of the North German Bund Count von Bismarck was created Chancellor and President of the Federal Council.

In addition to these successes, in consideration of which the Prussian House of Deputies passed a bill of indemnity, forgiving his former breaches of the constitution, Count von Bismarck obtained great popularity for creating a representative branch of the new Federal Government, on the basis of manhood suffrage.

Napoleon III. jealous of the growing power of Prussia, attempted to obtain some compensation for France by the annexation of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, which Holland had consented to cede to him. But in this scheme the French Emperor was thwarted, chiefly by the energetic attitude of Bismarck; and in the end the duchy was declared neutral territory, and the fortifications of the capital were demolished.

Great as were the events through which Bismarck had conducted Germany, he was destined to lead her shortly through greater events still; notably by the defeat of the French in 1870, the dispute growing out of the offer of the crown of Spain to Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern. The King of Prussia, as the head of the family, had consented to the acceptance of the honor afterwards revoked. After a campaign consisting of an unbroken series of victories, largely due to the strategic genius of Count von Moltke, King William was able, through his Chancellor, to dictate terms of peace to his helpless assailant.

Of the events in Prince Bismarck's life subsequent to the Franco-German war, it may be mentioned that he presided at the Congress of Berlin (1878), the Berlin Conference (1880), and the Congo or Colonial Conference (1884). In his domestic legislation Prince Bismarck has been far less fortunate than in his diplomatic negotiations. In his economical policy, after beginning as a Free Trader, he became a Protectionist. He first largely reduced the customs tariff, and ten years later imposed heavier duties than ever. While he thus alienated the Liberals, his May Laws, interfering to an unwise extent with the religious liberty of the Catholic priesthood, led to a long and bitter struggle with the Roman Church, and made all its adherents his bitter enemies. He had previously (December 31, 1885) received the decoration of the Order of Christ from the Pope.

Prince Bismarck was called the man of "iron and blood," because in one of the first speeches he delivered as Minister-President, in 1862, he said that "it was not by speeches and majority votes that the great questions of the time would be settled, but by iron and blood." The Danish, the Austro-German and the Franco-German wars form a significant commentary on this expression. Other phrases attributed to him are that "Might goes before right," the definition of a journalist as "a man who has failed in his profession in life," and many others. Prince Bismarck's name was very prominently before the public mind in connection with the triple alliance between Germany, Austria and Italy.

The Queen, in August, 1889, presented Prince Bismarck with a full length protrait of herself. The degree of D.D. was conferred upon him by the University of Giessen in December, 1888.

Two attempts have been made on Bismarck's life; the first by a lunatic named Blind on May 7 1866, at Berlin; the second on July 13, 1874, by Kullmann at Kissingen. A Bismarck museum, containing all sorts of objects relative to the Chancellor's career, has been founded at Berlin.

The resignation of the Prince as Prussian Prime Minister as well as Chancellor was announced in February, 1890, but did not actually occur till March 17, when divergences of opinion between him and the Emperor caused a rupture. Prince Bismarck left Friedrichsruhe for Vienna on June 14, 1892, in order to be present at the marriage of his son. He was given a magnificent reception at Dresden, where, in his reply, he announced that he would never again hold an official position. There were no manifestations at Berlin, but at Vienna the greatest enthusiasm was evinced.

After this visit the papers for a while were full of Bismarck and his criticisms on the Government, but animadversions and retorts upon him from the social and semi-official organs of the Government were few till the Reichsanzeiger published the circular instructions sent to the Imperial representatives abroad in May, 1890, just after the Prince had retired. This document stated that "His Majesty discriminates between Prince Bismarck of former times and of to-day," and deprecated the attachment of "any practical importance to the press publications claiming to reproduce Prince Bismarck's views." A despatch to Prince Reuss, the German Ambassador at Vienna, just before Prince Bismarck's Vienna journey, was still more emphatic. It stated that any rapprochement between the Emperor and his fomer Chancellor lacked the indispensable condition that the latter should be willing to take first steps. But even if that condition were fulfilled, the Prince "would never again regain any influence in the conduct of public affairs."

Some political significance was attached to the welcome given by enthusiastic thousands to the Prince when he visited Jena in July. During the year 1890 the Prince broke out occasionally in criticism of the Government, and in November he made a particularly violent assault on the new Army Bill.

Since 1890 Prince Bismarck has resided at his country seat. Especially in the earlier months, after his retirement, considerable friction existed between him and the Emperor. In 1893, however, the Prince fell seriously ill and the Emperor sent him a telegram of sympathy and offered him use of one of his castles to assist his convalescence. This offer the Prince declined, but the exchange of courtesies between him and the Emperor served to make very manifest the desire of the German people for a reconciliation.

This was finally accomplished upon the Emperor sending him presents of wine and congratulating him upon a recovery from an attack of influenza.

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS

LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly —that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

ARCHBISHOP WALSH DEAD.

Summons Came Suddenly Just Before Sunday Midnight.

Grief at the Tidings of His Demise—Sketch of Archbishop's Career—Distinguished for Scholarship and Erudition and a Life of Firmness in the Promulgation of His Faith, With an Amiable Manliness of Character.

Toronto, Aug. 1.—Archbishop Walsh is dead! Such was the news which at midnight spread over the city and created the most unfeigned regret on every hand. It could hardly be believed, for a week or two ago the eminent prelate was in the best of health, discharging his important duties. The accident His Grace sustained three weeks ago, whilst inspecting the proposed new cemetery in North Toronto, was believed to only trivial, and to necessitate but a temporary withdrawal from active work. Such was the fond hope alike of friends and physicians, hopes doomed, alas! to be ruthlessly dashed, and to-day there is universal mourning. A great man indeed has fallen, one whose praises were heard not alone in the Archdiocese of Toronto, the Diocese of London, which he had previously served, but throughout the whole of Canada and far beyond. Subjoined are the details of the Archbishop's life, indicating his absorbing love for his native land and for the church to which he dedicated his life. As a citizen of Toronto His Grace is mourned by all parties and creeds. Amid all the burning questions of the past few years no words of bitterness ever fell from Archbishop Walsh, who, respecting the opinions of those who differed from him, held on the even tenor of his way and lived and labored for the church he served and the people he loved.

The Sudden Summons.

The shock to the public will be the greater that it was unexpected. Hopefully, almost exultantly, he spoke when conversing with Rev. Father Rohleder, Chancellor of the Cathedral, as late as 7.30 o'clock last night. In fact, he showed no signs that dissolution was at all in prospect until at 10.30 attendants wheeled him to his bed. It was only then that he complained of a weak spell. His nurse gave him medicine, but he had then but ten minutes more to live, for it was just 10.40 o'clock when he crossed the bar.

Funeral Arrangements.

At his own request, made last winter, the Archbishop's remains will be buried on Thursday in St. Michael's Cathedral, under the altar of the Blessed Virgin. The body will be in state in the Cathedral Wednesday and Wednesday night. Bishop Dowling of Hamilton, as senior Bishop of Ontario, will preach the funeral sermon.

Brief Biography.

The deceased Archbishop was the son of the late James Walsh, by his wife, Ellen Macdonald, and was born in the parish of Mooncoin, County Kilkenny, Ireland, May 23, 1830, his preparatory studies being conducted at St. John's College, Waterford, where he also took one year in theology.

Coming to Canada, April, 1852, he entered the Grand Seminary, Montreal, and ,in the following year received tonsure from Bishop La Roque, and minor orders from Bishop Bourget. On Oct. 22, 1854, Bishop de Charbonnel of Toronto ordained him sub-deacon, and deacon on Oct. 29, and, on Nov. 1, following the Feast of All Saints, he was raised by the same prelate to the priesthood in St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto.

In 1855 he was appointed to the Brock Mission on Lake Simcoe, of which parish he was the first resident pastor, and where, removed from all society, the young priest had ample opportunity to pursue undisturbed the studies to which he was devoted—frequently conducted by the light of a tallow candle, or of the log fire in the shanties of the "settlers" in the back woods.

In 1857 he was placed in charge of the more important parish of St. Mary's, Toronto, and shortly after the consecration of Dr. Lynch as Bishop of Toronto, 1859, he was appointed rector of St. Michael's Cathedral, and on Easter Sunday, 1862,, was nominated vicar-general of the diocese.

In May, 1863, he attended the 3rd Provincial Council of Quebec as theologian to the Bishop of Toronto, and, the following year, visited Rome for the first time, being received with marked distinction by Pope Pius IX. The health of Dr. Pinsonneault, Bishop of Sandwich, becoming impaired, the hierarchy of the ecclesiastical Province of Quebec unanimously nominated Vicar-General Walsh as future bishop; the choice in due time being ratified by bulls from the Holy See, the consecration taking place in St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, and being conducted by Mgr. Baillargeon, then Archbishop of Quebec, assisted by Bishop Bourget of Montreal and Bishop Lynch of Toronto.

In January 1868, Bishop Walsh removed the episcopal residence from Sandwich to London, to which city the See was transferred by a decree from the Propaganda, dated Nov. 15, 1869. Here unlimited scope was afforded His Lordship for the exercise of his administrative and executive abilities. A large and pressing debt upon the diocese had to be liquidated, the re-organization of the clergy and missions was urgent, a number of priests had to be provided, in many parishes churches and presbyteries had to be built or restored and enlarged, the interests of education demanded earnest and immediate attention, and asylums for the orphan and the infirm had to be established.

Within three years the entire debt of the diocese was paid off, and, in 1876, upon paying his official visit as bishop to Rome, he was able to report 28 new churches built, many of them splendid and costly structures, and 17 presbyteries for the accommodation of the parochial clergy. An episcopal residence second to none in the province had been constructed and was absolutely free of debt. Three convents had been built, Mount Hope purchased and paid for, and a splendid new orphanage erected on it, in addition to which a handsome new college had been built for the Basilian fathers at Sandwich; 29 priests had been ordained and over 10,000 children confirmed. In May, 1881, the corner-stone of the new cathedral in London was laid, and St. Peter's was dedicated, June 28, 1885, by Bishop Walsh in the presence of a number of distinguished prelates.

In 1882, when visiting Ireland, he took part in the ceremony of the unveiling of the O'Connell monument in Dublin, having previously, in 1864, assisted at the laying of its corner-stone. At the close of the 20th year of his episcopate, Nov., 1887, he again repaired to Rome, and assisted at the Jubilee of Pope Leo XIII. in St. Peter's. While Bishop Walsh was on his return to Canada from this official visit, Archbishop Lynch of Toronto laid down in death the crozier which for 28 years he had carried with so much zeal, and, by a brief from Rome, dated Aug. 27, 1889, Bishop Walsh's eventful career as Bishop of London closed, and he was appointed to the Archbishopric of Toronto, the ceremonies of the installation taking place with great pomp on Nov. 27. To the duties of his new charge he applied himself with the same zeal which had characterized his administration of the London Diocese, with results which are apparent upon all sides, the most conspicuous perhaps being the renovation of St. Michael's Cathedral, which, in its interior decoration, is now one of the chief ornaments of Toronto, while the constant visitation of the archdiocese and the encouragement of students in greatly increased numbers for the priesthood, testify to the activity of His Grace in those important branches.

Archbishop Walsh has throughout his career given much attention to the affairs of his native country. In a letter addressed to the Hon. Edward Blake, M.P., he formulated a scheme for the holding of a great convention in Dublin to restore unity in the Irish party. This convention was held in Dublin in 1898, and was attended by Rev. Father Ryan, S.J., as the Archbishop's representative, along with many other Canadians.

THE WAR NEWS.

From Porto Rico the reports are that General Miles is taking matters easy and having no fighting. Indeed, the latest account is that the volunteers are surrendering in thousands and volunteering to join the American soldiers. Business is said to be reviving and the outlook is cheerful.

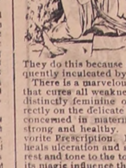

From Manila the report is that Captain-General Augusti, finding he can get no relief from Spain, will surrender as soon as Merritt and Dewey send their ultimatum. Four thousand American troops are now camped within a mile of the city.

Sea Gold Bubble Burst.

Sir Charles Tupper Home.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—Sir Charles Tupper arrived here yesterday, having come out to Quebec in the Numidian, and thence by the Maritim express from Levis. In an interview he said the projected vigorous campaign of the Conservative party would not be carried out, because the Conservatives wished to place no stone in the way of the country's success at the coming conference at Quebec.

In the old days of the Christian martyrs it was not unusual for the savage Pagans to cast innocent women into a den of lions, to suffer horrible agony and fear before death finally came to their relief. In this Christian age and this land of civilization tens of thousands of women daily suffer the slow torments of approaching death. They do this because of a false delicacy frequently inculcated by their mothers.

There is a marvelous medicine for women that cures all weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in maternity and makes them strong and healthy. It is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It gives rest and tone to the tortured nerves. Under its magic influence the headaches and pains in the back and sides, the dragging and burning sensations, the nervousness, weakness, lassitude and despondency that result from so-called female weakness are banished. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Taken during the period of solicitude, it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's entry to the world easy and almost painless. It insures the new comer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. All good druggists sell it.

Mrs. Ursula Dunham, of Sistersville, Tyler Co., W. Va., writes: "My baby is now nearly a year old. After she was born I had local weakness. I could not stand up. I took three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it has cured me. I can now do all my work."

Dr. Pierce's It is better to do mending while the damage is slight, than wait until the whole structure is ready to fall. Constipation is the one, all-embracing disorder that is responsible for many other diseases. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. Druggists sell them. They never gripe. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. Nothing else is "just as good." A permanent cure. Pleasant Pellets.

MOMENTOUS DISCUSSION.

Early Cessation of the War Seems Likely.

President McKinley, M. Cambon and Secretary Day Had a Lengthy and Amicable Conference—M. Cambon Presents Credentials as Plenipotentiary for Spain and He Is Thus the Direct Representative of That Country.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 1.—Events of the most momentous character occurred at the conference at the White House Saturday afternoon between the President, Ambassador Cambon of France and Secretary Day, carrying the peace negotiations far beyond the mere submission of terms of peace by the United States, and reaching the point of a preliminary basis of peace beween the Government of Spain and the Government of the United States, needing only the ratification of the Madrid Cabinet of what was done to bring the war to an end. This was accomplished on the part of Spain when Ambassador Cambon presented to the President credentials he had received from the Spanish Government, appointing him Envoy Extraerdinary and Plenipotentiary, with complete instructions as to the matter of acting upon every one of the peace conditions presented by the United States, including the disposition of Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines, the Ladrones, indemnity, armistice, and all other questions likely to arise in the course of the negotiations.

With these credentials authorizing him to speak as plenipotentiary for the Government of Spain and with full instructions on every point at issue, Ambassador Cambon in behalf of Spain not only received the peace conditions laid down by the American Cabinet earlier in the day, but thereupon entered upon their full discussion with a view to reaching a final and complete agreement.

One Modification Agreed To.

After strong argument, the President and Secretary Day consented to a modification of the American terms in one particular. What that modification relates to is not disclosed, but it is not believed it applies to the independence of Cuba, the cession of Porto Rico, or the granting of adequate coal stations to the United States in the Pacific, nor to diminish any vital particular the terms on which peace will be restored. The modification brought about practical unanimity between the President and Ambassador Cambon, as plenipotentiary for Spain, and the latter has transmitted the result of the conference to Madrid for approval, which, if given, will end the war.

The profoundly important results developed Saturday came about most unexpectedly. Since the original proposition of Spain was presented last Tuesday, M. Cambon has prepared himself to speak with authority on the questions which were to arise. The President himself had preferred this course, though outside of himself and the Ambassador few were aware that the latter would come ready to treat as the envoy of Spain. The first instructions to M. Cambon made him merely a medium of communicating Spain's first note, but now he appeared with all the attributes of the direct diplomatic officer of Spain, empowered to act for the Government within his very complete instructions.

A Meeting on Which Much Pends.

The meeting was held in the President's library and both in the subjects discussed and the impressive manner in which the argument proceeded it was a conference to become memorable. After M. Cambon had presented his credentials as plenipotentiary and they had been examined and his status recognized as the envoy of Spain, the first business was the presentation of the terms laid down by the United States. Secretary Day read the terms, pausing at the end of each sentence to allow M. Thiebaut to interpret into French, as the Ambassador's knowledge of English is limited. This reading by Secretary Day and interpreting by M. Thiebaut took but 15 minutes. Then began the discussion. The President and Ambassador addressed each other direct with the greatest freedom and frankness, each stoutly maintaining the justice of his position on the several points involved.

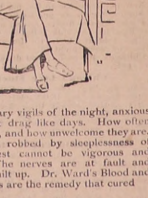

When at last, after an eloquent plea by the Ambassador, it was agreed to modify the conditions in one particular, Secretary Day withdrew for half an hour and attended to the drafting of the modification.

What Is the Modification?

What the modification is that has been agreed on can be only conjectured, but there is reason to believe that it relates either to the time when actual hostilities will be suspended, or else to the extent of America's interest in the Philippines. It is now for the Madrid Government to give final approval to what was partially accomplished Saturday. It is even possible that this approval may come very speedily, for there is no need of extended conferences or correspondence. All that was accomplished when M. Cambon acted as plenipotentiary. From the fact that he acted under instructions, the prospect would seem to be hopeful for Spain's ratifying what has been done. But it is for Spain herself to determine between peace and war as now presented.

The steamship City of Seattle has arrived at Seattle with forty-three passengers from Dawson. The gold brought out is estimated at $100,000.

MISS EMMA TEMPLE.

HERE IS WHAT SHE SAYS:

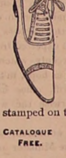

At last, after eight months of physical weakness and nervous prostration, caused by over exertion and want of rest,—during which time I suffered greatly on account of the shattered condition of my nerves, and for which I was unable to find any relief. I have found a medicine (Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills) that in three months made my nerves strong, removed all nervous troubles, built up my physical system and made me strong and well. They removed despondency, and in consequence of taking your valuable Pills I look forward to the future hopefully. I have to thank your great cure for nervousness and bodily weakness for my present good health and strength.

Yours truly,
Signed, EMMA TEMPLE, Hastings, Ont.

THE QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

The Conference which has been arranged to take place between representatives of the United States Government and England will meet on the 23rd inst. in the Ancient Capital of Canada, Quebec.

This Conference, while Imperial in character, is principally in the interests of Canada, therefore its proceedings will be watched with no little interest.

The Commission has been appointed to consider, and, if possible, settle the differences between Canada and the United States which in the past have created no little friction. The questions upon which there is so much dispute, and which will in all probability be considered by the commission, include the following:

Atlantic and Pacific coast fisheries and fisheries in inland waters contiguous to the frontier.

Fur seals in Behring Sea and the North Pacific Ocean.

Delimitation of the Alaska-Canadian boundary.

Alien labor laws.

Transportation of merchandise in bond through the United States and Canada.

Naval vessels on the lakes.

Mining rights of citizens of one country within the territory of the other.

Reciprocity of trade.

The conveyance of persons in custody of officers of one country through the territory of the other.

The United States will be represented by John W. Foster, J. A. Kasson, Senators Gray and Fairbanks, and Representative Dingley.

The English, Canadian and Newfoundland arbitrators are Lord Herschell, Sir Wilfred Laurier, Sir Louis Davies, Sir Richard Cartwright, Mr. Charlton, M. P., and Sir James Winter, Premier of Newfoundland.

A telegram from Newfoundland gives an interview with Mr. Morine, the Receiver General of that Colony, in which he seems to think that Canada will object to a Newfoundland delegate sitting upon the Commission. Of this we have grave doubts. Newfoundland's interests are too great in dealing with many of the questions to be considered, particularly that of the fisheries, to be overlooked, therefore Newfoundland should be represented. We shall be surprised if any objections are offered on the part of Canada.

The composition of that Conference is not what Canada should have had. We hope we may be mistaken in the attitude which it is feared the Canadian Commissioners will take in dealing with the important questions to be considered.

When Sir Wilfred Laurier's speeches in Boston and at St. Thomas, for which even the Globe was constrained to rebuke him, are considered, and his interview with a reporter from Chicago, immediately after the last general election, in which he referred to the treaty regulating the fisheries, as barbarous, etc; also John Charlton's known views upon trade questions, and his pro-United States feelings and leanings, added to Sir Richard Cartwright's Boston speech, in which he pointed out, that Canada might, under certain circumstances, become the Northern States of the Union, not much can be expected from such men in the way of keenly watching Canadian interests. Let us hope, in this particular, as upon the tariff, office has effected a change. Otherwise the worst may be expected.

People have wondered, and still ask, how it is that the Minister of Justice has been omitted in the selection of delegates, and such a man as Charlton chosen. There is no position in which legal talent is more required, than in dealing with international questions; and when we consider the study which the present Minister of Justice has given to this subject, not only as a statesman, but as a jurist, the omission is the more marked.

The ways of this Government are incomprehensible.

PREPARE FOR WAR IN THE TIME OF PEACE.

Judging from what is taking place in the Imperial Parliament and the utterances of English statesmen, it is evident that England is practically acting upon the principle of preparing for war during the time of peace. $40,000,000 additional for naval purposes in one year is a surprise even to the English people, and proves beyond a doubt that the British rulers do not propose to be taken by surprise, or in a state of weakness.

The New York correspondent of the Tribune, writing in relations to Goschen's speech, says:

"Mr. Goschen's speech last night created a profound impression in the Commons, and was the most important official utterance of the session. He has gone over bag and baggage, to the forward school and even left Lord Charles Beresford well in the rear. His supplementary naval estimate, carrying $10,000,000 for four battleships, four armored cruisers and twelve torpedo-boat destroyers were described forcibly by Sir William Harcourt as a flaming programme. Mr. Goschen's candor in explaining the reasons for increasing the outlay for new construction from $25,000,000 to $75,000,000 was really startling. Russia had suddenly proposed to add four battleships, six powerful cruisers and a torpedo flotilla to her navy, and consequently England must respond by strengthening her own fleet by the same number of vessels, superior in every class.

"Moreover, Mr. Goschen was explicit in explaining that these new ships would be specially built for the passage of the Suez Canal and meeting the Russian fleet in Chinese waters. It was this anti-Russian tone which made a great stir on both sides of the Commons. This speech, with the threat to build ship for ship with Russia

PAUL KRUGER.

This democratic tyrant is beginning to be appreciated at his true value, and European powers are at last learning that they made a mistake in extending their sympathy and moral support to this autocrat when his sway was menaced by the Jamieson raid. South Africa and the Transvaal will not have peace and prosperity until his wings are clipped.

The New York Tribune writes thus of him:

"Oom Paul is getting it right and left. Germany, after rushing to his aid and comfort at the time of the Jamieson raid, tells him it is a pity that raid did not succeed in turning him out, and that he had better mend his ways if he doesn't want a worse fate to befall him. And now the French Journal des Debats argues against any European country lending him the money he wants, saying that he is a reckless spendthrift, that he neglects to develop the wealth of his country, which is sufficient to provide for all wants without a loan, and finally that he admits the most scandalous abuses in his government. Apparently the venerable autocrat cannot count upon much European sympathy in his coming battle with his suzerain."

The only friends and defenders of Kruger in the English House of Commons at present are Labouchere and Edward Blake, a pair of democratic tyrants of the first water, worthy associates and supporters of the anti-British Kruger. Those in Canada who know the Hon. Edward would expect nothing else from him. Kruger and Blake may well be considered as synonymous terms.

A WEEK'S WHEAT.

Movements on Both Sides of the Atlantic—Effect of New Crops on the Markets—Prices.

Saturday Evening, July 30.

The week ending to-day has been marked by a decided depreciation in wheat values. On the Chicago market the July article has slumped about 10c a bushel, while the more remote options for September and December delivery have lost about 4c during the past seven days. The chief cause of the loss has been the prospect of big crops on the other side of the Atlantic, resulting in weak British and continental markets; and another source of the heavy feeling is, of course, to be found in the approach of a bountiful harvest in Canada and the United States. Farmers' shipments have been light so far as compared with some previous years, but immense receipts are looked for in the immediate future.

It was such a good watch. I never had it cleaned in five years. That is the remark we hear every day. Is it any wonder watches go to pieces? A watch is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and to give satisfaction and wear a lifetime should be cleaned every eighteen months. Has yours been stenciled to? If not, bring it in. Police Notes.

Geo. Hardigan was arrested this morning by officer Hayes charged with fraudulently obtaining a suit of clothes from John A. Vanderroort. Hardigan was drank at the time when it is alleged that the crime was committed. He was remanded until Thursday.

Frank Gould, of Plainfield, was arrested by Officer Morton last night on the charge of illegally disposing of old 49th Battalion overcoats. The officer obtained a finding seven overcoats which had been sold by Gould at from $1.50 to $2.00 each. Gould claimed that 150 old overcoats had been given to him by Lieut. Watts, which was corroborated by the latter officer. The Magistrate held that both Gould and Lieut. Watts acted in entire good faith, but they had no right to dispose of the overcoats. The prisoner was discharged, but he was ordered to return the coats. P. J. M. Anddrson for the Crown; W. Jeffers Diamond for the defence.

Delbert Black, Ernest Hayes, George Darroch and Edward Kellaway were up this morning on the charge of trespassing in Mrs. Dunnet's garden. The Magistrate had them placed in the cells for a few hours to cool off.

BEFORE MAGISTRATE DALY.

Ponton, Mackie and Holden Arraigned at Napanee.

Lawyer Porter Wants the Trial to Go on at Once—All Plead Not Guilty and Ponton and Mackie Elected to Be Tried by the Magistrate, Who Took a Day to Decide Whether He Would Try the Cases.

Napanee, Ont., Aug. 2.—The Napanee bank robbery case is still the one topic about which everyone talks in this town. Nearly 400 persons attended at the court house at 2 p.m. yesterday.

Magistrate Daly opened the proceedings sharp on time. Prisoners Holden, Mackie and Ponton were present.

Pare is considered "a sure thing," that has confessed all, and needs no investigation, so he was not present in court.

W. S. Herrington, acting County Crown Attorney, took the case for the prosecution. W. B. Northrup, Q. C., ex-M.P., K. ins Porter and Col. Ponton, the prisoner's uncle, were counsel for William Hamilton Ponton. Lawyer Wilson, Napanee, looked after the interests of Mackie, while Barrister D.E. Preston appeared for Holden. Lawyer Deroche, Napanee, was present on behalf of the Dominion Bank. Sheriff Hawley with the aid of Chief Adams, County Constable Sills and Constable Huff, preserved the proper stillness in the room.

Nelson R. Butcher of Toronto was appointed official stenographer.

They All Looked Well.

The prisoners all looked well, and stood while Magistrate Daly read the charge in a clear voice. It was to the effect that the three prisoners were charged with breaking into the Dominion Bank at Napanee on or about Aug. 27, 1897, and taking therefrom about $33,000.

W. S. Herrington arose and said: "I am counsel for the Crown. As intimated to all the counsel for the defence, only formal evidence will be taken to-day, but this will consist of a plan locating the building and the rooms around and above the bank." He said the reason of this delay in the investigation was that B. B. Osler, Q.C., whom the Attorney-General had appointed to conduct the prosecution, was in Collingwood, and could not reach Napanee till this evening, which statement turned out to be correct, as the famous lawyer came in on the 6.18 train.

Porter Wants Immediate Trial.

When the Magistrate asked Prisoner Ponton if he would elect to be tried summarily or by a jury, E. Gus Porter arose and said that he had intended to act as he had last year, but now, desiring to clear his client once for all of all suspicion in this matter, and having the utmost confidence in the Magistrate, he elected "to be tried before Your Worship."

A similar choice was made by Lawyer Wilson, on behalf of his client.

Lawyer Preston, acting for Holden, said: "I desire to make no election."

The question being asked of Ponton and Mackie, "Are you guilty or not guilty?" in both cases came back the answer, clear and strong, "Not guilty." Holden did not say a word.

Surprise to the Court.

The choice of the prisoners was a surprise to the court, and before the magistrate could make a statement Lawyer Herrington jumped up and said: "This is a very important matter, and needs due deliberation."

Magistrate Daly said he would not give his decision till to-day at 10 o'clock, when the arguments of counsel might be heard upon this point. He intimated that he thought Mr. Osler would like to have something to say upon the matter.

The First Witness.

The first witness, Surveyor F. F. Miller, Napanee, was called, and produced a plan of the Dominion Bank and adjoining properties.

Mr. Porter indicated several needed amendments, which were promised, and the witness withdrew.

Clamors for Full Investigation.

The whole town clamors for a free and full investigation, and puts the utmost confidence in the ability and judgment of Magistrate Daly, whose thorough acquaintance with the case is considered the best evidence of his fitness to conduct the present trial. His decision as to whether he will try the case or not is looked for anxiously. If he refuses to try it, it must go over to the County Court, of which Judge Wilkinson is head. But the Judge would not try the case. The judge who would is Judge Price of Kingston. It is thought that the decision of Mr. Osler on this question will show the magistrate which course to pursue.

Notes of the Trial.

When the prisoners were brought into court Holden and Mackie had handcuffs, but Ponton walked free. When they went back to the jail Lawyer Wilson protested successfully against his client being manacled.

Messrs. Durand and Greene of British Columbia, former clerks in the bank here, are expected in town at midnight. They will be used as witnesses for the Crown.

Mrs. Holden, wife of the elderly prisoner, is on her way from Boston, and may reach here this morning. She will be accompanied by several witnesses in Holden's behalf.

Persons are being taken daily to the jail to identify the prisoners.

Mackie, as well as Holden, is expected to try and establish an alibi. Mackie is said to have half a dozen witnesses who will swear that on the night of the robbery he was in Belleville. Holden's line of defence is not so clearly defined, but that he will put up a strong fight may be confidently expected.

Mrs. Ponton wrote a letter to her son, which was received at the jail yesterday. Before handing the letter to the prisoner, the sheriff glanced at its contents in a casual way to see that the strict letter of the law was carried out. Mrs. Ponton is expected to arrive in town to-day. She will be the guest of Mrs. Judge Wilkinson.

The County Attorney is considering whether she will be allowed to see her son or not.

Detective Cullen of Montreal will be one of the numerous witnesses brought into court. He will testify to certain conversations with Pare, and will be for the defence.

THE BANK CASE.

Holden, Mackie & Ponton Before the Magistrate.

PONTON AND MACKIE PLEAD "NOT GUILTY" —HOLDEN SILENT.

The Magistrate Reserves His Decision as to Trying any of the Prisoners—Mr. Baines Testifies—The Safe and Its Contents—His Rare Coins Were in it—Pare's Sensational Story.

NAPANEE, Aug. 2—The court open i rather late. B. B. Osler, Q. C., was the chief new figure among the members of the bar.

Acting County Crown Attorney Herrington read a new information arraigning the three prisoners Holden, Mackie and Ponton jointly upon one information. Argument by Barristers Osler and Porter ensued over this matter, the latter claiming that the new charge was to prevent Ponton's being tried by Magistrate Daly. After lengthy argument and much citing of sections of the Criminal Code, the new information was read and answered to by Mackie and Ponton with "Not Guilty" and by Holden's not saying a word.

The Magistrate reserves his decision concerning whether he will try the two prisoners Mackie and Ponton summarily or not.

The Crown then proceeded to produce evidence sufficient to effect a committal of the prisoners.

Mr. Baines, ex-manager of the Napanee bank was present. In his evidence he described the safe and the amount of money in it on the night of the robbery. In his compartment of the inner safe, he said there was $2,000 in gold, $8,000 in sealed bills and $10,000 in small bills, besides a bag of rare coins. The witness was withdrawn, with the intimation that he would be called again in rebuttal.

PARE ON THE STAND.

He Tells his Story in Court—How the Plot was Conceived.

The bright particular witness of the crown is prisoner Pare, who was greeted with eager expectation when he took the stand. He told his story under the leading of Mr. Osler in a straightforward fashion that betokend truth.

His first connection with the Napanee robbery began when he received a letter from John Roach, of Toronto, to meet him at Belleville, and he went to Belleville and visited the Dominion House, but did not see Roach and then went to Montreal and met Roach by accident in the afternoon and in the evening by appointment he met Holden and Roach in Victoria Square and the Napanee job was discussed and then three came west, Holden and Pare stopping off at Kingston, Roach going on to Belleville to see Mackie and the whole four met shortly in Belleville and came down to Napanee. Pare and Roach camped out in the grove near the river.

Mackie went home to Belleville at nights and returned to Napanee in the afternoon.

This continued all through June, and by reason of his association with Holden, Mackie and Roach, Pare heard of an attempt that had been made upon the bank in the winter, when a hole was bored in the side of the safe in order to punch off the bolts at the back of the safe door. This attempt did not succeed.

The next scheme was to hold up a party of card players in the bank, among whom would be the man who had the combination and extort the combination, open the safe and get the swag.

A man in the bank was said to be favorable to this scheme.

Pare did not know his name while this scheme held fire. It was planned to have the man in the bank take the man who had the combination out for a bicycle ride along the cemetery road and Holden, Pare, Mackie and Roach were to waylay the two and force out the combination.

This scheme, as well as the holding up one, Pare said he opposed because they mean bloodshed and Pare admitted that he had learned that $10,000 in Government bonds were in the bank at a certain time and in discussing what would be done with this when it was got, Mackie said he knew a lawyer in Belleville who could turn it into money. The court rose at 12:45 p. m. and resumed Pare's evidence at 2 p.m.

Protecting Canadian Goods.

The issue of The Adelaide (South Australia) Advertiser for June 14th, just received, gives the particulars of a trial which proves that even in that far away country the Dr. Williams Medicine Co. is as active in defending its rights and protecting the public against the schemes of the substituters and counterfeiters as it is here at home in Canada. In the trial in question Frank Ashley and William Smith were shown to have been engaged in offering a substitute for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, claiming that it was the same as that justly celebrated medicine. Both men were placed under arrest on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences and conspiring to defraud the public, and evidence was heard before the Chief Justice of the Criminal Court. The defendants' lawyer made a strong fight in their behalf, but in spite of this the jury, after a short absence from the court, returned a verdict of guilty in both cases. The Chief Justice deferred sentence until the close of the sittings. In addressing the jury, however, the learned judge spoke very strongly concerning the evils of substitution and the dangers to the victim that may ensue from this nefarious and too common practice.—Toronto Globe.

THE ROLLING MILLS BY-LAW.

A by-law granting a bonus in aid of the establishment of rolling mills in this city passed the City Council last night. Of its provisions we are unable to give an opinion until it has been made public. While in favor of aiding every legitimate enterprize, it will be well to weigh the terms of the agreement and the permanent results which are likely to follow. The amount proposed to give is large, and therefore the return should be commensurate and lasting.

NORTH HASTINGS PROTEST

Another Adjournment—A Legal Point Raised.

The preliminary examination in connection with the election of Mr. W. J. Allen as member for North Hastings, was to have been held before S. S. Lazier, Master-in-Chancery, to-day. Mr. Allen was unable to appear owing to illness and the examination was again adjourned until the 18th inst. In the meantime Mr. Allen's counsel has raised the point that he is not compelled to appear during a session of the House. This question may have to be referred to the Judge. The Master noted the objection, but suggested that the session might be over before the 18th and thus the difficulty would be overcome. Mr. W. J. Moore, of Meaford, appeared for Mr. Allen, together with Mr. Stewart Masson, of Belleville. Mr. R. A. Grant, of Toronto, appeared for the patitioner.

ACQUAINTANCE SOCIAL.

A Unique and Very Successful Social By the Bridge St. League.

The Acquaintance Social, which was to have taken place in the Bridge st. Church Epworth League some time ago, was held last evening and proved a great success. The object of the committee was to bring together many members of the Society who were not acquainted. All members were provided with lists of the adherents of the League, and were supposed to become acquainted with as many as the time allotted would allow. During this part of the evening music was supplied by Miss Queena Watson and Mr. A. Chown. The programme proper was next in order. A piano solo by Miss Timmerman, a reading by Miss Chisholm, a violin solo by Miss Sidna Brown and a vocal solo by Miss Holton were all greatly enjoyed. After a number of one minute speeches had been made on the subject of "sociability," cake and ice cream were served and the meeting was dismissed.

ST. THOMAS' CHURCH.

The Sunday School Hold Their Annual Excursion and Pic-nic.

In spite of the fact that there was no half holiday to-day, the annual picnic of St. Thomas' church S. S. was one of the most largely attended and in every respect one of the most successful held this season. The str. Merritt made two trips, going through the Murray Canal and then returning to Twelve O'Clock Point. Races and other athletic contests were provided for the children, who all thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Rev. Canon Burke superintended the excursion in person and to him no small share of the credit of its success is due.

Different Kinds of Clothing.

If you should get a bad pair of boots would you condemn all the people who sell them, and never buy another pair? If your tailor makes you a bad suit, are all tailors immediately condemned? Then if one ready-made clothing house sells you a suit that is not right, is it any reason you should at once condemn all made-up clothing? There are different kinds of ready-made clothing, the Oak Hall sells the right kind.

THE MUSICAL MOONLIGHT.

The Excursion of the Quinte Musical Club a Gratifying Success.

The moonlight excursion to Twelve O'Clock Point on the steamer Merritt last night, under the auspices of the Quinte Musical Club, was successful beyond the expectations of its most sanguine promoter. The fact that the Quinte Quartette and the other members of the Club were to sing was sufficient to attract a crowd which would have taxed the capacity of the boat to its limit had not the left harbor suddenly, disappointing a large number who were a little slow in getting on board. As it was the boat was comfortably loaded.

The evening was an ideal one, and the sail was most enjoyable. The I. O. O. F. Band provided a splendid programme during the sail. On arrival at the Point the excursionists disembarked and proceeded to the pavilion, where a splendid programme of vocal music was provided by the Quinte Quartette, Messrs. J. Nevin Doyle, Geo. E. Fax, S. Burrows, F. Brintnell and Roland Paul, the well-known Montreal tenor, who is visiting in the city. Mr. Walter Mills acted as accompanist. During the sail several solos were also rendered.

"An Import Duty Fallacy Exposed."

BINDER TWINE.

We have already pointed out the fallacy of the free traders' arguments that the price of an article is regulated by the amount of duty imposed, and now reproduce an article upon the same subject which appeared in the Journal of Commerce, a non-political paper, of the 29th July. It is worthy of a careful perusal, especially by those who deal more in theory than practice. The Journal says:

The missionaries who labor in heathen lands are often discouraged by finding their converts still holding pagan ideas which have not been eradicated by their higher faith. Even in lands which have been christianized for centuries there still linger superstitions which have been handed down from remote ancestors. A parallel case is seen in the political sphere. In spite of demonstrations, of the irrefutable logic of facts, we find some who cling to fiscal superstitions as tenaciously as the illiterate do to a belief in all manner of omens of pagan origin.

A singular display of this was made by one of the leading journals in Ontario a few days ago. One of the superstitions of Free Trade which has been exposed over and over again, is that the cost of any article made in a country is enhanced by the amount of the duty imposed on the same class of article when imported. It is notorious, it is a matter of daily observation, that almost prohibitive duties can be placed on an article of foreign manufacture, and the same class of article is sold in the country which imposes such a duty as cheaply as in the one where the foreign article was made, the home price not being enhanced by the smallest fraction of the duty on the imported. It is also notorious that by admitting certain goods free of duty the home price of the article may be increased. Our contemporary ridicules this and calls it "taxing down the price," when it is proposed to stimulate the home production of an article by taxing those imported of a like kind. We contend that the price of an article may be taxed down by such a policy. This is a question of fact, not of superstitious theory. A certain article, for instance, is made in Canada, it is made more cheaply here and can be sold in competition with the same article made in the States upon which there is placed an import duty. That import duty is removed and the article comes into Canada free. The American manufacturers thereupon form a combination to capture the Canadian market. They sell the article here at a sacrifice in order to destroy Canadian competition. They are so successful in this policy that the Canadian manufacturers abandon their enterprise. There is no longer any Canadian made article competing with the American. Thus the United States made article has secured a monopoly, and at once this price is put up far away above what the home-makers charged. This has been done over and over again in Canada, and is being done to-day, so that the removal of a tax or duty on an imported article has actually caused it to be much dearer than when the foreign article was taxed. Now, if this tax or duty were re-imposed the native factories would re-open, and they would then sell their products at prices much lower than they were when such goods came in free of tax. Thus "taxing down the prices" is a fact of experience, while the ridicule of it is the mere display of a superstitious preference of an exploded theory to a scientific demonstration of its unsoundness. When a duty was imposed on foreign made binder twine it was cheaper than it is now when there is no duty placed upon it. That fact punctures the wind blown theory that an import duty enhances the price of the home-made article, and the people of Canada would find other articles now made in this country advanced in price were the protective duties removed by which the manufacturers are now enabled to turn out goods in competition with foreigners and with each other. In business matters we must, if wise, take men as we find them, and not assume they are angels because our theory requires them to be. Combination is the feature of the day, not individual enterprise, and a policy which would be perfectly sound if individual enterprise were the rule is a rotten one when a combination exists, or is likely to be organized.

An interesting illustration of the power of high duties to lower prices is just now being afforded by the extremely low quotations for barley in the States. The American farmers objected so strongly to the competition of Canadian barley that the duty was made practically prohibitive, as it now is, yet the home-grown barley of the States has now only half the value it had when Canadian barley was admitted. There is no mystery in this, it is simply a case of over-production stimulated by a monopoly of the market, but it makes havoc of the theory that high duties necessarily enhance the cost of goods to the consumer.

Rode Into the Lake.

Peterboro, Aug. 2.—Mr. Fred Foote, a prominent business man of Peterboro, was drowned in Jackson Park here yesterday morning. The unfortunate man was riding in on his wheel, and, when coming down the hill near the park, he lost control of his pedals and went over the bank into the artificial lake. The body was recovered soon after. The deceased leaves a large family.

BODY OF PRINCE BISMARCK

Will Be Interred at the Spot Chosen by Himself.

The Family Has Decided to Refuse the Emperor's Request in Order to Carry Out the Late Chancellor's Wishes—Remains of His Wife Will Be Transferred to a Place Beside Him—His Epitaph—The Kaiser's Gratitude.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—A despatch from Friedrichsruhe to the Hamburg Nachrichten says it has been definitely decided that the remains of Prince Bismarck are to be interred at the spot selected by himself, where a simple mausoleum will be built, and to which the remains of his wife will be transferred from Varsino. Until the mausoleum is completed the Federal rites will be confined to the simple ceremony of blessing the remains, which will be performed by the local pastor of the village of Brunstorf.

Bismarck's final written instructions, signed by himself, express his desire to be buried in a secluded spot in the Sachsenwold, and conclude:

"For an epitaph I wish 'Prince von Bismarck, born April 1, 1816, died ——' with the addition of 'A faithful servant of Emperor William I.' "

After remarking that Prince Bismarck was not only the unifier, but also the educator of his people, the Reichsanzeiger says:

"If it is true that states are maintained by the spirit and power in which they are created, then the name of Bismarck will remain for us a device and a revelation at all times. As Bismarck once declared at Frankfort, Prussia, which could renounce the inheritance of the great Frederick, does not exist in Europe. In the same way the German Empire could not exist at any future time unless it holds fast to the legacy of its founders, the first Hohenzollern Kaiser and his great Chancellor."

The Coffin Closed.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Prince von Hohenlohe, the Imperial Chancellor, and Count von Shoenborn, arrived at Friedrichsruhe last night. In the presence of the Chancellor, the coffin was closed, after which Prince von Hohenlohe left Friedrichsruhe.

Emperor William, accompanied by the Empress, who wore a mourning costume, arrived at Kiel last evening. Baron von Buelow, the Foreign Minister, and Dr. von Lucanus, chief of the Empress' Civil Cabinet, are also at Kiel.

The Emperor has ordered that gorgeous funeral obsequies be held in Berlin, on the square in front of the Reichstag Building.

The famous German artist, Herr Franz von Lonbach, has been commanded to paint a portrait of the dead statesman.

KAISER'S GRATITUDE.

Emperor William Would Have Prince Bismarck's Remains Lie Beside Those of His Grandfather.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—Thus far Emperor William has telegraphed twice to Friedrichsruhe. A despatch sent on Sunday morning was addressed to Count Herbert Bismarck, and set forth in the most cordial terms the merits of the late Prince, and expressing His Majesty's undying gratitude to the deceased, "who has been a model of the most faithful performance of duty."

The Emperor also mentioned Prince Bismarck's domestic life, "which has been his greatest joy," and assures the family of his most sincere sympathy.

Another telegram begs for the family's consent to bury the Prince's remains in the Charlottsburg Mausoleum, where the body of Emperor William I. reposes. This, however, is declined, because of Prince Bismarck's clearly expressed wish to be buried near the Schloss.

Prince Hohenlohe, the Imperial Chancellor, took a special train for Friedrichsruhe yesterday afternoon, in order to convey to the family the condolence of the Prussian Ministry of State, and to place a wreath upon the former Chancellor's bier. The city councils of Berlin and Munich will hold special sessions on Tuesday, the late Prince Bismarck having had the honorary freedom of these cities.

His Title Descends.

In regard to Prince Bismarck's testament, it is known that Friedrichsruhe, with the title of Prince, descends to Count Herbert Bismarck, the eldest son, the family of Count Von Rantzau, the husband of Prince Bismarck's daughter, remaining there temporarily. Schoenhausen goes to Count William Bismarck, the second son.

The late Prince's money, which is estimated to amount to several million marks, a larger amount than was generally supposed, is divided among the three children and the young Rantzaus. This money is partly in the Bank of England and partly in the Bleichroeders Bank. The decorations, diamonds and art objects of the deceased, valued at about a million marks, are deposited at a Berlin jeweller's.

Immediate Cause of Death.

Dr. Schweninger, the Prince's physician, now says that the immediate cause of death was effusion of blood on the brain.

The remains of the great Chancellor have been dressed in the uniform of the Halberstadt Cuirassiers.

An enormous number of wreaths and other floral tributes have already arrived at Friedrichsruhe.

The Official Reichsanzieger, which appeared yesterday with the black borders, publishes the telegram which Emperor William sent Sunday to Prince Herbert Bismarck. It is as follows:

"In deep sorrow, and sympathizing with the grief which has struck us all, for your beloved, great dead, I learn the loss of Germany's great son, whose faithful co-operation in the work of reuniting the Fatherland won him the lifelong friendship of my grandfather, resting in God, and the undying thanks of the whole German people for all time. I shall prepare a last abode for his remains in the Cathedral by the side of my ancestors."

Court, Army and Navy in Mourning.

The Emperor has ordered the court to go into mourning for ten days, and has ordered the army to go into mourning for eight days. The same will obtain with regard to the navy. The flags on all the Imperial and State buildings will be half-masted until after the funeral.

The Reichsanzieger published a long leading article yesterday, extolling Prince Bismarck's immortal services and declaring the Fatherland has lost her greatest son.

Uncle Sam's Condolence.

Berlin, Aug. 2.—The United States Ambassador, Mr. Andrew White, has received the following cable message from Washington: The President charges you to express in the proper official quarter, to the bereaved German nation and to the family of the deceased statesman, the sorrow which the Government and people of the United States feel in the passing away of the great Chancellor, whose memory will be ever associated with the greatness of the German Empire.

Toronto Resolution of Condolence.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—The Board of Directors of the Liederkranz Club, Mr. Carl Zeidler presiding, after discussion last night instructed their secretary, Mr. S. Weichart, to engross the following resolution and have it forwarded:

"Notwithstanding being three thousand miles away, separated by land and sea, it is with feelings of the very deepest ...

A BRAVE STRONG HEART.

Talks That are True.

Mrs. S.F. Bull, St. Lawrence st., Madoc, Ont., is enthusiastic in her praise of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. She writes as follows:—

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are a splendid pill. When I began taking them I was in a terrible nervous condition and physically very weak. My heart was very weak, beating unnaturally and spasmmodically causing me great suffering and sleepless nights. I felt so ill and weak all the time that I could hardly do light house work. After taking three boxes of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I feel like a different woman. My nerves are strong—Physical weakness has been replaced by strength. My heart is strong and healthy so that it is able to fulfil its functions and beats naturally, in consequence I sleep and rest well. If I had not experienced this great change from extreme physical and nervous weakness to perfect strength of body and nerves I would not have believed such a quick and radical cure possible. I cannot say too much in favor of this great medicine—they do everything that they claim to do, and more. In my opinion they have no equal as a cure for nerve and heart trouble, weakness and general debility. (Signed,) Mrs. S. F. Bull, St. Lawrence st., Madoc, Ont.

A HOT TIME.

Preliminaries for the Opening of the Legislature on Wednesday.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—Mr. Hardy is preparing himself and his Legislative Chamber for a hot time. Like nearly all his henchmen he anticipates a short lived but a merry session. But like his following, too, his wish is father to his thoughts. It may seem a superfluous provision, but wind will be produced during the session by upwards of a dozen electric fans, placed at points of vantage throughout the room.

Col. Leys Threatens Mutiny.

At a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday afternoon Mr. Hardy and his colleagues discussed the matter of a site for the new London Normal School. They had two things to help them to make a choice and make it quick. They had the benefit of the Minister of Education's report on the subject, gathered from his recent visit. They also felt the ponderous weight of an ultimatum from Col. Leys, Government member for the riding. It is known that Col. Leys gave it out that the site had to be chosen before Wednesday or he would not take his seat in the Assembly. Mr. Hardy has other supporters threatening to desert and swamp his ship, and the probabilities are, though nothing definite could be learned, that Col. Leys will be conciliated. A London deputation, composed of Messrs. C. D. Johnston, Frank Love and Levi Lewis, accompanied their member to spur the Government to action.

Government Caucus To-Day.

Very few of the M.P.P.'s had arrived in the city yesterday, but they are expected to flock in to-day, when a Government caucus will take the form of a luncheon at the Buildings.

Mr. John Craig, M.P.P. for East Wellington, whose illness it was thought would preclude his attendance, will, it is expected, be in his seat, very much to the Premier's joy.

How Long Will It Last?

Mr. Whitney declines to speak his views either as to the length of the session or as to the probable subject of a first division in the chamber. Mr. Hardy believes, and has instructed his henchmen to believe, that the session will last three weeks at the outside. Col. Clarke, the veteran clerk of the House, can read the signs fairly well, and he also shares this view. But then he can't read Opposition minds.

The opening of the House to-morrow will be comparatively a tame affair. Mr. Hardy is discarding the general run of frills, but a detachment composed of 100 men and the band of the Queen's Own Rifles is to form a guard of honor to Lieut.-Governor Mowat when he issues forth to formally open the session.

A DRUNKEN BRAWL

In Which William Burrcette Was Perhaps Fatally Stabbed.

Pembroke, Aug. 2.—A quarrel arose last evening between two shantymen at Crelle's Hotel. George Gourdeau stabbed William Burrcette twice in the abdomen. Burrcette is seriously wounded and not expected to recover. He is at Howard's Hotel. Gourdeau was immediately arrested. Both the men were under the influence of liquor.

New British Official Selected.

London, Aug. 2.—The creation of an additional Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs has been found necessary. Sir Martin le Marchant Hadsley Gosselin, C.B., who holds the position of Secretary to the British Embassy at Paris, has been selected to fill the office, which will deal exclusively with international questions connected with Africa.

Suicide of John Gillies of Alvinston.

Alvinston, Aug. 2.—Mr. John Gillies, former station agent for the Grand Trunk Railway here, committed suicide Sunday evening while the family were at church by firing a revolver into his mouth. He died at once. He had been unwell for some time and had become despondent.

$600 for a Specialist.

Oshawa, Aug. 2.—Miss Agnes Riddle, B.A., Toronto, was appointed French specialist teacher in the Oshawa High School from a list of 50 applicants, by the School Board at a meeting last night. The competition was keen, many specialists competing. The salary is $600.

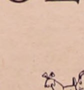

Cold Snap in Nebraska.

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly —that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

WHEAT FIRMER.

All Deliveries Rose Half a Cent—London and Liverpool Grain Boards Closed—The Prices.

Monday Evening, Aug. 1.

The fact that the Liverpool and London grain markets were closed to-day had a curtailing effect upon the trading on the Chicago Board. Early in the session wheat showed heaviness, owing to the large receipts in the West, inducing selling from the Northwest. Later the decrease in the visible supply seemed to change the situation, and all deliveries at the close were about half a cent higher than at the close on Saturday.

Leading Wheat Markets.

Following are the closing prices to-day at important centres:

	Cash.	Aug.	Sept.	Dec.
Chicago	$....	$0 65½	$0 64⅝	$0 64¼
New York	....	....	0 69¼	0 69

Toronto Grain and Produce.

Flour—Straight rollers in barrels, middle freights, are quoted at $3.35 to $3.50. New wheat flour, 25c to 30c lower.

Wheat—New red winter offers at 65c and over at north and west points, with old 2c to 3c higher. No. 1 Manitoba hard, 90c, afloat, at Fort William.

Oats—White quoted at 26c high freight.

Barley—Nothing doing and prices nominal.

Buckwheat—Prices nominal.

Bran—Sells at $8.50 west and shorts at $13 west.

Corn—Canadian, 35c west and 42c to 43c on track here.

Peas—Quoted around 53c, high freights.

Oatmeal—Car lots of rolled oats in bags on track at Toronto, $3.60; in bbls., $3.70.

Toronto St. Lawrence Market.

Business, as usual on Monday's market, was dull to-day, and deliveries light.

One load of goose wheat sold at 68c per bushel, and three loads of oats sold at 30c to 31c per bushel.

Deliveries of hay were small and prices practically unchanged.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, Aug. 1.—Cattle—Market ruled with a poor demand for heavy steers and export cattle, but there was fairly good enquiry for butchers' grades and lighter weight stock at full steady to a shade firmer. Green steers, $4.10 to $4.50; light do., $4.50 to $4.60; dry fed do., $4.60 to $4.75; coarse, rough do., $4.10 to $4.50; shipping steers $5 to $5.10; fat medium steers, $4.25 to $4.45; choice fat heifers $4.35 to $4.60; fair to good do., $3.75 to $4.25; mixed butchers' stock, $3.65 to $4.25; mixed lots, $3.55 to $4.25; common lots, mixed cows, heifers and thin steers, $3.40 to $4.10; fair to good butchers' cows, $3.75 to $4.40; common old cows, $2 to $3.25; bulls, common to good, $3.30 to $3.85.

Hogs—Receipts were light. Market opened with a good demand, and prices were stronger. Good to choice Yorkers, $4.15 to $4.17; prime light do., $4.10 to $4.15; mixed packers, $4.15 to $4.17; mediums, $4.15 to $4.20; heavy hogs, $4.20 to $4.25; roughs, $3.50 to $3.70; stags, $2.75 to $3.25; pigs, $3.75 to $4.10.

Sheep and Lambs—Supply exceeded that of last week by about five cars. The market opened with a good demand for sheep and yearlings, but lambs were lower, except for desirable fat lots. Spring lambs, choice to extra ewes and wethers, $5.75 to $6; buckey and fair, $5 to $5.50; culls, fair to good, $4 to $5; common to choice yearlings, $4.25 to $5; native clipped sheep, choice selected wethers, $4.75 to $5; fair to choice mixed sheep, $4.25 to $4.65; culls and common ewe sheep, $2.25 to $3.75.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, Aug. 1.—There were about 600 head of butchers' cattle, 100 calves and 600 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abbatoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, and trade was fair, with the prices of cattle about the same as on Thursday, but calves and lambs brought higher prices than on that day. Prime beeves sold at from 4¼ cents to 4¾ cents per pound, pretty good stock at from 3 1-3c to 4⅛c and the common animals at from 2⅝c to 3c per lb. There were no very lean stock on the market to-day. Good calves sold at from $5 to $9 each and common veals at from $2 to $4.50 each. Shippers are paying 3¼c per lb for good large sheep. Lambs sell at from $2.50 to $3.75 each. Fat hogs sold at from 5¼c to 5½c per lb.

Cheese Markets.

Lindsay, Ont., Aug. 1.—Victoria County Cheese Board met here to-day. Two thousand one hundred and forty boxes were boarded by 22 factories. Buyers present: Mesrs. Bailey, Fitzgerald, Flavelle and Whitton. The board was cleared, Mr. Whitton taking 862 boxes and Fitzgerald 536 at 7 9-16. Mr. Flavelle took the balance at 7½. The salesmen were highly satisfied at the prices received.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Hogs—Estimated receipts for to-day, 35,000; opened strong to shade higher; later weak at Saturday's prices; light, $3.70 to $3.95; mixed, $3.75 to $4; heavy, $3.75 to $4.05; rough, $3.75 to $3.80.

Cattle—Receipts, 16,000; steady; beeves, $4.15 to $5.50; cows and heifers, $2.15 to $4.75; Texas steers, $3.60 to $4.65; stockers and feeders, $3.10 to $4.65.

British Markets.

Liverpool, Aug. 1.—Board closed till to-morrow.

London—Closed till to-morrow.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

Employed With Great Success at Dublin Yacht Races.

London, Aug. 2.—An important and successful experiment in wireless telegraphy has just been made at Dublin. Wireless messages, containing descriptions of the yacht races there, were sent from distances varying from five to ten miles, and were published in the Evening Mail at London. The yachting expert of the newspaper stood on the bridge of one of the vessels and dictated his account of the races, which was taken to Signor Marconi, the inventor of the system, seated in the cabin, who operated the transmitter. These messages were sent without wire to land, and thence transmitted by telephone to the newspaper offices.

HOOLEY MAKES A HUBBUB.

London, Aug. 2.—Mr. Ernest Hooley's revelations of the rottenness of London financiering have thrown into a panic millions of Englishmen who have invested their savings in the stock of companies.

An exodus of aristocrats on foreign tours is expected, and a crop of investigations is sure to result.

The testimony given yesterday implicated many well-known Londoners, whose names would not be recognized in America, smirching some in the business world hitherto untarnished by suspicion. Hooley is the popular hero, and he is tremendously applauded every time he touches off a nobleman.

NEWFOUNDLAND FISHERMEN

To Be Organized as Naval Reserves—Men to Receive $50 Per Month.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 2.—Mr. George J. Goschen, First Lord of the British Admiralty, has arranged to organize a naval reserve among the Newfoundland fishermen, enrolling 500, who will be drilled by special instructors sent from England. Forts are being erected specially for this purpose, the men receiving $50 each cash for each month engaged. Newfoundland is the only colony where the experiment is being tried.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the futur and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several med cal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

The sun shines for all, but the sleeping car porter does it for a quarter.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. The cause is generally disordered stomach, and a cure can be effected by using Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, containing Mandrake and Dandelion. Mr. Finlay Wark, Lysander, P.Q., writes: "I find Parmelee's Pills a first-class article for Bilious Headache.

Love and war go hand in hand. Even the din of battle has a sort of engagement ring.

The proprietors of Parmelee's Pills are constant receving letters similar to the following, which explains itself. Mr. John A. Beam, Waterloo, Ont., writes: "I never used any medicine that can equal Parmelee's Pills for dyspepsia or Liver and Kidney Complaints. The relief experienced after using them was wonderful." As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

WEST ZORRA'S DEFICIT.

The Peculiar Bookkeeping of the Township's Accounts as Disclosed by the Provincial Auditor.

Woodstock, Aug. 2.—A sensation has been caused here and throughout the whole of the County of Oxford, by the report of the provincial auditor in regard to an investigation into the financial affairs of the Township of West Zorra.

The report was handed down yesterday, and it shows that the period covered by the audit is six years, from Jan. 1, 1892, to Dec. 31, 1897.

From Jan., 1892, to March, 1894, George Innes, now of Woodstock, was clerk and treasurer. He was succeeded in both offices by E. L. Sutherland.

The auditor, referring to the method of bookkeeping followed by both these men, affirms that neither of them kept a cash book. They had made entries from the papers held as vouchers directly from the ledger. Where no vouchers were available the entries, especially the receipts, had been apparently made from memory. As a result there are, to put it as mildly as possible, irregularities.

When Mr. Innes was in office the auditor finds errors chiefly against the township, making a total now due to the municipality of $460.21. The auditor, however, is inclined to the belief that the bookkeeping and carelessness on the part of Mr. Innes in keeping his own funds and those of the township, are the causes of the mistakes. He does not think there was any fraudulent intent, and it is understood that Mr. Innes is quite willing to make the deficiency good.

E. L. Sutherland, the present clerk and treasurer, who assumed the offices in 1894, has, the report says, had errors each year, chiefly against the township, until the amount of the deficiency at the end of 1897, about which time the investigation began, was $977.94, more than was reported by the treasurer. Some of the items will require considerable explanation.

Since Jan. 1 a statement has been prepared up to June 1, 1898, from which it appears that the amount of the deficiency has been reduced to $230.02.

Some of the errors may have been the result of bad bookkeeping, and may afford reasonable ground for dispute.

The auditor's report also contains some interesting reading regarding the purchase of a road roller, and it practically charges Mr. Sutherland with getting $50 commission from the Sawyer-Massey Company of Hamilton. Another interesting item is the letting of a printing contract, on which it is also alleged that Mr. Sutherland received a commission.

The matter has created the most widespread interest throughout the district, and it is possible that similar investigations will be made in other townships, if only to institute a regular system of keeping the books.

MARTIN THORN EXECUTED.

The Cold-Blooded Assassin Dies in the Electric Chair—Nerve Unshaken.

Sing Sing, N.Y., Aug. 2.—Martin Thorn was executed at 11.17 o'clock yesterday forenoon.

The warden talked with Thorn for a little time, and when he came out said: "Thorn told me he was not nervous, and would die bravely. He said he was perfectly reconciled to his fate, and that he had made his peace with God."

All the witnesses assembled in the warden's office at 11 a.m. to witness the execution. Thorn stepped firmly and kept his head erect. Without hesitating the condemned man walked to the chair, which was in the center of the room. He sat down on it and was quickly strapped. While waiting for the current to be turned on he prayed with his spiritual adviser. Everything was in readiness at 11.17 o'clock, and Warden Sage gave the signal to turn on the current, and 1,950 volts were at once thrown into the body of Thorn. The force sent his body hard against the straps. The body was electrified to a degree of 10 amperes by the current. The 1,950 volts were kept on for five seconds, after which the current was allowed to fall to 400 volts and 4 amperes, the reduced current remaining on for 55 seconds, when Thorn was pronounced dead.

The crime for which Martin Thorn paid the extreme penalty was for the murder of William Guldensuppe, a rubber in the Murray Hill baths, more than a year ago, in a cottage at Woodside, Long Island, which he and his accomplice, Mrs. Augusta Nack, a midwife, had hired for the purpose. Mrs. Nack was arrested soon after the murder, and at her trial in Queen's County she accused Thorn of the murder. Thorn was arrested on July 8 of last year, twelve days after the murder, and was convicted on Sept. 2.

Mrs. Nack is now serving a term of 15 years' imprisonment for her share in the crime.

IRVING'S HARD LUCK

GREAT ENGLISH ACTOR IS NOT AS PROSPEROUS AS HE WAS.

Saddest Tragedy on the Modern Stage—Said to Be Succumbing to Ambitious Rivals Like Beerbohm Tree—Secession of His Life-Long Mascot, Miss Ellen Terry, and Its Effect.

(Special Correspondence.)

The spectacular facility with which we are blithely enabled to endure the misfortunes of others causes us to view with curious eagerness the clouds that are beginning to obscure the glory of the great English actor, Sir Henry Irving. We listen, all agog, to this rumor and to that coming from abroad. And to the fickle herd, anxious to scrawl a "finis" over the superbest career of the English stage, we pose as spectators of the tragedy—snugly secure and three thousand miles away from its platform.

And as it is generally the outsider who sees most of the game, we flatter ourselves that we can view things rather more impartially than they are able to do in London, where a few failures on the part of the knight-actor are regarded as responsible for his waning light. A man who has had to fight, tooth and nail, for his position; who has achieved success by dint of the most indefatigable perseverance (which is, after all, the backbone of genius); who has had to struggle against the arrogance of actors, the greed of managers, the chameleon-like characteristics of the public, and the frivolity of the age—such a man is in a bad way when the see-saw tilts. Irving's see-saw is tilting, and he sees the "easy descent."

SIR HENRY IRVING AS A YOUTH.

The demon of ill-luck is at work, and the man who formerly touched everything into gold finds clay of the stickiest sort. The London public—like the rats that desert a sinking ship—are looking out for Irving's successor, and it is needless to say that the applicants for the position are not skulking in the background. The man to whom the word "failure" was unknown a few years ago has tasted its bitterness frequently of late. At the theatre just off the Strand, where mobs used to rage and stand for broiling hours awaiting the opening doors, there is no longer any clamoring crowd! Plays that a few years ago would have succeeded simply because Iving produced them have proved to be powerless. Critics, who used to expend their substance in adjectives qualifying the infallible Irving's magnificence, have turned tail. The tongue of the gossip, that Irving knew how to silence so completely, wags and wags for the benefit of the herd. The leading lady whose power he realized, and to whom he always alluded in all his little post-drama speeches as "My dear friend and associate, Ellen Terry," is, if the wagging tongues be credited, seriously contemplating abandoning the man at whose shrine she worshipped ("Irving is my god," she used to say), and the weariness of death is over the whole precious arrangement. The see-saw tilts.

Irving himself said that "The drama must succeed as a business, if it is not to fall as an art," and this cunningly rounded sentence now meets his eye, under changed conditions. The man who is about to fall never knows it. Irving has "gone ahead" as recklessly and as picturesquely as ever. He knew his public so well—that dear, clinging, loyal public. And his Bram Stoker—his fidus Achates—did he not also know the foibles of that public, and had it not always been his advice that has guided the knight through the labyrinths of doubt?

Irving produced "Cymbeline" because the public loved him in Shakespeare. Shakespeare spells ruin—ha! ha'—but not with Irving. It was his Shakespearian revivals that startled London. As Filon in his "English stage" works says: "He continued to make himself master of all the great Shakespearian roles, like a conqueror annexing provinces. Of course, he was not equally good in all, though to all he brought his understanding and his inspiration, and to all gave the stamp of his individuality. He sighed and sang of love as Romeo, railed and mocked at it as Benedick, raged with Othello, trembled with Macbeth, laid bare, with Wolsey, the inner working of the soul of the statesman-priest; as Lear went raving over the desolate heath in the storm and the darkness of the night."

So he tried "Cymbeline," and it politely failed. No complaint uttered Sir Henry. Perseverance—toujours perseverance. All these jolly little consoling remarks about times being out of joint (the stock quotation of blighted genius) were left unsaid. Irving dropped Shakespeare for the time, and produced the Sardou play, "Mme. Sans Gene." This was Miss Terry's opportunity, and not his. Her delicate art and dainty method, suddenly thrust into the role of the coquettish washerwoman, attracted London's curiosity for a time. Irving did the "super" in the part of Napoleon, and was content to gather in such shekels as Miss Terry's work might bring, while he rested, temporarily—as he thought—effaced.

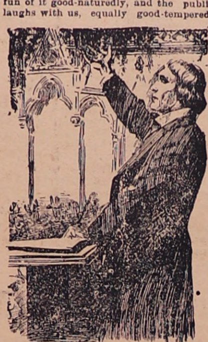

But he was girding up his efforts for a new splurge. This time it was a play by his own son, a great historical work called "Peter the Great." The astute actor (for Irving has never been a fool) naturally thought that a drama, achieved by his own son, would appeal strongly to the dramatic instinct of the great public. Hitherto he had posed as everything but a father. Now he would do the great naturnal act, and delight the world with the spectacle of an internationally celebrated actor producing a play by his own son.

"Peter the Great" was blazoned forth with wonderful pomp and circumstance. It fell flat. It was dull, and heavy, and London has grown out of such soul-wearying matter. London has grown younger, as Sir Henry has grown older—a little trick that communities display for the humiliation of their favorites. Sir Henry had spent a fortune on this play. He withdrew it, and fell back upon that relic of his greatness, "The Bells." When the ordinary actor revives an early success, he does so logically and consistently. When a man like Irving has to fall back upon "The Bells," there is legitimate ground for pathos.

The large mind that is always pressing onward does not hark back to the vista of souvenirs and early remembrances for the sheer pleasure of so doing.

Once again this big and ambitious actor, whom the Queen herself had raised from the rank of mummer to that of knight, put on his thinking cap and—thought. A modern play—that was the thing. It had been years since they had seen him in a whole evening's entertainment, in modern dress. He would do it. Perhaps it was a retrogressive step in his art, but—there were his own words to stand by him: "The drama must succeed as a business, if it is not to fail as an art."

Therefore, "The Medicine Man," one of the authors of which was that egregiously modern young author Robert Hichens, whose books, "The Green Carnation" and "Flames," had charmed literary London. The paternal act, like the Shakespeare act, was shelved. This time Irving would patronize budding talent. "The Medicine Man" saw the light of day very recently. It was scoffed at reverently—which is the very worst sort of scoffing that an actor can get. Here, when we don't like a thing, we make fun of it good-naturedly, and the public laughs with us, equally good-tempered.

READING TENNYSON'S "BECKET."
Latest Portrait of Sir Henry Irving, show- the Sad, Deep Lines in His Face.

But in London they scoff seriously, and the public that reads is angry instead of good natured. "The Medicine Man" is still current at the Lyceum Theatre, and an effort is being made to prove that it is not a failure. But the very effort tells the story. When has Irving ever needed the services of those whose duty it is to gloss over first-night defeats!

And still he plods on industriously, with the bliss of spontaneity gone forever. A cruel fire that totally destroyed the magnificent properties used in early productions brought him face to face with that chiefest and stingingest of all cares—common, sordid, pecuniary loss—the grotesque anxiety of pounds, shillings and pence.

With mockingly exasperating emphasis the news of Mr. Beerbohm Tree's success in "Julius Caesar" (Shakespeare, if you please) was wafted in upon him. Perhaps that was the unkindest cut of all. Tree—an actor devoid of the smallest spark of genius—a young, canny, and desperately alert contestant—to succeed in Shakespeare at the very time that the Bard of Avon's most pervid disciple had turned to other things. Surely Fate had no crueller weapon concealed.

But fate is inexorable, and misfortunes run in herds. Miss Terry's "strained" relations are now enlisting the attention of London. There is seldom smoke without some sort of a fire, and if Miss Terry departs from the Lyceum fold, Irving may take to himself the words that he has uttered so often in the presentment of Cardinal Wolsey. Do you remember them?

"This is the state of man; To-day he puts forth
The tender leaves of hope; to-morrow blossoms,
And bears his blushing honors thick upon him:
The third day comes a frost, a killing frost;
And—when he thinks, good easy man, full surely
His greatness is a-ripening—nips his root,
And then he falls, as I do."

Irving is "passing" in England.

ALAN DALE.

An Alleged Murderer Held.

Blenheim, Ont., Aug. 2.—The authorities here have arrested Thomas Everitt on the charge of having murdered some person unknown. It is alleged that Everitt had confessed to a woman acquaintance that he had murdered a man. He is held pending a search for the body, which is supposed to have been hidden in a large piece of woods near Blenheim.

When a man neglects his health for a day he marks two days off the calendar of his life. When he neglects his health for two consecutive days he marks four days off his life's calendar. And so on. That's about the ratio, and it doesn't take many days to cross off an entire year. And yet men recklessly neglect their health for weeks at a time. It is the easiest thing in the world for the average man or woman to get good health and then keep it. It only needs a little stitch here and there. The big, dangerous maladies that threaten life are only the culmination of the little illnesses that are neglected.

If when a man feels "knocked-out," "out-of-sorts," "run-down," overworked or overworried he will resort to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery he will soon feel bright, strong and vigorous again and able to combat all the big maladies in the doctor-books. Moreover the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a sure and speedy cure for some of the most dangerous diseases. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It cures nervous prostration and exhaustion. These are not mere assertions. Thousands of grateful men and women have testified to the facts, and hundreds of their names, addresses and photographs are printed in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser.

"I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for torpid liver and indigestion, and obtained permanent relief," writes J. A. Williams, Esq., of Mill Brook, Washington Co., Tenn.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser has had a larger sale than any other book of this class ever offered the public. "OLD GLORY" AT JUAN DIAZ

American Flag Greeted With Great Popular Enthusiasm.

The Dixie Fired on El Morro—A Sample Mayoral Proclamation in Porto Rico—It Declares That the Sun of America Shines and That the Country Has Been Given Back to the Bosom of Our Mother America—War News.

Ponce, Porto Rico, July 31, 10 p.m., via St. Thomas, D.W.I., Aug. 1.—Col. Hulings, with ten companies of the 16th Pennsylvania, has occupied Juan Diaz, about 8 miles northeast of Ponce, on the road to San Juan. The American flag was raised and greeted with great enthusiasm by the populace. The protected cruiser Columbia went ashore while attempting to enter the harbor of Ponce, but it is hoped she will be floated tomorrow. General Brooke arrived this evening. During the afternoon seven companies of the regular infantry arrived on the Cherokee.

Cable communication was opened tonight, but the line will not be in full operation for several days.

The Dixie Fired at Morro.

St. Thomas, D.W.I., Aug. 1.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Dixie, formerly El Sud, left here Saturday morning for Ponce. She scouted along the north coast of Porto Rico, spoke the Prairie, Montgomery, Puritan, New Orleans and four transports, overhauled an English barque and, passing in close to San Juan, fired a defiant six-pounder, striking the base of El Morro.

The Spaniards made no reply. In the entrance to San Juan harbor the Dixie saw two masts and a funnel, evidently a steamer sunk by the Spaniards to block the passage.

SUN OF AMERICA SHINES.

The Mayor of Yuaco Appears to Be Warm Towards the Conquerors.

Ponce, Porto Rico, Aug. 2.—The following is the text of the Mayor's proclamation, issued at Yuaco, as a United States city: "Citizens: To-day the citizens of Porto Rico assist in one of her most beautiful feasts. The sun of America shines upon our mountains and valley this day of July, 1898. It is a day of glorious remembrance for each son of this beloved isle, because for the first time there waves over it the flag of the stars, planted in the name of the Government of the United States of America by the Major-General of the American army, Senor Miles.

"Porto Ricans, we are, by the miraculous intervention of the God of the just, given back to the bosom of our mother America, in whose waters nature placed us as people of America. To her we are given back in the name of her Government by General Miles, and we must send her our most expressive salutation of generous affection through our conduct towards the valiant troops represented by distinguished officers and commanded by the illustrious General Miles.

"Citizens: Long live the Government of the United States of America! Hail to their valiant troops! Hail to Porto Rico, always American!

The Conditions at Manila.

Washington, Aug. 2.—General Merritt has again cabled the War Department relative to the situation in Manila, which he finds very unsatisfactory and dangerous, owing to the attitude of the insurgents. Up to the date of the report, General Merritt had with him about 12,000 soldiers. So far seven expeditions to the Philippines, and it is the intention to furnish Merritt with at least 8,000 men more than his present force.

The Serious Situation.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Secretary Alger and Secretary Long are in conference with the President over the serious situation in the Philippines. They have important despatches from General Merritt and Admiral Dewey. Secretary Alger admitted the significance of these despatches, but declined to state their exact nature.

Latest From Manila.

Hong-Kong, Aug. 2.—The United States transport Zafiro has arrived in these waters and is anchored outside the Lyceum Pass. She reports that no American or insurgent advances had been made on Manila up to July 29. A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

ON AUGUST 30TH

Belleville's Property-Holders Will Settle the Mitchell Matter.

By-Law Passes Its Second Reading--Bitterly Opposed by the Minority--The Estimates Passed--Twenty-three and Nine-tenths Mills--The Elevator Rented--A Heavy Session.

When his Worship Mayor Johnson took the chair last night the following Aldermen were in their places: Falkiner, Doyle, Chisholm, Hungerford, Harris, Naylor, Denmark, Luscombe, Starling, Clarke, Finnegan, Lott, Wallace, Bogart, Panter, Grills, Ashley, LaRoche, Petty. Ald. Lennox was the only absentee.

Ald. Bogart, seconded by Ald. Starling, moved the first reading of the by-law to grant aid to Frank A. Mitchell by bonusing the rolling mills.

Mayor Johnson gave a short review of the negotiations with Mr. Mitchell up to the present time. The City Council on May 16th received the report and recommendation of the deputation which went to Norwich and they were unanimously adopted. The City Solicitor was then instructed to prepare a by-law for submission to the people and to acquire the proper titles to the land which it was intended to use as a site for the buildings. On May 26th Mr. Mitchell met a deputation consisting of Ald. Lott, Bogart, McCamon, Wallace and other members of the Council, together with the officers of the Board of Trade and other prominent merchants, and the agreement, now about to be submitted, was unanimously accepted. Then Mr. Mitchell chose the land for the site. The properties which he desired were somewhat numerous, and there had been delay and trouble in securing proper titles, and this was the reason for the delay in the submission of the by-law. It had been urged in regard to rolling mills, that they had not proved successful in Canada. Ald. Wallace and himself had interested themselves in the matter and had secured information from Mr. Arthur Wensley, an old and respected citizen of Belleville, as to the Ontario Rolling Mill Co. at Hamilton. He stated that they employed about 200 men, turned out 50 tons per day of 24 hours and at that time were working night and day. From another source, they had learned that this Ontario Rolling Mill Co. was a good investment. They had never shut down, as had been stated, they were burnt down, but were re-building and increasing their capacity. They were solvent and busy and would employ nearly 300 hands. This latter information was obtained from Mr. C. A. Armstrong, a gentleman connected with one of the Hamilton papers. His Worship quoted from the Hamilton Spectator, of June 27th, an item stating that the rolling mills were starting the following day with a full force and with a large number of orders ahead. He trusted that the members of the Council and the people would not be led astray by misstatements in the press. He had learned that Mr. Mitchell had been at work and had secured a spike and nail factory, which he intended to bring here as an adjunct to his business. In addition to this, the people connected with him were already becoming interested in the North Hastings mines. Mr. Mitchell was aware that they were treating with another iron firm in another city and had expressed the opinion that the two industries could work together. In concluding, the Mayor urged the Council to give the by-law a first reading and allow it to go to the people. The members of the Council would incur a very great responsibility if they threw the by-law out; the people desire an opportunity of voting upon it, let them take the onus of rejecting it. He reminded the Aldermen that upon their votes depended the future history of Belleville.

Ald. Doyle said he was sorry he had to oppose the by-law, but after reading the contract over carefully he felt compelled to take that course.

Ald Starling couldn't understand the idea of a Council voting it down on the first reading. As representatives of the people they had no right to refuse them the privilege of voting upon it. It was a matter of too vital importance to be crushed in the Council.

Ald. Hungerford thought it would be a very arbitrary proceeding to deny the people the opportunity of voting upon it.

Ald. Lott said that they as Aldermen had a perfect right to throw it out. It meant an expenditure of $600 for the submission of the by-law, which he would not support.

Ald Hungerford read from the INTELLIGENCER to prove that Ald. Lott was one of those who voted on May 26th to accept the agreement.

Ald. Lott said that there was no definite agreement before them then.

Ald. Doyle would oppose the agreement on its merits. The city were virtually to purchase his plant and he was not bound in any way to remunerate the city.

The by-law passed its first reading on the following division: Yeas—Bogart, Clarke, Denmark, Falkiner, Harris, Hungerford, Luscombe, Naylor, Petty, Starling, Wallace.—11; Nays—Ashley, Chisholm Doyle, Finnegan, Grills, Lott, Panter.—7.

Ald. LaRoche left before the vote was taken.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on by-laws, Ald. Luscombe in the chair.

On the reading of the first clause of the Rolling Mills By-Law Ald. Doyle moved the words "a cash bonus of $50,000" be struck out. The citizens were asked to vote $50,000 without any guarantee to employ any number of hands. Ald. Doyle had to be called to order several times during the course of the debate.

Ald. Starling was surprised at an old member like Ald. Doyle violating the rules of order every time he got up and opposing anything and everything which came up.

Ald. Doyle continuing said that if Mitchell would come here he would be willing to give him everything else except the $50,000 (laughter). "This is no laughing business" (renewed laughter). He understood that at first Mitchell was willing to come on condition that the City give him a free site, exemption from taxes and pay the import duty on his machinery.

The amendment was lost on a vote of 7 to 11.

Ald. Grills asked what kind of a building Mitchell would erect.

Ald. Bogart said that Mitchell purposed erecting a brick building with a metallic roof.

Ald. Panter moved to strike out of clause 5 the words giving Mitchell the alternative of reconveying and assigning the mills to the city if they proved unprofitable. He claimed that this clause was not based on business principles.

Ald. Petty said that if the merchants of the city were to prosper it must be by the trade of the laborers, and to give the laborers employment we must have industries.

Ald. Doyle said Ald. Panter's point was well taken. This clause was the most objectionable feature of the whole bargain. Mitchell was given the liberty, after receiving our $50,000, to leave his plant and buildings and get out of the city.

Ald. Falkiner said that Ald. Doyle was not treating the Council fairly. The agreement had been prepared by the City Solicitor, and had been accepted by the Executive Committee, by the Board of Trade and the principle had been accepted by the majority of the Council. It was not right for Ald. Doyle to raise objections when he knew that if one line was altered the whole agreement would be void.

The Mayor said that you would really suppose from the insinuations made by some of the members that we were dealing with some adventurer, anxious to skin the city.

Ald. Doyle said he did not wish to cast any reflection upon Mr. Mitchell. He referred to the stove factory which had been left on the city's hands, it was worth $40,000 or $50,000, but was finally sold for $5,000.

The Mayor pointed out that the city had made no bargain with the stove factory men except to grant them exemption. The leading man had come here with the intention of paying his old debts. Mr. Mitchell came here to do business for life.

Ald. Bogart said that it was the very best bargain obtainable.

Ald. Starling was surprised at Ald. Doyle for opposing it clause by clause and thus trying to burke it. He thought the people outside of the Council had some rights. There were members in the Council who could kill the thing there who would have no votes on the by-law.

Ald. Wallace said they would have liked to have made a better bargain if they could.

The Mayor said he had made enquiries and that he found that Mr. Mitchell was giving exactly the same security (i. e., the plant and buildings) as other towns have received from bonused industries.

Ald. Grills said he had made enquiries and had been informed that the present building at plant at Norwich were only worth $27,000 and that their machinery was not up-to-date.

The Mayor said he should give his authority, as the opinion expressed challenged that of the deputation.

Ald. Grills refused to do so.

Ald. Panter asked if it was true that it was a joint stock company.

The Mayor said that the city was dealing with Frank A. Mitchell, and that his bond was endorsed by his father, reputed to be worth a million.

Ald. Panter asked if it was true that they were only rated at from $25,000 to $35,000.

Ald. Lott said they were only rated at from $25,000 to $30,000.

Ald. Starling said he had seen Dun's report and that Frank alone was rated at $40,000.

Ald. Falkiner said that these were extraordinary proceedings. God help the people who had such representatives, and God help some of the Aldermen if they ever went back for re-election. On the one hand we had the report of competent men while on the other hand we had only the ipse dixit of a shadowy someone.

Ald. Panter's motion was lost on the following vote: Yeas—Lott, Panter, Grills, Ashley, Harris, Naylor, Finnegan, Chisholm—8. Nays—Denmark, Bogart, Wallace, Petty, Clarke, Starling, Hungerford, Falkiner, Luscombe and the Mayor—10.

It was decided to submit the by-law on Tuesday, August 30th.

Ald. Bogart moved that the Mayor be authorized to sign the agreement—Carried.

Council went into Committee of the Whole on Reports, Ald. Lott in the chair.

Several accounts were ordered to be paid.

In regard to the Elevator, a letter was read from Jno. Downey, complaining of the injustice done him by the Committee, but declining to make another offer.

On motion of Ald. Falkiner, Mr. F. F. Cole's offer of $600 per year, taxes and repairs, was accepted.

A letter was read from Dr. Tracy in regard to the accumulation of water in the vicinity of the oil-well.

After some discussion, it was referred to the Public Works Committee with power to act.

The following estimates for the year were then read:

Ald. Bogart in submitting the estimates was sorry that they had found it necessary to again increase the rate, this time to 23 9/10 mills. It was simply impossible, however, to keep the rate down. The revenue was stationary, while the expenditure was increasing, the sinking fund alone showed an increase of $1100. Then there was a great deal of extraordinary expenditure this year, $500 for the park roadway and the George st. extension. The Public School Board too had increased their requisition this year, while the total assessment of the city had decreased over $28,000. There was the deficiency of $1367 from last year and a further increase in the expenditure of $680 brought the total excess over last year to $2047. The revenue this year would be $504 less than last year. They might have estimated the expenditures less and the revenues more and thus made a better showing at the time, but they wished to be able to meet all their liabilities at the end of the year. If this course had been pursued in the past the citizens would be better satisfied with the condition of our finances. We were now providing for our debt by a sinking fund, and at the end of 40 years would have sufficient on hand to wipe out all our liabilities.

Ald. Doyle regretted that they had found it necessary to increase the rate. The high rate of taxation was injuring Belleville more than anything else and was keeping people from settling here. He thought an effort should be made to economize, a corporation should go as individuals go according to their ability. Last year the actual revenue had exceeded the estimated revenue by $374 37, and this year we have $300 more from the elevator. He thought the Executive could make it 23 mills and economize for the balance of the year. Then there was $1500 premium on the $13000 debentures left from last year, lying in the bank.

Ald. Starling said that this $1,500 was required by law to be placed in the sinking fund.

The Mayor read from last year's report showing that while the actual revenue exceeded the estimated revenue by $337, the actual expenditure exceeded the estimated expenditure by $1742, making an excess of expenditure of $1367.

In regard to the item of $7000 for the Waterworks Co., Ald. Panter asked if the agreement was still in force.

Ald. Bogart said they would pay the same rates until the works were taken out or taken over by the city.

In regard to the item of $200 asked for the Industrial Committee, Ald. Denmark asked if this included the expenses of the deputations sent from the city this year.

Ald. Bogart replied that these expenses were charged to the contingent.

Ald. Denmark asked if the report on the deputations had been brought down yet. The Clerk stated that the report was not ready. Ald. Denmark wanted to know what the $200 was for.

Ald. Bogart said part of it was for advertising and part for expenses of deputations.

Ald. Petty wanted more light on "this lallygagging from Labrador to Cape Horn."

Ald. Falkiner wanted to know why he had not been asked to attend the recent meetings of the Industrial Committee. This star-chamber style of doing things had gone too far. The people wanted to know where the money was going.

Ald. Wallace said that Ald. Falkiner was out of town at the time of last meeting or at any rate could not be found.

Ald. Hungerford said the deputations had gone in the interests of the city, and the expenses should certainly be allowed.

The Mayor said the expenditure made so far on the deputation had met with his fullest approval and he was prepared to take the responsibility. Some of this expenditure should not be made public at present, as it might injure the prospects of negotiations now pending.

Ald. Falkiner thoroughly disagreed with the Mayor. All this secrecy business was simply twaddle. This running around behind people's backs was calculated to bring the city into contempt. The Aldermen were guardians of the people's money and they should know all about it. The people also wanted to know what was being done.

The Mayor said that the deputation to Norwich was sent by the Executive, Ald. Falkiner being present. If anyone started the secrecy business, it was Ald. Falkiner himself.

Ald. Falkiner declared that no man had been treated in so contemptible a manner as he had been as an Alderman of the city. At the proper time he would meet the Mayor and thresh it out.

Ald. Doyle thought the bills should be brought to the Executive.

Ald. Petty said this sneaking in and out of the city should stop.

Ald. Denmark said that the deputation to Norwich had been authorized by the Council and they wanted to see the bills. He had no doubt that the deputations were economical and all that, but he didn't believe in secrecy. He asked about a deputation which went to Ottawa without authority from the Council.

The Mayor said they had been asked to petition the Legislature for special power and to get a private bill through the house money was necessary. This was what the $200 was for. The other deputations were charged to contingent.

Ald. Doyle said $400 or $500 had been charged to the contingent fund for deputations. What had we got from any of these deputations?

The Mayor—"You have the dredge down there for one thing."

After more discussion, the item passed.

Ald. Grills asked about the item of $225 for the Island Park.

Ald. Bogart explained that it had already been expended on the trees, the band stand, etc.

Ald. Doyle moved that the item of $500 for accident insurance be struck out.

Ald. Bogart explained that they now carried no insurance, but this was a fund laid aside for probable losses, left in the hands of the City Solicitor, who was given authority to deal with legal actions as he saw fit.

The item finally passed, the name being changed to "Accident Account."

Ald. Denmark asked for the items of the contingent account, but Ald. Bogart could not furnish them.

Ald. Petty asked for the items of $341.39 for brigade camp.

Ald. Bogart had not the items with him, but it included everything.

Ald. Bogart pointed out that the revenue from tavern licenses was $1288 less than last year.

The estimates were finally adopted as read.

By-laws were introduced by Ald. Bogart and passed to levy the Municipal, Public School, High School and Separate School taxes, to appoint a Tax Collector and to authorize the Treasurer to borrow money to meet current expenditures. Mr. J. W. Butterfield was re-engaged as Collector of Taxes.

Under the head of enquiries, Ald. Denmark asked what could be done with a tank in bad repair, in front of his residence and also enquired who gave instructions for a side-walk to be built at the same spot. Ald. Harris said the walk had been built by order of the Street Surveyor and was approved by him.

Ald. Panter enquired what steps could be taken to compel a property owner on east side of Front st. to keep the street in repair. Ald. Harris said he would attend to the matter.

Mayor Johnson drew the attention of Ald. Harris to the unsatisfactory condition of Bridge st. from Front st. to the lower bridge. Ald. Harris promised to attend to it.

Ald. Petty asked why the wells in Foster Ward were not filled up. Ald Harris said they were being attended to.

Ald. Panter asked when Dunbar st. would be repaired. Ald. Harris could not promise.

Ald. Starling asked when Charles st. would be attended to. Ald. Harris said it was being attended to.

Ald. Starling asked when the crossing from Hotel Quinte to Lake's would be repaired. Ald. Harris said it would be attended to at once.

Ald. Petty asked when Market st. would be repaired. Ald. Falkiner said it would be attended to next week.

Ald. Hungerford moved that the rules be suspended in order to grant the sum of $25 to aid S. G. Retallack in publishing a guide book of Belleville—Lost.

Ald. Bogart moved that the Clerk be instructed to ask the three papers to tender for the printing of the Mitchell by-law—Carried.

Ald. Bogart moved that the Clerk be instructed to advertise the necessary notice in the INTELLIGENCER in regard to the George St. extension.

Ald. Lott contended the other papers should have a chance to tender, and Ald. Bogart yielded. Several of the aldermen remarked very audibly, however, that "the INTELLIGENCER was the only paper in the city anyway."

Ald. Wallace moved that Judge Dean, of Lindsay, be appointed the city's arbitrator in connection with the waterworks arbitration. The motion passed after Ald. Doyle had registered a kick.

Ald. Chisholm moved that $200 be granted to the West Hastings Agricultural Society this year.—Lost.

The Council adjourned at two o'clock this morning to meet again on Sept. 12th. Ald. Bogart in the meantime is authorized to pay all maturing accounts.

NOTE.

Ald. LaRoche will be Acting Mayor during Mayor Johnson's absence on his vacation.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should any one go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands, or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York" is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4:30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Stopped, Has It?

It was such a good watch. I never had it cleaned in five years. That is the remark we hear every day. Is it any wonder watches go to pieces? A watch is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and to give satisfaction and wear a lifetime should be cleaned every eighteen months. Has yours been attended to? If not, bring it in. We have never had a more successful season in selling Slater Shoes than in the past 6 months. Almost every person wears them and every person is satisfied with the wear, fit and comfort they give. Call and see our large stock. We have them for Small Boys, Big Boys and Men, $3, $4 and $5.—HAINES & LOCKETT.

Mr. Morrow Leaving.

Mr. A. E. Morrow, B.A., teacher of Classics in our High School, has resigned, having accepted the position of Principal of the Arnprior High School.

The school to which Mr. Morrow is going, was at one time one of the best in Ontario, but of late years has been running behind. The Board of Education have for some time been looking for a Principal, who would possess the ability and strength of will to restore the school to its former state of efficiency. In Mr. Morrow, they have undoubtedly secured such a man; we predict for him a bright career in the lumber town.

INSTANTLY KILLED.

Sad Death of a Veteran G. T. R. Driver.

At twenty minutes to ten o'clock last night Mr. Lewis Simpson, G.T.R. driver, was struck by a pilot engine in the yard at Brockville and instantly killed. Mr. Simpson had taken down the mixed train leaving Belleville at 5:40 and arriving at Brockville at 9:35, and intended to wait and bring up his train to-morrow. The road provide quarters there in which the men sleep during their wait, but at present the rooms are undergoing repairs. Mr. Simpson, in company with his fireman, Mr. A. Kennedy, and Mr. Ed. Adamson, also of Belleville, returned to the reading room for a few minutes. It was suggested by one of them that they go and secure rooms for the night at the Centennial Hotel, and it was while crossing the track to the hotel that the accident occurred. The Cornwall express was just running in at the depot and the noise of her approach prevented the three gentlemen from noticing the pilot engine coming up the siding. Adamson and Kennedy had just time to jump, but Mr. Simpson was a little slower and was cut down. The engine was stopped as soon as possible and the unfortunate man was picked up, but he only breathed once or twice and expired. He was not mangled or cut up in any way, but his bones were all broken.

The news was telegraphed here at once and the Rev. J. J. Rice conveyed the sad tidings to his wife, who, of course, is heart broken. The remains will arrive here this afternoon and the funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon under Masonic auspices.

Mr. Adamson, who is not in very good health, was so overcome by the sad event that he is now under a physician's care at Brockville.

Mr. Simpson was one of the best known and best liked engineers on the Grand Trunk. He was born in Pennsylvania 44 years ago, but spent the most of his life in this city. He was on the road from childhood, and by faithful and intelligent service had won the respect and confidence of the officials of the road. Among his brother railroaders Mr. Simpson was deservedly popular, being of a genial and manly disposition, and his sad death has cast a gloom over the whole fraternity. Mr. Simpson was a member of Belleville Lodge I.O.O.F., and of Moira Lodge A.F. and A.M. He carried $4000 insurance. Mr. Simpson was an adherent of the Methodist Church. A wife and three children survive him. His oldest son Frank, left on the afternoon train yesterday for Chicago, where he intended visiting friends, but he was wired this morning to return.

OBITUARY.

MRS. WILLIAM ELLIOTT.

One of the oldest and most highly respected residents of Hastings County has passed away in the person of Mrs. William Elliott, who died at her home, in the 10th concession of Hungerford, on Monday morning, July 25th, aged 73 years and 10 months, after a lingering illness resulting from a fall last spring.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Sarah Darvin, was born in the County of Donegal, Ire., in 1824, and came to Canada when quite young, residing for a few years in New Brunswick, from which place she came to this county. She was married some 50 years ago to her now sorrowing husband, who is still enjoying good health at the advanced age of 84 years. Of a family of six children all are living, namely, Samuel S. and Mrs. W. F. Graham, Hungerford; Robert, Trendidaga; Wm. H., Thurlow; Lindsey D., Sidney, and Mrs. Chas. Green, Belleville.

Our Visiting Friends

A special train of eight coaches brought a large number of excursionists from Lindsay, Millbrook and intermediate points this morning. After leaving the train at the Market Square, a number of the visitors took the Merritt for Twelve O'clock Point, where the pastor, Rev. Dr. Cade, and his family received a warm welcome from his old congregation. The remainder of the excursionists lunched in the parlors of Bridge st. Church, which were kindly placed at their disposal during the day by the Trustee Board.

New $8 Suits.

The Oak Hall have just received a fine line of $8 suits for the fall. This lot is made of warranted all wool tweed, a pretty brown and green mixture, and bears the Sanford Mfg. Co.'s label. We put these suits against anything offered in the city at $10.

River Fishing.

Mr. Harold Denison and party returned to the city en route for Toronto after ten days fishing in Foxboro. Yesterday Mr. Denison with the popular "squire" caught 53 bass, many weighing 3 pounds a piece, two 5 pound pike and a 2 pound pickerel.

MEDICAL SCIENCE ADVANCES.

Positive Cure for Asthma Discovered.

It has long been recognized by medical scientists throughout the world that nature has supplied all creation with some remedy in the vegetable or mineral kingdom, where with all forms of ailments can be cured, but it was not until the discovery by Stanley of the wonderful Kola plant along the Congo River in Africa that asthma was permanently curable. In fact, it was not until the investigations made by Dr. Clarke that this disease was found curable; he found that by combining the extract of Kola Nut with other vegetable extracts that the compound obtained would permanently cure Asthma. Clarke's Kola Compound was then tried on over 100 cases in different hospitals, with the marvellous result that over 95 per cent were permanently cured in less than 60 days' treatment. Clarke's Kola Compound is now recognized to be the only permanent cure for this dreaded disease. Sold by all druggists. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. Address the Griffiths & Macphenson Co., 121 Church street, Toronto, or Vancouver, B. C., sole Canadian agents. Sold by R. Templeton & Co.

THE BANK CASE.

Pare's Cross-Examination by Porter.

CONVICT'S STORY OF HIS CAREER.

Incidents of his Prison Life—His Attempt to Humbug Cullen—A Man of Many Crimes—Still in the Box.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Napanee, 11.15 a. m. Aug. 3.—The morning session opened with a great crowd in the court and hundreds around the doors.

Mr. Porter began the cross-examination of Pare, and Pare gave as his aliases Howard, Bellinger and "Old George." He was born in St. Thomas, Que., 56 years ago and had a common school education and learned the printer's art. He was a hotel keeper in Montreal, and after living in Detroit two years he returned to Montreal and fell into loose habits. For robbing a till he got three months in gaol. Then he drifted down to Quebec, where he got seven years in St. Vincent de Paul for robbing a safe.

Mr. Porter then took up the life of the man while at St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

The first episode was when Pare caused an investigation, when he charged Deputy Warden Ouimet with accepting $300 as a bribe to assist two convicts to escape. An investigation was held, and Ouimet was declared innocent, as the man who had given an affidavit corroborating Pare's evidence could never be found, and after Pare had been in Penn four years, he had an interview with Detective Cullen, of Montreal, and Pare told Cullen there was to be an attempt upon St. Lambert Bank, Montreal and that a man in the bank was favorable.

The witness very unwillingly answered questions under cross-examination, and contradicted himself frequently. Pare declared that the reason he told Cullen about the contemplated attempt upon the St. Lambert bank was to get his liberty and procure a little money.

When Pare got out of prison he worked in Montreal, where he cracked a safe and got $380. He was arrested but broke gaol and went to Manchester, New Hampshire. The warrant for his arrest is still out in Montreal. He went to New Hampshire, where he was arrested for raiding a store. He got 4 years in Concord penitentiary. Then he went to Manchester, then to Detroit, then to Cleveland, then to Toronto.

He came to Toronto in May, 1897. He got two letters, one from his sister and one from Jack Roach. He was surprised to get the one from Roach, as it was the first he had ever received from him. He stayed one day in Toronto and then came down to Belleville.

The court adjourned at 12:15 till 2 p. m.

THE LATEST.

AFTERNOON PROCEEDINGS.

2:30 p. m.—Pare was not called immediately on the assembly of the court, but F. F. Miller, C. E., was put in the box and produced an amended plan of the bank and the surrounding buildings.

Mr. Porter had the witness explain every part of the plan and give many details. The flat roof just behind Ponton's room was down to possess a gutter, down which water flowed.

The defence is going into the topography of the scene of the robbery, in order to lay the basis of a strong case against the testimony of certain Crown witnesses, notably young Haycock and Mrs. McGreer.

Pare again took the stand. He was asked by Mr. Porter to write a letter at his dictation, which he did, and then Pare recognized the writing and signature of a letter Mr. Porter has as his (Pare's) own. The letter was dated Montreal, Nov., 1897, and was addressed to Mr. Porter, and it read:

"A conspiracy is forming here in Montreal against your client Ponton by some sharpers here in Montreal. Detectives Dougherty and Wilkes are implicated, and if I hear more I will let you know. I remain respectfully yours,

(Sgd.) OLD GEORGE."

The balance of the cross-examination will appear to-morrow.

MACKIE INTERVIEWED.

James Mackie, jr., says his Brother Robert's Companion was not Holden.

James Mackie, Jr., was seen this afternoon by the INTELLIGENCER and stated that Pare's story about Holden being here is a tissue of lies.

His brother Robert's companion in Feb., 1897, was not Holden, but a railroad man named Ted Moodie, of Galveston, Texas, whose wife is now in Belleville. Moodie, he says, is a son of the late Robert Moodie, Sheriff of the County of Hastings.

Mr. Moodie is employed on the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe road at Galveston.

LOCAL MEN SUBPOENAED.

Constable Sills was in the city yesterday and served subpœnas on Harry Johnston and several other friends of Robt. Mackie. It is understood that the defence will call them to prove an alibi. He then drove to Wellington to subpœna Lawyer Lyons.

The INTELLIGENCER called at the Dominion House to-day in regard to Pare's statement in reference to the share to be paid Mr. Mackie for board, but could not see any of the Messrs. Mackie. Mr. Jas. Mackie, sr., was at Napanee, Mr. John Mackie is ill and Mrs. Jas. Mackie, jr., not at home.

UNION PICNIC.

Holloway St. and Tabernacle Sunday Schools Holiday Together.

In spite of the threatening appearance of the weather the attendance at the excursion and picnic to-day was very large. The Holloway St. S. S., which is under the superintendency of Mr. W.J. Magrath, and the Tabernacle S. S., which is under the superintendency of Mr. W.H. Gordon, united their forces this year and under such auspices no outing could fail to be a success. The Merritt made three trips, being comfortably filled on each trip. The usual sports were held at the Point, the prize-list being a tempting one.

AN OPEN LETTER

Containing Tidings From Tweed.

Mr. Edward R. Huyck of Huyck Bros., the well known and popular proprietors of the Huyck House, Tweed, so well and favorably known to the travelling public, writes:—

After a thorough trial of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I take great pleasure in recommending them for nervousness and sleeplessness—they also quickly remove sluggishness of the blood, restoring healthy circulation—I speak from experience, for before taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I had been for a long time out of sorts. I could not get restful sleep, was nervous and felt that the circulation of my blood was imperfect, feeling tired and sleepy all the time. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have removed all the disagreeable symptoms. Yours truly, E. R. Huyck, Tweed, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2.00 at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by THE DR. WARD CO., 71 Victoria street, Toronto. Book of information free. 3-42t wlt

Daily Intelligencer.

THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE AND THE COURTS.

The issue raised by the Hon. Mr. Hardy in asking the new Ontario Legislature to decide what an old Ontario Legislature meant when it passed a certain act, is of far greater importance to the people of Canada, remarks the Montreal Star, than the fate of the Hardy Government, or the question whether or not election constables should be permitted to vote. It is a fundamental principle of British constitutional government that the legislative, executive and judicial functions of the government should be maintained distinct and independent of each other and any trespass upon the perrogatives of one of these branches by either of the others is dangerous to the interests of the nation. In the case of the functions of the judiciary being usurped either by the Legislature or by the Executive, an offence is committed which is a menace to the liberties of the people.

The issue which Mr. Hardy has raised is nothing less than this: whether the executive may use a servile majority of the Legislature to usurp the functions of the courts in a case in which it has a great and direct interest.

The new Legislature has an undoubted right to amend any of the laws passed by its predecessors, and to say what the law shall be, but it is for the courts and the courts alone to interpret the law as it stands. For the Legislature to step in while cases are actually pending before the courts and to presume to dictate to the courts how they shall interpret in these cases a law which admittedly was a law before that Legislature existed is an outrage upon the constitution and a caricature upon British justice.

One of the final provisions of the Civil Code of Lower Canada provides that the laws in force at the time of the coming into force of the Code are abrogated:

"Except always that as regards transactions, matters and things anterior to the coming into force of this code and to which its provisions could not apply without having a retroactive effect, the provisions of law which, without this Code, would apply to such transactions, matters and things, remain in force and apply to them, and this Code applies to them only so far as it coincides with such provisions."

If the principle recognized in this exception is not a principle of British law, as understood in the Province of Ontario, it ought to be. To attempt to tinker a law to suit the interests of one of the parties to a suit actually pending, is so flagrantly unjust, that it is difficult to conceive of any Legislature in the British Empire being guilty of such a thing. Should the bill be passed it will be the duty of the Governor-General-in-Council to disallow it, and His Excellency's advisers will incur a share in a grave responsibility if they fail to recommend this step. Under the new Dominion Franchise Act retroactive legislation by the Provincial Legislatures may affect the seats of members of the Dominion Parliament. Not this particular Act, it is true, but if this Act is allowed to become law, it will form a dangerous precedent. A member of the Federal Parliament elected on the Ontario voters' list might be deprived of his seat by an Act of the Ontario Legislature declaring some of the people who voted for him disqualified. Should Mr. Hardy's bill be passed, and sanctioned, and escape disallowance we hope the Ontario judges will see their way to ignore it as having no application to cases arising out of elections held before it was passed. If Mr. Hardy had any confidence that his reading of the law is the correct one he would be content to leave the interpretation to the courts, and not call a special meeting of the Legislature to assist in giving judgment in cases to which most of its members are parties.

PARE'S STORY READS LIKE A DIME NOVEL.

His Tale of the Napanee Bank Robbery Under Oath.

THE WITNESS IS HIS OWN HERO

Fenton a Principal Villain in the Recital —Pare Swears That the Ex-Teller Counted the Money Stolen From the Bank in Fenton's Room—There Were Seven in the Game—Scenes and Incidents of the Trial.

Napanee, Ont., Aug. 3.—Yesterday was really the opening day of the trial. The town is filled with visitors, come to witness the proceedings. The court room is crowded to the doors, and many are learned mourning away. The Crown's chief witness, Prisoner Pare, gave his sensational evidence on the stand for nearly five hours. To-day he will be vigorously cross-examined by Mr. Porter, who was too indisposed to pursue him yesterday. Following that cross-examination the Crown will produce corroborative evidence to dovetail into Pare's story. Upon the latter's confessions the case of the Crown is planned.

As soon as the court opened, W. S. Herrington asked to be allowed to substitute a new information for the one upon which the prisoners were arraigned Monday. The new information was read, and arraigned the prisoners upon a joint charge.

Mr. Porter, for his client Fenton, objected to this course as irregular.

The magistrate reserved his decision upon the question of his trying the case or not until later in the proceedings. The defence claimed the proceedings would go on under protest from them.

Mr. Baines' Evidence.

The Crown called its first witness, E. H. Baines, ex-Manager of the Dominion Bank, Napanee. The witness gave his evidence in a straightforward manner, and he reiterated his statements made last year regarding his position in the bank. He and Durand knew the safe combination of nine numbers, and Clerks Fenton and Green knew the vault door combination of three numbers. About $82,000, of which $10,000 was in unsigned bills, was stolen, and there was $2,300 in gold, chiefly American, about $2,000 American bills, and there was $600 in silver; there was also a bag of [illegible] taken.

CROWN CALLS PARE.

The Story He Told Under Oath of the Napanee Bank Robbery.

The prisoner Pare was then called by Mr. Osler. Pare kissed the book incorrectly at first, and was ordered by the Magistrate to do it in orthodox style, which he did. He said: "My name is George Edward Pare. I am here to say what I know about the Napanee bank robbery, in which I am charged with complicity. When I was arrested in Manchester, N. H., I had some of the stolen goods in my possession, and I told the authorities all I knew about the matter. I am giving Crown evidence. This is not the first time I have been connected with such matters. In May, 1897, I was going from Cleveland to Montreal, when I got a letter from John Roach of Toronto. I came to Belleville to inquire for John Roach at the Dominion House, Belleville, or for Robert Mackie."

"Is that one of the prisoners?" asked Mr. Osler.

Pare Met Roach.

After a long pause Pare said "Yes; but I did not find either of them there. I then went straight to Montreal, when, in the afternoon, I met John Roach, with whom I never had any dealings before, but whom I knew was crooked. In the evening, by appointment, I met at Victoria square John Roach and Henry Holden, and the subject of the Napanee job was discussed and we decided to go after the game.

"Holden and I came up to Kingston. Roach went on to Belleville to see Mackie. The next day Holden and I came to Napanee and arrived there between 8 and 9 in the morning, and Roach came down from Belleville in the afternoon. I had not seen Mackie. Then Holden, Roach and I went up to Belleville after a few days and lodged in an empty house near the east limit of the G.T.R. yard. Roach went up town and brought Mackie over. It was arranged that the four should come to Napanee the next night. We came, and this was the first time I ever saw Mackie.

Hold Up Was Too Risky.

"The hold up was spoken of. It was understood that a man in the bank was favorable. This man was to get a party of fellows playing cards in the bank, when Holden, Mackie, Roach and I were to rush in and hold up the party, get the combination, open the safe and get the money. We had a key to get into the bank building from the door opening on the market square. Mackie had it and I saw it. We had ropes, rags and masks all ready to use, and we concealed them in a house on the Bay of Quinte road. I was against the hold up, because I thought there was too much danger of violence being used, besides there was too much risk of being captured.

"While the job was being arranged, Holden, Roach and I lived out in the woods. Mackie took the late train to Belleville every night and came down again in the afternoon. At this time I heard that an attempt had been made upon the safe in the winter. Holden, Roach and Mackie had bored a hole in the side of the safe and tried to punch off the bolts, but could not.

How They Got Into the Vault.

"They got into the vault by the combination of the vault lock being left on the day lock by a man in the bank. This job was done one night when the three fellows came up from Belleville in a rig, and on going back they had a smash up that demolished the rig, so they stayed at an Indian's place. Mackie and Holden were in this rig, and I heard that there were $10,000 in Government bonds in the safe. We dismissed what could be done with them, and it was suggested by Mackie that he knew a lawyer in Belleville who could turn them into money. I was one of the last to enter the gang. There were myself, Holden, Roach, Mackie and the man in the bank. We waited for a favorable time to do the hold up, but it did not come, so we planned out another scheme. The man in the bank was to take the man who knew the combination out for a wheel, and Holden, Mackie and I were to run out of the cemetery and kidnap both of them and extort the combination. The man in the bank was to give the signal from the Paisley House by lifting his hat when the scheme was all ready, and we went to the cemetery one night, but the bicyclists did not come. I objected to this plan, as it was too risky, then the other scheme was adopted."

The court here rose for adjournment.

THE AFTERNOON SITTING.

In the afternoon Pare continued his evidence. He said: "All schemes having failed, I held that I should be put in touch with the man inside the bank. It was agreed that Holden should tell this man that I wanted to meet him. I met this man."

Here Mr. Osler asked: "Look at the prisoners. Do you see the man you met?"

Pare Identifies Fenton.

"Yes, the man in the middle."

It was Fenton. There was a perceptible stir among the spectators.

"I tried to post him about the combination," continued Pare, "but he didn't grasp what I was driving at."

Here the witness went into an extended description of the mechanism of the safe lock, showing that he was a thorough master mechanic. He said that Fenton got an impression of key hole of the safe door from which Pare had made a key. He said that Fenton tried to get the combination by applying the suggestions of Pare, but could not get the combination. Then Pare, Holden and Mackie determined to enter the bank. Holden stood at the outside door and Mackie stood outside holding the string and Pare went inside and opened the vault door, which he found still on the day lock. He found the safe also set on the day lock and opened it. Then he unscrewed the cap and looked at the numbers, put the cap on again, ran out the bolts and got the combination. On going out he took coppers out of the box in the vault. He left the safe set on the day lock. He testified that he then visited Fenton in his room, and advised him to keep the robbers informed as to the amount of money in the safe. He declared on the first days of the week the money came in, and on Friday and Saturday it was paid out.

"We got reports every night," said Pare.

The witness told of one night that $79,000 was in the bank, but because the details were not complete he did not advise a robbery.

Made Another Visit to the Bank.

Continuing, Pare declared he made another visit to the bank after he had seen Mr. Baines tinkering with the combination. He first told Fenton to see if the combination would work. Fenton tried twice the figures given him by Pare, but without success. He said the figures he gave Fenton were 53, 73, 98, 53. It was not the right combination, but would have worked just the same if he, Pare, had been there. Fenton's failure to work the safe caused Pare to enter, and he took off the cap of the safe, which was set on the day lock, and filed down the centre tooth so that the combination would work easily. "The lock really needed it, and it would add three openings the safe," said Pare, and the court smiled. He again took $2 in pennies and the next day he and Holden were arrested as vagrants. On their persons were found coppers. No coppers in cartridges were found upon Pare, though the court seemed to think that was what Pare would say. He said the job was not finished that night, because Mackie was away, and Roach had been barred out because he was no good, and it required at least three men to do it.

But we were only two, and Jack Roach was not there, and we had barred him out in the first part of July. The reason the swag was not taken then was that the details of getting away had not been worked out. The hole in the side of the safe had to be brightened up, the money counted, the plan taught, and Fenton knew we were going in. He was prepared for it the night before, and Fenton would have gone in for it on condition of things around the safe the next morning.

Arrest of Pare and Holden.

The next night Pare and Holden were arrested on the bridge and brought before Magistrate Daly, and as Pare were found loose coppers, and the Crown tried to get him to say the coppers were done up in cartridges, but Pare stuck to the loose ones, and after getting one hour to leave town Pare and Holden went over to the other side of the river.

Pare Watches the Watchman.

Pare testified that he knew of two watchmen in the town, and had studied their movements so as to tell where each was at a given moment. He had often seen a woman who had rooms over Fenton's, and some nights he could not go to Fenton's room because she was at her window. One night he met her face to face on the stairs, and on Saturday, Aug. 23, Mackie went up to Fenton's rooms at 9 o'clock or later, and asked all manner of questions about the money that was in the safe. Pare and Holden were present and wanted to know if any of the unsigned bills had been put into circulation, and Fenton was advised to put some into circulation, and the same night Pare, Holden and Mackie went over to the Grand Trunk Railway tracks to the half-mile post. Mackie had a box. Holden and Pare buried the box. The place was marked and then they came back to the meeting and continued the discussion re the circulation of the unsigned bills, and the same night three went to Belleville and stayed at the Dominion House, kept by John Mackie, Prisoner Mackie's brother; they stayed there till Wednesday.

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS

LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly --that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction---trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medicinal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. I certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining relief, I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Mackie Sent After News.

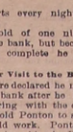

Mackie was sent down to Napanee on Monday to get news. On Wednesday or Thursday the three came back to town and Pare went to Fenton's rooms. The question of putting the unsigned bills into circulation was put, and Fenton said again that he would put some into circulation on the morrow.

"I had talked to Fenton about registered bonds. He said they must be in Mr. Baines' compartment. I wanted to know if they were registered. Thursday night we came back to the bank and found everything the same. Fenton said they expected some more in and it might yet come up to $20,000, but it did not. We met Fenton's rooms that night. We waited till Friday night. We all went to Fenton's rooms that night about 10.30, Holden, Mackie and Pare. We went one at a time up the stairs. We sat down and pulled down the curtains to within three or four inches, so we could watch for Percy, the watchman. We had pulled out that George Hinch was on vacation and Percy

Only the Peace Details Are Needed to Cause All Hostilities to Cease—Spain and the United States Will Both Appoint Peace Delegations—News Confirmed at London—Treaty Will Not Be Signed Before September.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The following is the official statement given out by the President as to the terms of peace offered by the United States:

In order to remove any misapprehension in regard to the negotiations as to peace between the United States and Spain, it is deemed proper to say that the terms offered by the United Staates to Spain in the note handed to the French Ambassador Saturday last are in substance as follows:

The cession to the United States and immediate evacuation of Porto Rico and other islands under Spanish sovereignty in the West Indies and the like cession of an island in the Ladrones.

The United States will occupy and hold the city, bay and harbor of Manila, pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace, which shall determine the control, disposition and government of the Philippines.

If these are accepted by Spain in their entirety, it is stated that commissioners will be named by the United States to meet commissioners on the part of Spain, for the purpose of concluding a treaty of peace on the basis above indicated.

Spain Accepts the Conditions.

New York, Aug. 3.—A special cable to the Evening Journal from Madrid, published in a late extra edition of that paper, says:

"Spain accepts the principal conditions of peace as set forth by the American Government, and only the peace details are needed to cause all hostilities to cease at once.

"A peace delegation will be chosen at once to confer with the representatives of the United States. The peace conditions set forth by President McKinley were discussed at some length yesterday by Minister Sagasta, and at the conclusion it was given out officially that the terms of the United States would be accepted. There are one or two amendments in the proposition of the United States that Spain will ask to be made, and if this is done peace will be declared at once."

The News Confirmed From London.

London, Aug. 3.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

"The Government has accepted the principle of the American conditions, but the acceptance will not be made public until enquiries to Washington on matters of detail have been settled, thus rounding off the preliminary basis."

The Madrid correspondent of the Daily News, says: "The Government's reply to the American peace terms left here Monday evening. The Government believes that the nature of the negotiations requires the greatest secrecy, and that their success will depend upon the observance of the most absolute reserve here. Official silence, therefore, is complete."

Will Not Be Signed Before September.

London, Aug. 3.—The Gibraltar correspondent of the Daily News, telegraphing Monday night, says:

"A commission will be appointed to determine the basis of peace. The chief difficulty, it is asserted in official circles, is as to the date and manner of the evacuation of the Spanish possessions.

"There is also the question of the disposal of the war material in Cuba. The treaty will not be signed before September."

Free Logs for Free Market.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—The Lumbermen's Association of Ontario met in the Board of Trade building yesterday to formulate a resolution which shall be forwarded to the Canadian commissioners at the Quebec conference and used by them as an index and a guide to the desires of the lumbermen of Ontario in the settlement of the questions of tariff which have arisen during the last few years between Canada and the United States. The meeting was fairly representative, and passed a resolution for free logs for a free market.

Mr. Bourassa's Important Berth.

Ottawa, Aug. 3.—Mr. Henri Bourassa, M.P. for La Belle, was offered the secretaryship to the approaching International conference and has accepted the same. It is understood that the nomination has had the full approval of Lord Herschell.

BANK ROBBERY CASE.

was alone. When the clock struck 11, Perry came down from the station. We picked up our tools, went out of the window over the back roof and down the steps.

Ponton Was in His Rooms.

"Ponton was in his rooms and we told him to go to bed and have a good sleep. We sent him out for a pitcher of water. He told us there was then about $22,000 good money in the bank then, and $10,000 in unsigned and $10,000 in Government bonds. We went into the shed and next prepared some pieces of wood to show they had been used some time. People are always sitting out around there till 8 o'clock. We proposed to cut a couple of bolts in Blewett's shed, so that we would not be seen going into the bank. We cut the partition that night with a brace and auger bit; cut three holes first towards the sidewalk in the partition; only took out two boards and squeezed through. Holden bored the holes, I watched and Mackie was watching over on the roof. I was then to take the telegraph and go in and work and when all was arranged Holden was to come in and help.

Pare Opens the Vault.

"Mackie was to stand at the hole in the shed outside and keep watch. I wore some old stockings and moccasins found in Ponton's room; left my boots in his rooms. Mackie held the string and we two went in. I opened the vault door; it was on the day lock. I opened the out fire doors with the key and went to work and opened the safe. That night I had Ponton's key to open his compartment. I got it out of his drawer in his room. He told me it was there. I opened his compartment and took the tin cash box and looked around for anything else; got a bag of silver and gold coins. There was nothing else in that compartment. I put that out and placed it on the floor in the vault, and Holden came in with his tools and commenced to brighten up the hole that ha[...]en made the winter before.

Worked on Baines' Compartment.

"I then went to pry Mr. Baines' compartment open. The upper compartment was open and by prying on it with one of the tools, I put the tool in at the upper part. Found a bag of silver and a bag of gold there, old coins, two bags of them, three or four wallets with papers and notes. We looked through the papers for the bonds, but found the package of unsigned notes. We put all the money in a bag, put it all in two parcels. We then broke off the locks of the compartments to show that both had been treated alike. We then closed the doors and I took off the cap of the safe and changed the last number of the combination so that it could not be opened. While I was doing this Holden was putting coppers in Ponton's tin box.

"I changed the combination on the vault door also and locked it. We telegraphed Mackie with the string. If all was right he was to pull on the string. We went out in the passage and heard some noise. We found Mackie had pulled too strong and made a noise. We went out in the shed. Saw someone looking out of the window. We buried our tools—(tools shown: Jimmy, bit, brace, file, badly rusted).

Counted the Swag.

"Then we went back into the bedroom and told Ponton to get up and get ready to count the money. He put a blanket on the window and we sat around the table. He (Ponton) always counted on $5,000 as his share; if over that he was to get his even share. There were seven at this time immediately concerned in the division of the money. Roach was out of it; $1,100 was to be given to James Mackie for services rendered on his part before I came. Agreed to give Roach as much as Jim Mackie, $1,100; Ponton to get $5,000; $15,900 was left after Ponton and Mackie got their share; that was to be divided in four equal parts, Pare, Holden, Mackie and Roach. Roach and Holden were to get their board and lodging during the winter and pay Jim Mackie $200 for the same. Roach was only to get $1,100 and Pare and Holden were to get the balance. It was agreed at 1 o'clock, when we came out of the bank, and we wanted to take the east train and Mackie the westbound, and we had to be on the track. Ponton's share was all tied up during the day by Ponton, and he took that. Pare and Holden said they would take the silver and gold.

Ponton Wanted Some Money.

"When all was divided Ponton said he wanted some money for his own private use. We said: 'Don't disturb your money, but take some of ours.' He took a roll of $125. Holden took charge of Ponton's money, as we did not want him to be discovered or suspected. We took our own shares and went over the swing bridge down to the river and up to the road; there we left Mackie and we went east on the track and put Ponton's money in a tin box in a hole and $2,000 in unsigned notes. Mackie took the other shares. The unsigned bills were divided in 10 parts, Holden 3, Mackie 2, Pare 3, Ponton 2.

"Ponton told me he had received a letter from Roach to hold him $3,000 for his share if successful. We agreed to fine Roach $100 for sending that letter, and deducted it. Roach really got $900, as he was to pay Mackie $100 for board. Then came our train, but we missed it and again waited until the 4 o'clock train.

Footed It for Kingston.

"At 4 o'clock the engine was a compound one and did not stop at Napanee for water. We could not get it and footed it for Kingston; got there in time for ... noon train; had the money with us; had lunch at Kingston and bought tickets for Vaudreuil. At Montreal I left Holden, having divided the money. I went to my sister's, Mrs. Saucier; stayed there Sunday, and went to Manchester, N.H., on Monday. I put $1,100 in gold in the Merrimac River Bank. Was arrested in Manchester Saturday, July 9. Unsigned $10 bills were found on my premises. I got them as part of my share. also deposited some of the rest."

Described Ponton's Rooms.

Witness here described Ponton's rooms. There were three rooms. The first room had a window, and in a box outside in the passage were some tin boxes. The first room was not furnished, but there was a curtain on the window; in the second room were a carpet, rocking chair and another lounge or sofa, one window, and a door leading into the bedroom. They divided the money in the bedroom, which contained a bed, a bureau, washstand, table and carpet.

Pare was asked about Mackie's trip last winter. He said that Mackie and Holden had talked about the breaking down of the rig, and joked; he heard there was a law suit over the smashing of the rig; came back to Canada last spring, April 18 or 20, and visited the place where Ponton's money was. "Holden was with me. The night of the robbery, while I was putting the money in the bag. I counted a small package of $50 bills. I put them in my pocket. Holden said what was that, and I told him. I then put them in the bag. I asked him if he remembered having any 50's, and he said no. Holden thought I had them in my pocket. Neither of us had them, so Holden said, 'Do you think Willie took them?' Holden was not satisfied. He said: 'We know where the money is,' and he proposed to go and see what was in the box. We came back to get it, and if not gone, to give it to him.

Sent Mackie to Find Ponton.

"Went to Dominion House, Belleville, and sent James Mackie to hunt up Ponton to come and see us. Ponton asked how we had got along, and I asked him about the $50's; told him we wanted to know. He said, 'have one of them.' Told him where money was, and Ponton asked us to go and get it for him. That night we told him we would send James Mackie with the money from Napanee. We got return tickets for Deseronto. Missed the train; knew tickets would be good for another trip. On Tuesday came to Deseronto about dark, and walked to Napanee; went to the hiding place, got the money, divided it and each took half; walked back to Deseronto, and took train to Belleville. Went to the Dominion House, and told James Mackie to go after Ponton. Ponton gave us $65 each for expenses. I went into the room all alone by myself, and gave him my share, and Holden did the same; $2,000 was in unsigned bills. Holden and I took charge of it. He had just as much as he could do to make us plant $5,000, and had to be satisfied.

Saw Ponton Discharged.

"We left that night and went home. I was here the day Ponton was discharged by the maigstrate. In the evening I walked down town, saw the celebration; was on the way to Detroit, and heard people from Kingston on the train discussing it and dropped off. In April I came over from Boston through the tunnel, and to Charlotte, on the Resolute to Deseronto, Holden and I.

"About the time of getting the combination I tried to learn Ponton how to change the combination, he is no mechanic, and could not catch it. One day I made a combination out of wood to show him how it worked, and how to get the numbers. When the safe was left on the day lock, Ponton was in charge of the locking up, and Baines was out fishing. Durant was away, supposed to come back the following Monday. It was proposed to make an impression of the manager's key of the compartment in the vault. We got two or three impressions of Mr. Baines' key; don't know who got them for me, Holden or Roach; could make an impression on paper. Can make a key from such impression. I made one, but it would not work. Made the key before Mr. Baines went fishing. Ponton only told me when Baines was to go fishing; got all the details from Ponton. Had no communication whatever with Baines or Greene."

Mr. Porter had been ill, and asked for an adjournment of court until 9.30 today, which was granted.

When a woman gets sickly, nervous, fretful and despondent the average husband doesn't have the faintest conception of what is the matter. When she gets worse, and he finally realizes that ill-health of some description has something to do with it, he calls in some obscure neighborhood doctor. The chances are that the doctor says it's stomach, or liver, or heart trouble. Nine times in ten he isn't within a mile of right. He treats for these troubles and charges big bills until the husband gets disgusted and throws him out. The trouble is usually weakness or disease of the distinctly feminine organism.

Many husbands, after paying big doctor bills while their wives grew steadily worse, have at last written to a physician of national reputation and learned the truth. They have been justly indignant at the ignorant pretenders who have experimented upon their wives' health. By writing to Dr. R. V. Pierce, any ailing woman may receive the free advice of an eminent and skillful specialist, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a marvelous medicine for women. It cures all weaknesses and disease of the organs distinctly feminine. It heals all internal ulceration and inflammation and stops debilitating drains. Over 90,000 women have testified, over their own signatures, to its wonderful merits.

"For several years I suffered with prolapsus of the uterus," writes Miss A. Lee Schuster, of Box 12, Rodney, Jefferson Co., Miss. "I had a fall from my horse, causing retroversion of the uterus. Our family physician treated me for kidney trouble and everything else but the right thing. I grew worse and worse. My body was emaciated, hands and feet clammy and cold, stomach weak, with great palpitation of the heart. I dreaded for night to come, for I would suffer from nausea all night, and so I continued until I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and I began to improve right away. I am now well and happy."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

Toronto Honors in Death the Late Archbishop Walsh—Lying in State—Funeral Thursday.

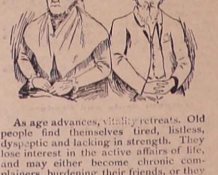

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Not for a decade—not since the funeral of Archbishop Lynch in May, 1888—has there been such a demonstration of love, esteem and respect as that shown last night in connection with the obsequies of Archbishop Walsh. The almost unique manifestation was spontaneous and well-nigh universal. Protestants last night vied with their Catholic fellow-citizens in rendering honor to the dead prelate.

It was not the funeral in the ordinary sense of the word, but the solemn transference of the remains of the Archbishop from his late residence, St. John's Grove, adjoining the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes, Sherbourne street, to their last resting place in the archiepiscopal church of St. Michael's.

To-day at the lying-in-state, and tomorrow at the interment of the remains, the solemn scenes of last night will be repeated, and the prayer will ascend from thousands of voices and more thousands of hearts, that the soul of the deceased Archbishop may indeed rest in peace.

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves tired, listless, dyspeptic and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these Pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St., Glencoe, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

A NEW FLYER.

Something About Mr. Robert Fenwick's Thirty-Five Footer.

For many years Belleville stood at the head of yachting in Canada, so far as racing was concerned, the local fleet having virtually swept the board until the improved keel craft were introduced. Then Belleville, her centreboard craft—cruisers as well as racers—overpowered by the expensive modern racing machines, dropped out of it.

However, the old spirit is not dead yet, and Belleville may again stand amongst the first in the smaller classes, which are adapted to our comparatively shallow waters, in succession to the Dauntless, Katie Gray, Surprise, Peerless, Kathleen, Resolute, Gracie, Iolanthe and other famous racers of by-gone days, several of which still survive as cruisers.

The revival of the yachting spirit has been evidenced in the building by Mr. Robert H. Fenwick of a 32 footer of the latest design and construction, which is today on her way from the builder's shed to the water's edge, where her fin keel will be fitted on before launching her into the element whereon she will bring back some of Belleville's old-time glory.

Mr. Fenwick's craft, which has been built under his own constant supervision by John Allen from a design of B.B.Crowninshield of Boston, a famous naval architect, is very handsome. She has a full body—without a hollow line about her shapely hull—long overhangs, no deadwood, and high freeboard. Her whole apperance, even without the iron fin of three tons and a half which is to be bolted to her keel as a "steadier," is indicative of great power; and when her long, heavy mast and big boom and gaff are looked at, the need of both natural and artificial power to carry so great a spread of canvas on so short a hull is apparent even to the novice in yachting matters.

The "Vera," for so she will be named, has won the admiration of many visiting yachtsmen who have seen her, including Mr. Frank Gray, Secretary of the Yacht Racing Union and Mr. Geo. Gooderham, of the Canada, and the strong approval of Commodore Jarvis, of the R.C.Y.C., who has seen the design and sail plan. She has been painted white, with a narrow gilt band around the covering board, and the bottom has been coated with copper bronze. The dimensions and principal elements of her hull are as follows:

	Ft.	In.
Length over all	42	7
" at water line	27	6
Overhang forward	6	6
" aft	8	7
Beam at deck	11	3
" at waterline	10	4
Freeboard at stem	3	5
" at taffrail	2	7
" least	2	5½
Draft extreme	4	6¾
" board down	9	0

Displacement 15,620 lbs.; outside ballast 6,930 lbs.; area lateral plane 77 sq. ft.; area wetted surface 310 sq. ft.

The yacht is as strongly built as is possible. The keel and garboards are of Georgia hard pine; the planking of British Columbia cedar, one inch in thickness; the frames, light and all in one piece, of steamed oak; the deck of white pine seven-eigths inch thick, and all the fastenings are galvanized. The cockpit is large; the cabin, which is finished in British Columbia cedar and white oak, is to be fitted out elegantly, and, with Pullman car fittings, will afford sleeping accommodation for eight, whilst there is a w. c. on the starboard side forward, galley on the port side and bunks for two in the forecastle. The sky-light is of new design, by Lawley & Son, of Boston, who also furnished and fitted the rigging, and several dead lights make the cabin quite light. The amount of accommodation in so small a craft is simply marvellous. The cabin, which has 6 feet head room, is clear of the usual centre-board trunk, the board, which drops through the fin, housing below the floor. Aft of the cockpit is an ample sail locker.

SAIL PLAN.

Following are the details of the large rig which she swings:

	Ft.	In.
Hoist of mainsail	25	6
On leach	50	9
Gaff	21	11
Boom	35	9½
Jib on foot	17	6
" on stay	33	0
" leach	28	8
Bowsprit outboard	7	6
Area of Sail	1186 sq. ft.

The sail plan, it may be added, is considerably larger than that of the Iolanthe, a yacht which is some 6 ft. longer on the water line and of little less beam. In racing a balloon jib and spinaker may be carried, in addition to the above.

The sails, which are of fine light cotton duck, cross-cut, were made by the famous firm of Wilson & Silsby, of Boston. The rigging, furnished by Lawleys, of Boston, is of galvanized steel wire and will be set up with turn-buckles, which, with the chain plates and runner-plates, are of finest plough steel, all galvanized. The fitting out will be done by James Malyea, our local rigger.

The mast is a "pole" mast, and is a handsome stick of spruce. The boom, gaff and bowsprit are also choice pieces of wood.

The yacht is a credit to all concerned, and Belleville will wish success to the "Vera."

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should any one go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands, or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York" is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4:30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&w5w

AT FRIEDRICHSRUHE.

Emperor William Pays Respect to the Dead Chancellor—First of the Funeral Services.

Friedrichsruhe, Aug. 3.—The Emperor and Empress of Germany arrived here at 6 o'clock last evening, accompanied by Baron von Buelow, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, and their suites. His Majesty wore an admiral's uniform and the Empress was in mourning. The members of the late Prince Bismarck's family received the Imperial party, and the Emperor, on alighting, kissed Prince Herbert Bismarck on both cheeks and shook hands with Count William Bismarck. The party then entered the castle, passing through detachments of the 31st Regiment of Infantry, which were drawn up along the road, and up to the castle gate. The crowds on each side of the road were composed of Hamburgers, who are arriving by every train, foresters from all the Sachsenwald, villagers, bicyclists, children and travelers from foreign countries.

"O Death, Where Is Thy Sting?"

What took place in the death chamber is not known, though an official statement on the subject may be forthcoming. Pastor Westphal of Brunstorf officiated according to the rites of the Reformed Church. The text, in compliance with Prince Bismarck's desire, was from the First Epistle of Paul, the Apostle, to the Corinthians, chapter xv., verses 53 to 57, as follows:

"For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

"So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, death is swallowed up in victory.

"O, death, where is thy sting? O, grave, where is thy victory?

"The sting of death is sin, and the strength of sin is the law.

"But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory, through oud Lord Jesus Christ."

Funeral to Be Private.

Prince Herbert von Bismarck informed His Majesty that the ceremony would be strictly private.

The Funeral Arrangements.

Berlin, Aug. 3.—A great catafalque is to be erected opposite the Reichstag for the Bismarck funeral ceremonies, and all the German sovereigns and dignitaries will be invited.

The funeral service will take place on Thursday morning in the Emperor William Memorial Church. The Federal Council, members of the Reichstag and of the Prussian Diet and the state and municipal authorities will be invited.

THE LEGISLATURE.

Government and Opposition Will Now Meet Face to Face—A Forecast of the Speech.

Toronto, August 3.—The first session of the ninth Legislature of Ontario is to be formally opened by His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Mowat today. Counting the only Patron in the House, Mr. Tucker, with Mr. Beatty of Parry Sound as Oppositionist, the Government could count on 50 supporters and the Opposition 44, making with the Speaker in his place a Government majority of only five on a straight party vote. With these two doubtful members voting Ministerialist, Mr. Hardy will have a majority of nine. So that, during the present session, the majority will probably fluctuate between five and nine.

The Election of Speaker.

Escorted by the Queen's Own Rifles, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor will be driven to the chamber at 3 o'clock. He upon taking the Speaker's throne, will observe that the House has no Speaker. He will notify the members through the Provincial Secretary of this fact, and will leave temporarily. Upon returning, he will find that a Speaker has been elected.

The Speech From the Throne.

The Administrator of the Government will then deliver himself of the speech from the throne. This address will be much shorter than usual. It will open by a thanksgiving reference to a bountiful harvest, and continuing, will announce the two reasons for the calling together of the Assembly, namely, the passing of legislation to assure election constables of the right to vote and the framing of an Act to give effect to the Privy Council's decision, giving the provinces more control of the fisheries. In conclusion regret will be expressed at the premature severance of His Excellency the Governor-General's connection with Canadian administration.

Mover and Seconder of Reply.

To Mr. H. J. Pettypiece of East Lambton will fall the honor of moving the reply to the address and to Mr. Sam Clarke of Cobourg, West Northumberland, that of seconding it.

The Boy Was Killed.

Smith's Falls, Aug. 3.—Last evening two rigs returning from the races were being speeded along heedless of the approaching in-coming C.P.R. Brockville train. One of them succeeded in getting over the crossing, but the other, a sulky, driven by Mr. George Rice, farmer, and his son, 12 years old, was struck by the train, with the result that the boy was instantly killed. The horse got over and escaped unhurt. Mr. Rice was thrown a considerable distance and is badly injured.

A FRACTION HIGHER.

Wheat Has Continued to Rise—Small Decrease in That in Store and Afloat—The Prices.

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 2.

The speculative wheat market in Chicago to-day exhibited marked inactivity, but, despite the depressing effect of the absence of many buyers, wheat for all deliveries ran up ⅜c to ¾c per bushel. The August article closed at 66¼c, the top point of the day, and the September and December options wound up the session ⅜c and ⅛c, respectively, above yesterday's final figures. Reports of decreases in the world's wheat stocks and of damage to crop in some foreign countries, are considered bullish in their bearing on the situation.

The sentiment of the Liverpool Board has changed little over the holiday. Spot wheat is ½d per cental lower than Friday's last quotations, while future deliveries are ¼d higher. Paris wheat is lower to-day than yesterday.

At North and West Ontario points new wheat is offering freely around 66c, but, while odd cars are taken by millers at that figure, dealers say they are unable to pay over 60c for it.

Leading Wheat Markets.

Following are the closing prices to-day at important centres:

	Cash.	Aug.	Sept.	Dec.
Chicago	$....	$0 66¼	$0 64⅞	$0 64⅝
New York	....	....	0 69¾	0 69⅛
Milwaukee	0 77	....	0 65¾	....
St. Louis	0 68	0 66¼	0 64⅜	0 66¼
Toledo	0 68	0 67½	0 66¾	0 67¼
Detroit	0 68½	0 67¼	0 66⅛	....
Duluth, No. 1 Northern	....	0 65⅛	0 63⅜	....
Minneapolis	....	0 79	0 62⅞	0 62⅛
Toronto, No. 1 hard	0 98	....	....	....
Toronto, red	0 68	....	....	....

Toronto Grain and Produce.

Flour—Straight rollers in barrels, middle freights, are quoted at $3.35 to $3.40. New wheat flour, $3.25.

Wheat—New wheat is offering freely around 66c at north and west points, but dealers say they are unable to pay over 60c for export. Odd cars are being taken by millers at about 66c at north and west points on the Grand Trunk. No wheat offering at that figure on the Michigan Central is accepted. There is little demand for old red winter, which is quoted at 67c north and west. No. 1 Manitoba hard nominally 90c afloat at Fort William.

Oats—Quoted at 26c high freight, and 26½c on Midland.

Barley—Nothing doing and prices nominal.

Buckwheat—Prices nominal.

Bran—Sells at $8.50 west and shorts at $13 west.

Corn—Canadian, 33c west and 40c on track here.

Peas—Old peas lower at 50c high freights; 48c bid for new.

Oatmeal—Car lots of rolled oats in bags on track at Toronto, $3.60; in bbls., $3.70.

Toronto Live Stock.

The run of live stock at the Cattle Market to-day was light—34 carloads, all told—composed of 525 cattle, 383 sheep and lambs, 30 calves and 1200 hogs.

Although the receipts of fat cattle to-day were small, compared with recent deliveries, prices for exporters remain unchanged, while butchers' stock were fairly firm at Friday's quotations.

Exporters sold at $4.25 to $4.50; light bulls, $3 to $3.50, and heavy bulls, $3.85 to $4.10 per cwt.

Loads of mixed butchers' and exporters sold at $3.85 to $4.10.

Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle sold at $4 to $4.12½; good, $3.75 to $3.90;

BY-LAW NUMBER

A BY-LAW Respecting the Council of the City of Belleville.

PASSED THE DAY OF , 1898.

WHEREAS by Sub-Sec. 3 of Sec. 2 of The Municipal Amendment Act of 1898 the Council of any City having a population of 15,000 or less may, by By-Laws, provide that the Council of such City shall be composed of a Mayor and one Alderman for each 1000 of population to be elected by general vote, the population to be determined by the last census of the Dominion of Canada;

And whereas, by said last census of the Dominion of Canada taken in the year 1891, the population of the City of Belleville was determined at the number of 9914;

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by the Corporation of the City of Belleville:—

1. That the Council of the City of Belleville shall be composed of a Mayor and one Alderman for each 1000 of the population of the said City as determined by the last census of the Dominion of Canada, to be elected by general vote.

2. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that this By-Law shall take effect and come into operation immediately after the passing thereof.

3. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the votes of the qualified electors of the said Corporation of the City of Belleville in accordance with the Statute in that behalf shall be taken upon this By-Law on Friday, the 19th day of August, A.D., 1898, commencing at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and continuing until five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day at the following places in the said Municipality by the following Deputy Returning Officers, namely:

In FOSTER WARD in the building occupied by William Blaind on West John st., in said Ward, and that the said William Blaind be, and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for sa'd Foster Ward.

In SAMSON WARD in the Police Court room in the Market Building, and that Charles Herring be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Samson Ward.

In KETCHESON WARD, in the building on the South-West corner of Pinnacle and Campbell sts. in sa.d Ward, and that Alexander R. Walker be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Ketcheson Ward.

In BALDWIN WARD, in Number Two Fire Engine Shed on the West side of Front st. and that James Macoun be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Baldwin Ward.

In BLEECKER WARD, in the building next door north of McGinnis' Store, and that William A. Lott be, and is appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Bleecker Ward.

In COLEMAN WARD, in the building occupied by Henderson Brown as a shoe shop on the east side of North Front st., and that William A. Pringle be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Coleman Ward.

In Number Seven Division of MURNEY WARD in the building occupied by James McCarthy as a shoe shop on the North side of Bridge Street in said Ward, and that Charles Panter be and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Number Seven Division of said Murney Ward.

In Number Eight Division of MURNEY WARD, in the building occupied by Harry Geary as a butcher shop on the South East corner of Coleman and Bridge streets in the said Ward, and that Nicholas W. Lazier be, and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Number Eight Division of said Murney Ward.

4. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the Clerk of the Council for the Corporation of the City of Belleville shall attend at the City Hall in the City of Belleville on Saturday the 20th day of August 1898 at the hour of Ten o'clock in the Forenoon to proceed to sum up the number of votes given for and against this By-law, in accordance with the provisions of the Statute in that behalf.

5. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Belleville shall attend at the City Hall in the said City on Tuesday the 16th day of August 1898 at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of appointing and shall appoint in writing signed by him two persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes given for and against this By-Law and for the purpose of appointing one person to attend at each polling place upon the day of the polling of the said votes on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of promoting the passing of this By-Law and a like number on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of opposing the passing of this By-Law, which place, day and hour are hereby fixed for said purpose.

NOTICE.

To the Municipal Electors of the City of Belleville:

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the proposed By Law which has been taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the City of Belleville and which will be finally passed by the said Council (in the event of the assent of the Electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication in the INTELLIGENCER newspaper of Belleville, the date of which first publication was Wednesday the 27th day of July 1898, and that the votes of the electors of the said Municipality will be taken thereon and at the hour, day and places therein fixed for taking the votes of the Electors, the polls will be held.

They Keep It Up

Wondering how it is they can never get good wear out of a pair of shoes unless they were bought at Haines & Lockett's. We can tell you the wear of a boot or shoe generally depends on the quality of the inside used in its manufacture. The outer-sole is fastened to the inside; if that is shoddy the whole thing gives way very soon after being wet. We always pay extra to have solid insides in our shoes and besides that they are always bought from the best makers in the country. Call and see our Two Button Shoes at 75c. Two varieties. At the meeting of the Association of American Instructors of the Deaf at Columbus, Ohio, on the 1st inst., Mr. Robert Mathison, M. A., Superintendent of the Ontario Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, was elected Vice-President. The State Journal says: "Mr. Mathison, who is a very popular member of the association, was called upon for a speech, and responded in the quaintly humorous vein characteristic of him."

THE BANK CASE.

Public Interest Shows no Signs of Abating.

PARE'S CROSS-EXAMINATION CONTINUED TO-DAY.

The Movements Day by Day Detailed — The Burglar Goes Over His Story Again—A Deviation in Some Respects.

NAPANEE, Aug. 4, 11:45 a.m.—Interest in the case never flags. From miles around persons are coming into the court room and sitting out the whole day's session.

Pare was put upon the stand and the cross-examination commenced.

The daily hour of duties was gone into by Mr. Porter. Every day was taken up separately, and Pare had something to say about what happened each day.

The grove was their day ground, while at night they slept in barns on two consecutive nights. Mackie always went home late at night and returned in the afternoon Mr. Wiggins' hired man saw all four of the crooks—Holden, Pare, Mackie and Roach. The first scheme was to "hold up" the card players in the bank. The man in the bank was to give a signal. The witness did not stick to his first story at this point. Pare added to his first story that the four went down town two by two and in separate squads peeped into the bank. They met on the Market Square. Pare said Roach was suspicious of the man in the bank and declared the game of cards was a bluff to draw the robbers.

Then a new point was brought out, when Pare said the question of blackmailing the banker was raised by Roach and Mackie. The man in the bank was to be told that the fact that a hole had been bored in the safe with his permission was a strong point against him. If he wished to square himself he would have to cough up some money. He would have to take the money from the bank, but Holden and Pare jumped on this scheme and it petered out.

Then the bicycle scheme was proposed by Ponton, so Holden told Pare. The man who was to be captured was Durand, who had the combination.

Pare, in his story elicited by cross-examination, repeated what he had said in his evidence in chief regarding his becoming the prime mover in the game. He said he drew plans of a combination lock and had Holden instruct the man in the bank how to find the combination key hole and get an impression in wax of the key hole. The man in the bank tried but could not find the key hole. Then other plans were drawn down to the bank man, who was told to work at the safe during daylight, seeing his way to the key hole by means of lighting a match.

Court adjourned at 12:15 to re-open at 2 p.m.

THIS AFTERNOON.

When court resumed in the afternoon Pare was still being cross-examined.

He described his meeting with the man in the bank to whom he was introduced by Holden as "George," the new man. The man in the bank was called "Willie" by Holden.

Pare gave a long-winded description of how he instructed "Willie" in picking the safe combination and how to make an impression.

Pare gave Ponton a piece of WAX to take the impression. The man in the bank went away and returned the next night with the impression.

Pare said he would make a key, but was not able to do so by the next night, because he hadn't any wire.

The man in the bank was that night instructed how to change the combination.

Pare said that he went to town and bought a file from a man on Main st. and 7 inches of 3-16 wire from a mechanic on Centre st. With this he made a key, which he gave to the bank man and the latter tried the key in his combination, that is the vault lock, and it would not fit.

Case still in progress.

SOMETHING ABOUT HOLDEN.

He Sent Rotten Eggs to the Detectives
--More Startling Evidence Promised.

That Holden, as well as Pare, took considerable interest in last autumn's proceedings against Ponton appears from a curious revelation which has lately been made. After Ponton was released a box of rotten eggs was shipped to the Finkerton detectives from Kingston. Since his arrest Holden has admitted that he sent them. It is stated by the detectives that Holden came to Canada prepared to tell all he knew. Owing, however, to the limited accommodations of the gaol, he was placed in the same corridor with Mackie. The men, according to the Mail and Empire special, soon became thick, and on Monday morning Holden decided to throw in his chances with the other two.

Inspector Burke, of Boston, who arrested Holden, arrived last night at Napanee.

The Crown, it is said, has new and startling evidence to offer, likely to be much more valuable in its effect than Pare's confession, but all lips are sealed as to its character.

The evidence will probably be that of C. E. Lyons, the lawyer, who is said to have warned the manager in May, 1897, of a robbery likely to take place with the collusion of a man in the bank. Lyons arrived last evening and is the guest of Barrister Madden. In the spring of 1897 Lyons defended the Mackies on a charge

RECORD OF ROACH.

The Man Pare Mentioned Has an Unenviable Record.

John Roach, who is wanted at Napanee, in connection with the bank robbery, has served terms for pocket-picking, horse stealing, and burglary on the continent, although only 26 years of age.

He is already known on both sides of the line. He has served several terms in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. Roach was arrested in Toronto this spring, during the Woodbine race meeting, for vagrancy, and given several hours to leave town. He was last heard of in Buffalo.

UNDER MASONIC AUSPICES

The Last Tribute Paid to the Late Louis Simpson.

Beloved in life and lamented in death by those who knew him best is the noblest eulogy which can be pronounced upon any man, and such could be truthfully said of the late Mr. Louis Simpson. The funeral, which took place this afternoon, was one of the largest ever held in this city and was a fitting tribute to a manly, unselfish life.

Services at the house were conducted by the Rev. T. Anderson, assisted by the Rev. J. J. Rice, after which the cortege proceeded to the cemetery, where the services at the grave were conducted by Mr. A. E. Lewis, W. M. of Belleville Lodge A. F. and A. M., assisted by Mr. W. Lattimer, W. M. of Moira Lodge. The members of the three Masonic Lodges attended in a body, as did Belleville Lodge, I. O. O. F. The Oddfellows' band accompanied the procession as far as Murney's hill. All the employees of the G. T. R., who were off duty, attended the funeral in a body, testifying to the esteem in which he was held by his old comrades on the rail. The officials of the road were also represented.

The bearers, all of whom are G.T.R. engineers and members of the Masonic order, were: P. Acton, Fred Frost, T. Elliott, J. Muir, L. Rogers, W. Mallock.

The floral offerings were most beautiful, including a wheel from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, a pillow from his brother and his wife, a pillow from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, an anchor from Mrs. W. Simpson, wreaths from the staff at Kingston Junction, Thos. McGinnis, Mrs. Geo. Teale, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Scott, Mrs. Hunter of Kingston, Mrs. R. Mayo, Mrs. H. Taylor, Lillian Ferguson, bouquets from Miss B. Hunter and many others.

The Wrong Way.

The wrong way to buy a suit of clothes is to look around for something cheap. A cheap suit is an expensive suit at any price. A cheap article, after a week's wear, bags at the knee, pushes up in the back, frays out at the bottom, while the pockets have a hang-dog look, and the general appearance of premature decay that lingers about the wearer is evidence that he has been making a futile attempt to save money. The Oak Hall sell the kind that will wear.

Panic at the Point.

The only unpleasant feature of the Union picnic yesterday was an incident which occurred at the landing place at the arrival of the afternoon boat. There were a great number of picnickers waiting to embark on the boat for home and they were crowding down upon the dock as the boat came in. When the boat touched the dock there was a rush to get on board and in the midst of the confusion some cheerful idiot shouted that the dock was sinking. Of course a panic ensued, women clasped their children in their arms and shrieked, and even the men seemed unable to do anything but yell. Pandemonium reigned for a few minutes until all were safely on board. The dock turned out to be all right and no one was injured. The party who caused the scare, if found out, should be punished.

John Hardigan was charged with fraudulently appropriating a suit of clothes the property of John A. Vandervoort. The case was settled between the parties.

Jim Whalen was arrested by Sergeant McCrudden this morning on the charge of being disorderly. He was sent to the gaol for two months on an old sentence, which had been suspended.

Dennis Monville, a chum of Whalen's, is in the police cells on the same charge.

S. Moon was charged with allowing his cow to run at large. Case dismissed.

Fishing Competition.

The weather was highly unfavorable for the Forest and Stream Club bass fishing competition yesterday afternoon and the catches were small. Nine boats competed and only 7 bass were caught. Messrs. Joseph Templeton and Joseph Ward were the chief prize winners. They had the largest catch, 3 bass weighing 8 lbs. 13 oz., and the largest bass—3 lbs 3½ oz. Messrs. A. Beadle and Wm. Cryaler had the second largest catch—2 bass.

Re Rolling Mills

To the Editor of the INTELLIGENCER.

SIR,—As the Council by their action on Monday evening last have made this matter a public one, I would like to ask you the following questions, presuming, as a public journal, you will be able to answer them now:

1st. How much more will the ratepayers be called upon to pay for the property upon which the proposed rolling mills are to be built?

2nd. And how much will they have to pay for the duty upon the plant?

3rd. And what further and other sum or sums will be required to cover the terms of the agreement?

The above are not captious questions, but are asked for the purpose of finding out the full amount we are asked to present to Mr. Mitchell.

I would suggest that in a matter so important that the agreement be put into its way to the public through the columns of the press.

By answering the above you will confer a favor on

Yours truly,
W. JEFFERS DIAMOND.

ED. NOTE—The INTELLIGENCER has not yet seen the By-law, consequently cannot discuss its provisions, nor answer the above questions. The Council, while lavish in its bonusing, is economical in giving information to the public, confining it to one newspaper. Probably the Councillors think the less information the voters have, the greater the probability of carrying the By-law. When the By-law is made public, it will receive attention.

PARE IS CROSS-EXAMINED.

The Chief Crown Witness Under Fire the Whole Day.

Mr. Porter's Adroit Questioning Caused Him to Get Tangled a Little at One or Two Points—Surprising Letter From Pare to Ponton's Lawyer Warning Him That Evil Persons Were Putting Up a Job on His Client.

Napanee, Aug. 4.—Lawyer Lyons of Belleville came into town last night. He registered at the Campbell House, but about 8 o'clock was driven up to Lawyer Madden's house, where he now is. He is expected to give his evidence to-day.

Mr. Lyons was supposed to have written a letter to the Dominion Bank warning them of an attempted robbery, but this he denies. The truth of the matter is that Lyons gave the warning verbally, to which fact several of the citizens are prepared to swear.

The Jack Roach implicated in Pare's confession is the son of a farmer living two miles east of Deseronto. The whole family bear an unimpeachable character. Two of the sons were agents for the Rathbun Co. at important agencies in Ontario. John returned from California a year or two ago with a fortune estimated at about $25,0000 or $80,000, and lived with his father in Belleville, in a quiet, unassuming way. That he has anything to do with the case passes the comprehension of the citizens of Napanee, who know the family and the son Jack. Roach is now in California, looking after some mining interests. His father is daily an interested spectator of the proceedings at the Court House.

GREAT CROWD IN COURT.

Hundreds Turned Away—Pare on the Stand Most of the Day—His Lurid Career.

Promptly at 9.30 yesterday the court opened. The room was again crowded to excess, despite the sultry weather, and hundreds were turned away. The interest seems to be growing as the case proceeds. Pare again took the stand.

Then Mr. Porter began the cross-examination of Pare, and Pare gave as his aliases Howard, Bellinger and Oldgeorge. He was born in St. Thomas, Que., 56 years ago, and had a common school education, and learned printers' art. He was a hotel-keeper in Montreal and after living in Detroit two years he returned to Montreal and fell into loose habits and for robbing a till he got three months in gaol. Then he drifted down to Quebec, where he got seven years in St. Vincent de Paul for robbing a safe.

In the Penitentiary.

Mr. Porter then took up the life of the man while at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. The first episode was when Pare caused an investigation, when he charged Deputy Warden Ouimet with accepting $300 as a bribe to assist two convicts to escape. An investigation was held, but Ouimet was declared innocent, as the man who had given an affidavit corroborating Pare's evidence could never be found, and after Pare had been in prison four years he had an interview with Detective Cullen of Montreal, and Pare told Cullen there was to be an attempt upon St. Lambert Bank, Montreal, and that a man in the bank was favorable. The witness is very unwilling under cross-examination and contradicts himself frequently.

The Cullen Episode.

Pare declared that the reason he told Cullen about the contemplated attempt upon the St. Lambert bank was to get his liberty, and perhaps a little money, and when Pare got out of jail he worked in Montreal, where he cracked a safe and got $380. He was arrested, but broke jail and went to Manchester, N.H. The warrant for his arrest is still out in Montreal. He went to New Hampshire, where he was arrested for raiding a store. He got four years in Concord penitentiary. Then he went to Manchester, then to Detroit, then to Cleveland, then to Toronto. He came to Toronto in May, 1897. He got two letters, one from his sister and one from Jack Roach. He was surprised to get one from Roach, as it was the first he had ever received. He stayed one day in Toronto, and then came down to Belleville. The court adjourned at 12.45 till 2 p.m.

Amended Bank Plans.

Pare was not called immediately on the assembling of the court, but F. F. Miller, C. E., was put in the box, and produced an amended plan of the bank and the surrounding buildings. Mr. Porter had the witness explain every part of the plan, and give many details. The flat roof just behind Ponton's rooms was shown to possess a gutter down which water flowed. The defence is going into the topography of the scene of the robbery in order to lay the basis of a strong case against the testimony of certain Crown witnesses, notably young Haycock and Mrs. McGreer.

Pare Again in the Box.

At this stage Pare came back to the box, and Mr. Porter's cross-examination continued. In detailing his movements from Cleveland to Detroit, Port Colborne to Belleville, he got tangled up a little, for Mr. Porter said, "You said this morning that you went direct from Manchester to Detroit."

"I just recall this fact now," said the prisoner. "I did not work there. My friends came up with me; that made five of us. The two got off at Cornwall, but Roach, Holden and I came right up to Kingston. Then Roach went on to Belleville. I saw one of the men who got off at Cornwall after the bank robbery."

Mr. Porter's Clever Work.

One of the cleverest pieces of cross-examination ever worked in this country was played by Mr. Porter when he led Pare up to a startling admission which, if it stands the test of Mr. Osler's invective, will knock Pare's confession into a cocked hat. Mr. Porter said: "Now, Mr. Pare, I want you to give me a sample of your writing." Pare sat down at the barrister's table, and wrote under Mr. Porter's dictation:

"Montreal, May 25, 1897.

Dear sir,—Honorable James Daly. E. Gus Porter. I am waiting to connect with some sharpers, but I can't say much just now. Do you know Detective Wilkes and Dougherty? If I hear more I will try and let you know. Yours truly, "George Pare, or 'Old George' of the Baseball Club."

"That will do," was Mr. Porter's non-committal remark, when Pare had finished.

The writing was somewhat cramped and a big blot disfigured the face of the page.

"Did you ever use that name, Old George of the Baseball Club?"

"Yes, and I guess you know it." (Laughter.)

"Is that your hand-writing, Mr. Pare?" showing him a letter. "That is your signature?"

"Yes," replied the witness.

A stir was created when Mr. Porter produced a letter written by Pare, and asked him if he recognized the handwriting and the signature.

Pare said: "Yes, that is my writing."

Pare's Letter to Ponton's Lawyer.

Then Mr. Porter read the following letter, while the court listened with all of the ear that it had:

Montreal, Oct. 26, 1897.

Hon. E. Gus Porter—Dear sir,—A conspiracy is forming here in Montreal against your client, Mr. Ponton, by some sharpers of evil repute well-known here. They are waiting to connect with Detectives Wilkes and Dougherty. If I find out more I will let you know. I remain, sir, respectfully yours,

"Old George" of the Baseball Club.

SICK HEADACHE

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

They also relieve Distress from Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Too Hearty Eating. A perfect remedy for Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Coated Tongue, Pain in the Side, TORPID LIVER. They Regulate the Bowels. Purely Vegetable.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

The beauty of the evidence concerning the letter put into court as an exhibit is that the peculiarities of the hand-writing correspond accurately with the formation of the letters made by Pare when he wrote at the dictation of Mr. Porter. The word "Honorable" in both cases was written "hon," while "some" was written "somes."

There seems to be no doubt about the author of the letter from Montreal.

Pare's Arrest in Manchester.

Picking up the threads of the story, Mr. Porter drew from the witness that he was arrested on Saturday morning, July 9, by Inspector O'Dowd and another officer of the Manchester police. The latter gained admission to Pare's house on Elm street by an upper window and opened the door for O'Dowd. The two policemen broke into Pare's room and arrested him while he was yet in bed.

On April 17 my sister came to Manchester. She was there from April 17 to June 21.

We lived in the same house all the time. She got the unsigned bills before she started on the excursion to Quebec on June 21. She got ten of them, all signed by me. I signed M. Baines' name to them. I gave her $127; $27 was all right. I didn't tell her anything about the bills at the time. I told her not to spend too much of it. I haven't seen her since. I don't know what she did with the money. She had no reason to be suspicious about the money, so far as anything that I told her. I know she could not give me away, because she did not know anything. I did not pretend to take much stock in Thornhill's story, anyway. He told me she said the bills had came from me. I said if she said so let them be on me. On Tuesday Lawyer O'Connor came to see me. I was taken out into Chief Healey's office, and questioned about the notes by Healey, Thornhill and O'Dowd. All sort of questions were asked me, and I knew they were trying to sweat me. They kept me there for ten or fifteen minutes, but only Mr. Healey did the talking. I next saw Thornhill on the Wednesday following my arrest. I was still in the police station. I had not been brought before any court.

Objected to Coming to Canada.

Thornhill asked me if I had any objection to going to Canada. I said I would not go unless there were papers to draw me out. "We'll have to get the papers," said Thornhill. He pulled out more telegrams and read them to me. They said that my sister was being brought from Montreal, and that a couple more arrests were expected that day. He asked if I had anything to say that I might make my case a little lighter. I referred him to my lawyer. He left. My lawyer told me what was against me, and told me what to do. He said there were three or four to be arrested and advised me to do the best I could for myself. Then I started out from that time to do that. The lawyer said: "You go to Healey's office and make a clean breast of all you know, and all will count in your favor." I believed him and went to Healey. I felt that if I could do anything to save myself I ought to do it. In such cases as this I had always up to this time got the worst of it, so I thought it was time for me to do something for myself. My object in adopting this course was to benefit myself. I was not a bit sorry about committing the robbery; I only wanted to save myself.

Confession Made in Healey's Room.

I went to Healey's room. There were present Lawyer Davidson, for the Dominion Bank; Detectives Dougherty, Carpenter, Thornhill and Dennis F. O'Connor. I made a confession. It was not taken down in writing. I signed nothing on that occasion; then I came to Canada. I knew every little detail of the trial last fall. I knew Mr. Ponton had been accused and discharged. I read only one small paragraph of the investigation. I left Manchester about the middle of October for Detroit. I came by way of St. John to Coteau Landing, and took the main line of the G.T.R. At Coteau Landing I heard some people talking about Ponton's investigation at Napanee. I bought a ticket at St. John for Detroit, good for ten days. This was not the first I had heard of Mr. Ponton's connection with the robbery. I had seen a few paragraphs in a Canadian paper in Manchester. While I was in Belleville my two American friends stayed in Montreal with my sister. I wrote to one of them to go out on their own hook, as I was busy in Belleville for two or three weeks. On my way from Cleveland to Montreal I didn't stop off at Belleville; Roach, Holden and I were together. Holden and I were supposed to meet Roach at Napanee the same night. When Holden and I came to Napanee after half an hour we met Roach on the west side of Napanee station on the track near the junction of the Bay of Quinte with the G.T.R. We met him there by appointment about 9 o'clock.

That was the first week of June. I was introduced to Mackie as the "new man." The old scheme of holding up the people in the bank was discussed, and it had not panned out before this. My forte was not holding up people.

Becomes the Main Mover.

Then the card playing at night and its purport was gone into. At the first conversation I didn't know there was a man in the bank. The report was brought back that if possible some men would be playing cards in the bank. This was in the first week of July. I wanted to see the lay-out for myself. That was all the report brought in. I didn't know and they didn't say that they had communicated with the man in the bank. I became the main mover not long after, for the other schemes did not pan out.

The court adjourned at 5 till this morning at 9.30.

Mr. Waite, the Buffalo architect, will have charge of the new Montreal Grand Trunk offices, which are to be built of stone, and will be the largest structure in the city.

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly—that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

CUBANS CAPTURE GIBORA.

Spaniards Compelled to Surrender After a Hard Fight.

General Miguel Gomez Attacks the Town With 500 Men—Over 100 Spaniards Were Taken Prisoners—Syms-Dudley Dynamite Gun Plays Havoc With the Walls—Philippine Prisoners Treated by Aguinaldo With Humanity.

Key West, Fla., Aug. 4.—Captain Del Valley Ignacio of the insurgent forces was brought here yesterday morning by the gunboat Helena, which took him aboard near Tunoz de Sazo, on the south coast of Cuba, on July 25. He reported that on July 9 Gen. Miguel Gomez (under whom he served in the Sancti Spiritus district of the Province of Santa Clara), attacked the town of Gibora with 500 men, and after two hours' fighting compelled the Spaniards to raise the white flag.

Three dynamite shells from the Syms-Dudley gun tore big holes in the walls of the town, killed nine Spaniards and wounded 12. One hundred and six prisoners were taken, and the town is now held by the Cubans. The Cuban loss was one killed and three wounded.

When Capt. Ignacio left, Gen. Gomez was making plans to attack the troops and restore communication between the Eastern and Western Provinces.

The Helena, which has been on blockade duty for nearly a month, sank a number of harbor tugs and lighters at Carsilda last week, and sent one little tug, the Manateo, which surrendered in preference to being sunk, to Guantanamo Bay.

AGUINALDO HUMAN.

U. S. Consul Wildman Says He Treats Prisoners With Humanity.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 3.—The State Department has been advised by United States Consul Wildman, at Hong-Kong, that all prisoners taken by Aguinaldo, insurgent chief, including Monks, are "treated with perfect humanity," and that all reports to the contrary are absolutely false.

Concho a Pest Ship.

New York, Aug. 4.—The facts in relation to the despatching of the transport ships Concho and Alamo from Cuba under conditions which baffles description, are slowly but surely leaking out. When the whole story has been told there will undoubtedly be a severe day of reckoning for those who are responsible for the issuance of the orders to send the ships north without fresh water, provisions or medical supplies.

A prominent army surgeon, whose name is withheld for the present, said: "There can be no doubt that the horrible condition of these ships was due to the short-sighted policy pursued by General Shafter ever since his arrival in Cuba. He went to Santiago utterly unprepared to combat either the wounds of battle or the ravages of disease."

Spain's Answer Not Received.

Washington, Aug. 4.—The peace question was discussed for an hour yesterday at Washington between the President and M. Cambon, but nothing was given out. In the evening it was stated that Spain's reply had not been received.

TWENTY YEARS AND A FLOGGING.

Robert Norton's Severe Sentence—Body Found on Waterfront.

Owen Sound, Aug. 4.—Robert Norton, a cooper of Owen Sound, was sentenced to 20 years' imprisonment and 30 lashes for seduction, committed on Rachel and Maggie Strathy, ages 11 and 17 years, on July 12 last. He was acquitted on the charge against the older girl, it being proven she was a consenting party and was over 16 years of age.

The body of a man was found floating on the waterfront yesterday afternoon. The body had apparently been in the water for about two weeks, and is supposed to be Thomas Saunders, lately of Sarawak Township.

IN DEATH'S COLD SPLENDOR.

Many Thousands Visited St. Michael's Cathedral—To-Day's Ceremony.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—The remains of the late Archbishop Walsh lying in the magnificent casket of silver and velvet, were visited by thousands all day yesterday in St. Michael's Cathedral. The whole edifice, draped in black and white, the innumerable burning candles and the sorrow-affected multitudes, made an impressive and never-to-be-forgotten sight.

A death mask of the late archbishop was taken by Sculptor Hamilton McCarthy last evening.

The Anglican Church of Toronto will be represented to-day by Right Rev. Bishop Sweatman, who will sit with the Cabinet in the Cathedral.

To-Day's Ceremony.

The solemn service of burial takes place to day at 10.30. Admission will be without ticket. Two elevations have been arranged on either side of the sanctuary for the clergy, and in the front rows of the Cathedral will be seated the members of the Cabinet and the judges. Members of Parliament will occupy seats on the left side and the City Council on the right. Back of this will be such citizens who wish to pay their farewell respects to the dead prelate.

The service will begin with the solemnization of high mass. Very Rev. Bishop Dowling of Hamilton will be the celebrant. Following this will be the sermon to be preached by Archbishop McQuaid of Rochester. Then comes the absolution, pronounced by the Archbishops of Montreal, Ottawa and the Bishops of Hamilton, London and Alexandria, and then the interment.

Sir Charles Tupper is still in Montreal, and Mr. Maclean, in Hardware and Metals, advocates the Conservative leader's appointment as one of the Canadian Commissioners at the Quebec conference.

THE POLITICAL TUG-OF-WAR

Begun in the Legislature in Torrid August.

Speaker Evanturel Re-Elected Without Opposition—Sir Oliver Mowat Delivers the Speech From the Throne—Mr. Hardy's Tactics, as Disclosed, Savor More of Oliver Cromwell Than of Oliver Mowat, Said Mr. Whitney in Opposing Them.

Toronto, Aug. 4.—Sir Oliver Mowat returned once more to the scene of years of unbroken triumph yesterday afternoon, and with the usual formalities declared the first session of the Ninth Legislature of Ontario formally opened. The scene was scarcely as gaudy as those in preceding years, but it was, perhaps, more interesting withal. There was less than the usual accompaniment of chivalry, but an immense quantity of new blood had been instilled into the House by the elections. The observer could not but note that its general constitution had greatly improved.

His Honor's Advent.

Precisely at 3 o'clock Sir Oliver entered, with cocked hat and goldbraided court uniform. The old knight walked with a sprightly step to the Speaker's throne, Mr. Hardy at his side, and Capt. Kirkpatrick and Lieut. Cosby preceding. The Provincial Secretary, stepping forward, declared it to be His Honor's pleasure that the House should forthwith elect a Speaker.

Sir Oliver retired, and the Attorney-General, rising, nominated for Speaker, Francis Eugene Alfred Evanturel. Mr. McKay of South Oxford seconded the nomination.

Opposition's Opening.

Mr. Whitney was beckoned to say something, and in responding the Opposition gave the Government a most uncomfortable quarter of an hour. Throwing aside at the outset the question of the Speakership, he expressed a desire that his first and he intended that his last words during the session would be in indignant protest about the position in which the Legislature finds itself to-day. In the first place, two of the most important departments were unrepresented in the House. About one third of the Ministry had been rejected by the people. Nearly two-thirds of the seats in the House were being attacked in the courts, and, in the face of these facts, the position of affairs was one unparalleled in any country under British rule. (Applause.) The proposition that the Legislature should take from the purview of the judges the giving of votes was another unparalleled position. (Applause.) The accredited organ of the Government indicated yesterday a retreat on their part, but he would protest none the less strongly for that. Before branching out into the subject of the Speakership the Opposition leader gave the Government the very doubtful assurance that while he would not pursue tactics of obstruction, yet he would use every opportunity presenting itself to protest against the conduct of the crippled Government in calling the House together for such a purpose. He then concurred in the election of Mr. Evanturel as Speaker.

Speaker Elected.

Mr. Evanturel was declared elected Speaker by the clerks of the House, and was escorted by his proposer and seconder to his throne. He returned his thanks for the honor conferred upon him.

THE SPEECH.

His Honor then read the speech from the throne, as follows:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly:

I have great pleasure in welcoming you to your legislative duties at this your first meeting of the Assembly since the last general election.

I have directed that the order-in-Council authorizing the issuing of a proclamation calling together the Legislative Assembly, with the report upon which the order-in-Council is based, stating the reasons for summoning you to meet at this early period of the year, shall be laid before you without delay.

His Excellency the Earl of Aberdeen has announced his intention of retiring from the exalted position of Governor-General of Canada before the expiration of the full term for which he was appointed. This announcement has evoked expressions of regret from all classes of our people, in whose well being and happiness his Excellency and the Countess of Aberdeen have, during their residence in Canada, taken so deep an interest. Their Excellencies' sympathetic participation in all philanthropic movements and benevolent enterprises, their hearty co-operation in all good works, their patriotic devotion to Canada, and their constant study of Canadian interests, will always be gratefully remembered by the people of this Province. While we regret the departure of their Excellencies, it is a source of gratification to believe that their interests in Canada will not cease with his Excellency's term of office as Governor-General.

Causes for Congratulation.

I rejoice on being able to congratulate you that the Province is being favored with another abundant harvest, and that the prices of almost all the products of the farm have been satisfactory to the agriculturist. There has been no abatement in the efforts of the Department of Agriculture to promote the welfare of the husbandman through the operations of the numerous agencies and organizations under its direction, and by the preparation and wide circulation of bulletins and reports of an instructive character. The practical and experimental work in connection with the Agricultural College continues to afford much valuable instruction and encouragement to those who can personally investigate it, as is evidenced by the constantly increasing number of farmers who continue to visit and inspect its operations, not less than thirty thousand having visited the college and farm during the month of June last. It is gratifying to learn that the work of the department in enforcing the provisions of the act of last session with respect to the spread of the San Jose scale, and in protecting the orchards of the Province from the destructive ravages of that pest, has been actively pursued, and with good results.

It is also a subject for congratulation that the trade and commerce of the Province are constantly increasing, and that agricultural, manufacturing and commercial enterprises are alike prosperous and successful. Great activity still prevails in the mining districts, and there is abundant evidence that the mineral wealth of northern Ontario is being steadily developed.

It is gratifying to record the increasing interest which is being taken in road and street improvement throughout the Province. Successful efforts to bring about reform are apparent in many districts. The fullest information appears to be desired by both urban and rural municipalities regarding this branch of public work, the importance of which cannot be overestimated, influencing so largely as it does the commercial, agricultural and social welfare of the community.

The Lumber Trade.

Owing, I believe, to the unsettled conditions of certain branches of trade in the adjoining Republic arising out of the war with Spain, and to the duty imposed by the tariff of that nation on lumber when imported, the lumber markets have not been as active as in former years. I am pleased to be able to state that shipments to the British markets have greatly increased, and that satisfactory prices have been obtained.

The work of the commission appointed last year to enquire into the practicability of preserving and restoring the white pine upon lands in the Province not adapted for agricultural purposes or for settlement, and whose preliminary report with recommendations was presented last session, has been continued during the year. The final report of the commissioners is expected to be completed and ready for distribution during the session, in that case a measure, supplementary of the Forest Reserves Act of last session, may be submitted for your consideration.

Right of Certain Electors to Vote.

In view of the great number of election petitions awaiting trial, it is desirable to facilitate their disposal by the courts and to lessen the expense and labor of the trials as far as may be practicable, and so that they may, if possible, be disposed of by the time this Assembly may again meet in the early part of the coming year. To this end a bill will be submitted for your consideration making provision for the speedy determination of the question of the right of electors to vote who have been called upon or appointed by the returning officer or deputy returning officers under the Election Act to act as constables or special constables on election or polling day, or to perform other work or public duties connected with the election, and for other purposes.

Provincial Fisheries.

The long contested question between the Governments of Canada and the Provinces relating to the rights in and over Provincial fisheries has at length been finally decided by the Imperial Privy Council. Leases of fishing rights in Provincial waters and licenses and permits to fish in Provincial waters have heretofore been granted by the Department of Marine and Fisheries under the laws and regulations of the Dominion. The judgment of the Privy Council has determined that the right to fish in Provincial waters, including the waters of the great lakes and international and inter-provincial rivers, can be granted only by the Provincial Government, and that revenues derivable therefrom are payable to the Provincial Government. The regulations as to the time and manner in which fish may be taken, the instruments of capture which may be employed, the fixing of close seasons, and some other indispensable forms of regulation are by the judgment declared to be subject wholly to Dominion legislation; and the Government of the Dominion is held entitled to impose a tax for revenue purposes as a condition of the right to fish. It is desirable in the public interest to make further provision for the due administration by the Province of the important rights and interests which are now definitely ascertained to belong to the Province, and for the collection of the revenue to be derived therefrom. A bill upon the subject will be submitted to you.

The proposed legislation in respect to the two last mentioned questions is among the reasons for your being called together at this somewhat unusual season of the year, and I trust that you will deem them of sufficiently pressing importance to secure your approval of the course which has been taken. It is presumed that when you have disposed of matters which are immediately urgent you will prefer postponing consideration of other and general business until the early part of the next year.

I feel assured that your deliberations will be characterized by wisdom and patriotism, and that they will conduce to the happiness and prosperity of the people.

His Honor retired and the Attorney-General gave the usual formal notices of motion.

The Main Bills Come Friday.

Other notices were: On Friday next, bill to amend the Ontario elections law, also a bill relating to the provincial fisheries. Mr. Hardy's outline of his proposed conduct of business was presented in a notice of motion. It provided that after Friday the Government business shall have precedence over all other business on each day of the session during the month of August; and that in addition to the usual session commencing at 3 p.m., there shall, during the month of August, be a meeting of the House at 11 a.m. on each day of the session, Mr. Speaker to leave the chair at 1 p.m.

Opposition Leader's Objection.

To Mr. Whitney this appeared arbitrary and exhausting physically. He did not think the Opposition wished to unduly prolong the session. It was being held in a torrid season and this should be an argument against burning the candle at both ends. He would offer no obstruction, but would insist that every opportunity be given for the full discussion of every question submitted. "If he'll only be reasonable," said he with a gesture, indicating the Attorney-General, "he'll be surprised at how nicely we shall get on. But to say that after Friday no member shall be at liberty to introduce a private bill, a thing he is sent here to do, savors more of the time of Oliver Cromwell than of Oliver Mowat." (Applause.)

The Attorney-General, in reply, declared the elasticity of his intentions, proclaiming that although the Government had outlined this course of conduct, yet it was by no means their intention to prevent any member from introducing legislation if he so desired.

Respect for the Late Archbishop.

The Premier proposed that out of respect for Archbishop Walsh, "the illustrious local prelate," whose sudden demise had so shocked the community, the House stand adjourned until to-day at 4 o'clock, instead of 3.

Mr. Whitney heartily concurred. The House adjourned.

National Obsequies Postponed.

Berlin, Aug. 4.—Yesterday's service at Friedrichshruhe will be the only obsequies until the mausoleum on the site of the famous stag group near the Schloss is completed. The national obsequies have been postponed until that time.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

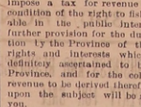

Eva Boileau, who was struck by an Ottawa electric car, died from the injuries received.

The Dominion Educational convention opened at Dalhousie College, Halifax, yesterday.

It is now a settled fact that the Grand Trunk will build terminal facilities at Port Huron.

A boy named George Morphy was run over by a train at Windsor, on the Grand Trunk, and received injuries from which he died.

While engaged in felling trees, William Nashwahsegonaby, an Indian, better known as "Little Williams," was killed near Bexhampton. He was chief councillor of the Saugeen reserve.

Many men fool with sickness just as a bear fools around a trap. A man doesn't like to own up that he is ill. He says "O, it amounts to nothing. I shall be all right to-morrow." But he isn't all right to-morrow; nor the next day. Pretty soon the trap snaps to; and he has some serious disease fastened on him.

The only sensible course is to keep away from the trap, and not allow sickness to get any hold on you. It is a frightful mistake to trifle with indigestion and bilious troubles in the belief that they will cure themselves. On the contrary they drag the whole system down with them.

When the appetite and digestion are irregular it shows that the machinery of the body is out of order and is not doing its proper work; the blood-circulation is poorly supplied, and is being gradually debased by bilious poisons.

The proper alternative for this condition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly upon the digestive functions and the liver, and enables the blood-making glands to supply an abundance of pure blood, rich with the nutritious vital elements which build up healthy flesh and enduring strength.

In all impoverished and run-down conditions the "Discovery" is far better than malt "extracts" or nauseating "emulsions." It creates solid flesh and lasting strength. It does not make flabby fat but solid muscle. It is a perfect tonic for corpulent people.

A full account of its properties and marvelous effects in many so-called "hopeless" cases, verified by the patients' own signatures, is given in Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." This splendid volume will be sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of customs and mailing only. Address, Dr. R. V. Pierce, 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. For a cloth-bound copy send 50 stamps.

Having suffered for several years with indigestion," writes Samuel Walker, Esq., of Parkesburg, Chester County, Pa., "I concluded to try your valuable Golden Medical Discovery.' After taking five bottles I was entirely cured. I also suffered from bladder trouble, which was greatly relieved by the 'Discovery.' I then used a few vials.

TREMBLING HANDS AND SHAKY MEMORY. A HAMILTON MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH A NEW MEDICINE.

DEAR SIRS,—

I have spent half a fortune in doctors' bills, all to no avail. These Pills seemed to reach the seat of disease at once, and they also seemed to possess a remarkable influence over me. The violent palpitation of the heart, the trembling of the hands, the loss of memory and general collapse of the entire system, have yielded to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Great were the results from the use of four boxes of these Pills. I am enjoying the very best of health. I fully believe they are able to do for others as much as they have done for me. Before using them I was a miserable wreck. To-day I am a well man.

Yours truly,

OPPOSITION OBJECTION.

Sound objections to the session of the Legislature must be scarce when the Opposition press takes exception to the time-honored form of the proclamation. The Legislature is summoned to do those things which "may by the favor of God be ordained." It is intimated that Mr. Hardy has dark deeds to perform, and that he has invented this form of words in order to throw the cloak of religion over his designs.—Toronto Globe.

No, no, Mr. Globe. The opposition do not object to the invoking of the name of the Almighty upon any legitmate legislation; but they do object to the use of God's name, when used in connection with one of the most iniquitous of acts, the stealing of seats in the Legislature by legislation, for the unholy purpose of retaining power. It is little short of blasphemy. The invoking of the aid of his Satanic Majesty would be more in character.

NO LONGER SOUR.

The London Times says Mr. Mulock has accomplished an unparalleled task in actually making the British Post Office move. He deserves knighthood.—Port Hope Guide.

Two years and three months ago the Globe and other Grit newspapers sneered at titles conferred by Her Majesty as "tin-pot titles," and Mr. Wilfrid Laurier declared that he would "never, never, never," accept one. Last year he became "Sir" Wilfrid.

The grapes are no longer sour.

MUNICIPAL REPRESENTATION.

The Peterborough Council have refused to give effect to the by-law passed by the ratepayers for reducing the number of Aldermen and abolishing the Ward system. The reason given by the Councillors is that the vote polled was not large enough to be fairly representative of public opinion. In view of this fact, it will be well for the electors of Belleville to turn out in force on the 19th inst. to vote upon the by-law.

A BLUNDER, OR WHAT?

An exchange remarks: The announcement of the plebiscite vote on the 29th of September reminds us that in Ontario three-fourths or more of the voters' lists (1898) will not be ready for use, as the appeals to the County Judge will be made in nearly every municipality. About the third week in November would find all the lists revised. If the date be not advanced the old lists (1897) will have to be used.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—Two cent postage is to begin on Nov. 9th, 1898.

—Letter writers have postage reduced one third, and newspaper readers are to be taxed.

—A United Stateser was fined at Kingston, $10 for fishing on Sunday, 1st August.

—If party majorities in the Ontario Legislature are to sit as courts of law, justice will be dead.

—The Legislature, no matter what its political color, is to make laws, not to interpret or administer laws.

—Do the people of Ontario desire that the Legislature shall supersede the courts? If so, they should support Hardy.

—A Hardy supporter who will vote in favor of putting himself out of the House will certainly be a political curiosity.

—Another M.P. rewarded, Mr. Bourassa, M.P., has been appointed Secretary to the Quebec Conference.

—Lord Aberdeen welcomed the members of the Wisconsin and Michigan Press Association at Calgary on the 2nd Aug.

—Do the people of Ontario want their civil rights or their property rights to be subject to the whim of a political majority, be it Grit or Tory?

—Let the interpretation of the law and the administration of justice remain with the courts of law, and not with a partizan majority in the Legislature.

—His Excellency the Governor-General shook hands with the Sarcee Chief Three Bulls and all his tribe, on the 2nd Aug., at Calgary. So says a telegram.

—Mr. Hardy lays down the doctrine that the Legislature is better able to interpret the law and to settle legal disputes than the courts. Does any one believe it?

—Premier Hardy is now satisfied that the "swing of victory" did not reach far enough, and is going to see if an extra session of the Legislature will not push it on a bit.

—170 Orders in Council, says an Ottawa despatch, have been forwarded to the Governor General for signature. How many appointments of M.P.s to office is not mentioned.

Seldom Grits talk of the platform that's dead
In all of their speeches evade it;
But when the last hope of the party is fled,
They'll wish, in their souls, they'd obeyed it. —Events.

—Hardy having a majority in the House, he is the Legislature; therefore, he is the judge and the jury, and the impartial, independent influence of the regular tribunals has gone.

—The GLOBE, judging others by itself, is condemning Sir Charles Tupper for refraining from entering into a crusade against the Government during the Quebec Conference. Patriotism before party, is not an element in the Globe's composition.

—Premier Hardy has come to the conclusion that "it is time for a change," for instead of leaving the validity of elections to be determined by the courts, he is about to leave the decision of that matter to the men who claim the seats.

The latest fad of the Society belle is to carry her skirt across her arm, so that the gaudy petticoat she affects may receive all the admiration that its startling colors warrant. Only a few years ago she had about ten yards of it doing scavanger service along the sidewalks. Thus, as is natural to her, she goes from one extreme to the other. Poor man cannot do anything but await in breathless expectancy the next flutter of the skirt, and he will consider himself lucky if she does not insist on his wearing it and giving her the trousers. War isn't in it with woman when it comes to revolutionary movements.—Events.

—Pare's alleged confession reminds one very much of the small boy with a toy pistol and paper cap playing at "I am going to shoot you," ending with a small amount of smoke and no damage. It is hard to conceive a bank clerk mixing himself up with professional thieves, tying up a parcel of $5,000, handing it over to these crooks to hide for him until spring, and not even knowing where it is planted. A bank clerk of that description would be a fair candidate for a lunatic asylum. It is more in keeping with common sense that a clerk inclined to rob would do it single-handed instead of taking six others in to divide the spoils, as Pare has told us in his "confession."

—In view of the acute stage which the prohibition agitation has reached in Canada, our society ladies will no doubt be interested in the following statement regarding the use which women in high life in London make of intoxicants. A French writer has been making a study of the feminine eccentricities of the women of the aristocracy of the great English metropolis, and he professes to have discovered secrets that have been hidden from the rest of us. He tells of duchesses, countesses and others indulging in the dainty gilded and alluring, but extremely demoralizing habit, of keeping up their nervous system by frequent drinks of alcoholic stimulants. They are driven to such practices, we are told, because, left to their own resources, they find time hang heavy on their hands and they need something to revive them after late hours. The favorite tipple is eau-de-Cologne, which has the advantage of not betraying its votary; but draughts of red lavender, spirits of cardamon and medicated wines are also popular and all are furnished by the apothecary. Instead of tea, brandy and soda are drunk at afternoon teas, and it is taken as a matter of course that even girls at such entertainments are to be asked "what they will take." But the most extraordinary device is the alcoholic foot-bath. The lady can sit in an elaborate peignoir and dream away the hours while the fumes of the alchohol are slowly rising, and making her more dreamy than ever. This, it is explained, has not the same exciting and pleasing effect as some of the brands of eau-de-Cologne, but has the advantage that physicians will prescribe it, and it can therefore be indulged in without concealment or danger of exposure.—Events.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should any one go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands, or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York" is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4:30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. NO PLACE FOR A POOR MAN.

That is What Returning People Say About Dawson City.

No Work in the Mines or Anywhere Else for Laborers--A Stampede to Dominion Hill Creek--Some of Those Coming Down Have Struck Luck, However.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 2.—On the steamer Discovery, which has arrived from Alaska, was C. E. Downey of Seattle, who had about $15,000 in dust. C. Ward, who has $125,000, is the owner of a claim on Bonanza Creek. He was formerly a member of the Mounted Police. His home is in Nova Scotia.

C. M. Johnson, who comes from Rossburg, Oregon, has $80,000, the amount he received for his claim on Hunker Creek.

Most of the arrivals here were traders who went in early in the spring with small outfits, which they disposed of at a small profit. It is predicted that about 500 of these traders will soon be on their way out after new stocks.

No river boats had arrived at Dawson from St. Michael's for some time, and the people were becoming apprehensive that lower river navigation was about over for the season. The conditions at Dawson have undergone no changes since the last advices from there. The situation of the idle men, of whom there is a great number, is becoming a matter of serious import. Most of them have no means and are unable to get employment in Dawson or at the mines. Some have about exhausted the small stores of such supplies as they took in, and are unable to do any prospecting. A great exodus of this class will soon begin. It is generally observed that the vicinity of Dawson is no place for a poor man and that the only class having any business there are men with capital.

AN OPEN LETTER

Containing Tidings From Tweed.

Mr. Edward R. Huyck of Huyck Bros., the well known and popular proprietors of the Huyck House, Tweed, so well and favorably known to the travelling public, writes:—

After a thorough trial of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I take great pleasure in recommending them for nervousness and sleeplessness—they also quickly remove sluggishness of the blood, restoring healthy circulation—I speak from experience, for before taking Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills I had been for a long time out of sorts. I could not get restful sleep, was nervous and felt that the circulation of my blood was imperfect, feeling tired and sleepy all the time. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills have removed all the disagreeable symptoms. Yours truly, E. R. Huyck, Tweed, Ont.

A Permanent Business

The Oak Hall do a strictly one-price business—it's the only honest way. We tell the truth about our goods—don't keep anything we can't tell the truth about. We guarantee everything we sell as represented—if you find any defect in what you buy from us, bring it back, we'll refund your money cheerfully. Ours is a permanent business—we want your confidence and your future patronage. We have adopted the principles of modern liberality—courtesy—and absolute fairness in all our dealings.

Death of a Child.

Harry Howse, a child of four years of age, died at the Hospital last night. The child had been ill for about a week from obstruction of the bowels and was operated on yesterday afternoon but without avail. He was the grandson of Mr. Edward Welsh. His father died in Chicago some two years ago, of the very same disease which has now carried off the child, and since that time, together with his mother, he has lived with Mr. Welsh.

THE BANK CASE.

Another Important Witness on the Stand.

INSPECTOR BURKE TELLS THE STORY OF HOLDEN'S ARREST.

Baines' Coins—The Unsigned Bills—"Money to Burn" that was not Cremated—Pare Once More Parries Porter—The Impression of Baines' Key—Key, File and Impressions buried in a Railway Shed—A Long Story Continued.

NAPANEE, Aug. 5.—When court opened Inspector Burke, of Boston, Mass., was called to give evidence concerning the arrest of prisoner Holden.

He told when and how he arrested the prisoner and exhibited the money found upon him at his arrest.

The fourteen silver coins were tied up in a dirty old sock. All of the coins were non-current in the United States. One was a five franc Belgian piece of the date 1870, upon which were four marks in indelible ink. Partially burnt bills of the uncontinued Dominion Bank issue 46,000 plus were shown. They had been preserved from the fire by Burke.

The exhibits were put in a box and in open court Mr. Burke gave the box to Chief Adams.

D. H. Preston, Q. C., cross-examined the prisoner shortly, but did not upset the evidence in any way. The cross-examination was but a review of the prime evidence.

Burke found a knife, a cheque for $463, and $17 in American money. The $17 Burke gave to Mrs. Holden. I did, not bring the cheque, because it is attached by the Pinkerton agency upon some writ now in Prisoner Pare was again brought into court and cross-questioned by Lawyer Porter.

The prisoner's memory did not seem to be as clear this morning as formerly. He got confused about where he bought the hoop iron from which to make a key of Mr. Baines' compartment, although he remembered distinctly the very words he used when he bought the iron.

The witness declared that the impressions were made upon plain paper. The impressions found by the detectives last year were upon printed paper.

The prisoner kept the impressions because he wanted to use them again. When the key was made it, together with the impressions and the file were buried in the shed on the G. T. R. Quinte Road and Mackie was told of this.

The same day Holden and I went to Kingston. The next day we returned to Napanee. I went up to Ponton's rooms and could not find a woman, but I turned my head away and passed on.

The next day I made a key out of a piece of brass. Ponton told me that night about the entrance from the back and said I could use it.

The next night Pare went to Ponton and the latter told him he had seen Mr. Baines fingering at the combination. I left the rooms about 9:30 p.m.

THIS AFTERNOON.

NAPANEE, Ont., Aug. 5.—3:20 p.m.—Mr. Osler left at 2:09 for Toronto. The court assembled this afternoon at 2:09. Inhead of Pare, Inspector Healey, of Manchester, N.H., was put on the stand. It was at his instigation that Pare was arrested. He described in detail how the bills were found in a coke box in Pare's wood shed. On Pare were found 96 bills, in the coke box $19 ten dollar Dominion Bank bills.

On cross-examination Mr. Porter went thoroughly into the details of Mr. Healey's evidence. He elicited no new information, but the witness' story tallied with the tale told by Pare. The witnesses declared that the detective agency was much interested in the matter. The first information emanated from Mr. Saville. Mr. Thornhill, of the Pinkerton's, was present with officer Connor when 96 bills were found in a secret slide in a tool chest. An adjournment will be made at ten minutes to five.

A Silly Rumor.

The fact that a well-known hotel-keeper had left town this morning for the west, was sufficient to give rise to a silly rumor to the effect that he was connected with the bank robbery. It was stated on the street that he was the mysterious Jack Roach.

People should be very careful in regard to giving credence to such foolish yarns. A person who is thus wantonly slandered could collect very heavy damages from his defamers.

NOTES.

A spectator who attended the investigation at Napanee yesterday says that during the latter part of Mr. Porter's cross-examination of Pare he had him pretty well "rattled" and "going" when the Magistrate adjourned the hearing until this morning.

Harry Johnston, who was summoned to appear at the Napanee trial, has returned to the city and does not know when he will be called on to testify.

A Misstatement.

The statement that Mr. E. Moodie, of Galveston, Texas, was mistaken for Holden, as an intimate of Robert Mackie, in Feburary, 1897, is unfounded. Mr. Moodie arrived in Belleville on or about August 20th, 1897, and about a week later left for home. In no respects does he resemble Holden.

"MASKS AND FACES."

An Indian Identifies Holden and Mackie—The Masks and Gags That Were not Used Found.

Napanee, Aug. 4.—A big Indian crowded his way into the court room this afternoon, cast a glance at the man on the three-cornered stool on the witness stand and said: "That's um." Before he could get another word out of his mouth he was hustled out of the room. The Indian was John Hill, who lives in a log cabin half way between Belleville and Napanee, at Mud Creek. The prosecution will ask Hill to tell what he knows of the prisoners, and it is said Hill will swear that Mackie and Holden were at his house on the waggon trip, which, Pare says, they made between Belleville and Napanee, when the first attempt was made to rob the bank and when the hole was drilled in the side of the safe.

The Crown has a wooden box full of goods, the sight of which will cause the court room audience to stand up as is their wont and crane their necks. Early in May, 1897, James Richardson, a Napanee carter, was carrying ties on the Bay of Quinte railroad when he found hidden beside a tie a number of ropes, gags and other paraphernalia of the professional crook. County Constable Sills has the stuff. There are three gags made out of muslin, rolled around sections of clothesline, three foot pieces of rope, two old slouch hats and two masks made out of brown striped coat lining. The procution say that this was the outfit prepared by Holden, Mackie and Roach when the "hold-up" scheme was evolved. Pare's arrival and his subsequent advice that an attempt to rush the bank would be futile rendered these things useless.

The counsel for the defence say that the ropes, gags and so forth will be seen by the prisoners for the first time when they are produced in ocurt.

ABOUT JOHN ROACH.

Was a Respectable Citizen--Now in California.

A friend of Mr. John Roach, formerly of Belleville, made the following statement to an INTELLIGENCER reporter this morning:

John Roach, referred to in the press as being the son of a farmer living near Deseronto, is a man about 40 years of age. When a boy he learned the carriage making trade at Mr. Sir. Shilton's establishment in this city. He left here and went to Montana, and after being there a time he started extensive works for the manufacture of borax. Owing to ill health he had to dispose of his business and returned to Belleville about five years ago. He and his wife boarded out here until his health was recuperated. He left next for California in the spring, where he is now in charge of a number of men in constructing waterworks. Mr. Roach is a thoroughly respectable and honorable gentleman and think a stain upon his record.

In reference to the above statement we might remark that the INTELLIGENCER gave a correct account of the Roach who is wanted in connection with the robbery. He is a Toronto man about 26 years of age. He has a detect in one of his eyes by which he can be readily distinguished.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should any one go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, stopping at the islands, on the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York" is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4:30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure if they stay on board. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. SPORTING NEWS.

THE KENNEL.

A Protest from Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 3.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the Gore Kennel Club to-night the management of the Toronto Exhibition bench show came in for severe criticism, owing to the rule barring dogs whelped since July, 1896, having cropped ears. It was considered unjust to breeders of bull terriers, Manchesters and Great Danes, whose ears are allowed to be clipped by the American Kennel Club. The Secretary was instructed to communicate with other kennel clubs affected adversely by the rule, with a view to bring pressure to bear on the bench show management to have the objectionable clause stricken out. If a change is not made the entries from this city will be much smaller than usual.

Ed. Note—We consider the Canadian Kennel Club has done the right and proper thing in barring all dogs with cropped ears born after July, 1896. Although cropping makes the dogs look decidedly more stylish we consider it better to leave the ears as they originally were, as it is positively cruel and affects the hearing of the animal. Further, the rule No. VII. objected to by owners of cropped dogs and laid down in this year's premium list cannot be tampered with until a full meeting of the officers of the C.K.C., which will not be held until the second day of the show.

They Keep It Up

Wondering how it is they can never get good wear out of a pair of shoes unless they were bought at Haines & Lockett's. We can tell you the wear of a boot or shoe generally depends on the quality of the insole used in its manufacture. The outer-sole is fastened to the insole; if that is shoddy the whole thing gives way very soon after being wet. We always pay extra to have solid insoles in our shoes and besides that they are always bought from the best makers in the country. Call and see our Two Button Shoes at 75c. Two varieties. HAINES & LOCKETT.

Growing Bolder.

The time-honored custom of smashing the windows of vacant houses has become too tame for the thieves and hoodlums of Belleville, who have of late taken sash as well as glass from a vacant house on Coleman street. Next they will probably emulate the example of New York thieves who carried off a man's house—a frame one—with all its contents whilst he and his family were enjoying their holidays in the country.

Rightly-Made. Ready-Made.

Force of habit take some men back to the custom tailor, others go because "ready-made" clothes experience drives them there. Rightly-made ready-made cures the habit. Our kind, for instance. —QUICK & ROBERTSON.

PARE IS AN OCCULTIST.

Knew Ponton's Room, But Had Never Been There Before.

The Criminal With the Remarkable Memory Still Under Cross-Examination—He Details Every Day's Doings During the Progress of the Job—Tells the Steps That Brought the Man in the Bank Into the Game.

Napanee, Ont., Aug. 5.—The trial goes briskly on, though the keen edge of Pare's startling confession is being daily dulled. Mr. Porter is putting the witness through a searching examination, and is eliciting a bewildering mass of details, that will require enormous corroboration to prove the veracity of the prisoner Pare. The witness is never the least abashed and has a penchant for saying funny things. He has told a pretty straight story, and has seldom if ever been put into a tight place. His keen wit is ever in evidence. It is when he gets up on the elucidation of the working of a combination that the witness is at home, and discourses as fluently and delightedly as a professor. One is forced to the conclusion that the witness is rather proud of his notoriety as a safe-cracker.

The line of argument that the defence will likely adopt is that Pare's confession is a story concocted by the witness, with the aid of parties who know Napanee like a book. They will also endeavor to prove that the role assumed by Pare is not a new one, having been played twice in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary. Pare was able to say yesterday what day of the week the month of August, 1897, began on. This shows a marvellous memory, or one that has but recently been brushed up. The defence is not slow to grasp this point.

Holden has signified his intention of going into the witness box. One who knows him says that when he tells his story "there'll be music." In Boston Holden denied that the unsigned bills found upon him were his. He made no statement, but declared he was ignorant of the whole matter. He is reckoned the most desperate of the prisoners, and may be expected to cause considerable consternation by his story.

It has been learned, much to the pleasure of the townfolk, that the Jack Roach mentioned in Pare's confession was a short man, and is in no way related to the estimable Roach family living a few miles east of Deseronto.

"There is a woman in the case" is about to be proved true in this case. The Crown has brought a woman witness into town, who is expected to reveal startling facts.

Magistrate Daly is desirous of having the investigation adjourned from tonight till Tuesday morning. This will undoubtedly be done.

He Was Called Into the Job Because More Help Was Wanted.

Pare opened by explaining to Mr. Porter that the reason he was called in this job was that there was more help needed in the scheme that was on foot since the early spring, and that he was not the principal mover in the scheme.

Pare said he saw Detective Dougherty here last fall on the evening that Mr. Porter's client, Ponton, was acquitted.

"Dougherty was standing in the office of the Paisley House, and I heard some one say: 'That's Dougherty,' and I took a good look at him, and knew him again when I saw him in Manchester."

[illegible]ound of Burglar's Duty.

The daily tour of duties was gone into by Mr. Porter. Every day was taken up separately and Pare had something to say about what happened each day. The Grove was the day ground of the party of robbers, who at night slept in barns, in no one on two consecutive nights. Mackie always went home late at night and returned in the afternoon. Mr. Wiggins' hired man saw all four of the crooks, Holden, Pare, Mackie and Roach. The first scheme was to "hold up" the card players in the bank. The man in the bank was to give a signal. The witness did not stick to his first story at this point. Pare added to his first story by saying that the four went down town two by two and in several separate squads peeped into the bank. They met on the Market Square. Pare said Roach was suspicious of the man in the bank and declared the game of cards was a bluff to tire out the robbers.

To Blackmail Ponton.

Then a new point was brought out when Pare said the question of blackmailing the banker was raised by Roach and Mackie. The man in the bank was to be told that the fact that a hole had been bored in the safe with his permission was a strong point against him. If he wished to square himself he would have to cough up some money. He would have to take the money from the bank. But Holden and Pare jumped on this scheme and it played out. Then the bicycle scheme was proposed by Ponton, so Holden told Pare. The man who was to be captured was Durand, who had the combination.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Pare and Holden Arranged and Called in the Bank Man.

On the opening of court at 2 o'clock Pare's cross-examination was continued. The witness said Holden reported that the man in the bank was willing to go on and get the desired information. Mackie, Holden and Roach suggested that Pare make direct connection with the man in the bank. Holden was to meet the bank man and give Pare a sign if he was willing to meet Pare. The four of us agreed upon this. Mackie did not stop with us that night.

On the next day Holden met him alone. Holden reported that the bank man had no objection to anybody else coming in so long as he had his $5,000 share. He was to be made to believe that I had just come. The next day we waited. We waited till 9 or 10 o'clock till the bank man came to the meeting place all alone. Holden met him and I was called over after a while and was introduced.

"Will" and "George."

"This is the man we had reference to, Will, who was to get into the bank." I was called George.

Pare then gave a long-winded description on how he instructed "Willie" on picking the safe and how to make the impression. He then instructed the man in the bank how to change the combination, but he could not make a key because he could not get a piece of wire. Pare then related how he got the wire the next day, made the key and waited for Mackie. The bank man came at 9 o'clock to Coleman street on foot. I told him to try the key in his lock, but not to unlock it. I wanted him to get used to it by degrees. This talk lasted about 15 minutes. The bank man met the four of us that night for about half an hour. I said if he could change the combination to go to work, take the key, unlock the combination, put all on one number, and lock it and tell us that it was so changed, and we would all go in and take the money out of the safe.

He said that he had tried the key on his combination, but it was too big. He had made no progress in experimenting on the lock. After a kick that the delay was not paying him, from Roach, the night he went to Montreal for a week, Pare said he met the bank man that night at 9 o'clock for about 20 minutes, and they proposed to put the deal [illegible] when Durand's vacation tion. Pare continued: "I said. 'Suppose Durand could get his vacation first, could Mr. Baines be got out of the way? Does he ever go fishing?'

"'Yes, sometimes in August and then for two or three days,' said Ponton.

"'Well, we will wait for August.'"

"I said this in July, on the 20th or 21st. I fix this date by Roach's going away. It was the night of the same day Roach went away. I said that I would wait till August for the man in the bank."

"What did the bank man say?" asked Mr. Porter.

No More Road Meetings.

"'We won't have any more meetings on the road. But if you want to speak let one of you pass down town and if the middle window curtain is up you can come up to my room and talk over what you want,' said the bank man. This was on July 21. On the night of July 22, Holden and I went away to Kingston. We jumped a freight." Pare then told that they went back and forward to Kingston for a week, but the curtain was never up. One night after the week was about up we saw Jack Roach get off the train from Montreal, near the bridge at 9 o'clock in the last days of July. He had been riding the bumpers. He saw us and came over to us and talked about how things were going. The next morning Roach went down town to get some breakfast for us all. Holden and I waited for him to come back. When he came back we went down town and got our own breakfast, as Roach had brought us none. We asked him: "What are you going to do? Have you any money?"

He said: "My money is my own."

"What did you come for?"

He replied: "I am interested in this matter."

I said: "If you don't stay you may declare yourself out of the game."

He said: "I am going to stay."

We did not tell him what had been going on. I told him that we did not want him at all unless he stayed right with us.

He said: "Nobody can drive me out of this job."

Holden took no part in the conversation, though he was with me in the matter. Roach went away that night, and that was the last I saw of him till the job was done. Holden and I went down town to see if the blind was down. It was down and we passed by. The next night I was to go up to the room, whether the curtain was up or not, but when we came to John street, the curtain was up. This was before 9 o'clock—about 8.30. I went up to his room by going up on the left hand side of the street.

He Knew Ponton's Room.

I went up the stairs and his door was the first door on the right at the top of the stairs.

"How did you know that? you never had been there before?" said Mr. Porter.

"I really did not know, but I suspected this was his door. It was an idea that I had," said the witness. "I went in and the door was not locked, though there was a spring lock on it. I found nobody there. He was not there. I waited 15 or 20 minutes till he came, about 9.30. There was no light in the room. He came in. He was all dressed up and said he was going to Belleville that night. He said: 'I've got some news. Mr. Baines is going fishing. I'm not certain yet about Durand, but I will find that out tomorrow.'

"'What good will Mr. Baines' fishing do us?' I asked.

"'Then,' said he, 'I may be left in charge of the safe.'

"'If you are, what will you do?'

"'I will leave it on the day lock, so that you can come in during the night and take out the money,' he answered.

"'No, that would never do, because where would you go at 10 o'clock next morning if the money was gone?' I asked.

"'I don't know where I would go, if not to jail,' said he, laughing.

"'If you leave it on the day lock I will go in and get their own combination, and we won't have to change it at all,' was my suggestion.

"The next night I saw the curtain was up near 9 o'clock. I found the door unlocked. I went in; he was in the sitting-room. He was sitting on the sofa.

"Ponton said Mr. Baines was going out fishing the next day. 'I believe everything will be all right to-morrow night.'

"I said: 'That will do; I am going.'

"I then went to Holden. Ponton did not tell me that he had been to Belleville. All I wanted was that Baines be gone. The next morning we went to Belleville ourselves to see what was the matter with Mackie. I saw Mackie at his house towards noon. His wife and children were there. He was in the woodshed. He said he had been sick for over a week. We came back to Napanee.

Ponton Gives Pare Key Impressions.

"Then, between 8 and 9 o'clock, I went to Ponton's room. I looked for no sign. I was told the night before that I should go. I went into the room, locked the door and sat down on the sofa. He was in the same room. He gave me two small pieces of paper, upon each of which was an impression. He said it was Mr. Baines' key opening the compartment and his own. He told me he was in charge of the vault and the safe.

"They were on the day lock. I could go in and get the combination.

"'If you go in, how shall I know it to-morrow morning?' asked he.

"'You go in the earliest; if you find the cap locked up, then all the rest is locked up all right. If it is loose, then it is a sign that we could not get in, and you will have to lock up the safe. Go in before breakfast, and be sure that everything is right and I will have the combination, you can depend. To-morrow night I will come ove.,'" replied Pare.

"I met Holden on the bridge and I told him what work had been open for us that night. I put away the papers with the impressions to be used the next day. I got my key for changing the combination. I had put it away by the railway. I had been hid there for a week or ten days. Mr. Ponton had only the loan of it.

"I forgot to say I got it back from Mr. Ponton," said the witness when Mr. Porter asked why he had not said this before. "I was going in there to get their own numbers on the combination. I could do just as well without the key," he admitted.

Approaching the Bank.

"It was nearly 10 o'clock when I got my key and I rested, as there was no hurry, and I could not get around the bank till past 11 o'clock anyway. We decided we could not go in till the west-bound train passed, near 8 o'clock." After detailing where and how he loitered till that hour, Pare continued: "I went into the bank and then into the vault. I was in there about 1½ hours. I came out about 5 o'clock."

Here the witness repeated his testimony of Tuesday about the safe and its contents.

How He Found the Combination.

"I had a screw-driver and I took the cap off, turned the knob on the inside and found out the number on each wheel. I found out the combination numbers just as the bankers used them. I found them to be 40-60-80, and 40 to 2. I had to look at the dial to get the number. I did not write down the combination. I put it in here (pointing to his head). The combination on the vault was known to a number. I doubt if a man can work the combination and I left the safe just the same as Mr. Baines would do it himself."

"You found it necessary to have a candle there, and it turned up," said Mr. Porter, when the witness failed to mention the fact.

"I sneaked out of the bank and scooted. I was well satisfied with what I had done."

Saw Ponton That Night.

"I saw Ponton that night in his room at 9 o'clock, but there was no previous arrangement. I gave him the sign agreed upon, I raised my cap. He raised his and I knew he understood me. I went up to his room and found the door unlocked and walked in. I sat down on the sofa and waited two or three minutes, when he came in.

"'How did you succeed the night before?' he asked.

"I said, 'All right.'

"He asked me: 'Have you the right numbers?'

"I said: 'Yes, I have, but I told Holden I would tell nobody. You need not expect them.'

"He said: 'I don't care about knowing them.'

"It was the first week of August that I got the combination—it was Thursday or Friday, the 5th or 6th. I met Holden and said, I'm going to Ponton and see if he knows what day the most money is in the safe. I went the next night to Ponton and asked him about the money. He said the most money was in the bank on Thursday. The only reason I did not take the money on the first night was to save Ponton and myself from jail.

The court then adjourned till this morning at 9.30 a.m.

WHEAT DEMAND.

Farmers Seem to Be Holding Back New Crop for Better Prices—The Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 4.

The Chicago wheat market owes its strength these days largely to the strong demand for cash and immediate delivery stuff, which arises from the shortage of existing stocks, and is increased by the apparent reluctance of farmers to freely market the new crop at present prices. Wheat for this month's and next month's delivery advanced ⅞c early to-day, and held over half the gain at the close. December wheat, after rising ⅝c per bushel, reacted to yesterday's final figure. The demand for cash wheat is reported strong at St. Louis, and the article rose 2c at Duluth.

On the Liverpool board spot wheat declined ½d per cental; the September delivery closed unchanged from yesterday, and the December option showed an easing off of ¼d for the session. Paris wheat 10 centimes lower for this month's delivery, to 15 centimes higher for later options.

Some of the new Ontario wheat was bought for export at 63c north and west to-day. This price was paid for both red and white, but most holders are asking 65c to 66c per bushel.

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly—that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

SPAIN'S ATTITUDE.

Consultations Held by the Cabinet, But No Result Was Reached—Sagasta Will Not Hustle.

Madrid, Aug. 5.—The consultations between the Premier, the Presidents of the Chambers and other prominent persons, are described as being really of a national character, with a view of ascertaining the opinions of all parties. The Government has not yet entered upon any engagement regarding the terms for concluding the war with the United States. The Cabinet will follow the advice of the party leaders, and will leave to the Crown the liberty of choosing new advisers.

All the leaders consulted thus far have observed the strictest reserve, with the exception of Senor Romero y Robledo, the leader of the Weylerite party, who declares himself in favor of continuing the war.

The Queen Regent has summoned several generals for consulation.

Sagasta Will Not Hustle.

London, Aug. 5.—The Madrid correspondent of the Times says: "Though peace is regarded as assured, it may not be attained so quickly as is generally expected. Senor Sagasta objects to being hustled, and insists upon everything being done in a quiet, orderly and dignified manner. He considers it necessary to have full and satisfactory explanations as to all doubtful points in order to enable him best to protect the national interests against the aggressive tendencies of the Washington Cabinet.

"He has also to examine very minutely the exigencies of the internal situation and home politics, so as to avoid popular dissatisfaction and political unrest. The Spanish people, though sincerely desirous of peace, are disposed to admire his hesitancy and hold out till the last, though it imposes greater sacrifices.

"As an illustration of this feeling, while General Toral is blamed for capitulating at Santiago, Capt.-General Augusti, continuing a hopeless resistance at Manila, bids fair to be a popular hero."

The Terror of Verona.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 5.—Constable Dowker of Harrowsmith had a terrible time in arresting Mrs. Weyman of Verona yesterday. Mrs. Weyman was in bed and refused to get up and dress. Mrs. Weyman was taken down by sheer force of the constable and Peter Billmore, whom he called upon. Mrs. Weyman was allowed to go into another room to dress, and while waiting Constable Dowker was struck on the hand by a stone which severely bruised two fingers. Mrs. Weyman's son, Richard, rushed at Peter Billmore, who was assisting the constable, with a large carving knife, and Mr. Billmore had to throttle the lad in order to protect himself. The greatest excitement prevailed, and about 300 people were around the house. She was brought to Kingston, tried, found guilty and fined $50 and costs or six months in jail. Mrs. Weyman is 60 years of age and was the terror of Verona.

Married on the Modjeska

Hamilton, Aug. 5.—Manuel Baker and Margaret Vanderschaff of Toronto came up to Hamilton yesterday afternoon so that Rev. W. F. Wilson, pastor of Wesley Church, could marry them. To their regret, on arriving at the parsonage, they found Mr. Wilson was in Toronto. On going back to the steamboat company's wharf, they were fortunate in seeing Rev. Mr. Wilson coming off the 4.45 boat, the Modjeska, and he, at their request, performed the ceremony in the directors' room on the boat. The stewardess assisted and the captain and purser lent their good services. The happy couple went back to Toronto on the Modjeska.

A Severe Punishment.

A Washington man who put in ten years of soldiering in the regular army of the United States, five years of it on the frontier with the cavalry in Indian campaigning and the other five in the heavy artillery, was recently appointed a captain and assistant adjutant general in the volunteer service, and he is now attached to the staff of General Miles. He is a man of ability and great unpretentiousness. A few days before he donned his uniform he went over to Fort McHenry, Baltimore, on official business. A war department clerk went along with him. When the two men arrived at Fort McHenry, the new captain pointed to a long shell road that runs through the post.

"Do you see that road?" asked the captain.

"Yes."

"Well, I made that whole road myself. It was as tough a job as I ever performed and as bitter a period, but it did me a heap of good. I was serving with an artillery regiment, part of which was stationed here, and one night when I was on guard the officer of the day crept up on me unawares and found me sitting down on a pile of gunny sacks, neglecting my post. I got a general court martial for neglect of duty on post and was sentenced to six months in the guardhouse. My sentence tickled the old provost sergeant mightily, for he was in need of a steady prisoner to build that road. I built it and crunched many a million oyster shells building it. I never find myself feeling chesty and high and mighty, and all that sort of thing, that I don't shut my eyes and think of this shell road over in Fort McHenry."—Washington Star.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several med cal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

JESUS WRITES WHILE A WOMAN'S ACCUSERS SKULK OUT.

MEMORABLE GO AND SIN NO MORE

Who Would Condemn Aloud if Thought Reading Was a Sure Accomplishment of Mankind?—Yet Hypocrites Think They Can Deceive the All-Seeing One—Christ's Victory Over the Pharisees.

Washington, July 31.—On Sunday morning Rev. Dr. Talmage preached from the text, John viii, 6, "Jesus stooped down and with his finger wrote on the ground." He said:

You must take your shoes off and put on the especial slippers provided at the door if you would enter the Mohammedan mosque which stands now where once stood Herod's temple, the scene of my text. Solomon's temple had stood there, but Nebuchadnezzar had thundered it down. Zerubbabel's temple had stood there, but that had been prostrated. Now we take our places in a temple that Herod built, because he was fond of great architecture, and he wanted the preceding temples to seem insignificant. Put eight or ten modern cathedrals together, and they would not equal that structure. It covered 19 acres. There were marble pillars supporting roofs of cedar and silver tables on which stood golden cups, and there were carvings exquisite and inscriptions resplendent, glittering balustrades and ornamented gateways. The building of this temple kept 10,000 workmen busy 46 years.

In that stupendous pile of pomp and magnificence sat Christ, and a listening throng stood about him when a wild disturbance took place. A group of men are pulling and pushing along a woman who had committed a crime against society. When they have brought her in front of Christ, they ask that he sentence her to death by stoning. They are a critical, merciless, disingenuous crowd. They want to get Christ into controversy and public reprehension. If he say, "Let her die," they will charge him with cruelty. If he let her go, they will charge him with being in complicity with wickedness. Whichever way he does they would howl at him.

Then occurs a scene which has not been sufficiently regarded. He leaves the lounge or bench on which he was sitting and goes down on one knee or both knees, and with the forefinger of his right hand he begins to write in the dust of the floor, word after word. But they were not to be diverted or hindered. They kept on demanding that he settle this case of transgression until he looked up and told them they might themselves begin the woman's assassination if the complainant who had never done anything wrong himself would open the fire. "Go ahead, but be sure that the man who flings the first missile is immaculate." Then he resumed writing with his finger in the dust of the floor, word after word. Instead of looking over his shoulder to see what he had written, the scoundrels skulked away. Finally the whole place is clear of pursuers, antagonists and plaintiffs, and when Christ has finished this strange chirography in the dust he looks up and finds the woman all alone.

The prisoner is the only one of the courtroom left, the judges, the police, the prosecuting attorney having cleared out. Christ is victor, and he says to the woman: "Where are the prosecutors in this case? Are they all gone? Then I discharge you. Go and sin no more." I have wondered what Christ wrote on the ground. For do you realize that its the only time that he ever wrote at all? I know that Eusebius says that Christ once wrote a letter to Abgarus, the king of Edessa, but there is no good evidence of such a correspondence. The wisest being the world ever saw, and the one who had more to say than any one who ever lived, never writing a book or a chapter or a paragraph or a word on parchment! Nothing but the literature of the dust, and one sweep of a brush or one breath of a wind obliterated it forever.

Among all the rolls of the volumes of the first library founded at Thebes there was not one scroll of Christ. Among the 700,000 books of the Alexandrian library, which by the infamous decree of Caliph Omar were used as fuel to heat the 4,000 baths of the city, not one sentence had Christ penned. Among all the infinitude of volumes now standing in the libraries of Edinburgh, the British museum or Berlin or Vienna or the learned repositories of all nations not one word written directly by the finger of Christ. All that he ever wrote he wrote in dust, uncertain shifting dust.

My text says he stooped down and wrote on the ground. Standing straight up a man might write on the ground with a staff, but if with his fingers he would write in the dust he must bend clear over.

Aye, he must get at least on one knee or he cannot write on the ground. Be not surprised that he stooped down. His whole life was a stooping down. Stooping down from castle to barn. Stooping down from celestial homage to monocratic jeer. From residence above the stars to where a star had to fall to designate his landing place. From heaven's front door to the world's back gate. From writing in round and silvered letters of constellation and galaxy on the blue scroll of heaven to writing on the ground in the dust which the feet of the crowd had left in Herod's temple. If in January you have ever stepped out of a prince's conservatory that had Mexican cactus and magnolias in full bloom into the outside air, 10 degrees below zero, you may get some idea of Christ's change of atmosphere from celestial to terrestrial. How many heavens there are I know not, but there are at least three, for Paul was "caught up into the third heaven."

Christ came down from the highest heaven to the second heaven and down from second heaven to first heaven, down swifter than meteors ever fell, down amid stellar splendors that himself eclipsed, down through clouds, through atmospheres, through appalling space, down to where there was no lower depth. From being waited on at the banquet of the skies to the broiling of fish for his own breakfast on the banks of the lake. From emblazoned chariots of eternity to the saddle of a mule's back. From the homage cherubic, seraphic, archangelic, to the paying of 62½ cents of tax to Caesar. From the deathless country to a tomb built to hide human dissolution. The uplifted wave of Galilee was high, but he had to come down before with his feet he could touch it, and the whirlwind that arose above the billow was higher yet, but he had to come down before with his lip he could kiss it into quiet. Bethlehem a stooping down. Nazareth a stooping down. Death between two burglars a stooping down. Yes, it was in consonance with humiliations that went before and self abnegations that came after when on that memorable day in Herod's temple he stooped down and wrote on the ground.

Whether the words he was writing were in Greek or Latin or Hebrew, I cannot say, for he knew all those languages, but he is still stooping down and with his fingers writing on the ground. In the winter in letters of crystals, in the spring in letters of flowers, in summer in golden letters of harvest, in autumn in letters of fire on fallen leaves. How it would sweeten up and enrich and emblazon this world could we see Christ's caligraphy all over it! This world was not flung out into space thousands of years ago and then left to look out for itself. It is still under the divine care. Christ never for half a second takes his hand off of it, or it would soon be a shipwrecked world, a defunct world, an obsolete world, an abandoned world, a dead world. "Let there be light," was said at the beginning, and Christ stands under the wintry skies and says, Let there be snowflakes to enrich the earth, and under the clouds of spring and says, Come, ye blossoms, and make redolent the orchards, and in September dips the branches in the vat of beautiful colors and swings them into the hazy air. No whim of mine is this. "Without him was not anything made that was made." Christ writing on the ground.

If you could see his hand in all the passing seasons, how it would illumine the world! All verdure and foliage would be allegoric, and again we would hear him say, as of old, "Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow," and we would not hear the whistle of a quail or the cawing of a raven or the roundelay of a brown thrasher without saying: "Behold the fowls of the air. They gather not in barns, yet your Heavenly Father feedeth them," and a Dominic hen of the barnyard could not cluck for her brood but we would hear Christ saying, as of old, "How often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathereth her chickens under her wings," and through the redolent hedges we would hear Christ saying, "I am the rose of Sharon." We could not dip the seasoning from the salt-cellar without thinking of the divine suggestion, "Ye are the salt of the earth, but if the salt hath lost its savor it is fit for nothing but to be cast out and trodden under foot of men."

Let us wake from out stupidity and take the whole world as a parable. Then, if with gun and pack of hounds we start off before dawn and see the morning coming down off the hills to meet us we would cry out with the evangelist, "The day-spring from on high hath visited us," or, caught in a snowstorm while struggling home, eyebrows and beard and apparel all covered with the whirling flakes, we would cry out with David, "Wash me, and I shall be whiter than snow." In a picture gallery of Europe there is on the ceiling an exquisite fresco, but the people having to look straight up, it wearied and dizzied them and bent their necks almost beyond endurance, so a great looking glass was put near the floor, and now visitors only need to look easily down into this mirror, and they see the fresco at their feet. And so, much of the high heaven of God's truth is reflected in this world as in a mirror, and things that are above are copied by things around us.

What right have we to throw away one of God's Bibles—aye, the first Bible he ever gave the race? We talk about the Old Testament and the New Testament, but the oldest testament contains the lessons of the natural world. Some people like the New Testament so well they discard the Old Testament. Shall we like the New Testament and the Old Testament so well as to depreciate the oldest—namely, that which was written before Moses was put afloat on the boat of leaves which was chalked with asphaltum—or reject the Genesis that was written centuries before Adam lost a rib and gained a wife? No, no! When Deity stoops down and writes on the ground, let us read it.

I would have no less appreciation of the Bible on paper that comes out of the paper mill, but I would urge appreciation of the Bible in the grass, the Bible in the sand hill, the Bible in the geranium, the Bible in the asphodel, the Bible in the dust. Some one asked an ancient king whether he had seen the eclipse of the sun "No," said he. "I have so much to study on earth I have no time to look at heaven." And if our faculties were all awake in the study of God we would not have time to go much farther than the first grass blade. I have no fear that natural religion will ever contradict what we call revealed religion. I have no sympathy with the followers of Aristotle, who after the telescope was invented would not look through it lest it contradict some of the theories of their great master. I shall be glad to put against one lid of the Bible the microscope and against the other lid of the Bible the telescope.

But when Christ stooped down and wrote on the ground what did he write? The Pharisees did not stop to examine. The cowards, whipped of their own consciences, fled pellmell. Nothing will flay a man like an aroused conscience. Dr. Stevens, in his "History of Methodism," says that when Rev. Benjamin Abbott of olden times was preaching he exclaimed, "For aught I know there may be a murderer in this house." And a man rose from the assemblage and started for the door and bawled aloud, confessing to a murder he had committed 15 years before. And no wonder these Pharisees, reminded of their sins, took to their heels.

But what did Christ write on the ground? The Bible does not state, yet as Christ never wrote anything except that once you cannot blame us for wanting to know what he really did write, but I am certain he wrote nothing trivial or nothing unimportant, and will you allow me to say that I think I know what he wrote on the ground? I judge from the circumstances. He might have written other things, but kneeling there in the temple, surrounded by a pack of hypocrites who were a self appointed constabulary and having in his presence a persecuted woman, who evidently was very penitent for her sins, I am sure he wrote two words, both of them graphic and tremendous and reverberating, and the one word was "hypocrisy," and the other word was "forgiveness."

From the way these Pharisees and scribes vacated the premises and got out into the fresh air as Christ, with just one ironical sentence, unmasked them I know they were first class hypocrites It was then as it is now.

Yes, I think that one word written on the ground that day by the finger of Christ was the awful word hypocrisy. What pretensions to sanctity are the part of those hypocritical Pharisees! When the fox begins to pray look out for your chickens. One of the cruel magnates of olden times was gong to excommunicate one of the martyrs, and he began in the usual form—"In the name of God. Amen." "Stop!" says the martyr. "Don't say 'in the name of God!'" Yet how many outrages are practiced under the garb of religion and sanctity! When in synods and conferences ministers of the gospel are about to say something unbrotherly and unkind about a member, they almost always begin by being ostentatiously pious, the venom of their assault corresponding to the heavenly flavor of the prelude. About to devour a reputation, they say grace before meal.

But I am sure there was another word in that dust. From her entire manner I am sure that arraigned woman was repentant. She made no apology, and Christ in nowise belittled her sin. But her supplicatory behavior and her tears moved him, and when he stooped down to write on the ground he wrote that mighty, that imperial word, forgiveness. When on Sinai God wrote the law, he wrote it with finger of lightning on tables of stones, each word cut as by a chisel into the hard granite surface. But when he writes the offense of this woman he writes it in dust so that it can be easily rubbed out, and when she repents of it, oh, he was a merciful Christ! I was reading of a legend that is told in the far east about him. He was walking through the streets of a city, and he saw a crowd around a dead dog. And one man said, "What a loathsome object is that dog!" "Yes," said another; "his ears are mauled and bleeding." "Yes," said another; "even his hide would not be of any use to the tanner." "Yes," said another; "the odor of his carcass is dreadful." Then Christ, standing there, said, "But pearls cannot equal the whiteness of his teeth." Then the people, moved by the idea that any one could find anything pleasant concerning the dead dog, said, "Why, this must be Jesus of Nazareth!" Reproved and convicted, they went away.

Surely this legend of Christ is good enough to be true! Kindness in all his words and ways and habits! Forgiveness! Word of 11 letters, and some of them thrones and some of them palm branches. Better have Christ write close to our names that one word, though he write it in dust, than to have our name cut into monumental granite with the letters that the storms of 1,000 years cannot obliterate. Bishop Babington had a book of only three leaves. The first leaf was black, the second leaf red, the third leaf white. The black leaf suggested sin, the red leaf atonement, the white leaf purification. That is the whole story. God will abundantly pardon.

I must not forget to say that as Christ, stooping down, with his finger wrote on the ground it is evident that his sympathies are with this penitent woman and that he has no sympathy with her hypocritical pursuers. Just opposite to that is the world's habit. Why didn't these unclean Pharisees bring one of their own number to Christ for excoriation and capital punishment? No, no! They overlook that in a man which they damnate in a woman, and so the world has had for offending woman scourges and objurgation, and for just one offense she becomes an outcast, while for men whose lives have been sodomic for 20 years the world swings open its doors of brilliant welcome, and they may sit in high places. Unlike the Christ of my text, the world writes a man's misdemeanor in dust, but chisels a woman's offense with great capitals upon ineffaceable marble.

For foreign lords and princes, whose names cannot even be mentioned in respectable circles abroad because they are walking lazarettos of abomination, some of our American princesses of fortune wait and at the first beck sail out with them into the blackness of darkness forever. And in what are called higher circles of society there is now not only the imitation of foreign dress and foreign manners, but an imitation of foreign dissoluteness. I like a foreigner, and I like an American, but the sickest creature on earth is an American playing the foreigner. Society needs to be reconstructed on this subject. Treat them alike, masculine crime and feminine crime. If you cut the one in granite, cut them both in granite. If you write the one in dust, write the other in dust. "No, no," says the world; "let woman go down and let man go up." What is that I hear splashing into the Hudson or Potomac at midnight? And then there is a gurgle as of strangulation, and all is still. Never mind. It is only a woman too discouraged to live. Let the mills of the cruel world grind right on.

It is not so wonderful, after all, that Christ chose instead of an inkstand the impressionable sand on the floor of an ancient temple, and instead of a hard pen put forth his forefinger with the same kind of nerve and muscle and bone and flesh as that which makes up our own forefinger, and wrote the awful doom of hypocrisy, and full and complete forgiveness for repentant sinners, even the worst. We talk about the ocean of Christ's mercy. Put four ships upon that ocean and let them sail out in opposite directions for 1,000 years and see if they can find the shore of the ocean of the divine mercy. Let them sail to the north and the south and the east and the west, and then after the 1,000 years of voyage let them come back and they will report, "No shore, no shore to the ocean of God's mercy!"

And now I can believe that which I read, how that a mother kept burning a candle in the window, every night for ten years, and one night very late a poor waif of the street entered. The aged woman said to her, "Sit down by the fire." And the stranger said, "Why do you keep that light in the window?" The aged woman said: "That is to light my wayward daughter when she returns. Since she went away, ten years ago, my hair has turned white. Folks blame me for worrying about her, but you see I am her mother, and sometimes half a dozen times a night I open the door and look out into the darkness and cry, 'Lizzie! Lizzie!' But I must not tell you any more about my trouble, for I guess from the way you cry you have trouble enough of your own. Why, how cold and sick you seem! Oh my! Can it be? Yes, you are Lizzie, my own lost child! Thank God that you are home again!" And what a time of rejoicing there was in that house that night! And Christ again stooped down and in the ashes of that hearth, now lighted up, not more by the great blazing logs than by the joy of a reunited household, wrote the same liberating words that had been written more than 1,800 years ago in the dust of the Jerusalem temple Forgiveness!

There is a world of romance in the picture of a young girl reading her sweetheart's love-letters. In a multitude of cases, if her future could also be pictured, the picture would contain a world of pathos. To the healthy, robust woman, marriage means happiness, the supreme joy of motherhood and the promise of a long, healthy life of helpfulness with the man of her choice. To the woman who suffers from disease or weakness of the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood, wedlock means suffering and maternity death. Dr. R. V. Pierce is an eminent and skillful specialist, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. During that time, with the assistance of a staff of able physicians, he has prescribed for thousands of women. The institute of which he is the head is one of the greatest in the world. He is a regularly graduated physician and has practiced right in one place for thirty years. The esteem in which he is held by his neighbors is shown by the fact that they chose him for their representative in the National Congress. The regard in which he is held by those whom he has treated is shown by the thousands of letters printed in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, telling of the benefits derived from his treatment.

Dr. Pierce is the discoverer of a wonderful medicine for women, known as Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures all weakness and disease of the feminine organs. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones the nerves. Taken during the interesting period, it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. An honest druggist won't advise a substitute.

The profit side of life is health. The balance is written in the rich, red, pure blood of health. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation and make the blood rich and pure. They never gripe. By druggists.

ARCHBISHOP LAID TO REST.

An Imposing Ceremony at St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—A vast concourse of people assembled in St. Michael's Cathedral yesterday morning to attend the obsequies of the late Archbishop Walsh. The scene was one long to be remembered by those who witnessed the grand funereal pomp, full of music, ritual and color, with which the Roman Catholic Church lays her dead prelates to rest. The elaborate ceremony of burying the Archbishop took over three hours. It says much for the masters of ceremonies, Fathers Tracy and Hand, that the interest of the vast audience filling the cathedral never wavered, and the whole function passed off in the most beautiful and impressive manner.

The pontifical high mass which was celebrated with so much grandeur was really the last chapter in the office for the dead. This began on Tuesday night, when the dead prelate's body was removed from St. John's Grove to the Cathedral, and vespers were sung, followed on Wednesday by matins and lauds. The ceremony yesterday morning, although it might appear intricate to the casual observer, was quite symmetrical in its arrangement. First there was the solemn high mass, then the funeral oration by Bishop McQuaid of Rochester, and lastly absolution delivered by each of the bishops present, in order of seniority. Following this the body was borne to the grave, where the last prayers were read.

The Governor-General was represented at the funeral by Major S. T. A. Denison, A.D.C., and Sir Oliver Mowat, Lieutenant-Governor of the Province, was present in person. The attendance of clergy was very large and represented all sections of the country.

Two fishermen, Horace Goodwin and Thomas Hackett, were taken into Liverpool, N.S., having been picked up from their dory. They had strayed from a Gloucester schooner, and were completely exhausted, having rowed many miles and lived seven days on nothing but fresh fish.

THE VOTING IN CASSIAR.

Both Seats Won by Government—New General Election Probable.

Vancouver, Aug. 5.—Polling at Rivers Inlet, Cassiar, took place last Saturday. Clifford (Government) polled 68, Capt. Irving (Government) 66, and McTavish (Opposition) 9. Other booths are not heard from yet. The election of the two Government candidates is conceded. In this case a new general election must result.

John Kimble, an employe of the tile yard at Drayton, was probably fatally hurt by a pulley bursting. On examination it was found that his collar bone was broken, three ribs shattered and pressed into his lungs, causing hemorrhage.

CAN'T EAT.

FOOD is the fuel that feeds the fires of life. Digestion is the process that turns the fuel into energy. Few possess perfect digestion. If your digestion is imperfect, if you cannot eat what you like without discomfort, if you cannot eat when you ought to eat, the time has come when you should take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Hunger is the best Sauce. Take these Pills and get hungry. You may eat what you want if you take Dr. Ward's Pills.

WHAT THEIR MERITS ARE:

My system was entirely rejuvenated by the use of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I consider them a marvellous strength and nerve builder for dyspepsia. I was so sick and miserable that I seemed to have no life or energy left in me. I suffered so at times that I thought death would be better for me. I had tried Doctors and different kinds of medicines, but all failed to do me any good. I am in every way now a well woman, and have been for months. Before using these Pills I was so sick that I could not keep anything in my stomach. I was under the opinion that dyspepsia could not be cured, but now I am satisfied it can be cured, for I am able to eat like any healthy woman and feel better in every way. They have built me up also,—I now weigh several pounds more than I ever did before. In conclusion, I would advise every woman afflicted with poor digestion to give Dr. Ward's Pills a trial.

THE SLATER SHOE

"Slater Boot Trees."

The wear and shape retention of a shoe may be doubled if, when taken off the foot, it be put on a tree the exact shape of the shoe. The leather thus regains its elasticity and fiber tension and the shoe its form. Valuable to wearers with a tendency to run over on heels. A good idea is to have two pairs of shoes alternately "treed" and worn. Each pair will thus give double service if allowed a rest-day between wear-days. Trees to fit the various shapes of Slater Shoes, at $1.00 per pair.

THE CONSTABLE SESSION.

Parliament—that is the Ontario Legislature, has, by the grace of SIR OLIVER MOWAT, and at the dictation of the Hon. ARTHUR STURGIS HARDY, Q. C., Premier for the time being of this Province, met on 3rd inst. for the purpose of legalizing the "Constable Vote," thereby seating in Parliament one of the Premier's colleagues and some seven of his supporters and retaining control of the affairs of the province, which duty constitutionally devolves upon the opposition, the legally constituted voters at the last election having so decreed. That the Legislature was called for no other purpose is manifest. Many other subjects were dragged into the speech delivered by the Governor for the purpose of "padding it out," which were unnecessary and uncalled for, added only to cover up the real iniquity of the whole proceedings.

The speech, after referring to a number of irrelevant matters, came to the real reason which induced the Government to call together the newly declared elected elected members: Here it is:—

"In view of the great number of election petitions awaiting trial, it is desirable to facilitate their disposal by the courts and to lessen the expense and labor of the trials, as far as may be practicable, and so that they may, if possible, be disposed of by the time this Assembly may again meet in the early part of the coming year. To this end a bill will be submitted for your consideration, making provision for the speedy determination of the question of the right of electors to vote who have been called upon or appointed by the returning officer or deputy returning officers, under the Election Act, to act as constables or special constables on election or polling day, or to perform other work or public duties connected with the election, and for other purposes."

It would be difficult to conceive a more barefaced and dishonest reason for assembling Parliament. "In view of the great "number of election petitions awaiting "trial, it is desirable to facilitate their "disposal by the courts and to lessen the "expenses and labor of the trials, etc." In what way is it proposed to be done? The only question with which the Government propose to deal is that of the "Constable Vote," the legality of which has already been referred to five Judges of the Court of Appeal, by the Attorney-General and Premier himself. Fearing, we have a right to believe, the decision of these Judges, based upon numerous decisions by the courts in England, Parliament is called to relieve the Judges from the trouble of giving a decision, by declaring what the law is. By this Cromwellian stroke of policy eight members are seated, which would otherwise go to the Opposition.

The reference to lessening the expense is but a subterfuge, so transparent as not to deceive the most obtuse.

What is the expense which is to be "saved?" If the Judges should decide that the election constables had the right to vote, that question would cease to be a factor in all contested cases, hence expense upon that point would cease at once. One decision would cover every case before the courts. What Mr. Hardy and his constable supporters know is that the decision would be against them, and that that decision would lead to a scrutiny in the cases to which we have called attention, and that eight of the Premier's supporters, including one of his Cabinet, would be unseated not having a majority of the legal votes cast, and that he and his fellow Cabinet Ministers would have to resign and give place to better and more honest men.

It will be for the people of Ontario, those who are not hide-bound Grits, to say, upon the first opportunity which offers, whether in the Government of the country they are prepared to return to the days of the Charles' and James' of England. Responsibility, as applied to the Ontario Government to-day under the Hardy-Ross regime, is a broad force, and in the language of the late Hon. John Sandfield McDonald, "enough to make a horse laugh."

Judging from the tone of the Globe and rumors about the lobby of the House of Assembly, Hardy has been driven from his first intention to declare the constable vote illegal, and to substitute, therefor a law providing that, should the Judges declare the constable vote illegal, there shall not be a scrutiny of the votes cast, but the election declared void and a new election ordered. While this plan is not so villainous, it is objectionable, because it deprives the legally elected member of his seat and puts him to the expense and trouble of another election. A few days will develop the whole scheme.

BICYCLE REGULATIONS.

In view of the great amount of "scorching" indulged in by reckless riders of bicycles, the members of the City Council deserve censure for their failure to introduce a suitable bicycle by-law.

The vast majority of riders see and feel the need for proper restrictions, not alone with reference to the interests of others, but also on behalf of their own safety, and it is high time for suitable rules to be introduced.

The regulations recently adopted by the Toronto City Council, contain many stipulations which could most appropriately be applied to this municipality. Amongst them are the following:

The provisions shall apply to highways, streets and other public places.

Bicyclists in overtaking persons or any other vehicles shall give audible warning of their approach before attempting to pass, and shall pass to left.

Bicyclists shall slacken up when approaching and crossing intersections.

Bicyclists shall at all times, when riding, have control of the vehicle by keeping the feet on the pedals and holding the handlebars.

No person shall carry a child or children on a bicycle.

No more than two bicyclists shall be allowed to ride abreast.

No bicyclist shall travel at a rate of speed exceeding fifteen miles per hour.

Bicyclists must ride to right of centre line of the street, and in turning from one street to another shall keep to right of centre line of both intersecting streets. This section shall not prevent person from passing to the opposite side of the highway, to dismount, or for any other necessary purpose.

The penalty for a breach of any of these provisions of this by-law shall be a maximum fine of—without costs, and providing said fine cannot be raised, by distress and sale of goods and chattels of the offender, the magistrate may commit the offender to gaol for any period not exceeding—months, unless the said penalty and costs be sooner paid.

REVERIES.

BY KEUMO.

The panic at Twelve O'Clock Point on Wednesday afternoon gave rise to some funny incidents. A well-known Belleville Divine was conspicuous in the forefront of the rush, making valorous efforts to place himself in a position of safety on board the boat. Some ladies who had the bad taste to stand between him and the ark of safety were sternly commanded to clear the way, but as the only way to do so was by jumping into the canal, the ladies very naturally, but very inconsiderately, refused to do so. Thereupon the reverend gentleman, who was conspicuous in the rebellion of '37, suddenly bethought himself of the bravo deeds which the rebels didn't do, and, thrilled by the recollections of those stirring days, and evidently thinking that a few women more or less wouldn't matter, he raised his "veteran arm" and proceeded to lay about him in right lusty style. A prominent alderman of the city, who witnessed those clerical gymnastics, fearing that some serious damage might result, attempted to quell the disorderly Divine, and only succeeding in doing so by means of a judicious threat to the effect that his reverence might be compelled to take an impromptu plunge bath in the waters of the Murray Canal. He was at length placed in safety on board the boat, where he soon resumed his orthodox expression.

JULY WEATHER.

Statistics as to the Temperature, etc., for the Month of July--The Heat Exceeded on Several Occasions.

The officials of the Toronto Observatory have furnished the following information concerning the temperature, etc., for July:

Temperature—The mean temperature was 71 60, being 3.96 higher than the average of 57 years and 0.51 lower than July, 1897. The highest temperature, 95.5, occurred on the 3rd, and the lowest, 42.1, on the 11th, mean temperature 57.19. On each of 22 days the mean temperature was above the average of that particular day, and below on nine days.

The mean temperature of July has been exceeded on 5 occasions—1854, 72.5; 1868, 75.8; 1878, 72.0; 1887, 73.1, and 1897, 72.1, and 1897, 72.1, and the absolute maximum of the month has been exceeded in four years—1854, 98.0; 1856, 96.6; 1872, 86.0, and in 1887, 97.2.

The rainfall is the smallest recorded in July, with the exception of 1868, when 0.51 in. fell, and in 1887, when 0.66 in. fell.

In Bellevill the mean temperature for the month was 71.70. The highest temperature, 94, occurred on the 23rd, and the lowest, 36, on the 11th. The warmest day was the 20th, mean temparature 80, and the coldest the 10th, mean temperature 56.

More Siftonism

(Mail and Empire.)

The Sifton officials in the Yukon district have been conducting themselves so greedily that Inspector Constantine, of the Mounted Police, declares that he is "sick of the job and the robbers," and he is leaving his post.

A few days ago we were informed that two of Mr. Sifton's official favourites—Wade and McGregor—had seized mining claims, which they hold for $60,000.

Now it appears that Wade has leased the entire water front of Dawson City to one man, Alexander Macdonald, thus giving him a monopoly of the approach to the town.

This same Macdonald had been given the privilege of cutting all the timber on both banks of the Yukon for thirty miles.

This monopoly of the fuel and timber supply is worth millions.

In addition, good mining locations are blanketed or held by speculators, who work in combination with the officials.

The Yukon administration, under Mr. Sifton, appears to be rotten and Parliament will have to look into it.

No other preparation has ever done so many people so much good as Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Medicine.

The roofs of broughams, says London Truth, have been raised of late in order to accommodate the hats of ladies.

Two of Lewis Carroll's jests were these: If a dull author sends you his book, reply that you will lose no time in reading it. If a mother demands your admiration of a very plain child, exclaim, "He is a baby!"

The Duke of Argyll says that there are only two passages in the whole translation of the Bible, so far as he is aware, in which the word science is used—one in the Prophet Daniel, and one in the Epistle to Timothy.

Nellie McConnell, a young and pretty girl, has been sentenced to two months in the penitentiary for stealing ribbons and other decorations from tombs in the Greenwood cemetery, in Brooklyn. She told the judge that it was a shame to let such nice finery go to waste.

It took 28 men, with a still larger force of laborers and assistants, five months, working eight hours a day, to count the money in a single vault in the United States treasury. The amount was only a little over $100,000,000. The odd part of it was that most of this money was nominally in circulation at the time.

The day of long prayers in public is supposed to have long passed away, but a 45-minute supplication is reported from Dundee, Scotland. In St. John's Established Church, recently, Rev. Mr. Naysmith, the assistant pastor, prayed from 11:20 o'clock till 12:05, in spite of the facts, as reported, that weary worshippers left the church and that the pastor, Dr. Grant pulled his coat-tails to cut him

FATE OF THE GOVERNMENT.

Legislative Campaign Opened in Real Earnest.

Messrs. Pettypiece and Clarke Move the Address in Reply to the Speech From the Throne—Mr. Whitney's Vigorous Onslaught, Concluding With a Strong Amendment to the Motion Proposed—The Premier's Reply.

Toronto, Aug. 5.—The combatants on Parliament Hill have begun in real earnest. So far nobody can complain that time has been wasted. The House met pursuant to agreement at 4 o'clock instead of 3 yesterday, and between that time and 6 o'clock the mover and seconder of the reply to the Speech were forced to squeeze their maiden efforts. After recess the heavyweights took their turn. Mr. Whitney held the floor for two hours, and, spurred by the applause of an extra score of followers, and inspired by the late expression of the popular confidence, made one of the master efforts of his life. The Attorney-General took up the mantle after 10 o'clock and, after a defence of an hour and a half's duration, the debate was adjourned until 3 p.m. to-day, when Mr. Brower of Elgin will resume it.

Mover and Seconder of the Address.

For a pair of novices, Messrs. Pettypiece and Clarke certainly monopolized attention well, though of course the circumstances and surroundings were propitious.

The mover of the address in reply, Mr. Pettypiece of East Lambton, spoke for nearly an hour. It was a successful speech for a novitiate. After touching upon those parts of the Speech upon which all were agreed, he touched upon the question of the rights of constables to vote. For thirty years they had stood guard over the polling booths and had voted like other British subjects. He considered, therefore, that the measure to be submitted would be just and right, because it was as much a crime to rob a man of his franchise as to steal his goods. Constables were a necessity and they had a right to vote. He indignantly denied that he was fighting to keep his own seat, as Conservatives charged. He concluded by formally moving thanks to His Honor for his gracious speech.

Mr. Clarke of West Northumberland spoke in a most humorous vein. In fact his speech was quite Landerkinesque. He manifested considerable assurance, boldly bearing with the occasional ridicule of the Opposition. He made one or two breaks. One of them was in gratuitously denying any intention on the part of the Speaker to jump into the portfolios vacated by the fallen Ministers. The House laughed as Mr. Clarke went on to say that he could not see where the opening had been in the past two years. "If you are the true man this House says you are," said he, "nobody could accuse you of having an eye on a position in that way." (Laughter.) Mr. Clarke touched briefly on the question of the constable vote, confining himself to arguing that the constables, being men 21 years of age and citizens of the province, had a right to vote.

Mr. Whitney's Master Effort.

Mr. Whitney moved the adjournment of the debate and after recess rose to reply. In the space of two hours he gave the Government the most scathing arraignment from which they have suffered in many years. The confidence expressed by the people in Mr. Whitney at the polls has apparently given him more confidence in himself. The fact that he had all but overthrown Mr. Hardy on March 1, seemed to inspire him with vigor and decision. He confined himself largely to a castigation of Mr. Hardy for retaining Messrs. Dryden and Gibson, the fallen Ministers, in his Cabinet and quoted a volume of precedents to show that this was contrary to constitutional practice, both in this country and in Great Britain.

He opened by generously congratulating the mover and seconder of the reply. The mover, he said, was well able to take care of himself and of the Government, but the House perhaps might have wished to notice a little less asperity in his manner. The seconder, however, admitted that he had a difficult task, while the other was disposed to defend everything and gave the impression that he was a thick and thin supporter par excellence of the Government. If the poor, down-trodden Grit constable suffered, he suffered because of the slackness of the Government. If the Government knew that a precedent existed for their present action, why did they not see it 11 long years ago. Why did they not hasten to protect the rights and privileges of the people of this province long ago and not allow benighted and bigoted Conservatives to deprive them of it. He would not discuss the measure in detail, but he would say enough to have the people understand that the Government was on its defence. He was not attacking any man's vote, but simply desired to say that the law should govern that vote. The Government, on the other hand, was saying that the law should not.

Who, he asked, was meant by the irresponsible figureheads, which the mover claimed had brought up this legal question? They were certainly British subjects and possessed of the franchise, which was equivalent to saying that they were the equal of the honorable gentlemen opposite. However much the Government supporters might sneer at them, they deserved and would receive due credit from the people.

An Amendment Moved.

In concluding his speech Mr. Whitney moved, seconded by Mr. Marter: That the following words be added to the said address: And also to represent to Your Honor that this House, being convinced that one of the best safeguards of the prerogatives of the Crown, as well as of the liberties and franchises of the people, is to be found in the application of the principle that the Government should be conducted by Ministers responsible to the people, and holding seats in the Legislative Assembly, avails itself of this opportunity to express its regret that the Government has met the Legislature for the despatch of business with two members of the Executive, the heads respectively of two of the most important departments of the Government, without seats in the Legislative Assembly, having been defeated at the last general election.

The Premier's Reply.

Mr. Hardy rose at 10 p.m. to reply.

After jibing Mr. Whitney in a cynical style, he said "the constables' vote is not of chief importance in calling the House together. By the constitution the British North America Act provides that it shall meet once in twelve months. It is compelled to meet once in twelve months, but if left to January it might have been inconvenient to meet; our honorable gentleman might not have had a seat. Sandfield Macdonald, in 1871, called the House together. He thought he had a majority and he had seven seats empty and was defeated. Should we not notice this example and take warning? Sandfield Macdonald said an election trial was as uncertain as a horse race. In our case there were 60 or 70 cases filed. They would not have been finished by January. We were forced to call the House together.

"Then came the constables' vote, and then the fisheries. I am not pretending this had nothing to do with calling the House together. We will deal with the constable question later.

"Replying to my honorable friend regarding the absence of the Ministers from the House, he is entirely right in moving his want of confidence, but not entirely right in making his arguments."

The Premier then bantered the leader climax asked:

"'Tell me,' for instance said he, 'who could replace the Minister of Agriculture? Let them name their man.'

"If I were in a defiant mood, I should ask my honorable friend to name the man—"

Mr. Whitney: "I believe several of the gentlemen to the right of my honorable friend could fill the position."

"There is a confession that he has no one on his side. Name me a single farmer in this country who can take the place of the Hon. John Dryden—with his capacity of organization, his—"

"Why doesn't he try nearer home?" interjected Mr. Brower of Elgin.

In conclusion Mr. Hardy said the coming bill would provide for the submission of this question to the Court of Appeal and provide that trials may proceed during the recess, and also that in future constables may vote.

At 11.40 Mr. Brower of West Elgin moved the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Hardy then moved that the House adjourn till to-day at 3 o'clock.

A Petition.

Business opened with the presentation by Mr. Foy of a petition from Mr. J. W. St. John, praying that the Election Act, relating to the constable vote, be not interfered with pending the trial of his appeal in the courts.

HID THEIR CHARITY.

The Good Samaritan, as Played by Dr. Gannett and Bishop de Cheverus.

The Rev. Dr. Gannett on one occasion spoke in words of the most sincere admiration of M. de Cheverus, the first Roman bishop of Boston, says C. F. B. Miel in The Atlantic. He told me this story:

Abandoned in a miserable cabin outside of Boston was an infirm negro. The bishop found him out, and without informing any one every evening after his day's duties quietly made his way to the cabin and spent his time with this afflicted creature, washing and dressing his sores, making his bed and providing for his various wants. A servant, who remarked that on the bishop's return his coat was covered with dust and feathers, wondered where his master went, and followed him afar off on one of his excursions. Looking between the loose timbers which made the wall of the cabin, he saw the man of God engaged in his work of mercy.

Dr. Gannett told me this story with a kind of admiration for such devotion on the part of a prelate. Little did he suppose that I myself would surprise him in the exercise of a no less humble and Christlike charity.

I had been told that a certain German teacher, Professor Sherb, was lying ill in a cold and comfortless attic in a miserable quarter of the city, and had no one to take care of him. At my first free moment I sought the lodging of this poor man, but Dr. Gannett was there before me. I found him at the door with a broom in his hand, with which he had been sweeping the room of the invalid. I entered and found the sick man sitting up in front of a newly lighted fire, carefully rolled up in a blanket, eating grapes which had been brought him by the good Samaritan. The mattress had been removed from the bed, the sheets had been put out to air, the meager furnishings of the room had been put in order, and all this by the hand of my excellent friend, who appeared quite confused when caught in the act.

CHINESE SHOES.

Most of Those Seen Here Come From Canton—Their Construction and Cost.

The thick soled, white edged shoes seen upon the feet of the Chinamen in this city are all imported from China, most of them from Canton, where they are made by hand. The white edge is of a thick, rigid sole, made of a material resembling plaster, and if it becomes dirty can be cleaned and whitened again. Some shoes have the wide white edge of this sole finished with a glazed or polished surface, which can be cleaned by rubbing it with a damp cloth.

The bottom soles of these shoes are made of a number of layers of rather thin leather placed one upon another, making a built up sole. This sole is stitched through and through in many places on regular lines, giving the bottom of the sole a sort of quilted effect. This work is neatly and trimly done, even on the cheap shoes. There are some Chinese shoes without the characteristic thick white edged soles and provided with soles of leather only.

The top of the Chinese shoe is of cloth or silk or satin and the lining of the same material. Velvet is often used on the top, cut in patterns that are laid over the body of the shoe, which may be of silk or satin in some bright color, while the velvet may be of black, producing picturesque and striking effects. Costly shoes are made of fine materials and are often richly embroidered. Chinese shoes of the regular style, with the thick, white edged sole and the leather bottom sole and cloth top, may be bought for as little as $1 a pair. Handsome Chinese shoes may be bought for $2 and upward a pair. Chinese shoes worn by persons of rank may be much more expensive, costing for shoes worn with court dress from $20 to $50 and more.—New York Sun.

TIRE PUNCTURES.

Scorchers may not, as a physician says, make soldiers, but they have that quality in them which makes other people run.—Chicago News.

There is no occasion for surprise in the announcement that "scorchers" do not make good soldiers. "Scorchers" do not even make decent citizens.—Boston Herald.

Chinese bicycle riders do some funny things on their wheels occasionally. They are frequently seen in the streets of Hongkong and Shanghai carrying an open umbrella or a fan, and in some instances with the handle bars removed.—New York Tribune.

ZOLA AGAIN.

Zola has again been convicted and ordered to pay a fine, but the guilt of Dreyfus is no more proved than ever.—New York Tribune.

If repeated fines will break up M. Zola's monopoly in the matter of defending Dreyfus, the French courts will do it. M. Zola must begin to feel like the Standard Oil company in Texas.—Buffalo Express.

Remarkable Laws of Nature.

A man will die for want of air in five minutes, for want of sleep in ten days, for want of water in a week, and for want of food are varying periods, dependent on circumstances. When one falls asleep, the surrender of sight, taste, smell, hearing and touch is necessary. The sense of touch is the lightest sleeper and most easily wakened, then hearing, then sight, while sluggard taste and smell waken last. The human body is an epitome in Nature of all mechanics, all hydraulics, all architecture, all machinery of every kind. There are more than 310 mechanical movements known to mechanics to-day, and all these are but modifications of those found in the human body.

Turquoise and Topaz.

Who could wish for a prettier stone than the delicate blue turquoise, the gem which in Russia is set in every engagement ring and with which the wearer must never part if she values the love and fidelity of the giver? It is said to be far more precious if given and not bought and is credited to change color when the wearer is sick or sorry or when danger is near. Its meaning is success and faithfulness.

The topaz is much valued by mariners, because it is supposed to possess an inner radiance which will give light in darkness, and if worn around the neck will act as a charm against magic spells, will banish melancholy and calm terror and madness. Therefore it behooves every maid to see that a topaz is among her posses-

The Danish sailing yacht Duen of Kjbenhavn (or Copenhagen) has just arrived at Prescott with a countess on board. She is bound for a cruise through the lakes. She will probably call here.

The Rathbun Co.'s drive of logs is expected to reach Campbellford about the 20th of August. The "head" of it has reached Peterborough, while the "tail" is many miles north of there.

The fin keel will be fastened on the bottom of Mr. Fenwick's yacht to-day and she will be launched this evening. She will probably make her first showing under sail on Tuesday.

St. James' Court C. O. F. will run an excursion to Twelve O'Clock Point and Presqu'ile Wednesday, Aug. 10th. Boat leaves Stewart's Wharf at 9.30 a.m. and for Twelve O'Clock Point and Presqu'ile at 2 p.m. Tickets, adults 25c, Children 15c. dlt

As an inducement to aid in taking off the immense harvest in the North West the C. P. R. advertise to take men out as far west as Moosejaw for $10.00. S. Burrows, Ticket Agent, can tell you all about the arrangements and sell the tickets.

They Keep It Up

Wondering how it is they can never get good wear out of a pair of shoes unless they were bought at Haines & Lockett's. We can tell you the wear of a boot or shoe generally depends on the quality of the insole used in its manufacture. The outersole is fastened to the insole; if that is shoddy the whole thing gives way very soon after being wet. We always pay extra to have solid insoles in our shoes and besides that they are always bought from the best makers in the country. Call and see our Two Button Shoes at 75c. Two varieties. NAPANEE ROBBERY.

Doubt Thrown on Pare's Evidence as to Locks and Keys.

(Kingston News.)

Mr. Smith, jeweller, Napanee, does not put much faith in the story told by Pare about his filing the combination of the Dominion Bank safe in order to make it easier for him to get into the vault. Mr. Smith went over the matter fully at the Paisley House in the presence of a number of friends, and after drawing diagrams of a combination on a piece of paper, he said he was willing to bet a new hat that the lock had not been filed. Mr. Smith is of the opinion that if the lever of the combination was filed, the man who went to open the vault next morning would detect the filing by the way the lock would work. Mr. Smith was quite willing, if allowed, to remove the combination from the safe and justify his statement that it was not filed.

Mr. Smith is a brother of Smith Bros., jewellers, of this city. He is doing a flourishing business in Napanee, and is considered one of the most skilful mechanics in that section of the country.

He also doubts Pare's story of taking the impression of a Yale key. In regard to this statement he said that even if the most perfect impression of a Yale key were secured the chances were that the key would not open the lock. Continuing, he said that no skilful cracksman would take time to obtain an impression of a Yale key, as the lock could be easily forced with a jimmy or any other tool that was convenient.

Mr. Smith has put the combination on the Dominion Bank in order several times, and he knows what he is talking about. Those who heard him were quite satisfied with his explanation of the matter.

NOTES.

It is stated that Holden claims that when he was arrested in Napanee and ordered to leave town he did so and never set foot there again until brought back by the police.

As things stand in Napanee to-day, it is not known whether the Crown intend to call the present proceedings an investigation or a trial.

As it is stated that Mr. Osler is the Solicitor of the Dominion Bank, it is not unreasonable to suppose that the Bank had something to do with his appointment as Crown Prosecutor.

"Strain telling on young Ponton," says the Mail and Empire in type half an inch long. Is it any wonder? The more innocent he is, the greater would be the strain. No innocent man could listen to Pare's statement without it creating a strain upon his moral and physical being.

The lawyers for the defence, Messrs. Porter and Northrup, have returned to the city. They do not go back to Napanee until Tuesday afternoon, when the trial will be resumed. Mr. Porter expresses himself as satisfied with the results obtained so far, and feels confident of the ultimate acquittal of his client.

THEY WILL STILL FIGHT.

Opposition Thinks Mr. Hardy's New Policy as Bad as the Old.

(Toronto Star.)

Mr. Whitney and his following will fight that clause of Mr. Hardy's bill which is to provide that if any member be unseated by the courts by reason of the constable vote, the other candidate shall not be declared elected, but another election shall be held.

The Opposition declares its ability to unseat the whole eight members whose seats are assailed under his head. As the law stands, if these eight men were unseated by reason of the illegal constable vote, their opponents would be declared elected, and the resulting difference of sixteen votes on division would wipe the Hardy Government out of existence.

AS BAD AS AT FIRST.

The Conservative Leaders say, therefore, that Mr. Hardy's new proposition is as bad as the original one. The original proposition to enact retroactive legislation, they say, was bad enough, but the question might have been fought on its merits. The new proposition is not so frank. It ostensibly leaves the matter to the courts, but in reality it demands that it be settled in the Legislature by the votes of the men who are personally concerned. If the courts should decide that the constables had the right to vote, nothing more could be said. But if the court should decide that the constables had not had the right to vote, then the constobles would be declared to have voted illegally. And if the constables voted illegally, their votes should be thrown out; only the votes that had been cast legally would be counted and the Opposition candidates would be declared elected on the scrutiny. The new problem of the Government is on record so far as the provision for an early reference to the courts is concerned. It is all wrong in respect of the clause that provides that in the event of the unseating of any of the members whose seat is assailed under this head, the Opposition candidate is not to be declared elected. This is the ground which the Opposition speakers will take. The matter has not yet been discussed by the leaders in a body, but individual leaders outlined the Opposition tactics.

High Grade Suits.

Gladstone's Advice to Young Men.

Be sure that every one of you has his place and vocation on this earth, and that it rests with himself to find it. Do not believe those who too lightly say: "Nothing succeeds like success." Effort, honest, manful, humble effort, succeeds by its reflected action, especially in youth, better than success, which, indeed, too easily and too early gained, not seldom serves, like winning the throw of the dice, to blind and stupify. Get knowledge, all you can. Be thorough in all you do, and remember that though ignorance often may be innocent, pretention is always despicable. Quit you like men, be strong and exercise your strength. Work onward and upward, and may the blessing of the Most High soothe your cares, clear your vision and crown your labors with reward.

A Merchant's Shrewd Scheme

A flour merchant in Edgar let the story get out that while he was stooping over his flour bin a $150 diamond ring had slipped from his finger into the flour. He appeared to be greatly exercised over the loss, got a notice in the local paper, but finally announced with a sigh that he would have to give it up; that the ring was in the floor somewhere; that he supposed it would turn up in a sack of flour, but he had no idea what one. Well you ought to have seen the boom that guileless man had in the flour trade. For the next week he had to hire extra help to fill sacks out of that bin. One man who never bought a sack from him before came and laid in a winter's supply. And the smooth merchant whistled softly as he filled the sacks and winked his other eye.

No other preparation has ever done so many people so much good as Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Medicine.

Asthma Cure vs. Asthma Relief.
It is a recognized fact among those suffering from Asthma that the longer they use the temporary relief Asthma remedies which require to be burned, the worse they become, until it loses its effect entirely. Clarke's Kola Compound is not among this class, but will permanently cure the worst case of asthma in from [illegible] to [illegible] days. Mr. F. J. Painton, proprietor of Painton's Music Store, Vancouver, B.C., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma in its worst form for over 15 years, and had consulted many physicians both in England and Canada, but obtained no relief. A friend of mine, who had been cured by the Kola Compound, advised me to try it, and three bottles have entirely cured me; it is now over two years since my recovery and asthma has not troubled me since: and previous to taking Clarke's Kola Compound I have many nights had to sit up nearly all night. It is truly a wonderful remedy, and it affords me much pleasure in attesting my appreciation of anything so worthy." Clarke's Kola Compound is sold by all druggists. KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Farmers Had to Harvest Their Crops Too Soon.

Kingston, Aug. 5.—During the thunder storm Miss Mary E. McInnes, daughter of James McInnes, Dalhousie Township, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. She was passing through a bush on her way home from her sister's residence.

D. Rogers, Patron M. P., is sorry the grain crop ripened so early. If the season had not been so far advanced, farmers could have wait d until after the 1st of August before buying binder twine. On August 1 the binder twine monopoly went to pieces. Before that date farmers were paying from 11 to 13c a lb. for their binder twine. They can buy the same twine now at from 6 to 8c.

Aunt Mary's Timely Visit.
The other evening Aunt Mary took the electric cars and rode eastward to the house of her niece who, a few weeks previously had just commenced housekeeping. Without cermony the old lady entered the house and found her niece in the kitchen looking very dejected. Aunt Mary soon discovered that her niece had tried to dye an old cream opera shawl a cardinal red with some poor cheap dye. The result was certainly enough to test the patience and goodness of an angel. A miserable mixed color, half red and half brown, was the result of her labor. Aunt Mary deeply sympathized with her horror-stricken niece, and advised her in future to use nothing but the Diamond Dyes that had given her such satisfaction and profit for over twenty years. The unsightly, variegated shawl was then washed in several waters in order to get rid of the horrid colors, and was put into a bath of Diamond Dye Fast Cardinal Red for Wool. It is now a thing of joy and beauty.
Moral: To achieve success in home dyeing be sure to use the Diamond Dyes.

AN INTERESTING CASE.

Peterborough's Council May Have to Pass the Ward By-law.

(Peterborough Review.)

The six members of the Council who defeated the third reading of the Council amendment by-law have placed both themselves and the town in an unenviable position.

Attention has been drawn to the fact that sec. 373 of "The Municipal Act" expressly provides that the Council shall within six weeks pass the third reading of a by-law approved by the ratepayers, and it is further said that those Councillors who have wilfully disregarded this provision have brought themselves within sec. 138 of The Criminal Code, which makes them liable to one year's imprisonment.

Moreover, it is claimed that the Council can be compelled by mandamus to pass the by-law and any ratepayer can take action in that direction and compel the refractory Councillors to pay the costs.

It is understood Councillor McWilliams has instruated the solicitor to take the necessary steps to enforce the law.

THE NAPANEE BANK ROBBERY

New Witnesses, But Nothing Startling Came Out.

The Crown and the Defence Both Think the Cross-Examination of the Prisoner Pare Is Helping Their Cases—Truth and Ingenuity Will Be Necessary, Says Lawyer Porter, to Extricate Pare From the Tangle He Has Woven About Himself.

Napanee, Aug. 6.—Yesterday's proceedings elicited nothing sensational. The chief feature was Mr. Porter's able cross-examination of Prisoner Pare, whose memory for details is phenomenal. The Crown thinks that the long examination the defence is putting Pare through strengthens the prosecution. But the defence claims it is weaving a web from which it will take both truth and ingenuity to extricate Pare.

It is stated that lawyer J. N. Macdonald of Toronto will be added to the defence staff on Tuesday.

A NEW WITNESS.

Inspector Burke of Boston Gave His Testimony—Pare on the Stand Again.

When court opened yesterday morning Inspector Burke of Boston, Mass., was called to give evidence concerning the arrest of Prisoner Holden. He told where and how he arrested the prisoner, and exhibited the money found upon him at his arrest. The fourteen silver coins were tied up in a dirty old sock. All of the coins were non-current in the United States. One was a five-franc Belgian piece of the date 1870, upon which were four marks in indelible ink. Partially burnt bills of the uncountersigned Dominion Bank issue 46,000 plus were shown. They had been rescued from the fire by Burke. The exhibits were put in a box, and in open court Mr. Burke gave the box to Chief Adams. D. H. Preston, Q.C., cross-examined the witness shortly, but did not upset the evidence in any way. The cross-examination was but a review of the prime evidence. Burke found a knife, a cheque for $400, and $17 in American money. The $17 Burke gave to Mrs. Holden. He did not bring the cheque because it is attached by the Pinkerton agency upon some gound. When asked by the detectives about the money when arrested, Holden had said that the money was put in his house by someone, and that he knew nothing about it.

Pare Again on the Stand.

Prisoner Pare was again brought into court and cross-examined by Lawyer Porter. The prisoner's memory did not seem to be as clear this morning as formerly. He got confused about where he bought the hoop iron from which to make a key of Mr. Baines' compartment, though he remembered distinctly the very words he used when he bought it. The witness declared that the impressions were made upon plain paper. The impressions found by the detectives last year were upon printed paper. The prisoner kept the impressions because he wanted to use them again. The cross-examination takes up day after day of Pare's life in August, 1897. The witness tells the little, trivial incidents that happened on each and every day, frequently repeating isolated conversations, and telling when and where Mackie came from and went to Belleville. When the key was made, it, the impression and the file were buried in a shed on the Bay of Quinte road and Mackie was told of this. "... day," he said, "Holden and I went to Kingston. The next day we returned to Napanee. I went up to Ponton's rooms, and coming out I met a woman, but I turned my head away and passed on. The next day I made a key out of a piece of brass. Ponton told me that night about the entrance from the back and said I could use it."

Continuing, Pare said "The next day I made another key, but out of a piece of brass this time. I made a better key and I again planted the keys and the impressions in the shed. That same night I again visited Ponton. He told me he had been paying out a good deal of money and that there was but $15,000 or $16,000 in the bank. He told me when they got $4,000 or $5,000 of mixed notes Mr. Baine sent them to Toronto. I suggested that he should hold the mixed notes till Mr. Baines asked for them but he said that could not be done. He told us that Mr. Baines had been fingering at the lock and perhaps he had changed the combination. I gave him the brass key and told him to see if it fitted."

Mr Osler, the Crown prosecutor, left for Toronto on the 2.30 train yesterday afternoon.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Inspector Healey of Manchester, N.H., Was in the Witness Box.

Michael J. Healey, Inspector of Police, Manchester, N.H., was on the stand all the afternoon. He said it was through his orders that Pare was arrested. He traced the story of the arrest from the first information he received till the man was trapped. He told of 96 ten-dollar bills found in a secret part of a toolchest and 21... dollar bills in a cake box. He told how Pare made his confession voluntarily, and stated that what he said in Manchester tallied with what was said at the trial here. Pare's confession was not written down. No one suggested that it should be. On July 12th Pare made his confession.

In cross-examination the witness said they needed no warrant for Pare's arrest, and that he was started on the search for Pare by the Pinkerton detective agency, through a circular issued by it. He promised to forward the circular to the court at Napanee. He then narrated the story of Pare's arrest, and the incidents which led up to it. On the Saturday before Pare's arrest he was ... office to see what he ... bills they had ... before making ... would ... Pare's ... Mr. ... was ... of ... Pare ... and

Her glances are the arrows of his bow,

And, she unused to Cupid's artful wiles,
Unconscious aids his purpose by her smiles,
And knows not, as her smiles and glances dart,
What anguish these may bring to many a heart.
Ah! hapless maiden, innocently gay,
No presage of the future breeds dismay;
She does not know how soon the treacherous guest
Will make her heart the haven of unrest.
Ungrateful Cupid! Soon from her he'll fly,
And seek a refuge in some lover's eye,
Then from that point of vantage, aim a dart
To pierce and agonize her maiden heart.

"No."

"Why was it taken at all if it had nothing to do with the robbery?"

"I understood that $1,000 was the identical money that was stolen. That was given over to the bank. Nobody claimed the $90 but Pare."

"Why wasn't all given over to the bank?"

"I was requested by Mr. O'Connor to keep the $90 for Mr. Pare."

"Will you turn over the $60 to the Crown?"

"The Crown doesn't want it," interjected Mr. Herrington.

"Will you give it to the bank?" asked Mr. Porter.

"If the bank wants it," replied the witness.

Knew It Meant Money.

Continuing, the witness said: I had the circular and knowledge of the rewards before Pare gave his confession. I knew it meant money to the person who got evidence in accord with the circular. The question of reward was not mentioned till Tuesday. Mr. Davidson asked me: "What part of the reward do you claim?" I replied: "Later on we will talk this over." I have talked to Mr. Davidson and notified Mr. Gamble that I will claim my share of the rewards for making the arrest, for the recovery of unsigned bills, and for the recovery of about $2,200 of the good money. I understand the Pinkerton people are not allowed to take a reward. I have not discussed the question of rewards.

Mr. Porter then turned the witness over to the Crown.

Mr. Herrington asked: "Have you departed from your usual course in conducting this case?"

Mr. Porter jumped up and said: "I object to that question."

After a few words Mr. Herrington dropped his question, and drew the information by pursuing another line. To Mr. Porter the witness said: "Some of the $90 was in Dominion Bank bills."

The court adjourned at 3.45 till 2 p.m. Tuesday.

YOUNG ROBINSON DROWNED.

A Sailboat Sprung a Leak in Lake Couchiching.

Rama, Ont., Aug. 6.—A sad drowning accident occurred here about 3.20 yesterday afternoon. A party of excursionists sailed on an outing, in the direction of Geneva Park, Lake Conchiching, about seven miles from Orillia. The party divided, eight of them going in an old sailboat and the remainder in a steam yacht. When about half way across the lake the sailboat started to leak, and the men tried to bail her out as fast as the water came in, but could not keep her afloat, and she went to the bottom in a few seconds, throwing the whole party into the water. All but one could swim, and when the boat came up they hung on.

Started to Swim Ashore.

Young Robinson, a son of Neil Robinson, farmer, said he would swim to the shore, and one of the men asked him if he could help him. He said, "No, I am all right." The man, who was swimming at the time, turned to see how young Robinson was getting along, but he saw him just as he was going down. He was about 22 years old, and a good swimmer.

The steam yacht was too far ahead to hear the calls of the men clinging to the partly sunken craft, but a rowboat, manned by a party of campers from the park, put out and gallantly rescued the seven men, bringing them to shore.

Dived for the Body.

A brother and sister of young Robinson, it is said, were in the steam yacht. The spot where the young man went down was about half way across the lake, and it is very deep—about 40 feet.

Several young men from the camp went out to try and get the body, but they were unsuccessful, and arrangements are being made to grapple for it.

THE DEBATE CONTINUED.

The Legislature Listens to Excellent Speeches Again.

Col. Matheson, for the Opposition, Gives Many Points That Will Induce Electoral Thought—Mr. Garrow Replies at Some Length—Dr. Barr, a New Conservative Member, Shows That Mr. Whitney's Followers Had a Greater Popular Vote Than Mr. Hardy's.

Toronto, Aug. 6.—The debate on the address was resumed in the Legislature yesterday, but the storm-centre was changed from the constables to the defeated Ministers in consequence of the amendment moved by Mr Whitney.

Col. Matheson.

Col. Matheson was the first speaker. He congratulated Mr. Speaker, and then paid his compliments to the mover and seconder of the address. Notwithstanding the disclaimer of the member for East Lambton he had no doubt that he (Mr. Pettypiece) would have been defeated without the constable vote. He enumerated public bribes which had had much to do with securing the seats of hon. gentlemen opposite, and he charged that in addition to these the manipulation of the elections accounted for many returns of Liberal members. Nipissing, Russell, South Perth, were notable in this catagory, and, said the speaker, "It seems almost a wonder that we on this side occupy half of the seats in this House. It is for reasons like this that the Ministry is discredited."

One member of the late Government, without portfolio, had actually not gone to the polls at all. He was still, however, a Minister. His retirement had not yet been gazetted. The defeated, Messrs. Dryden and Gibson, still held their seats. Four others of the Ministry had protests against their election. The Provincial Secretary was the only man among them who represented his constituency in the House. Where, oh where, was the array of talent which the Government had boasted about having behind it all these years? If they had it, why did they not replace the two Ministers? What was the reason for calling the House together? There were rumors that it was done by reason of mutiny in the Government ranks. The Premier dare not appoint any new Ministers without offending a dozen others. That was one reason why Mr. Hardy had called the House. He wanted to make his followers face the music, to make them vote for or against the Ministry. But were these appointments secretly promised now? After dealing with the precedent side of the question, Mr. Matheson said: Yet these two men were appointing a host of officials every day without themselves representing anybody. It was laying down a dangerous precedent, one which would be quoted for years to come.

Mr. Matheson did not propose, after the signal back-down of the Government on the question of constables' votes, to discuss the question. But the back-down showed that the Government were aware that the people were not supporting them in the course they were about to pursue. The people were jealous of their liberties. They knew the price of liberty was eternal vigilance. He appealed, in conclusion, to the Reform members of the House as men, many of whom would have to go back to the people in the course of three or four months, to seek re-election, to not go back on every principle of liberty, to be no party to a scheme to tie up the liberties of the province.

A Government Champion.

Mr. Garrow reprimanded the members preceding on the other side for forgetting that they were not in the backwoods, that they were now addressing a solemn body, people who could understand language and had intelligence. "If you go on using strong language," he said to the Opposition, "then people won't know when you are serious." As to the talk of a corrupt league with the lumbermen or with the liquor men, it was unfair to make them without formulating them into specific charges and trying to prove them.

Then, as to the reason for calling the House. It was called at a period which would not seriously inconvenience either lawyers or farmers. The speaker noticed a conspicuous absence of argument by the Opposition as to whether or not constables were entitled to votes. Mr. Whitney, as a lawyer, had never ventured an opinion. Had any reputable lawyer offered one?

Mr. Whitney: It is rumored the Deputy Attorney-General has.

Mr. Garrow said a constable had as much right to vote as a constable as though he were not. "You talk about an appeal to the courts," he went on. "This is the highest court in the country. Parliament is supreme in jurisdiction."

"I am one of the constable-elected members. I am proud of the distinction of having the smallest majority of any represented in the House. West Huron had a fit, but you must remember that lightning never strikes twice in the same place. West Huron is all right."

Mr. Whitney: "You mean the returning officer is all right." (Laughter.)

Mr. Garrow then argued out the broad proposition that the constable has a right to vote.

Turning to the question of the defeated Ministers, Mr. Garrow admitted that the Ministry should keep the portfolios filled, but argued that time should be allowed to fill them. Had the Government had what is known in law as a reasonable time to fill them? If both Ministers had not appealed their elections it would have been different. They should have stepped down and out. Both, however, were old and respected members of the House, men whose ability was acknowledged on both sides. They were defeated, but had protested, and no court had thrown out their protests. Until these protests had been passed upon they should not be excluded from the House.

Mr. Garrow concluded by an appeal to the Opposition not to keep up the fight too long. Then he entered his protest against ex-post facto legislation. It would have been an outrage to which he could not have committed himself. But if it could be proved that the law had always been what it was proposed to make it, it was not retrospective. He thought it was a good bill in its amended shape, however, and thought it would work justice. It should be unanimously supported.

Defeated by the Popular Vote.

Dr. John Barr of Dufferin followed. Speaking of the duty of the courts to interpret the right of constables to vote, he asked whether if it had been eight seats on the Opposition side of the House which were jeopardized the Attorney would have called the House together. The fact is, said he, it makes a difference whose ox is being gored. Continuing, he pointed out that according to the Government members themselves, the brains of the Cabinet had been rejected when Messrs. Dryden and Gibson were defeated, so that there was now left a Government without brains. Supposing, he added, the Attorney-General alone of the Ministers had been returned. Would they not have had as much reason to go on without the six as without the two Ministers? As he neared conclusion, he contended that the Liberals had been defeated by the popular vote. Of the 433,863 votes polled the Liberals had polled only 209,940, while the Conservatives had polled 212,229. The Independents had polled 11,694, so that the Government members had polled less than half the total vote, and even less than the Conservatives.

LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly —that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

What the Conference Is.

The conference referred to in the despatch are the consultations which have been progressing for the past 36 hours between Prime Minister Sagasta and the leaders of the other parties and groups, including Senor Robledo, who vehemently denounces the American terms. Inasmuch as the above message was sent by the consent and probably at the desire of the Spanish Government, it may, perhaps, be surmised that the underlying motive of the Spanish Cabinet is to induce the American Government to modify some of its demands by indicating that the domestic situation in Spain renders it impossible for Senor Sagasta to yield to the present terms. There is no question that the Sagasta Government is anxious to conclude an immediate peace, but it is not yet clear whether it has the power to do so.

STARVATION IN LABRADOR.

Capt. Clay Found 400 People in That State There.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 6.—The schooner Cambridge, which sailed from this port June 6, to explore the coast of Labrador, returned yesterday. The expedition was fitted out by Capt. F. M. Clay and Dr. Morris, whose object was to explore the Newfoundland Labrador coast in search of gold and lumber. The schooner went as far as Hamilton Inlet, but at Louis Inlet the party divided. Their mission was unsuccessful. Capt. Clay reports that from the Straits of Belle Isle, as far north as Hamilton Inlet, there is no gold, nothing but a granite streak and very little timber. Capt. Marvin's expedition, which left here on the schooner A. Hardy, Capt. Clay said was equally unsuccessful. When Capt. Clay reached Lewis Inlet he found 400 people there in a state of starvation. They had no flour for five weeks, and were so weak through lack of food they could not leave their crude beds, even the dogs were so emaciated that they could hardly crawl around. The people are suffering tremendously on account of the excessive duties levied by the Newfoundland Government on food stuffs. Dr. Morris did good work in alleviating the suffering of the people, attending to the sick night and day. The Labrador fishery is this year a complete failure.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. LADIES, ITS LINES ARE ALL TRUE.

Fit and comfort go hand in hand. A perfect fitting corset permits of perfect freedom of movement with the minimum of pressure, draw and strain. It fits all over, is highly flexible where it should be, and less so at points where it should not be, such a corset outwears all others and never breaks at the waist. True lines are essential to elegance and fit. An error in any of these lines results in positive misery to the wearer. The lines of the celebrated

WHEAT UP.

Demand for the Cash Article and for Immediate Delivery Good—Ontario Stronger—The Prices.

Friday Evening, Aug. 5.

The speculative wheat market at Chicago was very strong to-day. Cable advice of advances on transatlantic boards was the chief bullish factor, but other important influences were the large clearances, the small primary receipts, the good cash demand and the apparent reluctance of the West to sell. This month's delivery touched 70c, and all options showed a gain of about a clear cent at the close.

On the Liverpool Board to-day, wheat manifested strength. The spot article rose ½d per cental, the September delivery 2d and the December option 1½d per cental. Paris wheat rose 20 centimes at to-day's session.

Trade in Ontario wheat continues dull, but the situation was stronger to-day, with new red and white quoted around 63c and 64c at north and west points.

Toronto Grain and Produce.

Flour—Straight rollers in barrels, middle freights, are quoted at $3.35 to $3.40. New wheat flour, $3.20 to $3.25.

Wheat—Very little doing. New wheat firmer at 63c to 64c north and west. No. 1 Manitoba hard nominally 88c afloat at Fort William.

Oats—Quoted at 26c high freight, and 26½c on Midland.

Barley—Nothing doing and prices nominal.

Bran—Sells at $8.50 west and shorts at $13 west.

Corn—Canadian, 33c west and 40c on track here.

Peas—Old peas lower at 50c high freights; 48c bid for new.

Oatmeal—Car lots of rolled oats in bags on track at Toronto, $3.60; in bbls., $3.70.

Toronto St. Lawrence Market.

Receipts of grain were light. One load of red wheat sold at 70c, and one of goose at 60c per bushel.

Hay sold at $6.50 to $8 for 20 loads of new, and three loads of old at $9 per ton.

One load of straw sold at $6.50 per ton.

Dressed hogs sold at $7 to $7.50, the latter price being paid for choice light hogs for butchers' purposes.

Butter firmer, selling at 18c to 20c per lb. rolls, and in pails 15c to 16c per lb.

Eggs plentiful and prices easier. Strictly new-laid, 13c to 14c per dozen, and fresh, by the case, 11c to 12c.

Toronto Live Stock.

Receipts of live stock this week have been light, the run to-day being 59 carloads only, composed of 1150 cattle, 475 sheep and lambs, 65 calves and 1200 hogs.

The bulk of the fat cattle offered were exporters, of good quality.

Light deliveries during the week caused export and butchers' cattle to advance in price from 10c to 15c, and in some cases 20c per cwt.

Exporters sold at $4.25 to $4.75 per cwt., the latter price being paid only for cattle that had been stall-fed previous to being turned on grass, the bulk going at $4.40 to $4.60 per cwt.

Loads of good butchers and exporters, mixed, sold at $4 to $4.20.

The supply of butchers' cattle was not equal to the demand, and prices advanced accordingly.

Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle sold at $4.15 to $4.30; loads of good, $3.90 to $4.12½; medium, $3.60 to $3.80; common, $3.20 to $3.40, and inferior, $3 to $3.25 per cwt.

There is very little, if any, demand for heavy feeders, which are worth from $3.50 to about $3.75.

Buffalo stockers sold all the way from $2.50 for heifers and cull steers, to $3 and $3.40, with the bulk going at about $3.25 per cwt.

About 20 milk cows were offered, and sold at prices ranging all the way from $28 to $47 each.

Calves sold at $3 to $7 each, and $4.50 to $5.25 per cwt., live weight.

Sheep were in good demand at following prices: Ewes sold at $3.25 to $3.35; bucks, at $2.75 per cwt.

Spring lambs, prices firm at $3 to $4 each, and $4.50 to $5.25 per cwt.

Hogs—Deliveries light—only 1200—and prices have advanced another 10c per cwt. for choice select hogs, weighing from 150 to 200 lbs., off cars, unfed and unwatered, which sold at $6.10 to $6.25 per cwt.; light and light fats, $5.60; heavy, $5; Essex and Kent corn-fed sold at $5.25 to $5.50, and not wanted at these prices.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—Hogs—Estimated receipts to-day 21,000; left over, 2000; opening strong, turned slow, weaker; light, $3.55 to $3.87½; mixed, $3.60 to $3.92½; heavy, $3.55 to $3.95; rough, $3.35 to $3.70.

Cattle—Receipts 20,000; steady; beeves, $4.20 to $5.50; cows and heifers, $2.20 to $4.70; Texas steers, $3.30 to $4.65; Westerns, $3.75 to $4.75; stockers and feeders, $3.10 to $4.65.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, Aug. 5.—Cattle—Receipts light; market steady, with former prices.

Veals and Calves—Receipts fair; market ruled with a fair demand; prices steady.

Hogs—Receipts fairly liberal. Market opened with an active demand and prices stronger on all grades but pigs. Good to choice Yorkers, $4.07; prime light do., $4.05 to $4.07; mixed packers, $4.07 to $4.10; mediums, $4.10 to $4.12; heavy hogs, $4.15; roughs, $3.40 to [illegible] 75 to $3.85; pigs, [illegible]

[illegible] cluded a few decks of Canada lambs. Market for good, handy native stock was about steady former sales, but there was nothing doing in the Canadas up to noon. Spring lambs, choice to extra ewes and wethers, $5.90 to $6.25; buckey and fair, $5.25 to $5.85; culls, $4 to $5; common to choice yearlings, $4.25 to $5; native clipped sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4.80 to $5; fair to choice mixed sheep, $4.40 to $4.75; culls and common ewes, $2.25 to $4.25.

CURTAIN RAISERS.

Mlle. Rhea, whose real name is Hortense Love, was formerly a governess in an aristocratic Parisian family.

George Wilson and W. S. Cleveland have formed a partnership and will manage a big minstrel enterprise next season.

H. A. Du Souchet's new comedy, "A Misfit Marriage," will be produced in September with Max Figman in an important part.

The Players' club has placed a memorial window to Edwin Booth in "The Little Church Around the Corner," in New York.

Eddie Bald will appear as a stage hero next winter. A drama, "A Twig of Laurel," has been written for him, and it is said to be full of interest.

Recent London collaboration in musical farces has involved in several instances a man to write the prose, another for the verse and a third for the music.

A revival of "The Mulligan Guards' Ball," with Edward Harrigan, Mrs. Yeamans and as many of the old cast as can be secured, is promised for next season.

Conan Doyle's own play, founded on the Sherlock Holmes tales, is said to be now in the hands of Charles Frohman, who may produce it in this country next season with William Gillette as the detective.

John B. Doris has signed a contract for a 25 weeks' engagement of a company of Italian marionettes. They will arrive in New York in November and during their engagement produce operas, plays and spectacles.

According to The Dramatic Mirror, the government has entered into a contract with Manager Frank Burt of Toledo to build and manage, for and in behalf of the United States of America, a theater, with a seating capacity of 1,500, at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga park.

THE HORSE SHOW.

Charlie Knapp, 2:17, pacing, has changed his gait to trotting.

The track record of Augusta, Me., was broken recently by Omega; time, 2:18.

The latest novelty in the guideless wonder line is a lot of five that race together.

The name of Victor Wilkes, 2:15½, by Dominee, has been changed to Victoneer.

In his recent 2:09¼ heat it is said that Anaconda paced the last quarter in 31 seconds.

It is claimed that Merritt Wilkes, 2:18¼, pacing, has shown quarters in better than 30 seconds.

At a recent pacing race in Belmont park, Philadelphia, nine horses started, and seven of them wore hopples.

Franklin, 2:10¼, is reported to have been driven a quarter in 31½ seconds by Volney French at Cleveland this year.

The Merchant, by The Conqueror, took a 2-year-old record of 2:25 a few weeks since. He had a yearling record of 2:29¼ in 1897.

The first equine winner named Admiral Dewey is a bay gelding by Othello, who trotted in 2:28 at a Gloucester (N. J.) matinee.

At Triest, Hungary, June 5, Abnet, 2:10¾, won the international prize, beating Bravado, Miss Bowerman, Autrain and Eddie Hayes.

Adazetta, 2:25¼, a newcomer this year, is by Quartermaster, dam Dollie Walter, by Sir Walter, making her a full sister to Quartermarch, 2:11¼.—Turf, Field and Farm.

THE ROYAL BOX.

The coming child of the Princess Helene of Aosta, if it prove to be a boy, stands a good chance of succeeding to the throne of Italy, as the Prince of Naples has as yet no children.

It is reported from The Hague that on the occasion of the coronation of Queen Wilhelmina several Dutch Indian princes are expected to be present at the festivities. The sultan of Siak, with a large suit, will attend.

When Emperor William wanted to order a motor car lately for the short distance between the new palace and the Wildpark station, a French design was shown him, which he is said to have rejected with the remark, "You cannot expect me to buy and use a foreign carriage here."

The Prince of Wales has taken a great fancy to a pretty little villa at Cannes, belonging to Comte St. Priest, and arrangements will probably be made so that his royal highness may become the owner. The maisonnette is of very modest dimensions, but charmingly situated and commanding lovely views.

ANIMAL ODDITIES.

The offensive weapon of the ostrich is his leg. He can kick as hard as a mule, and it is a remarkable fact that his kick is forward, never backward.

The elephant does not smell with his trunk. His olfactory nerves are contained in a single nostril, which is in the roof of the mouth near the front.

When the barn owl has a young family, it hunts diligently and brings to its nest about five mice in an hour. As both of the parent birds are actively employed both in the evening and at dawn, 40 mice a day is a low estimate for the total capture.

Butterflies, besides being inconstant and frivolous, are now said to be addicted excessively to drink. They will suck up moisture for an hour at a time. Entomologists assert that they do not need so much. It is the males alone who indulge in these copious libations while the females are away laying eggs.

CHEAPER DINNERS IN LONDON.

Sir Thomas Lipton Gives Princess of Wales £100,000 for the Purpose.

London, Aug. 6.—An interesting piece of news has just transpired. Ten days ago Sir Thomas Lipton visited Marlborough House and presented the Princess of Wales with a cheque for £100,000 to start dining rooms in London, at which working people may secure substantial meals for from 2d to 8d. There will be a central dining room capable of accommodating 2,000 people simultaneously. It is expected that from 8,000 to 10,000 dinners will be served there daily. The trustees, of which the Princess of Wales will be one, will shortly be appointed to manage the project, which will be known as the "Alexandra Trust."

SHOWING THEIR TEETH.

Russia Is Assuming an Aggressive Attitude in the East.

The Lion May Have Occasion Again to Drive the Bear to Its Lair—All London Is Uneasy Over the Chinese Situation—Russia Said to Be Scheming for a Port on the Persian Gulf—In the House.

London, Aug. 6.—There is great uneasiness on all sides here in view of the Chinese situation, which is regarded as bringing an open conflict between Great Britain and Russia within measurable distance, and it is universally felt that the Marquis of Salisbury is invertebracy in yielding to Russia's aggressiveness is responsible for the dangerous complication, which can only be overcome by the most prompt and most firm intimation that Russia's open opposition to British commercial concessions must cease.

In connection with this, a curious story is current. It is now said that the Princess of Wales' hurried departure from England was in response to a despatch from her sister, the Dowager Empress of Russia, bearing upon the Anglo-Russian relations. It is well known that the Dowager Empress is strenuously working to conclude a definite understanding regarding Anglo-Russian interests in the Far East, and it is said great importance attaches to the meeting of the sisters at Copenhagen.

Mr. Curzon Talks About It.

London, Aug. 6.—Replying to a question yesterday in the House of Commons, the Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, said Her Majesty's Government had heard that a great power was endeavoring to obtain a port on the Persian Gulf. Two-thirds of the trade of the gulf was British. Mr. Curzon added, wherefore the Government was specially interested in the matter.

The power mentioned, it is said, is Russia.

Another despatch says: The Anglo-Russian war scare is spreading. It is reported that Russia is making extensive preparations and trying to force an issue in the East.

THE PRINCE OF WALES

Will Be Asked to Visit America Next Summer—Canadian Tariff Commented on Favorably.

London, Aug. 6.—There is some talk here of a proposal which finds favor in influential circles of an endeavor to induce the Prince of Wales to visit the United States next summer. The project arises from a desire to use this exceptional means of illustrating and strengthening the Anglo-American good-feeling. If the proposal should take practical shape, the Prince would visit Canada en route.

The Earl and Countess of Minto will spend part of the autumn at Minto House, Roxburghshire, and will not leave for Canada till November.

Now that the new Canadian tariff is in full operation, the subject is much commented upon in the English press. The Globe voices the general sentiment when it says that Sir Wilfrid Laurier is to be heartily congratulated upon his triumph, which, however, could only have been achieved through the earnest loyalty of the Canadian people as a whole.

Col. Howard Vincent will move shortly in the House of Commons that, in view of Canada's patriotic action, like fiscal advantages be extended in Great Britain and Ireland to all dutiable products raised in Canada or any British colony giving similar advantages.

The abandonment of the visit of the artillery team is due to no other reason than the refusal of the Treasury authorities to sanction the recommendation of Lord Lansdowne of a special grant from the British Government.

WENT DOWN OFF BELLE ISLE.

The Story That a Vessel Collided With an Iceberg Corroborated.

St. Johns, Nfld., Aug. 6.—The mail steamer Virginia Lake arrived at Tilt Cove, on West Bay, 230 miles from here, at daylight yesterday morning, bringing certain corroboration of the reported loss of an ocean liner in the Straits of Belle Isle. A fisherman at Nobby Bay reported to her that he saw a steamer collide with an iceberg and sink soon afterwards. The report is generally believed, but nothing reliable is obtained. The fisherman said that the steamer looked like a passenger ship, and he could see the people trying to launch boats, but she sank before they could do anything.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Schrader, the divine healer, has left Toronto.

The citizens of Oshawa, by a majority of 144, have declared against the establishment of a market.

The U. S. Government has just bought 5,000 barrels of whiskey at Chicago for the army.

Toronto has an American colony of summer visitors this year on Jarvis street. They are mostly Southerners.

Mrs. Margaret Daly was committed for trial at Toronto on the charge of procuring a young girl for immoral purposes.

A large number of lake skippers were fined by the Toronto police magistrate for keeping liquor on board their vessels.

William Barefoot, an employe of Fensom's Elevator Works, Toronto, drove a spike right through the centre of his hand.

Hon. David Mills of London, Minister of Justice, is being urged to stand for the Senate at the approaching Varsity elections.

Bank robbers, six in number, secured about $5,000 in cash from the Richland, Mich., Union Bank and $4,800 in notes. Officers are in pursuit.

Mr. Kimble, who was so seriously hurt at Drayton in the tile yard by the bursting of a pulley, is dead. He leaves a widow with seven small children.

A Fatal Spider-Web.

When a fly accidentally gets caught in a spider's web, the spider goes calmly about the work of securing his prey. He doesn't hurry particularly. He takes his time and binds first the fly's feet, and then his wings and his entire body.

That is the way with the dread enemy of mankind—consumption. It has a web—the web of trivial disorders neglected. When a man heedlessly stumbles into that web, consumption first attacks his stomach, then his blood, then his lungs, then every organ in his body. Many doctors assert that when a man is once in this deadly web there is no escape. That is a mistake. Thousands have testified to their recovery from this disease by the use of the right remedy. Many of their letters, together with their names, addresses and photographs, appear in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. The remedy that saved them was Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It cures the conditions that lead up to it. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and germ-ejector. Druggists sell it.

"Your 'Favorite Prescription' cured my little girl, seven years old, of St. Vitus's dance," writes Mrs. A. E. Loomis, of Walnut Grove, Redwood Co., Minn. "She could not feed herself, nor talk. That was fifteen years ago. I have always had great faith in your medicines ever since. I had a terrible cough, and my friends thought I had consumption. I took the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and it cured my cough, and now I do my housework. I have always praised your medicine and would like to have your 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.' I enclose stamps."

Over a thousand pages of good home medical advice free. Send thirty-one one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Cloth binding 50 stamps. A veritable medical library in one volume,

THE SECRET OF GOOD LOOKS.

A Good Complexion Will Make a Person of Ordinary Features Beautiful.

"As a rule, women wash their faces too frequently," says Euphemia Woods in "How to Have a Fine Complexion" in The Woman's Home Companion.

"It is far from being the best way to clean the face, more especially where rainwater cannot be procured. That may be used quite frequently, but soap should not be applied oftener than three times a week. Pure, imported castile soap, such as surgeons use, should be given the preference. Use it at night only and with hot water; then rinse the face with clear, cold water. In the morning cold water should be used in preference to hot. If you do not have rainwater, throw a pinch of powdered borax into the washbowl, but use it sparingly if your skin is more alkaline than acid. You can discover this by wiping your face with litmus paper when you are perspiring. Blue litmus paper turns red when it touches an acid, and the red paper turns blue when exposed to an alkali. On no account must you use soap on your face except with rainwater. Soap in hard water forms a scum which, even though quite invisible, clogs the pores, often causing pimples and blackheads and always giving the skin a faded appearance. Throw away powders, washes, pomades, lotions of every description. Without doubt there are some very good preparations on the market, but how are you to know that you are using the one that best suits your skin? A skin that is distinctly acid requires very different preparations from one that is alkaline.

"It is not generally known that it is the action of the sun on the natural oils of the skin that causes tan and sunburn. If a healthy woman could keep this oil wiped off as it accumulates, she might always have a pretty complexion, provided so much friction did not irritate the skin. One reason why the skin on the body is so much nicer than that on the face is that the clothing supplies the friction necessary to keep the pores of the skin from clogging. Finally, if you want a nice complexion, you must take plenty of sleep in a well ventilated room, stop worrying, bathe frequently and perspire a little every day. No lotion is better than perspiration, but it must not be allowed to dry on the skin."

A FRONTIER FIGHT.

How Jim Bowie's Band of Eight Stood Off Five Hundred Comanches.

In Texas James Bowie set his hand to another sort of fighting. In 1831, with his brother Rezin, six other men and a boy, he set out upon a trading and exploring expedition through the heart of the Comanche country. At six days' travel from possible succor he found his party assailed by 500 mounted warriors, Comanches all, who rode like the wind, yet shot with deadly aim. Resistance seemed hopeless in the face of odds so great. Bowie took the one desperate chance left him and won the game.

He divided his forces, stationing three in one skirt of woods, with the pack animals, and scattering the rest about a more considerable arborage. Each was fully armed—had rifle, knife and pistols. Powder and lead were plenty; also wherewithal to eat and drink. Each grove had a spring in it. Close about the waters the white men lay or crouched, resolved, "if they [illegible] with them."

Five days the fight went on. Swooping in clouds, the red riders dashed round, round, ever nearing the devoted marksmen and sending toward them in whirring flight arrows and bullets thicker than hail. But the wheeling ended in rout when it came within fair rifle range. The men crouching in cover made every missile tell. Men and horses went down in struggling heaps at the sharp crack of their weapons, and they were so swift to load and fire that the chiefs easily persuaded themselves their enemy was a hundred strong. But the attacking went on until threescore braves were dead and as many more disabled, to say nothing of the ponies. Bowie had one man dead, whom he buried reverently; one desperately wounded, whom he took away to safety, although the attempt appeared to promise destruction to all the band.—Martha McCulloch-Williams in Harper's Magazine.

A Shirt Washing General.

I have seen a private letter from General Gatacre to a friend in a high place, in which the general describes himself as perfectly happy in the Sudan. He had only one shirt to his back, which he washed for himself from time to time. He lived on tinned meat and occupied a straw shelter without furniture and with nothing more than a blanket to cover him, but he was in rude health and the best spirits, and all his men were the same.—Allahabad Pioneer.

THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.

BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2, at Druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

THAT QUEBEC COMMISSION.

The opinion expressed by THE INTELLIGENCER that a grave error had been made, in the selection of gentlemen to represent Canada in the settlement of international questions, affecting Canada and the United States, particularly in selecting Mr. John Charlton instead the Minister of Justice, the Hon. David Mills, has found expression in various quarters. The Montreal GAZETTE, commenting on this point says:

It certainly cannot be that Mr. Mills is thought lacking in the qualifications for international negotiations, for he has made a special study of international questions; is, in fact, professor of international law in the University of Toronto, and would probably bring to bear more knowledge of the subjects to be discussed than any of the representatives chosen. It is to be presumed that it was thought Mr. Mills would not be of a sufficiently yielding disposition, for on most questions he has an opinion of his own, and is inclined to stick to it. As Mr. Mills will probably have the onerous duty of piloting the treaty through the Senate after it is concluded, his omission from the Canadian delegation appears to be a mistake.

If, suggests a contemporary, the Quebec conference is not brought on soon, the United States representatives will get the impression that they can have all they want for the asking. "A Canadian Liberal" writes in this month's North American Review:

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Premier, may be said to be an ardent admirer of the United States. His beau ideal, as a statesman and a great leader, is Abraham Lincoln. Not the slightest tinge of prejudice or race animosity influences him in his feelings toward the great Republic. Almost as much can be said with regard to all the other members of the Canadian commission, whose utterances in favor of cordial relations and friendly intercourse have earned for them in the past a storm of obloquy from the ultra-loyal Conservative element of Canada."

If this sort of thing goes on much longer, those of the United States will begin to think that they will be the only nation represented at the conference.

As evidence of this, United States papers are publishing extracts from Sir Richard Cartwright's old campaign speeches about reciprocity, and find them very much to their taste. For Sir Richard's sake and for the sake of Canada, it was to be hoped that these speeches would have been forgotten. But they will not be; on the contrary, they will be turned by the United States Commissioners to good account at the present time, and used to the disadvantage of Canadian interests.

NOT FAR ENOUGH.

Mr. Hardy, evidently panic-striken by the outburst of popular indignation at his proposal to "corral" eight seats in the Legislature by the vote of the men whose election had illegally secured, has made a partial back-down.

His latest proposal is not to steal the seats outright, but to have the elections voided and validate the votes of the constables in the subsequent elections.

This won't do, Mr. Hardy! The question is one which the courts should decide, and the people should insist on that being done.

So flagrant is this cunningly devised scheme that even such friendly journals as the Hamilton HERALD denounces it. It says:—

"But upon the whole it is doubtful if the Government's position has been strengthened by this change of base. It will be interpreted as a sign of weakness—as evidence that the Premier was scared into making a concession to the Opposition. It can also be charged with reason that the Government's present proposition is not consistent. It proposes to refer to the courts the question as to whether constables have the right to vote. If the courts decide that the constables have no such right, a rightful consequence of that decision would be that the seats made vacant by that decision should be filled by the candidates whose defeat was brought about by the constables' votes. But Mr. Hardy proposes to prevent such a result from following an adverse decision by the courts. He proposes that the men elected through the illegal votes shall have another chance.

This course looks too much like double-dealing. Having decided to refer the question to the courts, Mr. Hardy should have determined to abide by all the consequences of that course. To refer the matter to the courts and at the same time make provision to block the legal and rightful result that would follow in the decision of the courts should prove to be contrary to the wish of the Government, is to treat the courts with something very like contempt."

B. C. ELECTIONS.

The Grits of Ontario are chuckling over the results of the British Columbia Provincial elections as a Grit victory. The Vancouver WORLD, the Grit organ of the mainland, supported the Turner Government and says the new House consists of 14 Conservatives and 5 Liberals, supporters of the Government; and 9 Conservatives and 10 Liberals who support the Opposition, and adds, "the election was not fought on party lines, and the result is neither a Liberal nor a Conservative victory." It is a pity the bubble of the chuckling Grits should be so ruthlessly pricked.

Gems of Irish Literature.

I picked up two delicious literary curiosities during my stay in Ireland.

The following notice was posted in a pleasure boat belong to a steamship company on the Suir: "The chairs in the cabin are for the ladies. Gentlemen are requested not to make use of them till the ladies are seated."

The time I was in the country was just after the visit of the Duke and Duchess of York. I clipped the following delicious advertisement from a Kingstown paper: "James O'Mahony, wine and spirit merchant, Kingstown, has still on his hands a small quantity of the whiskey which was drunk by the Duke of York while in Dublin."—X. X. in London Spectator.

A CARPENTER'S STORY.

Stricken with La Grippe, Followed by Rheumatism.

Suffered a Great Deal and for Two Months Was Unable to Work--Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored His Health.

From the Reporter, Palmerston, Ont.

There is no better known man in Palmerston than Mr. Jas. Skea, who for the past twenty-four years has followed the trade of carpentery in the town. Mr. Skea, who is a native of the Orkney Islands, is now sixty-six years of age and is hale and hearty. A few years ago he was attacked with grip, which left in its wake acute rheumatism. For months he suffered a great deal from this dread disease. He used several kinds of liniments, but to no avail. Having read in the papers of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People he decided to try them. He took one box and was surprised at the effect. He took a second and finally a third, when he found that his old enemy was about routed. To a Reporter representative, who called upon him at his residence to find out if the reported cure was correct, Mr. Skea said: "I was greatly surprised at the result of taking a couple of boxes. I suffered fearfully, but they made a new man of me, and fixed me up. I now take them every spring and fall to guard against colds and grip. They are the only thing that does me any good. Mr. Campbell or Mr. Thom will tell you that I wouldn't be without Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anything. They are the best medicine in the world. Though I am up in years my health is good and I am right as a dollar. I attribute it to the use of these Pills. I recommended them to Mr. William Beattie, carpenter foreman on the G. N. W., who had also been troubled with rheumatism, and they speedily effected a cure in his case."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapping bearing the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People."

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—Don't forget to vote for the by-law reducing the number of Aldermen, on the 19th inst.

—While the old farmer is down in the harvest field trying to stand wheat sheafs on end with 14 cent binder twine, with the thermometer thumping away up in the nineties, the manipulators of the binder twine combine are enjoying an easy chair on an ocean liner. Such is the farmer's share of the much boasted Free Trade Government.

—The Mining Press gives descriptive details of a new telephone box by which the calling of Hello! and Central! will be abolished. The apparatus allows of any number signaled by pressing buttons marked with numerals. Until the speaker is through he can prevent his being cut off, and when through he cuts himself off without any action by the central operator. Such an apparatus would be a great improvement by expediting connections and making telephoning a quieter operation.

—The immense trade of England and the United States with tropical and subtropical countries, according to a statistical authority in the London Times, expresses the strongest argument why both should act in unison in the threatened combination of powers to wrest trade predominance from the Anglo-Saxon people. In 1886 this trade amounted in the case of England approximately to £138,000,000 ($690,000,000) and in case of the United States to £70,000,000 ($350,000,000).

WELSH POETRY.

Some Specimens of the Ballads Written by Dafydd ap Gwilym.

A glimpse of one form of Welsh verse, Triban, may be found in a translation of some stanzas from Mr. Rhys' book of "Welsh Ballads." These stanzas are from "The Song of the Graves," written by Dafydd ap Gwilym:

In graves where drips the winter rain
Lie those that loved me most of men—
Cerwyd, Cywrid, Caw, lie slain.

In graves where the grass grows rank and tall
Lie, well avenged ere they did fall—
Gwrien, Morien, Morial.

In graves where drips the rain the dead
Lie, that not lightly bowed the head—
Gwrien, Gwen and Gwried.

Seithenin's lost mind sleeps by the shore
'Twixt Cinran and the gray sea's roar,
Where Caer Cenedir starts up before.

In Abererch lies Rhyther' Hael,
Beneath the earth of Llan Morvael,
But Owain ab Urien in lonelier soil.

Mid the dreary moor by the one oak tree,
The grave of stately Siawn may be—
Stately, treacherous and bitter was he.

Mid the salt sea marsh where the tides have been Lie the sweet maid Sanaw, the warrior Rhyn
And Hennin's daughter, the pale Earwyn.

And this may the grave of Gwythur be,
But who the world's great mystery,
The grave of Arthur, shall ever see?

The translation lacks, however, the chief feature of the original composition, for it was written by Dafydd ap Gwilym in fettered verse, called in the vernacular "cynghanedd," an ingenious form of consonancy peculiar to the four and twenty meters of Welsh prosody—a feature that the translator found unconvertible even if he understands the secret of such intricate metrical construction. Dafydd ap Gwilym's best productions were his couplets—cywyddau—and his lyrics and love songs, which are standards of excellence in Welsh poetry to this day.—New York Tribune.

GOLD AND CRIMSON TROUT.

A Unique Variety That Has a Secluded Abode In a Creek In Kansas.

"There are trout in Whitney creek, a tributary of Kern river, in Kansas," said a veteran New York angler, "the like of which don't exist in any other water on the face of the globe. These trout have their abode in the upper waters of the creek, and it is not invaded by any other breeds of trout that swarm in the waters below simply because they cannot get at it. About six miles from the head of Whitney creek there is a waterfall 150 feet high. The rock down the face of which the water tumbles is solid and smooth from base to summit. There are no protruding ledges nor any hollows by means of which the other trout, with leap after leap from ledge to ledge and hollow to hollow, could scale this precipice, as they do at thousands of high waterfalls elsewhere. Consequently the trout above the falls have never been disturbed by interlopers of a different variety, and they live by themselves in the pure, cold water, a most splendid family of fresh water fish.

"These trout are literally bespangled with burnished gold and dashed with spots of the brightest crimson. The first time I ever saw one of these trout I actually thought it had been decorated with flakes of gold leaf by its possessor and that its red spots had been heightened in color with the brush. But this is their natural ornamentation, and when they are taken from the water and the sunlight strikes them they glitter and sparkle like a harlequin. They are called the golden trout. Their habits are the same as those of the ordinary brook trout, with all its gamy qualities. Their flesh has the same flavor. Their splendid beauty is what places them at the head of this great piscatorial family, famous for its beauty. How this rare variety of trout came to be alone in those upper waters of Whitney creek is one of nature's mysteries."—New York Sun.

Some Theatrical Jokes.

In a performance of "The Lady of the Lake" the actor who took the part of Roderick Dhu was known to be in pecuniary difficulties. When Roderick gave the line, "I am Roderick Dhu," Fitzjames responded, "Yes, and your rent's due too." On the production of a piece called "The Spy" the early acts showed that it was going to prove a failure. So when at a certain point a character had to rush on and shout, "Five hundred pounds for the spy!" the author-actor, who was concealed behind a rock, arose and cried, "It's yours—copyright, manuscript and parts!" That was the end of the performance.

When eating takes place on the stage, the temptations to play tricks with the food are naturally great. In "Henry V" the leek which that inimitable braggart Pistol has to eat is usually made from an apple. But on one occasion at Sadler's Wells the Fluellen of the evening gave him a real onion, and he had no choice but to struggle through it, though the tears coursed down his fat cheeks.—Cornhill Magazine.

PASSED OVER.

Death of Mrs. (Dr.) William Hope.

At her residence, Pinnacle st., at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon Mrs. (Dr.) William Hope passed over to her eternal home. Her death did not come unexpectedly as she had been in failing health for some time. Deceased was the possessor of many estimable qualities, which gained for her the respect of all with whom she came in contact.

She was born in Cobourg 77 years ago, being the daughter of the late Sheriff Spencer of Victoria County, and sister of the late Geo. B. Spencer, for many years Collecto of Customs at Winnipeg. In 1843 she married Dr. (afterwards Sheriff) William Hope and resided in Belleville ever since. Three children survive her, Mr. Geo. F. Hope, Sheriff of Hastings County, and Misses Ida and Edith at home. She was a member of the congregation of St. Thomas' church. The funeral, which took place this morning, was strictly private.

The bearers were Thos. Wills, R. C. Hulme, D. B. Robertson, Geo. Denmark, N. B. Falkiner and Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

THE NOISES IN PONTON'S ROOMS.

The Defence Will try to Prove That They Were Made by a Napanee Couple,

And Not by the Robbers--To Refute This the Crown Will Put in Ponton's Evidence at Previous Trial--Mackie's Defence is an Alibi--Where Pare Lied--A Budget of Gossip.

Napanee, Aug. 8.—People are anxious to see the end of Pare's cross-examination, as it is generally conceded that the longer he remains in the witness box the more injury he does to the case of the defence. It was freely talked around down on Friday and Saturday that the lawyers engaged in the defence of the prisoners have had a serious disagreement as to the conduct of the case. It was stated that one of these gentlemen had decided to throw up his brief as a protest against what he considers the mistaken policy of his associates in the cross-examination of Pare. The name of J. R. Macdonald, of Toronto, has been mentioned as that of the party who will take up the brief thus resigned. Many of Ponton's warmest friends would be pleased to see Pare out of the box as quickly as possible. Magistrate Daley does not commit the prisoner for trial at the conclusion of Pare's evidence corroborative evidence will be put in. The Crown authorities will not bring forward all their witnesses at the preliminary hearing. They have already a large number in and around Napanee, but they promise a surprise of the most sensational kind before the jury trial concludes. The nature of it is still a secret, but it said that this new evidence will astonish the public and the defence. Detectives Wilkes and Dougherty are doing a lot of hard work in the case, following out the new lines suggested by the new facts brought out in Pare's cross-examination. They will corroborate, as far as possible, every detail of his evidence, in order to convince the court that even in the smaller details he was faithful to the truth.

AN ALIBI IS MACKIE'S DEFENCE.

Mackie's friends are making ready to prove an alibi for him. They assert they can show where he was on every occasion Pare says he was in or around Napanee. Many witnesses will be called to swear that he was in Belleville or some other place than Napanee during the weeks spent in planning the robbery. The Crown says that there will still remain the fact that some of the curious coins stolen from the bank were found in Mackie's possession. They will also put in the evidence of Lawyer Lyons relating to the alleged previous attempt on the bank by Mackie and Holden. Many persons living around Napanee and Belleville are prepared to swear that they frequently saw Mackie and Holden together about the time of the robbery.

A NEW LINE FOR THE DEFENCE.

Ponton's defence will be a sweeping denial of anything and everything that would tend to incriminate him. At the last trial Mrs. McGreer's evidence that she heard noises in Ponton's room was laughed at by Ponton's friends and rejected by the Magistrate. The Crown has secured another witness who will corroborate Mrs. McGreer on this point. The defence, it is understood, will not contest this point at this trial. There will be no attempt to discredit the evidence of Mrs. McGreer, but an attempt will be made to show that on that night Ponton's rooms were occupied by a prominent business man of Napanee, and a companion, Ponton being away.

To offset this the Crown will put in the evidence given by Ponton at the trial last fall, when he swore he went to his room that night between eleven and twelve o'clock and remained there until eight o'clock the following morning, and that between these hours there was no other person in the room either male or female. If the defence carry out their present plan Ponton will be compelled to admit perjury at the previous trial, but the plea will be put in that he was trying to shield the couple who occupied his rooms that night.

During 1890 Pare was arrested in Montreal by Detective Tremps for burglary. Asked for a statement, he had none. The next day he gave a statement that Police Officer Lessard had told him of an easy safe on his beat to crack. Shortly afterwards Pare made his escape and was never afterwards apprehended on this charge. An investigation proved that Lessard was not on the beat the night Pare claimed he was. Lessard is still on the force.

30 YEARS A DETECTIVE.

Pinkerton's Ideas of Robberies and Crooks' Methods.

Allan Pinkerton, the founder of the detective bureau to which Wilkes and Dougherty, now at Napanee, belong, was a famous criminal hunter, and he wrote a book embodying his experiences entitled Thirty Years a Detective. This book has become the text-book of the business, and is read and studied by detectives and burglars alike.

It may be interesting to make a few quotations from that work, which has no doubt been read by such professional experts as Pare and Holden, and certainly by Wilkes and Dougherty, followers of their great chief. To quote from page 310 it seems that bank robbers have a fancy for doing their work in such a way as to throw the blame on bank clerks:

There is a method which has been put into practice upon single-door safes with a great deal of success, and which has frequently caused suspicion to rest upon some innocent young clerk in the employ of the bank. The operation is simple and only requires correct calculation. All safes are supposed to have three bolts, one at the top, one at the bottom and one at the centre, but all connected by one bar, and, as a consequence, if one bolt is knocked out, the others share the same fate and are rendered useless. The plan, therefore, is for the burglar to calculate the position of the centre bolt and the point at which this bolt would would come out upon the outside, and then to drill a hole directly opposite this point. When the hole has been drilled through to the edge of the bolt they insert a steel punch, and then with a good strong blow or two with a heavy hammer the bolts are completely demoralized. The safe is then opened, the money extracted, the safe closed, the hole in the side plugged up, and no one is able to tell without a thorough examination just how the work was done.

He tells us that of late years the banks in the larger cities are ignored, and attention given to smaller cities and towns, where vigilance is less keen. The practice is for the burglars, or members of the gang, to "hang about the outskirts of the town for weeks or perhaps months" studying the habits of the bank officials and clerks, their hours of coming and going, their places of residence, and finally making repeated visits to the bank examining the premises thoroughly and leaving no trace of their visits. Pinkerton says on page 270:

One of the methods resorted to by some of the more expert of this class of burglars, and where heavy robberies are contemplated, is to ascertain, by watching the residence of the cashier, and then to gain an entrance to his sleeping apartment by the measures resorted to by house-breakers or hotel thieves. By this means wax impressions of the keys to the bank building, the vault and the safe have been obtained while the cashier slumbered on peacefully and entirely unconscious of the presence of the burglar at his bedside. From these wax impressions exact duplicates are made, and the burglar is then ready for successful operation whenever the proper opportunity arrives to secure the greatest amount of plunder.

On page 287 Pinkerton also tells of a case wherein a young bank clerk slept over a bank that was to be robbed, and it was necessary to do the job in spite of him somehow. Another vacant room was engaged by an alleged shoemaker, and a jolly stranger came to town, stopped at an hotel, and in time became chummy with the bank clerk. It required months to get everything ready. Finally the eventful night came, and the stranger and the clerk went out into the country to see some girl friends, remaining away until two o'clock. Then the two slept in the bedroom over the bank. This was Saturday night, or Sunday morning, and on Monday the safe would not open—it was found to have been robbed. The shoemaker had gone, and the young clerk was pained to learn that his jolly friend had also departed. Pinkerton was not surprised at anything done by these wonderful mechanics—nothing to them was impossible. He says:

I have known of more than one instance where burglars have been taken from their prison cells to open safes and vaults where owners had forgotten the complicated combinations which had safely locked them at a previous time. This, too, after experienced workmen in the honest walks of life have expended their energies and resources in the futile effort to open the safe without demolishing the costly works which had rendered security thus possible. In every case the burglar succeeded in mastering the combination after his labor of an hour or two, and to the surprise of the incredulous spectators the ponderous doors were thrown open without the slightest violence or injury to the safe.

Here are a couple of further quotations from Pinkerton's book which are at present of some particular interest:

It must not be supposed that the robbery of a bank vault is in every instance the work of a single night in which the thieves locate their premises, effect their entrance, demolish the safe and carry off their booty ere the sun comes peeping over the hills, for such is not and has never been the case. Indeed, investigation has always shown that weeks and frequently months have elapsed between the conception of the plot and the actual robbery. Traces prove beyond question that the thieves were as thoroughly acquainted with the movements of the bank officials and with every portion of the despoiled premises as the occupants themselves, and in many instances there are unmistakable indications of the actual presence of the burglars before the attempt was made to begin the active labor of breaking into the vaults.

Bank robbers are a distinct and exclusive fraternity and their ruling ambition is to perform their work in the most skilful and perplexing manner possible, and next to securing a startling amount of money and valuables their pride is in leaving behind them no doubtable evidences of their dexterity and skill in the calling which they have adopted.

In this book also it is made quite plain that when the Pinkertons are retained in a case of burglary their chief concern is to benefit their employers—that is, they are more anxious to recover part of the stolen bonds and money than to secure for the criminals the full punishment deserved, and better pleased to secure all the stolen funds than to secure a conviction at all. In fact, detective work is reduced to a straight business, in which the Pinkerton man looks after his client and the "Crown" must look after its own interests, should the interests not run parallel. It is inevitably so with sleuths hired, not to do the Crown's work but to look after private and purely financial interests. For public information, therefore, I have made some quotations from the book of Allan Pinkerton.—"Mack" in "Saturday Night."

HEARING RESUMED

A Lot of Sensational Evidence Promised.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

NAPANEE, Aug. 9.—The counsel for the defence and the prosecution arrived in town at 1 p.m. to-day. The trial begins again at 2 o'clock.

Miss French came to town on Wednesday last and was driven by Detective Dougherty out into the country, where she is staying till the Crown need her evidence.

Rosa Carr is also supposed to be secreted by either the Crown or the defence. She will have some sensational evidence to give concerning her presence in the passage way leading to Ponton's room till 3 a.m. the morning of the robbery.

NOTE.

A report was current to day that Mr. W. B. Northrup, counsel for Ponton, had retired. On enquiry the INTELLIGENCER found that Mr. Northrup was in Napanee attending to the interests of his client.

They Keep It Up

Wondering how it is they can never get good wear out of a pair of shoes unless they were bought at Haines & Lockett's. We can tell you the wear of a boot or shoe generally depends on the quality of the insole used in its manufacture. The outer-sole is fastened to the insole; if that is shoddy the whole thing gives way very soon after being wet. We always pay extra to have solid insoles in our shoes and besides that they are always bought from the best makers in the country. Call and see our Two Button Shoes at 75c. Two varieties. HAINES & LOCKETT.

Bridge St. League.

The Bridge st. Epworth League has decided, in view of the Pleasanter to be taken on Sept. 20, to pay special attention to the subject of Temperance during August and September. Some aspect of the question will be brought out at each meeting and all the departments will take part. Last night's meeting was the first of the series and the interest manifested augurs well for the success of the plan adopted. Papers were read by Miss Morton and Miss Lazier, the Quartette sang "Count Your Blessings" and an interesting discussion was held.

Overcoats and Ulsters.

It may seem a little out of season to talk about winter coats in the middle of the summer, but during August the Oak Hall sell quite a number of them to Americans and our own people going to the Northwest to live. Our overcoat department is kept in shape the year around, and if you need a heavy coat to take away with you, we are always ready.

WHAT MISS FRENCH WILL SAY

When She Is Brought Before Magistrate Daly.

A Sensation in the Bank Robbery Case—A Woman Who Has Been Secured by Detective Dougherty—A Cousin of the Prisoner Mackie—What She Is Alleged to Have Learned in His House—Not Much About Ponton.

Napanee, Aug. 9.—One of the trump witnesses that the Crown intends to produce in the bank robbery case is Miss French, who is at present living in retirement at the house of a well-known citizen of this town. She came here early on Tuesday morning last from Detroit, accompanied by Detective Dougherty. Arriving at Toronto she took a sleeping car on the 9.30 express for the east, and according to arrangements previously made by Detective Dougherty they quietly got off at Deseronto, whence they were immediately driven to Napanee, where they arrived shortly after midnight.

Miss French is a cousin of the prisoner Mackie, and resided at his house in Belleville for seven months preceding the robbery, and during one month following it. It is claimed that her evidence will be of the greatest importance in proving the case against the prisoners.

Miss French has been a resident of Toronto for the last two years, with the exception of the time she spent at Mackie's. Previous to her coming to Toronto she lived with her people at Maynooth, in the County of Hastings, and before that again she was a resident of Ottawa.

When Detective Dougherty went to Toronto he expected to find Miss French there, but she had gone to Detroit. It was with some difficulty that Detective Dougherty was able to locate her there. After a good deal of persuasion he induced her to come to Napanee, and it is said she will candidly tell whatever she knows about the affair.

Miss French is a trained nurse, and the occasion of her visit to the Mackie family was to attend Mrs. Mackie, who was ill at the time.

What Miss French Will Say.

It is said that Miss French's evidence will be to the following effect: On the day previous to the robbery Miss French had occasion to go into the bedroom of Mr. Mackie to find something she was looking for, and while there she was surprised to see, lying on the bed, a set of tools, comprising a crowbar, hammer, screw driver and a peculiar looking instrument, the name of which she did not know, and a loaded revolver.

On inquiring from Mrs. Mackie what the tools were for she was told that they were to be used by her husband for repairing the woodshed.

Miss French was somewhat surprised at this statement, as the woodshed was a comparatively new one and the tools were very peculiar for such a purpose. However, she thought nothing more about it.

On the following night, that is, on the night of the robbery, Mr. Mackie was not at home. Miss French will testify that he left Belleville on the afternoon of the robbery and did not return until the day following the event.

Another important feature of Miss French's evidence relates to a conversation that took place between Mr. Mackie's oldest son, Harry, and his mother at their house. It appears that three weeks before the robbery took place, Mackie, Holden and Pare went fishing in the Bay of Quinte. Young Harry Mackie accompanied them. While in the boat the men talked over the proposed robbery in such a way that the boy got an idea that something was going to occur, and it made such an impression upon him that he talked to his mother about it shortly after he got home. Among other things, the boy states that Holden told the other two men in the boat "that they need have no fear about it, that the thing would be a clean job and that none of them would be found out, as the thing would be done while Baines was on his holidays."

Miss French was present when this conversation was retold by the boy to his mother.

Another piece of evidence upon which the Crown will attach a good deal of importance is the fact that Holden's shirts were sent to the Mackie house to be laundried. Her evidence on this point will go to show that Holden's shirts were taken by Mackie himself from the Dominion Hotel to Mackie's house.

The Dominion Hotel, it will be remembered, is owned by James Mackie, father of the prisoner. Holden's shirts were washed there, and it was his intention to send them to the Quinte laundry, but at Mackie's suggestion they were taken to his own house, the supposition being that Mackie and Holden feared that the latter's presence in Belleville might be disclosed if his shirts were sent to a public laundry, as they bore his name. Miss French was about to iron the shirts when Mrs. Mackie interfered, and said that the shirts were for a man over in the hotel, and that she, knowing how the man wished them done, would iron them herself. Miss French had examined the shirts so far as to see the name "Holden" was imprinted on them.

Whether Miss French's evidence will seriously implicate Ponton or not could not be ascertained, but this much is known, that Miss French will state that Ponton was at Mackie's house on one occasion at least, when a private conversation took place between the two in the drawingroom, with closed doors.

She will also state that the two were seen on other occasions together on Church street. Beyond this it is not known whether any further evidence connecting Ponton with the matter will be given by the witness.

Another piece of evidence that the Crown think will have an important bearing on the case relates to Mackie's visit to Toronto previous to the Woodbine races last spring. He went to Toronto just before the Woodbine meet, and took up his quarters at 59 Mutual street, where Miss French was living with her mother. Miss French will state that Mackie secreted himself there for a week, instructing her and her mother to notify anyone asking for him that he was not in town. He kept to his room for one full week. He did not leave at all. He even had the door locked, and had his meals taken to his room. The excuse given for this was that he had been in some card game, and that some men who were mixed up in it were trying to find his whereabouts.

An incident that occurred at the French house in Toronto shortly before New Year's is considered important by the Crown. Mackie was visiting the French family at the time. On the occasion in question, Miss French, her mother, Mackie and another male relative were seated together in the kitchen. A ring came to the door. Miss French was about to answer the call when Mackie said: "If that is anybody for me, tell them that I am out of town."

Going to the door, Miss French was asked by a gentleman if Mr. Mackie was there. According to her instructions she told him that he was not in. On her return she noticed that Mackie bore a peculiar and worried look. His appearance seemed to have also aroused the suspicion of the relative referred to. He remarked, in Mackie's presence, "I believe that you, Mackie, had something to do with that Napanee bank affair."

Mackie's only reply was: "I think you are going too far in joking that way. You have no grounds for your remarks."

Acquaintance With Miss French.

Dougherty became acquainted with Miss French's importance as a witness through certain letters that had been written to her from Toronto to Mrs.

Mackie, in which certain incidents were referred to that transpired at the time of the robbery, showing that she had been an inmate of the house before and after that occurrence. These letters were found by Detective Dougherty in Mackie's home on the occasion of Mackie's arrest. They are now in possession of the Crown, and although they do not throw any light on the robbery itself, yet they are of importance in locating dates and in other respects.

The correspondent of the Daily News at Odessa gives, under reserve, a report that the Russian Charge d'Affairs at Pekin, M. Pavloff, will soon be removed, and he regards it as indicating a Russian back-down.

A LAMP EXPLOSION

Causes a Blaze at St. Catharines—Had His Legs Cut Off.

St. Catharines, Aug. 9.—A disastrous fire occurred last night at the grocery store and residence of Mrs. James Smith, on the Great Western Hill. Mrs. Smith and her daughters occupy the rooms in rear of and over the store, and had retired for the night, when a lamp exploded, causing a great burst of flame to fill the room. It was not long before the whole interior was blazing. The occupants made their escape by jumping from a window to the ground, escaping injury.

John McCann, a young man 28 years of age, had his legs cut off just below the knees last night. He was on his way to his brother's, and took a short cut, walking on the Grand Trunk Railway tracks (Welland Division), when the train going north struck him. He was removed to the City Hospital in a precarious condition. Mr. McCann is an unmarried man.

BREWSTER TOOK STRYCHNINE.

A Bookkeeper Who Had Become Tired of Life.

Orillia, Aug. 9.—Curtes E. Brewster, a bookkeeper, committed suicide at Foxmead yesterday morning by taking an overdose of strychnine. He has been for some time living at the home of Mr. Hadden, who was aroused from his slumbers by groans emanating from Brewster's room. Hadden made an investigation and found Brewster writhing in pain. He then called in Dr. Ardagh, but shortly after the physician's arrival Brewster died. Coroner Beaton was notified, but did not deem an inquest necessary. The deceased has been of a despondent disposition for the past three years, the result of a sunstroke. He is a native of Niagara Falls, and before coming here worked in Toronto.

AQUATIC SPORT.

First Day of the C.A.A. of O. 19th Annual Regatta at Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—The first day of the Canadian Amateur Association of Oarsmen's nineteenth annual regatta was held yesterday on the Bay. The weather favored the oarsmen, except that the wind was against them, and for a time it looked as if the program would be postponed until this morning. The breeze slackened about 4 o'clock and the great regatta's first day's program was almost wholly completed.

Snub to Gladstone Committee.

Dublin, Aug. 9.—The Municipal Council of Dublin has refused to comply with a request of the Gladstone Memorial Society for its co-operation in erecting in Dublin a statue commemorative of the life and services of Mr. Gladstone, similar to those which the society will erect in London and Edinburgh. Mr. Sherlock, a member of the Council, moved the following resolution negativing the request:

"Resolved, that the corporation of Dublin is strongly of opinion that no statues should be erected in Dublin in honor of any gentleman until the Irish people have erected a fitting one in memory of Charles Stewart Parnell."

The resolution was adopted unanimously, amid cheering.

LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly—that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

THE PEACE CONDITIONS.

Spanish Reply Has Been Received at Washington.

It Arrived in Sections and the French Ambassador, M. Cambon, Had It Translated From Cipher as Soon as Received—It Concedes All Vital Points, But Delay May Result From the Necessary Cortes and Congress Ratification.

Washington, Aug. 9.—M. Cambon, the French Ambassador here, received Spain's reply to the United States peace conditions yesterday. The reply came in sections, and the concluding paragraphs were received so late that nothing definite could be announced last night. Nothing was given out officially, but it was said the terms of the United States have been accepted. The only matter of importance to be considered by the commission to be appointed was in regard to ratification by the Cortes of Spain and the Congress of the United States. A peace treaty will, it is said, have to be ratified by these bodies, and it is feared that some delay may be caused by a discussion on the points named.

U.S. Troops for Home.

Three transports loaded with United States troops sailed yesterday from Santiago for the United States and more will follow to-day.

The Spanish Sick.

One thousand Spanish, sick and wounded, will be embarked from Santiago to-day.

ALL WERE DEEPLY MOVED.

Queen Regent and Ministers Approve of the United States' Terms of Peace.

Madrid, Aug. 9.—Spain's reply submitting to America's terms received its finishing touches last night. In its final form, as carefully revised by the foreign Minister and re-approved by the Queen and Cabinet, it accepts without discussing the four preliminary conditions of peace imposed by the United States.

But care is taken to explain that Spain gives way to the force of events, again asserting that she had neither sought nor done anything to provoke the war into which she was driven by the conduct of America.

Nothing is said about a Cuban debt.

The note suggests a suspension of hostilities in order to facilitate the subsequent negotiations, and offers to appoint commissioners to act with the American commissioners to determine what shall be done with reference to the Philippine Islands.

The Spanish peace commissioners, it is generally believed, will be the Duke of Almodovar, the Minister of Foreign Affairs; Mgr. Merry del Val, the Spanish Ambassador to the Vatican, and Leon y Castillo, the Spanish Ambassador at Paris.

The Duke of Almodovar placed before the Queen Regent the momentous document which gives official assent of Spain to the loss of the last remnant of her empire in the new world. Both the Queen and the Minister were deeply moved. Then the Duke conveyed the document to the council, at which the Ministers also showed their sense of the painful, mournful solemnity of the occasion imposed by necessity upon the rulers of Spain.

Veritable Act of Friendship.

Paris, Aug. 9.—The Times says: "It is to be hoped the noble resignation of Spain will touch the heart of President McKinley and that he will consider it honorable to show the United States is strong, great and magnanimous enough to spare the vanquished enemy, not to abuse the victory and to desire, by the generosity of its acts, to make the treaty with the people they have learned to respect on the battlefield a veritable pact of friendship. It is certain Spain will be rewarded for her wisdom. Freed from the Cuban incubus, she will regain energy and vitality and march with joyful steps toward a calm and prosperous future."

Everlasting Gratitude to Bismarck.

Berlin, Aug. 9.—The Federal Council has sent Prince Bismarck an address of condolence. It refers to the deceased as "the great, heroic, First Chancellor of the United Fatherland," and continues: "The two decades during which he worked at our head have become imperishable landmarks of Germany's greatness and welfare, and his spirit was so powerful that it will continue to make itself felt for centuries to come. His name will always be honored as the supreme essence of true patriotism and nation leading statecraft. To him is assured the everlasting gratitude of the Federal Council and of the whole German nation."

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

The sun shines for all, but the sleeping car porter does it for a quarter.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

HARDY'S FISHERIES BILL.

Premier's Bill Brought Down and Read a First Time.

The Opposition, Through Mr. Hoyle, Conservative Member for North Ontario, Register in an Amendment to the Amendment an Even Stronger Protest Against the Practices of the Government—An Appeal to His Honor.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—The features of the day's proceedings in the Legislature yesterdy were two in number, viz., the introduction in the course of the debate on the address, of an amendment by Mr. Hoyle, Conservative, to Mr. Whitney's amendment to the address, and the first reading of the Attorney-General's Fisheries bill. The amendment above mentioned practically calls upon His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to remove Messrs. Gibson and Dryden from the Cabinet. Its object, probably, is to give the Oppositionists, and especially Mr. Whitney, an opportunity to further express their disapproval of the Government's conduct in respect to ministers and constables. The object of the bill is explained by the bill hereunder:

The Fisheries Bill.

The bill, introduced by the Attorney-General, is intended to put into effect the decision of the Privy Council, which, in adjudicating upon the fisheries, declared the property therein to be under the control of the provinces, the general legislation effecting the fisheries to be under Federal jurisdiction. The bill is entitled, "An Act Relating to Provincial Fisheries," and is the first of the session.

It consists of but four sections, the first conferring upon the Government the right to issue fishery leases, licenses and permits subject to such terms, conditions and limitations as may be prescribed by order-in-Council or by statute. If the lessee, or licensor, contravenes the terms of the license, he is to be deemed guilty of a violation of the act.

The second section provides that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council may make provision for taking over archives, files, orders-in-Council, regulations, etc., of the Dominion Fisheries Department, so far as they relate to the fisheries of Ontario.

The third section provides for the appointment of a deputy commissioner and proper officers to administer the law.

Section four repeals the regulations passed in 1892, these having been decided by Privy Council to be ultra vires of the powers of the Ontario Legislature.

Before permitting the resumption of the debate on the address, the Attorney-General offered a little explanation with reference to Mr. Bronson. Col. Matheson had stated last week that the late Minister without portfolio, while having not offered himself as a candidate for reelection in Ottawa, had retained, with Messrs. Gibson and Dryden, his position in the Cabinet. The Premier took this occasion to inform the House, however, that Mr. Bronson's resignation had been accepted as far back as December last.

Mr. Stratton's Speech.

Following the introduction of this bill, Mr. Stratton of West Peterboro started the ball rolling again on the debate on the address. After congratulations and references to the outgoing and incoming Governors-General, he went on to encourage his leader with the assurance that when he retired from public life he would be regarded even by opponents as an "angel of light," like his predecessor had been. He also had a comforting word for Mr. Whitney, congratulating him upon the large increase in his following. But he accredited it largely to the rebound, from Dominion politics, of the cry "It is time for a change." (Opposition: "Hear, hear.") The Government, he deplored, had suffered from a feeling of over-confidence, begotten in faith in their cause and their record. Denying the alleged unholy leagues with the Government in the campaign, he claimed that the liquor vote had been divided between the parties, and, as for the Dominion Government, if it had rendered assistance, as was charged, the Opposition would not have come out so well. Reverting temporarily to the Agricultural College, he pointed out that of the 30,000 farmers visiting there last year, not one had raised his voice against the administration of the institution. He challenged Dr. Barr to name one person who had left the college less fitted to be a farmer than when he first started the course. He knew, at any rate, no more successful and satisfied farmers in his own riding than its graduates. He cited names to prove his contention, among them the member for West Victoria. He likewise defended the appointment of the Good Roads Instructor, pointing out good results in his own riding.

The Government's Majority.

Defending Mr. Hardy's conscience, a thing which had not been animate, led him to acquiesce in the Opposition demands to accept a licking and resign, West Peterboro's member quoted the results of the vote to show that the Government had not only a majority in the House, but in the country as well. The popular vote, according to his figures, was as follows: For Liberals, 215,644; for Conservatives, 208,436, and for Independents, 9,955. From the independent votes opposing the different parties, in various constituencies, he had allowed the Government 6,714 and the Opposition 7,353. The Government therefore had a popular majority of 7,208 votes and a majority in the House of 8, or, after electing a Speaker, 7, the division standing 51 to 43.

Even in the City of Toronto, the great centre of intelligence and learning, an Opposition majority of 6,059 in 1894 had been reduced to 2,827 in 1897. On the other hand, the Government had carried Guelph, London, Windsor, Cobourg and nearly all the larger centres.

Opposition Voices: "How about Hamilton and St. Catharines?"

Mr. Stratton admitted they were exceptions. In claiming the development of his point, he recalled how Sir Oliver Mowat, four years ago, was returned with a bare majority of from one to four.

The Constables' Vote.

Coming to the main question of the constables, he pointed out that Mr. Hardy was depriving a possible partisan judge of a deal of power, but regretted that the judges had not taken the matter in hand before. Now they had gone fishing and were allowing the Opposition to attempt to deprive a portion of the community of their franchise. It was Nero fiddling again while Rome burned. Speaking as a layman, he felt that the outcry of the Opposition was the product of some sharp lawyer's fertile brain. A striking proof of the Government's rectitude on the subject, Mr. Stratton, a newspaper editor himself, adduced from what he claimed to be the general support of the independent press of the Province. He first quoted the Peterboro Times, a locally rival journal to his own, one which he said had unscrupulously opposed him, and which had stooped almost as low as possible in belittling him during the campaign. Yet it now approved of Mr. Hardy's course on the constables' vote question. Then there was the Hamilton Herald, and quoting from it, Mr. Stratton stumbled and hesitated when he came to the statement that "Mr. Hardy has opposed sharp practice with sharp practice." The Opposition laughed. The favorable attitude of the London Evening News and the Toronto Telegram met with little comment. But the speaker provoked a little jolly when he mentioned the Toronto Star as an independent paper, and its editor as one who had stumped the country against Sir Oliver in 1890 and 1894.

"Where is he now?" came from Whip Wardell. The laconic answer came from a Conservative throat, "In Mexico."

At any rate, said Mr. Stratton, he can be fairly classed as independent. In conclusion, he defended the constable legislation because it saved the country the expense of needless bye-elections, and candidates the cost of endless litigation. Defending the position of the discredited Ministers, he pleaded for a reasonable allowance of time to let them get back into the House, and, layman that he was, insisted that too much faith should not be pinned to precedents, but more to present circumstances.

Good Maiden Speech.

Next in the seemingly endless alternation arose Mr. Hoyle, the new Conservative member for North Ontario and the redeemer of that constituency. Mr. Hoyle asked the indulgence of the House, but sooth to say he needed it but little. He is prolific in debate, and brings to bear a ready repartee, once or twice locking horns, none to his disadvantage, with the Attorney-General. He opened by a very picturesque compliment to Mr. Speaker. "If," said he, "it were in the palmy days of the Roman Empire, you, sir, would be introduced to the Temple of Virtue, and through it to the inner Temple of Fame." Mr. Hoyle does not think that abuse of opposing leaders during their active life has come all from the Conservative side and he reminded the Liberals of the way they had vilified the great Sir John while he had lived and helped sanctify him when dead. The Liberals complained of injuries received at the hands of the alleged senseless cry "it is time for a change." He recalled how the Provincial Secretary had ventured into his riding during the campaign and amidst other things had asked if it would be necessary for a man who had lived with his wife for 25 years to get up some fine morning and say "it is time for a change." Had the Liberal party, asked Mr. Hoyle amid laughter, come to think that they were wedded to the Province of Ontario? He could not but feel that it was this allusion that had come so near giving them a licking March 1 last. (Laughter.) He ridiculed Mr. Stratton's 30,000 farmer visitors to the Agriculture College with even more force. Why, said he, they were men, women and children enjoying cheap rates and bent on a holiday trip. They had been lunched by the Government, but one stout vigorous farmer had boasted on returning that he could farm better than anything he had seen there. The Government boasted that no graduates were criticized by the college. What about the criticism of the members for Cardwell and E. Victoria, he asked.

In a Hopeless Minority.

Mr. Hoyle did not bother himself much about Mr. Stratton's figures as to the Government's majority. He moved it aside with the comment that they were not calculated on a fair basis, in that the votes of Conservatives and all Independents were not added together as unitedly cast in condemnation of the Government. He regretted that Mr. Stratton had seen fit to cast reflections on the judiciary. For instance, he did not think there was a trial judge in the Dominion, let alone in the Province, who deserved to be dubbed: "a narrow-minded partisan."

Mr. Stratton here explained that he had said, "A possible narrow-minded partisan," and Mr. Whitney acceded to this.

Then, returned Mr. Hoyle, such an insinuation should never have been made, and Mr. Whitney led the Opposition applause.

The speaker, congratulated like, all others, the Giver of All Good, for the abundant harvest, adding that farmers were well satisfied, excepting for the rise in the price of binder twine. Before recess he had succeeded in making numerous points against the practice of holding galloping sessions. It resulted in legislation that had no meaning at all.

Evening Session.

Mr. Hoyle, continuing after dinner, said that in the matter of the constables' vote, it was to the legislative glory of the Province to stay by the decision of the courts. The speaker's quotation from the "Citizen and Country," that, if defeated, a Minister should resign at once and leave his office to be conducted by his deputy, was received with loud applause. He then moved the following amendment:

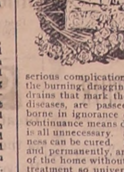

That the following words be added to the amendment: "And to respectfully express its hope and desire that Your Honor will, without delay, take steps to put an end to such an unusual and undesirable state of affairs."

Mr. Lumsden of Ottawa said he believed that he spoke collectively for the lumbermen in expressing confidence in the Hardy Administration.

J. McLaughlin, Stormont, asked what the Hardy Government had done in the way of aiding the farmers in the province. Every dollar they had voted had gone to provide jobs for its friends. He declared that the students turned out annually from the Guelph Agricultural College were not what the country expected. The farmers were bitterly disappointed in the neglect of the Government to reduce the price of binding twine. The man chiefly responsible for all the agricultural mismanagement of the Province was Hon. Mr. Dryden, and a true estimate had been made of him by his constituents.

Mr. Russell of East Hastings spoke in favor of retaining the Minister of Crown Lands as one who had left the Conservative party without a semblance of a policy, and as one who would render invaluable aid to the country at the Quebec conference.

At a few minutes after 10 p.m. Mr. Crawford moved and carried an adjournment.

The pathetic story of Romeo and Juliet is repeated every day in modern life, with the exception that Juliet does not die by poison. She dies because of her own neglect or ignorance.

Neglectfulness causes much of woman's peculiar sickness. Neglect of the minor troubles causes serious complications. The irregularities, the burning, dragging ache, the debilitating drains that mark the progress of feminine diseases, are passed lightly over or are borne in ignorance of their cause. Their continuance means death or insanity. This is all unnecessary. So-called female weakness can be cured. It can be cured quickly and permanently, and right in the privacy of the home without the humiliating local treatment so universally insisted upon by physicians. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription does this and more. It acts directly on the delicate organs concerned and makes them strong and healthy. It banishes the usual discomforts of the expectant period and makes baby's coming easy and almost painless. It tones and strengthens the nerves. At all medicine stores.

W. R. Malcolm, Esq., of Knobel, Clay Co., Ark., writes: "My wife for perhaps four months previous to the birth of our child took the 'Favorite Prescription.' This strengthened her entire system and child-birth, to her, was very easy, being attended with little pain. Our baby Ruth is thirteen months old and she has never been sick a day, not so much as had the colic; she is hearty and stout, and pretty as a picture—pretty because she is healthy, and we very much blame Dr. Pierce's family medicines for it.

We keep Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets' in our home and use them. We have been married almost three years and I have called a physician into my family but one time—at birth of our baby."

Rosy cheeks. The rich, pure, red blood of health makes them. Keep the blood pure and you will have them. Constipation causes impure blood. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it promptly and permanently and never gripe. They are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. No other pill acts so naturally and perfectly. Druggists sell them.

Frances Graham Is Dead.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 9.—Francis Graham died after a year's illness at his home. He was born in Staffordshire, England, in 1835. For some years he managed Hon. George Brown's stock farm at Bow Park, Canada, and then went to Goderich, as an auctioneer. He came to Detroit in 1881, and was well known as an auctioneer here. He was general agent for the Guarantee Co. of North America up to about two years ago. His widow and two children—Bernard J., aged 25, and Marion, aged 26, a teacher in the Detroit Conservatory of Music—survive him.

Twenty People Drowned.

London, Aug. 9.—During the departure of Dr. Campos Salles, President of Brazil, by the Trans-Atlantic liner Thames for America (probably Buenos Ayres) yesterday, two steamers that were carrying friends to bid him farewell came into collision, swamping two small boats.

It is feared that no fewer than 20 persons were drowned.

Flour King Badly Hurt.

Montreal, Aug. 9.—Mr. W. W. Ogilvie, the flour king, was seriously injured at 9 30 yesterday morning. He was crossing the G.T.R. shunting tracks on St. Etienne street, near Wellington street. When in the middle of the track his horse, a spirited one, got restive and before he could make it go on, a coal train was upon him. Mr. Ogilvie was thrown fifteen feet and so badly bruised that he had to go home in a carriage. The buggy was reduced to match wood, but the horse escaped. The watchman at the crossing blames Mr. Ogilvie's horse for the accident.

Was Leon Boyer Murdered?

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—The verdict of accidental death rendered on Saturday at the inquest on the body of Leon Boyer of Black Bay who was found dead on the Bradley road with his face battered in, has not concluded the case. Foul play is suspected by a brother of the dead man, and the case has been placed in the hands of Crown Prosecutor Garrett of Hull. At the inquest Andrew Riopelle, who was in the wagon from which Boyer fell to his death, was not examined.

MISS EMMA TEMPLE.

HERE IS WHAT SHE SAYS!

At last, after eight months of physical weakness and nervous prostration, caused by over exertion and want of rest,—during which time I suffered greatly on account of the shattered condition of my nerves, and for which I was unable to find any relief. I have found a medicine (Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills) that in three months made my nerves strong, removed all nervous troubles, built up my physical system and made me strong and well. They removed despondency, and in consequence of taking your valuable Pills I look forward to the future hopefully. I have to thank your great cure for nervousness and bodily weakness for my present good health and strength.

Yours truly,

PATRIOTISM—OFFICE!

That interesting fight which has existed among the Rouge Clubs in the Province of Quebec for place and pay ever since the accession to power of the Laurier-Tarte Cabinet, still rages with unabated fury. Government in Canada under Grit rules is not, according to Grit political ethics, for the good of the people as a whole, but for the special benefit of the few.

Place, power and emolument is the motto emblazoned on their banner.

The patronage question, being the most important factor in Rouge politics, has again been the subject of discussion, growling and covert threatenings of the powers that be, unless the faithful are provided with a stall in which they can feed at the public crib.

Recently the party club in Vercheres took the Hon. Mr. Geoffrion, the Minister without portfolio, to task for not carrying out his promises to provide places for the party workers. He innocently and blandly informed his discontented constituents that he had done all he could, but, unfortunately, there were not places enough for them all; he would, however, do all he could to satisfy them.

This promise, so oft repeated, did not satisfy those whose only politics is office. Mr. Lariviere, in discussing the question of the distribution of patronage, at a meeting of the "Club Mercier," told his listeners that there were "a number of veterans who had fought the battles of the party, but never received their reward," and then he plaintively added, it was not only in Montreal that patronage was being unjustly distributed. In Chambly county three nominations had been recently made which are evidence of gross injustice. One gentleman from that constituency, whom the Conservative party had formerly expelled from the civil service on account of misconduct, had been reinstated through the influence of Hon. Mr. Geoffrion. This hon. gentleman, perhaps, ignored at first the facts of the case, but he know them now, and still the man held his position. It was to be hoped things would soon change, and justice be given to whomsoever it was due. The Club Mercier had done its duty in the elections, and it was entitled to its share of the patronage."

This act of Mr. Geoffrion, in reinstating a dismissed officer, was only following the rule which has prevailed in Ontario, of appointing the greatest political offenders to office.

Dr. Lacombe, another of the Club Mercier's shining lights, "stated that he had done his best to obtain whatever little patronage belonged to a Provincial representative, which was small in comparison with the Federal patronage. As to himself, he asked for the exclusive patronage of the Montreal gaol for St. Mary's division, but had been told that if that were done the court-house going to Mr. Gouin, there would be nothing left for Messrs. Rainville, Bickerdike and Guerin. He had to satisfy four associations—Papineau, Mercier, Tarte, and Cartwright Clubs. At present he was trying to secure an appointment for an old veteran, Mr. Favreau."

What a task this poor man must have on hand, with the "Papineau, Mercier, Tarte and Cartwright Clubs" to satisfy. A herculean task, which will require all the tonics he can administer to himself to steady his nerves and mollify his temper for the work before him.

"Why," says the Montreal STAR, "does not the Government do the square thing by the Club Mercier, the Club Tarte, the Club Papineau, and the Club Cartwright? Everybody knows that the Government is rich enough to give every member of these patriotic organizations a nice situation. Where would the Government be to day, but for those clubs? The Government is the child, the ungrateful but legitimate child of the clubs. The clubs have brought the Government into existence only to realise

How sharper than a thankless serpent,
It is to have a toothless child."

Seriously, is it not a lamentable state of affairs when a great party is governed but by one ruling passion—office? Yet the utterances of the leading men of that party are proof of this statement.

MR. WHITNEY.

The ability of Mr. J. P. Whitney, our leader in the Legislature, and his course in connection with Mr. Hardy's attempt to secure his hold on office by a villainous trick, which he has been compelled by the force of public opinion to forego, has been such as to command the admiration of even the Grit press. The Toronto Star—a Hardy organ—says:

Mr. Whitney may be only "the leader of forty-two," as Mr. Hardy calls him, but it is a pretty solid forty-two. That the Opposition leader enjoys the enthusiastic admiration of his followers is a fact that nobody who heard his speech in the Legislature last night could doubt. It was not a great speech. Mr. Whitney did not rise to the full height of an exceptional opportunity. But his followers took no count of that. They hung upon his words with a visible delight, and they punctuated his sentences with the warmest applause. Hitherto Mr. Whitney has been counted as an amiable and scholarly gentleman, with a very respectable grasp upon the esteem of a small following. Henceforth, Mr. Whitney, with the large and capable following which he controls in the Legislature, must be reckoned as a potent force in the politics of Ontario.

Hon. Robert Beaven Called on to Form a Government in British Columbia.

Has Not Yet Been Learned Whether the Turner Government is Sustained.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 8.—Surprise amounting to little less than consternation was expressed to-day by people of all shades of politics when the news became known that Lieutenant-Governor McInnis had sent for Hon. Robert Beaven, former leader of the Opposition, and requested him to form a Government in succession to that of Hon. J. H. Turner. Few accepted the report as true until Mr. Beaven himself endorsed its reliability, with the further information that he had accepted the task, and hoped to be able to announce his success, with the composition of his Cabinet, within 24 hours.

The surprise of the public at this unexpected turn of events is intensified when it is remembered that Mr. Beaven sought election as independent Oppositionist at the recent general election and was rejected by the electorate of Victoria city, receiving the fewest votes of any of the eight candidates at the polling.

Lieut.-Governor McInnis has taken this unusual course, holding that the country has not shown its confidence in the Turner Administration. While the Opposition in the past election convention were divided between the old leader, Mr. Semlin, and "Fighting Joe Martin," they were unable to agree upon a substitute.

At present the parties stand 19 to 19.

HARD FIGHTING.

The Spaniards Beaten in the Philippines

MANILA, July 31, via Hong Kong, Aug. 8.—A heavy engagement took place to-night between the American and Spanish forces at Malate. The Spanish made an attack and attempted to turn the American right. After three hours fighting they were repulsed. U.S. loss, 9 killed and 44 wounded. Spanish loss upwards of 200 killed and 300 wounded.

THE CIVIC HOLIDAY

Not Very Generally Observed.

Monday, August 8th, was officially proclaimed by His Worship the Mayor to be a civic holiday, but nevertheless it was not very generally observed, most of the business men who were in town having their stores open in the morning at least. However, so many of the citizens were away on the various excursions that the city was practically deserted. A number of those who didn't patronize the other excursions visited Massassaga Park and spent a quiet day on the bay shore.

THE A. O. F. EXCURSION.

An Unfortunate Mishap on the Return Trip.

When the steamer Cambria left here for Rochester on Sunday morning she carried one of the largest excursions which ever left Belleville for the city over the lake. A little difficulty was experienced in getting in and out of the harbor, owing to the great length of the steamer. It was not deemed prudent to run into Trenton, so the steamer tied up at the mouth of the Murray Canal and a large number of Trentonians drove to that point and boarded the boat. At Brighton another large party joined the excursionists. Charlotte was reached Sunday afternoon about 2:30, but it was not considered wise to attempt to go to Buffalo so a large number took the train at Rochester for that city. A very pleasant time was spent at Rochester by the pleasure-seekers.

The boat left there according to programme at nine o'clock last night and the voyage was without incident until they reached Presqu'Ile, where the steamer grounded on a bar. The mishap occurred about three o'clock this morning. Word was sent to this city and the Varuna was despatched to the scene. She reached there about eight o'clock and transported all the passengers who so desired to Brighton, whence they took the train for home. She then returned to the scene and was attempting to haul the Cambria off when last heard of. About 200 still remain on the boat and their position must be a very uncomfortable one.

No blame attaches to the Foresters for the unfortunate outcome of the excursion, for everything possible was done by them to provide enjoyment for their guests, but they were miserably disappointed in the boat. It was altogether too large for this bay and the accommodation was not of the best. The captain and crew failed to extend to the passengers and to the Foresters themselves the courtesy which would be expected. The Foresters are greatly disappointed, but they have the consolation of knowing that they did everything possible to make the excursion a success.

To Picton.

The popular steamer Merritt carried its usual large crowd on yesterday's excursion. Glen Island and Glenora each attracted a number of visitors, but the majority visited the ancient burg of Picton. On the return trip several excellent vocalists rendered solos, which were much enjoyed by the pleasure-seekers.

At Kingston.

The bicycle races at the Limestone City yesterday were a great success. There were several mishaps but no one was seriously injured. Mr. Fred McDavitt, of this city, competed in the road race, and in spite of a mishap, finished well up on the list. There were 74 started in this race. Among the Belleville men who attended were Messrs. A. Ireland, T. M. Nash, V. Wensley, Bert Bowers and Jos. Middlemas, jr.

FOUND DEAD.

Sudden Demise of a Hungerford Farmer, well-Known Here.

Mr. Hugh W. Coulter, a farmer living n the vicinity of Tweed, died suddenly Monday night. He had been working in the fields and was apparently in good health. He ate supper and went to bed as usual. When his wife woke in the morning she found him dead.

Mr. Coulter was about 50 years of age and was well-known and highly respected here. He was a staunch Conservative.

Impure blood is an enemy to health, and may lead to serious disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla conquers this enemy and averts danger.

A Boy's Mishap.

Harry Backus, a nine year old boy, whose home is on Church St., met with an accident on Monday last near Marsh & Henthorn's foundry. He was holding a board for a companion who was endeavoring to saw it, when the the saw slipped and the board flew up into Harry's face. A nail in the end of the board inflicted painful injuries, cutting him in the chin, lip and cheek, and narrowly escaping his eye. His injuries were attended to and he is now progressing favorably, but he will bear the marks of his mishap for the balance of his life.

Bought a Mine.

A mining deal is reported to have just been consummated whereby a large corundum mine in North Hastings becomes the property of a Toronto syndicate, in which are directors of the Massey-Harris Co., the price paid being $120,000. The mine is said to be a very rich one, and the output under the operations of the new owners is expected to be very large.

Had Read About It.

"I had a distressing pain in my side and was also troubled with severe headaches. My blood was out of order and my constitution was generally run down. Reading what Hood's Sarsaparilla had done I began taking it and after using two bottles I was cured." MAY FLANNIGAN, Manning avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

A Pleasant Time.

Court St. James, Catholic Order of Foresters, had their annual excursion on this steamer Merritt to-day. They went as far as Presqu' Ile and returning landed at Twelve O'Clock Point where they picnicked. The attendance was large, the day was an ideal one and those present, enjoyed themselves very much. The financial results were gratifying.

THE BOARD OBJECTS

To Paying the Examination Fees of Non-Resident Pupils--Mr. Jas. T. Luton to Succeed Mr. Morrow.

The following gentlemen sat in judgment upon matters educational in the Council Chamber last night: Dr. R. Tracy, Chairman; Rev. Canon Burke, I. Diamond, J. F. Wills, Wm. Tennent, John Martin, H. Walker, W. C. Reid, J. A. Davis, Jas. H. Mills, Chas. J. Bowell, Thos. Wills, Wm. Johnson, W. P. Hudson, Geo. A. Bennett.

The Board went into Committee of the Whole on Reports, Mr. Johnson in the chair.

When the item for the payment of examiners at the recent High School Entrance and Public School Leaving Examinations was reached, Mr. Thos. Wills objected. He did not see why the Belleville Board should have to pay for the examination of non-resident pupils.

Mr. Johnston, I. P. S., stated that he had received no instructions to impose any fee upon them, but that if the Board chose to impose one he would see that it was collected.

Mr. Thos. Wills and Mr. Johnson contended that the Board had made no agreement to pay for such examinations and could not be compelled to do so. The County Council should pay for them.

Mr. Walker thought that we should pass the item this time and make a better bargain next year.

Mr. Hudson moved, seconded by Mr. Mills, that the item be paid but that they make a different bargain with the Board of Examiners another year.

Mr. Thos. Wills moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Bowell that the item shou'd be laid over for further consideration.—Amendment carried.

The report of the Finance Committee, as amended, was adopted.

The School Management Committee reported the engagement of Miss Imogen B. Palen as assistant in the High School until Dec. 31st, 1898 at a salary of $450 per annum. The report was adopted.

A communication was received from Mr. A. E. Morrow resigning his position as teacher of classics in the High School. Mr. Milburn wrote to the Board asking that, in the interests of the efficiency of the High School, the vacancy be filled by the appointment of a male teacher, a specialist in classics. Applications for the position were received from Emma J. Graham and Jas. F. Luton.

Mr. I. Diamond moved, seconded by Rev. Canon Burke, that Mr. Luton be appointed to the vacancy at a salary of $700 per annum.

The motion carried after Messrs. Walker, Hudson and Johnson had spoken very favorably as to Mr. Luton's qual fications.

Mr. J. F. Wills thought there should be greater strictness in regard to the re-engagement of teachers. They should be required to sign a contract within a week after notice of re-engagement.

Mr. Walker moved, seconded by Mr. Bennett, that the brick wall between the stone building and Miss McDaughey's room at the Queen Victoria School be removed, sufficient being left to form a porch.

Mr. Walker said the cost would be about $55. The object was to prevent the draught from entering Miss McCaughey's room. He claimed that this wall was the cause of the heating apparatus not working properly.

Mr. Thos. Wills disagreed with Mr. Walker. He thought the partition was very useful and did not think it had anything to do with the draughts or with the difficulty in regard to the heating apparatus.

Mr. J. F. Wills opposed the removal on financial grounds.

Mr. Johnson said the partition was useless.

The Chairman thought it should be removed in the interests of the health of the pupils.

Mr Thos. Wills moved, seconded by Mr. Bowell, an amendment to the effect that the matter be left over until the Superintendent submit plans and specifications and estimate of cost.

Mr. Diamond, seconded by Rev. Canon Burke, moved an amendment to the amendment that the matter be referred back to the Committee on Sites, Buildings and Repairs.

The amendment to the amendment carried on the following vote: Yeas.—Bennett, Burke, Davis, Diamond, Hudson, Johnson, Martin, Mills, Reid, Walker—10.

Nays.—Bowell Tennent, Thos. Wills, J. F. Wills—4.

Mr. W. J. Diamond gave his opinion as to Mr. Bogle's seat. He thought that the Board was required to fill it.

Moved by Mr. Johnson, seconded by Mr. Bowell, that the Secretary Treasurer be instructed to notify the City Clerk that the seat was vacant and to ask him to cause a new election carried.

Off at Last.

The big, dirty, slab-sided steamer Cambria, which blundered into port yesterday afternoon after touching on the bar, with the remnant of the Foresters' excursion party, got away last night. It took her nearly an hour to work her way out of the harbor, sawing about like a sailing craft working to windward. Those who went on the excursion will long remember the Cambria and her bar-hunting proclivities. She was to-day said to be aground near Northport.

THE BANK CASE.

Keys and File Hidden in a Cell Before the Robbery Found.

PARE STILL UNDER CROSS-EXAMINATION.

The Story Gone Over Again--Holden Planted the Money--Other Details of Much Interest--Pushing Pare's Cross-Examination.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

NAPANEE, Aug. 10.—At nine o'clock this morning, Chief Adams and County Constable Sills unearthed in the police cells the two keys buried there by Pare when he lodged in the cell as vagrant seven days before the robbery. One key was of brass. This was to open Mr. Baines' compartment. The other was of steel and was used to work the combination. A file was also found, but its significance is not known. Chief Adams and Constable Sills will produce these keys in court to-day.

At 10 o'clock court opened with Pare still under Mr. Porter's cross-examination.

The story of the case from the time the money was counted up in Ponton's room was gone into. Pare confessed that he did not know whether Ponton knew where the money was planted or not. Holden did the planting.

$5000 in good money and $2,000 in unsigned bills were put in a cracker box, 9 inches square and 10 inches deep, and buried in an old post hole enlarged on the side of the G. T. R. track opposite the half mile post east of the Napanee station.

It took the two crooks fifteen minutes to go from Ponton's rooms to the planting spot and plant the swag.

They missed two trains and walked to the first station west of Kingston and took a train to Kingston. From Kingston they went to Vaudreuil and on to Montreal. At Montreal the two crooks separated. Pare went to his sister's, Mrs. Saucier, and Holden loafed around town.

The witness said:—I had two trunks at my sister's house. Into one of them I put all my money—some $5,000 good money and $3,000 bad.

The next day I gave $145 to my sister to deposit in the Bank of Montreal in her own name.

I bought from a carpenter in Montreal two boards in which holes had been bored. These boards were about two feet long and four inches square. Into the holes I put what money I had left and put everything into my wood shed. I saw Holden on Monday night as I was leaving for Manchester at the station in Montreal. I did not tell him I was going to Manchester. I saw by a paper in Manchester that Ponton had been arrested on suspicion of robbing the bank.

Here Mr. Porter got the witness to admit that it was likely that Ponton would squeal if any proofs came out. "Why, then, did you go back to Canada and right to Napanee, where you were liable to be arrested?" asked Mr. Porter. The witness seemed dumbfounded by this question, but wiggled out of it.

On the 20th or 21st April Holden came over from Boston and came up to Belleville. We went down to Napanee and brought up the money from the box where we had planted it. Ponton came up to our room at the Dominion House and we gave him the money. He gave me and Holden $50 apiece for expenses.

The rest of the morning's examination was devoted to asking isolated questions. The impressions of the keys were destroyed by Pare. No figures were given Pare. All information about the bank was given orally. "The wooden model I made," said Pare, "I took up to Ponton's room and explained it to him. Then I destroyed it by throwing the pieces into the river.

The witness said the man in the bank was called "Willie." I do not know if there were any other "Willie" in the bank. I don't know when Ponton's name came up.

Pare said he had made a statement that was taken down by Lawyer Herrington. Mr. Porter asked that the statement be produced, but the Court ruled otherwise.

The witness disclaimed that there had been any attempt at sweating him by the detectives since his imprisonment.

Pare's cross-examination will be pushed this afternoon.

Court adjourned at 12.

NOTE.

In Pare's evidence he states that he bought an auger bit in Belleville at the first hardware store on Bridge st. going towards the bridge, close to the Dominion House. There is no hardware store on Bridge street in this city, or anywhere near the Dominion House.

A LARGE EXCURSION.

The Garden City Brings Hundreds of Pleasure-Seekers to Belleville.

The palace steamer Garden City arrived here to-day with a large number of excursionists on board. The excursion was under the auspices of the Colborne Epworth League, and was run from Port Hope, Cobourg, Colborne and Brighton.

Large parties of the pleasure-seekers spent the day at Massassaga Park and at Twelve O'Clock Point, but the great majority spent the day viewing the beauties of the City of the Bay. The boat left for home at 6.15. Longmore's orchestra, of Cobourg, was on board and furnished splendid music.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES LLOYD.

Mr. Chas. Lloyd died on the 3rd inst. after an illness of over a year at his residence, North Fredericksburg. He was 74 years and 11 months old.

Fifty-one years ago he was married to Louisa Denyes, daughter of the late John Denyes, of the 7th con. of Thurlow. Six years later he and his younger brother moved to Camden; and Charles some years after, moved to North Fredericksburg. He was an energetic and successful farmer and will be missed not only by his family but in other spheres in life. He was a member of the County Council of Lennox and Addington for many years; also class leader in the Methodist Church for thirty years. In politics he was a staunch Conservative. He leaves, besides his bereaved wife, three daughters—Mrs. Samuel Bell and Mrs. M. N. Empey, of Ernestown, and Mrs. Jno. Bell of North Fredericksburg, and one brother, Benjamin, of Camden, ex-Warden of the County.

In a Railway Accident.

Those who heard Mrs. Dunlop lecture in Bridge st. Church here some time ago will read with interest the following, which is clipped from the Kingston Whig:

A postal card received here from Rev. J. G. Dunlop, together with wife and baby en route to Japan via San Francisco, conveyed the intelligence that the train on which they were travelling met with an accident near Winslow, Arkansas. It went over an embankment into a river. Mr. Dunlop escaped with a few scratches. His baggage was thoroughly soaked in the river. One boy was killed and several persons were hurt. Mr. and Mrs. Dunlop and child will spend a week at Los Angeles before sailing for Japan.

Asthma Permanently Cured

A Well-Known Canadian Notary Public Suffered for 35 Years, Permanently Cured by Clarke's Kola Compound.

R. D. Pitt, Esq., Kamloops, writes: "I had suffered for at least 35 years from the great oppressiveness of asthma and shortness of breath. I had during these years consulted many physicians and tried all the remedies until the doctor told me I might get temporary relief but would always be troubled. I tried Dr. Clarke's Kola Compound and after taking the first bottle I became greatly relieved, and three bottles have completely cured me. I can now breathe as naturally as ever, and asthma does not trouble me in the least. I feel it my duty to bear testimony to the marvellous effect this remedy has had in my case, and would urge all suffering from this disease to try Clarke's Kola Compound, as only those who have suffered all these years as I have can appreciate what a blessing this remedy must prove to sufferers from asthma." Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are guaranteed to cure any case of asthma. A free sample will be sent to any person troubled with asthma. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church street, Toronto, and Vancouver, B. C., sole Canadian importers. Sold by all druggists. When writing for sample, mention this paper.

ANOTHER BIG DAY FOR PARE

Mr. Porter Puts Him Through Severe Cross-Questioning.

The Interest in the Case Is in No Wise Subsiding—The Chief Crown Witness Has a Lapse or Two of Memory and a Discrepancy or Two May Be Noticed—Story of the Robbery Told Again.

Napanee, Aug. 10.—The magistrate's court opened at 2 o'clock, Prisoner Pare being on deck. The court was jammed. Women were greatly in the majority. The prisoners look well, and were deeply interested in all that was said and done.

W. S. Herrington referred to the published statements that Detective Dougherty and others had been drilling Prisoner Pare in his story. The lawyer said: There is not a particle of truth in the statement. No one except myself has interviewed Prisoner Pare. There was no ground whatever for the complaint. I can assure you that nothing improper has taken place.

Mr. Porter said he was glad to have the Crown speak in this way, for it cleared up a serious charge.

Pare Under Fire Again.

Taking up Pare's cross-examination, Mr. Porter pursued his wonted course of going deeply into details, referring to the night when Pare said that Ponton had told him Manager Baines was fingering with the combination. Pare said on that night: I gave Ponton the brass key. The night after he had said both the safe and the vault were on the day look. "We went in a barn and slept for that night."

The witness' memory seemed under a cloud, for he was not dead sure whether Mackie came or not the next day. That night the witness said he went to Ponton's room. He asked Ponton what success he had had. He said he had tried the key a couple of times, but that it would not work. "If you had the numbers would you have a chance to try it?" he asked. "Yes," Ponton said.

Here the witness again went into a long lecture upon how the combination is worked.

Picking up the thread of the story, Pare reiterated his evidence of last week concerning the instructions he had given Ponton. He said Ponton had told him that nothing could be done for two weeks. During this time Ponton was seen almost nightly by Pare. After he had been given the combination Ponton reported that he had tried all the numbers, but could not open the safe. Two days after he gave Ponton the combination he went to the park and watched a baseball match. When he and Holden left the grounds the county constable got into his buggy. He watched them closely, as if he thought they were suspicious characters. They were accosted by the constable with, "Where are you going." "We are going home," he said.

"Well, I guess you will come along with us first," said the constable as he arrested them. Witness continuing, said: "I had three keys; one opened the door going into the bank, the second opened Mr. Baines' compartment, another I had up my sleeve. I kept the first one; I buried the last two in the station house. I was arrested about 6 o'clock at night and was put in the station house over night."

"What did you do next morning?" asked Mr. Porter.

"I'm a day ahead," said the witness. "Before I was arrested I had been in the bank. The night after I gave Ponton the correct combination. I went to Ponton's rooms. He told me he had tried the combination in vain."

He then re-detailed his visit to the bank while Holden watched.

"On the morning following the baseball match we were brought before the beak and were given an hour to leave the town," he continued. "There was found in my possession a piece of wire which I had found in the park, and it was bent crooked, but I could not say that it was filed. I thought it was a bicycle tool and put it in my pocket."

"What did Holden have on him?" was asked.

"I think there was a piece of broom wire found on him," said Pare. "I had some coppers and some silver coins on my person. I had not any of the cartridges with me. Holden did not have any of them. Holden had no money. Everything found on us when we were searched was given back to us. That night we met Mackie on the bridge and we told him what had happened. I told him, 'I have the combination. We have got to put this game through as soon as possible.' "

"When I was in the safe there was $70,000 or $75,000. I had a good chance to take it all if I had wanted to. I didn't take it, because we could not carry it all off and do what was to be done with it. We had to have time to count out the money, divide it, and catch the 1.40 train, but we couldn't do it that night."

The witness got quite annoyed when the lawyer pressed him to give a reason why he did not take this large amount of money which was in the safe the second night before the robbery.

"When I went in I knew my work was already cut out. I was not prepared to take the money out. I could not count the money between 12 o'clock and 1.30, because it was impossible to do it the right way in that time.

"The next night Holden and I went to Belleville to the Dominion House to our old room. On Tuesday night Mackie came down again to see Ponton. He reported that we could go and get our money on Tuesday. On Wednesday Mackie went down again. He reported that there was over $33,000 in the bank. On Thursday afternoon Holden, Mackie and I came down to Napanee. We got off the train near the Belleville road and remained there till dark.

"A few minutes after 9 o'clock Mackie went over to Ponton's rooms to tell him we were coming to his rooms between 10 and 11, and to be sure and leave his door unlocked. Mackie came back in half an hour. After that we went up to Ponton's rooms. We pulled down the curtain in the middle room and sat down near the window. We locked the door and waited till 1 o'clock. Ponton came in then, and we sent him for a pitcher of water. He got it by going down the stairs. He was gone 10 or 15 minutes. When he came in I told him to go to bed, and that we would wake him up when the safe was cracked and have him split the money. I asked him, 'How much is there in the safe?'

" 'About $19,000—between $18,000 and $19,000 in good money.'

"We did not crack the safe that night, because there was not enough good money in it. Besides, Ponton said there was a chance of having more money the next night. We three went by the back way to a rendezvous near the tracks. We had spent about an hour and a half in Ponton's room. We never had a light in Ponton's room at any time.

"The next night we took all the tools and those pieces to Ponton's room at 11 o'clock. He was there. He went into his room to go to bed. We were to wake him up to count the money. Holden, Mackie and I sat down and waited for Perry to come around. I knew there was somebody overhead. We kept very quiet; we made no noise of any sort. I used to hear noises overhead and in the kitchen. One night I looked through a keyhole and saw people sitting and talking. I blocked up the hole with a piece of paper."

"Did you make any noise?"

"We kept just as quiet as we could. We sat there like 'Injuns.' "

In reply to Mr. Porter, Pare said: "If I said Ponton was asleep before I left the room, it is true. If I said so, it is true, certainly, but I don't think I said so."

SICK HEADACHE

Positively cured by these Little Pills.

Small Pill. Small Dose. Small Price.

According to the witness' evidence of last week, he said that Ponton was asleep before they left the room.

"When Perry passed we all took off our shoes and put on the shoes that were in the corner. I put on moccasins. We did this so as not to make any noise. We went out a few minutes after 11—five or ten minutes—and left the door unlocked."

The trip down the back stairs to the bank was recounted in marvellous detail, as was the robbery already luminously told itself.

Just as court was rising Mr. Osler asked, "Where did you put the keys?"

The witness then described their hiding place to Chief Adams and High Constable Sills. Under the foot of the bench I put the big key, between the floor and wood part; the little brass key in the end cell from the door.

Mr. Osler ordered the Chief to make a search at 9 o'clock this morning and invited the defence to be on hand.

Court adjourned till 9.30 to-day.

SEVERE FIGHTING AT MANILA.

Spaniards Attacked American Troops and a Hot Battle Followed.

London, Aug. 10.—A despatch from Hong-Kong says: The German steamer Petrarch, which left Manila on Aug. 6, has arrived here and reports that the Spanish forces attacked the American camp at Malate on the night of July 31. The Spaniards were over 3,000 strong. They charged the American lines several times. The American fire broke the Spanish centre and they retreated. The Spanish forces made a second charge on the Americans, but again retreated to the bushes, keeping up an incessant fire on the road. Eleven Americans were killed and 37 wounded. The Spanish losses are reported to be great. The rebels remain neutral.

A later account says: Ten men were killed in the trenches and picket lines and 44 wounded. The British Admiral reports the Spanish loss to be 350 killed and 900 wounded.

On the night of Aug. 1 the fighting was renewed, but the enemy had been taught a lesson, and made the attack at long range with heavy artillery. The Utah Battery replied and the artillery duel lasted an hour. One American was killed and two men were wounded.

On the night of Aug. 2 the artillery duel was renewed. Two men were badly wounded and are this morning reported dead, bringing the total dead to 14, with 10 in the hospital mortally hurt.

Manila to Be Taken.

Admiral Dewey's ships are stripping for action. Owing to the high wind and heavy seas, the troops of the third expedition have not yet landed. Two lighters were capsized in the attempt and three natives were drowned.

The situation in Manila is critical. The lights of the city are extinguished. All meats are exhausted. The defences are a cordon of trenches, two batteries of nine 6-inch guns each, the latter on the Cavite side. The big guns are directly in front.

The Spanish Reply.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Spain's acceptance of the peace conditions reached here in sections, and at a late hour last night the newspaper men were informed that nothing could be given out in reference to it. The French Ambassador presented the document and held a conference, lasting an hour and 25 minutes, with the President and Secretary of State.

The United States Secretary of War has stopped the despatch of further reinforcements to Porto Rico.

The United States has offered to parole the 1,300 Spanish naval prisoners taken at the destruction of Admiral Cervera's fleet whenever Spain is ready to repatriate them.

The United States troops now in the South are to be moved northward immediately.

The Monterey Has Arrived.

Manila Bay, Aug. 4, via Hong-Kong, Aug. 10.—The long-expected monitor Monterey, with the collier Brutus, arrived this morning during a gale. Much relief is felt by Admiral Dewey and Gen. Merritt, and there is intense enthusiasm throughout the fleet and among the troops. The capture of Manila is now merely a question of the few days necessary to land troops of the third expedition.

SCOTSMEN IN THE VAN.

What the New Governor-General of Canada Says About His Race.

London, Aug. 10.—The Earl of Minto, speaking at a dinner of the Agricultural Society at Hawick, Saturday, said he appreciated the honor which had been bestowed upon him. He was alive to the interests of Canada, for which country there was a great future. Lord Melgund expressed his regret at leaving Scotland, yet he was a characteristic Scotsman and would not flinch from any duty he was called on to undertake, even though doing so involved the giving up of many home interests. He had traveled the world over and found Scotsmen leading the vanguard. Scotsmen would always lead. He was going to join the vanguard in Canada, and he hoped to do like other Scotsmen who had gone before him.

The Hooley Revelations.

London, Aug. 10.—Counsel for the official receiver for the estate of Ernest Terah Hooley, the company promoter, applied to Justice Wright in the Bankruptcy Court yesterday for an order calling for the examination of the bankrupt and Earl De La Warr, and Messrs. Broadley, Rucker and Bradshaw, by the Justice. All the persons mentioned are concerned in the alleged efforts to bribe Mr. Hooley to change his testimony in the matter of large sums of money, which he is said to have paid the titled people during the course of his company promoting. Justice Wright said a serious contempt of court was charged, and it must be promptly dealt with. But he did not see how he could compel the gentlemen to criminate themselves. The Justice, however, ordered that affidavits in the case be presented to him.

Incidentally, it developed yesterday that Mr. Hooley is ill, and that he may be unable to continue his revelations for some time to come.

LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly —that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

TURNER GOVERNMENT IS OUT

Lieut.-Governor McInnes Has Called in a New Man.

Hon. Robert Beaven Asked to Form a Government—A Surprising Turn of Affairs Political in the Pacific Province—What Mr. Turner Says—The Lieutenant-Governor on the Situation—Parties Stand a Tie at 19 Each.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 10.—Hon. Robert Beaven has been requested by Lieutenant-Governor McInnes to form a Government in succession to that of Hon. J. H. Turner, and has accepted the task. When interviewed last night Mr. Beaven stated that he had not yet made up his mind whether or not a dissolution will be applied for, though he considers it probable that a new election may be necessary.

Hon. Mr. Turner Surprised.

No intimation of the message to Mr. Beaven had been received by Hon. Mr. Turner at a quarter to five Monday afternoon, when he obtained it through a representative of the Colonist asking him if he had heard the news. He replied that he had not, and on being told that Hon. Mr. Beaven had been sent for expressed great surprise, particularly as he had, he said, received a communication from the Lieutenant-Governor during the morning, and had not yet replied thereto. He certainly had not expected that the Lieutenant-Governor would take any action until his reply had been delivered. His intention had been, after the returns from Cassiar came to hand, to wait upon the Lieutenant-Governor and lay all the facts of the case before him as he (Hon. Mr. Turner) understood them, and then to take such action as his Honor might deem necessary and proper under the circumstances. He could not understand the precipitate manner in which the Lieutenant-Governor had acted.

Continuing, Hon. Mr. Turner said that he had intended to send a letter to the Lieutenant-Governor, and would carry out this intention, as the points contained in the letter of his Honor were of such a nature as to require consideration and a reply at some length. He assured the reporter that he had not understood the letter as a dismissal, and felt that he had been treated with very scant courtesy ... the promises.

The Lieut.-Governor Speaks.

When called upon by a member of the Colonist staff last evening, Lieut.-Governor McInnes declared the letter referred to by Hon. Mr. Turner as written and delivered to him during the morning to be plainly and unmistakably a notification of dismissal, couched in phraseology as courteous as possible, but terminating all official relations. He could not comprehend Mr. Turner's surprise, for the letter of dismissal was a natural and necessary sequence of two letters addressed to the Government as long ago as the 14th of July and of numerous interviews had with Hon. Mr. Turner since that date. As soon as the returns of the voting on the 9th ultimo, with the final results in Cariboo, came to hand he had, he said, informed Hon. Mr. Turner that, in his opinion, the country had not signified a continuance of confidence in the Government and he could not, therefore, authorize any new appointments nor any expenditures of money except in the course of official routine or matters of evident emergency. The position thus indicated had not been accepted by Hon Mr. Turner, and much as he had respected that gentleman—and still respected him—he felt that his duty to the country left him no other course than that outlined in the letter precedent to the call to Hon. Mr. Beaven.

As to the reasons prompting him to select this honorable gentleman to assume the responsibilities of the Premiership, the Lieutenant-Governor would, of course, say nothing, but it is stated on high authority that the outcome of the past election caucus of the Opposition was to convince his Honor that neither Mr. Semlin nor Mr. Martin was acceptable to the party as a whole as leader.

Mr. Beaven ran as an Independent Oppositionist in Victoria City at the recent general election and was defeated, receiving the smallest number of votes of any of the eight candidates on the ballot paper.

At present the parties stand 19 to 19.

Hon. Robert Beaven is a son of the late Rev. James Beaven, D.D., Professor of Divinity, King's College, Toronto, and subsequently Professor of Metaphysics and Ethics in Toronto University. He was educated in Toronto. On the resignation of the Elliott Administration, in 1878, he was made Minister of Finance in the new British Columbia Government. Mr. Beaven in 1882 became Premier, President of the Executive Council and Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works. He was secretary of the Confederate League in 1868, which took the initiatory steps in British Columbia to bring the colony into the Dominion Confederation. He is a Conservative.

Drowned Off Winona.

Hamilton, Aug 10.—The convention of the Canadian Association of Stationary Engineers is in session here.

Roy Wilcox, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Wilcox of Fruitland, employed by Major Carpenter, was drowned in the lake off Winona on Sunday afternoon. He and a younger brother went out in an old punt, intending to sail to Grimsby. On the way the boat capsized and Roy was drowned. The brother was able to swim to shore.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

THE TORONTO REGATTA.

Summary of the Events at the Queen City Yesterday.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—The second day's regatta was a more successful one, if possible, than the first. The course was in a great deal better shape, as there was not the high wind blowing and the day itself was much brighter. The contests were all keen. The program was a little late in starting, but was well worth waiting for.

Summary of Contests.

Killed and Mangled by a Train.

Berlin, Ont. Aug. 10.—A very mysterious accident happened at Breslau, four miles east of here. At an early hour yesterday morning the station agent discovered on the track the body of a young man, which had been horribly cut to pieces by a train. It turned out to be the body of a young man who arrived in Breslau the day before. He drank several glasses of liquor and was seen around by many people. He did not give his name, however, or where he came from. The body has been brought to Berlin, and awaits identification.

Bismarck Badly Burned.

Bismarck, N.D., Aug. 10.—Fire destroyed the best portion of the city of Bismarck last evening, licking up hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property. Over 60 stores and big offices are gone.

The total loss will be from $600,000 to $750,000, with insurance not to exceed $250,000. The heaviest individual losses are: Joseph Hare $40,000, First National Bank $75,000, Merchants' Block $25,000, Post Office Block $20,000, C. H. Phelps $35,000, Northern Pacific Railroad $25,000.

CONSTABLES' BILL IS READY

Mr. Whitney Says It Will Be a Matter For Debate.

The Toronto Members Make the Speeches of the Day—Messrs. Crawford and Marter Score the Government and Rub It Into the Sore Spots—Mr. Marter's Effective Questions—Speeches by New Members.

Toronto, Aug. 10.—The debate on the address at the Legislature drags on. Things so far have not proved half so interesting as was predicted. The day was featureless. Mr. Hardy wanted to introduce his constables' bill, but Mr. Whitney, without consulting his followers, would not accede to his request to offer no debate and he would not read it a first time.

Mr. Whitney made an explanation to remove the false impression created by certain remarks concerning the politics of the editor of the Toronto Telegram, and Mr. Hardy explained that Mr. Stratton's remarks about the judges were merely tentative and that the House, as a body, had the utmost respect for the wisdom and integrity of the members of the judiciary.

Mr. Hardy also explained the statute concerning members' indemnity for a short session. Each member was entitled for each day's attendance to $6 and mileage, up to 30 days. If the session extended beyond that a special allowance could be appropriated and the members draw their balances at its close.

Mr. Crawford, West Toronto, after a pleasant remark concerning the payment of members, said that notwithstanding the Attorney-General's apology for Mr. Stratton's strictures on the judiciary he felt that that fluent gentleman had said something he should regret and that he did regret. He considered that the Legislature should make the laws, but the interpretation of them should be left to the judges. Respecting the early calling of the House together, the speaker said the Government had done it because they were in a hole and they wanted the party to help them out of it. They had been driven into this uncomfortable position largely by the legislation of last session, notably by the two backdowns, once to the liquor vote on the promised prohibitory law, and again in the case of the proposed amendments to the Lord's Day Act. He considered Mr. Hardy's criticisms of defeated Conservative candidates unkind, and said they were not on a parity with the defeated Ministers, inasmuch as the latter held office and drew salaries. He considered, too, that the claim for a reasonable time in which to fill the seats had been granted in the time which had elapsed since the elections. The fact is, as Mr. Hardy had admitted, said the speaker, the Premier had no talent on his side of the House to fill the portfolios held by Messrs. Dryden and Gibson. In discussing the constable vote Mr. Crawford said the early calling of the House together was sufficient justification for thinking that the Government feared the justice meted out by the courts. In closing he reminded the Government of the babe they had cradled and nursed, "the numbered ballot," and which had now like a wayward child turned upon and rended them.

Mr. Pattullo, South Oxford, said Mr. Whitney's following was not unanimous in disapproving of the calling of a summer session, for many of them after the protests were tried would never have the opportunity to meet in a session of the House. He did not believe, as many Oppositionists he quoted professed to do, in a government resigning because it had a reduced majority, and he said he felt that the charge that the Government was scared could hardly be seriously made in the face of the fact that it had called its opponents to meet it face to face at such an early date. He thought the Government was sure of another four years' lease of power. He then challenged the Opposition to specify instead of making general charges against alleged partizan officials, and then in speaking of Mr. Stratton's remarks on the judges, he said that although the courts were largely Conservative productions he and his party proposed to accept the decision of the courts on the constable vote as well as on any other question. He considered it strange that Mr. Hoyle had not noticed in his reading of the Farmer's Sun that it had been as strong for the retention of the defeated Ministers as it was against the Government's contention respecting the constable vote. He dealt with the good roads question and challenged Mr. Whitney to say what he would do with the office or its incumbent if he got into power. The Agricultural College and the traveling dairy, both of which had been very prosperous under Hon. Mr. Dryden, were eulogized, and then he condoled with the Engledue Englishmen whom the Government had roped into a deal for the benefit of the Province. He closed by saying that he did not doubt that the defeated Ministers would soon regain seats or be replaced, adding that perhaps it might be Opposition seats they would expropriate.

The Evening Session.

Mr. Marter, North Toronto, after congratulations to the Speaker and the mover and seconder of the address in reply, informed the member for East London that he went to London at the request of two of his constituents, Messrs. Campbell and Willoughby. He gave them his advice because they asked him for it, and he was not ashamed of it. Four years ago, said the speaker, a similar instance occurred on the other side of the House. The Government was alarmed at the prospect of three candidates in the field, and they sent a man up—a servant of the Government, and not one like me who paid his own expenses. Another difference between us was that this Government official said to the third candidate, "If you will withdraw from this contest we will give you a position that will be worth while." The sequel, sir, is that Mr. Armstrong did withdraw, and is now sheriff of Parry Sound. He claimed that the fact that the Opposition had an efficient policy was to be found in the fact that it had now twice the number of members it had before the last election, and he asked, "Have the Government the same strength as formerly?" He thought not. In 1887 the majority was 20, in 1891, the majority was 21, in 1895 the majority was 37, while the majority in the present House is merely 8. In the last House there were 13 Patrons; there are now 2. He then dealt with the surplus and claimed, and quoted figures in support of his contention, that the Government had gone behind $5,525,762. The greater success of the Opposition had been hindered by the fact pointed out by the leader of the Opposition that it had never gone to the country on equal terms with the Government. Respecting the present session he said the House was not called because of the constable vote or the fisheries, but simply that there were a number of protests. The Liberals, with 51,000 minority in the Province, had still a majority in the House, and this was the result of the official influences that worked against the Conservatives, namely, the numbered ballots, the lavish expenditure for colonization roads, the power wielded by the Government in purchasing supplies, the lack of voters' lists in unorganized territory, the incomplete returns by deputy returning officers where there is no penalty, and many others. From the latter cause the speaker claimed there were present in the House two members on Government benches whose places as members of the House should be filled with gentlemen from his own side of the Speaker. He had been amused at the language of the member for West Northumberland concerning the Patrons, and likewise by the reference to the wonderful harvest, which some say was due to a change of Government. If that is so, what would it have been by a change in Ontario. Adverting to the lumber question, he was of opinion that the great inactivity in the lumber market is due to allowing our lumber to go across to the States. The Liberal Government has allowed Americans to come and take our logs and manufacture them on the other side. It is true a law has been passed, and he thought it would do good, but no one will say we are indebted in this respect to the Government. He closed with another reference to the constable vote and this appeal to the Premier: I am only sorry to hear two or three members of the Government say that the judges would decide in a partizan spirit. I think it would come very well from the Attorney-General if he were to get up and say this was a misunderstanding, and had not been said by any of his followers.

Mr. Stratton of Peterboro: "I didn't say so," he interjected, reading his notes; "I referred to the narrow partizan spirit, but said the question should be decided by the Court of Appeal after the usual tedious, long legal delay."

Mr. Moscrip of South Perth quoted precedents back 50 years ago to show that the constables even back in antiquity were not included in the list of the disqualified from the privileges of the franchise. In conclusion he voiced the claim of the Government that it was never their intention to pass ex post facto liquidation.

Mr. A. B. Thompson of Centre Simcoe is an unassuming but pointed debater. His powers must have rejoiced the heart of his leader.

Mr. Pardee of West Lambton, son of the late Hon. T. B. Pardee and one of the Government's youngest supporters, followed. He opened by challenging the Opposition to substantiate some of their charges. He did not think it was to the credit of the House or to the politics of the country to have such charges made without substantiation. There was no lack of responsibility about the administration of Messrs Gibson and Dryden's departments, for the Government as a whole was responsible for it. It was just 11 o'clock when he sat down, urging the Government not to allow themselves to be legislated out of office by losing the constable vote.

Mr. Duff of West Simcoe, from the Opposition benches, substantiated one charge, telling how, in Cardwell, the license inspector had gone around introducing the Reform candidate to the hotelkeepers.

Mr. Douglas of Northumberland moved the adjournment of the debate.

The Bourgogne Disaster.

London, Aug. 10.—In the suit for damages brought by the owners of the British ship Cromartyshire against La Bourgogne's owners as a result of the collision on July 4, the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique has asked the Admiralty Court to quash the writ served on their London agent, on the ground that they are a foreign corporation. Sir Francis Henry Jeune, President of the Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice, ruled that the service of the writ is good, and that the English court has jurisdiction in the case.

Thief Captured.

Cornwall, Aug. 10.—One Watson, formerly of Winchester, charged with stealing clothing from the McKnight boarding house, was captured by Constable Joyce in a hay mow below the village, and the stolen goods found hidden in a near-by grain field. Watson was taken before the magistrate, and committed to Cornwall for trial.

A man will defend his honor with his life. What is more dishonorable than unnecessary failure? Thousands of men make failures of life and die premature deaths, leaving wives and children unprovided for, because of their reckless neglect of health. No man can do good work or be successful in business who suffers from biliousness, digestive and nervous disorders such as sick headache, giddiness, dizziness, drowsiness, cold chills, flushings of heat, shortness of breath, loss of appetite, fullness and swelling after meals, wind and pain in the stomach, costiveness, blotches on the skin, loss of sleep, disturbed sleep, frightful dreams and nervous and trembling sensations.

These are but the forerunners of some dread disease like deadly consumption, or fatal nervous prostration. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best medicine for hard working men and women. It cures all cases of weak stomach, impaired digestion and disordered liver. It gives keen edge to the appetite, makes the digestion perfect and the liver active. It makes rich, red, pure blood and builds firm, healthy flesh. It builds new, healthy, muscular tissue in every vital organ. It tones the worn-out nerves. It strengthens the muscular system, and invigorates and vitalizes the whole system. It induces sound and refreshing sleep, dissipates drowsiness and melancholy, and imparts mental power, elasticity and courage. It arouses the physical energies of the whole body. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchial, throat and kindred ailments. All medicine dealers sell it.

Costiveness and biliousness. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure them. They strengthen and stimulate the overworked organs. They never gripe. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic.

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

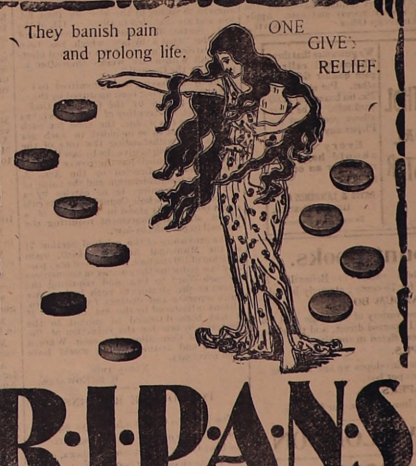

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Daily Intelligencer.

ANYTHING GOOD ENOUGH.

The overpowering hunger of the average Grit for office is well illustrated by the following from the Cobourg Sentinel Star:

"The inordinate craving of the average Grit for Government pap cannot be compared to anything on this terrestrial sphere. It appears to be innate, the desire becoming more intense as the Grit rises to years of discretion, and finally gives him peace neither night nor day. It eventually reaches that stage where it has to be allayed by gratification, no matter who must suffer. For years past this feeling seems to have been growing within the manly heart of Bill Jack Westington. It has been in his blood from the days of childhood. He nurtured it, and as years rolled on could find nothing to satisfy his great burning desire. Bill Jack's qualifications were of too insignificant a nature to give him any claim on the Cobourg post office or custom house. To fill these positions men of more or less judgment and common sense were required. Bill had to hunt for smaller game. If he could not bag a quail, he might be able to secure a sparrow. He long since abandoned the idea of obtaining the Indian Agency at Roseneath. It was too large game "for the likes of him." Then he got that eagle eye of his on the Harwood post office, worth $80 a year. This was just his size and right to his mit. He must turn heaven and earth to secure his sop. What difference did it make to him if it were an actual fact that Mr. James Drope had for years conducted the office in such an exemplary and efficient manner that not a shadow of a charge of any kind could be made against him? What odds if Mr. Drope had proven himself to a worthy successor to his father and grandfather? B. J. is willing to face all the public disapproval. And Mr. Drope has received notice from the Government to quit. No reason has been assigned, thus demonstrating conclusively that there was none, except that of satisfying a hungry, servile follower. To appease his voracious appetite, the Liberal party has thrown him a bone in the shape of an $80 post office.

Those who gave Mr. Westington his $80 per year office appraised him at his true value.

The same may be said of the Belleville Alderman who, for his years of "valuable" party service, received a License Commissionership, which necessitated his retirement from the Council. How much is that position worth per annum?

THEY BACKED DOWN.

The majority in the Peterborough Town Council who refused to pass the by-law for the abolition of the Ward system which had been adopted by the people, have been obliged to back down. They found that they had acted illegally, and passed the by-law by a majority of one.

The opinion of the Town Solicitor in the premises will be found of interest. It is as follows:

A. L. Davis, Esq., Mayor of Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—As instructed by you I have considered the question connected with the third reading of the by-law to fix the number of Councillors and to provide for election by general vote.

The by-law was passed under the Municipal Amendment Act, 1893, which introduced a new section into the Municipal Act as Section 71a. This section provides that the by-law shall not come into force unless and until it has first been submitted to a vote of the electors according to the provisions in this Act in regard to by-laws requiring the assent of the electors. Section 338 of the Municipal Act provides that "in case a by-law requires the assent of the electors before the final passing thereof the following proceedings shall, except in cases otherwise provided for, be taken for determining such assent." The various provisions as to voting by the electors then follow and are included in Division III. of the Act. Section 373 is part of this division and provides "that a by-law which has been duly carried by a vote of the qualified electors shall within six weeks thereafter be passed by the Council."

The by-law having been submitted to the electors, and having been approved by them, must be passed by the Council. Under Section 374, if a scrutiny of the votes takes place before the Judge, the time for such scrutiny is not to be included in such six weeks. Notwithstanding the vote of the Council declining to give the by-law its third reading, the Council has the power to pass the by-law as directed by the Act. A motion for reconsideration and the rules of the Council requires to be carried by a majority of the whole Council, but this rule could not possibly stand in the way of a direct statutary enactment requiring the Council to pass the by-law.

The provisions of the original Section 71 of the Municipal Act, by which, upon petition of 100 electors, the Council may pass a by-law reducing the number of Councillors for each Ward to two, and requiring the assent of the electors to such by-law, are quite separate and distinct from the provisions introduced by the Act of 1898. If it had been intended to submit to the electors a by-law for the reduction of the number of Councillors for each Ward, a separate and distinct by-law would have been necessary.

Yours truly,
E. B. EDWARDS.

POST OFFICE RETURNS.

The Toronto GLOBE a few days ago announced a saving in the management of the Post Office Department, Ottawa, of no less a sum than $627,000, and that that Department was nearly "self-sustaining." Everyone rejoiced at such an exhibition of good management. Unfortunately, as was anticipated by those who had studied the subject, the bubble has been pricked, and like most of the Grit statements, proved to be but wind. The MAIL AND EMPIRE'S Ottawa correspondent writes on the 9th:

The statement in the Government organs that the Post Office Department is this year about self-sustaining is a midsummer day's dream. The accounts of the department are not nearly made up yet. The flamboyant prediction that the deficit has been reduced by $627,000 is based on an estimated boom in revenue of over $500,000 and a reduction of $90,000 in expenditure. But as the returns of the outlay for the year are not yet complete it is too soon to draw a conclusion. The estimate is at all events repudiated here in official quarters. The Government organs are counting Mr. Mulock's chickens before they are known to be hatched.

ATTACKING THE JUDGES.

Mr. Stratton, M. P. P., of Peterborough West, had the exceedingly bad taste to make an unwarranted attack upon the Judges in the debate re the address in the Toronto House of Assembly. So gross was this attack that the Attorney-General, Hon. Mr. HARDY, has repudiated the utterances of his supporter in no uncertain tones. We commend Mr. Hardy for his manliness in thus denouncing the slanders of his (Hardy's) supporters.

BY-LAW NUMBER

A BY-LAW Respecting the Council of the City of Belleville.

PASSED THE DAY OF , 1898.

WHEREAS by Sub-Sec. 3 of Sec. 2 of The Municipal Amendment Act of 1898 the Council of any City having a population of 15,000 or less may, by By-Laws, provide that the Council of such City shall be composed of a Mayor and one Alderman for each 1000 of population to be elected by general vote, the population to be determined by the last census of the Dominion of Canada;

And whereas, by said last census of the Dominion of Canada taken in the year 1891, the population of the City of Belleville was determined at the number of 9914;

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by the Corporation of the City of Belleville:—

1. That the Council of the City of Belleville shall be composed of a Mayor and one Alderman for each 1000 of the population of the said City as determined by the last census of the Dominion of Canada, to be elected by general vote.

2. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that this By-Law shall take effect and come into operation immediately after the passing thereof.

3. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the votes of the qualified electors of the said Corporation of the City of Belleville in accordance with the Statute in that behalf shall be taken upon this By-Law on Friday, the 19th day of August, A.D., 1898, commencing at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and continuing until five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day at the following places in the said Municipality by the following Deputy Returning Officers, namely:

In FOSTER WARD in the building occupied by William Blaind on West John st., in said Ward, and that the said William Blaind be, and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Foster Ward.

In SAMSON WARD in the Police Court room in the Market Building, and that Charles Herring be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Samson Ward.

In KETCHESON WARD, in the building on the South-West corner of Pinnacle and Campbell sts. in said Ward, and that Alexander R. Walker be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Ketcheson Ward.

In BALDWIN WARD, in Number Two Fire Engine Shed on the West side of Front st. and that James Macoun be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Baldwin Ward.

In BLEECKER WARD, in the building next door north of McGinnis' Store, and that William A. Lott be, and is appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Bleecker Ward.

In COLEMAN WARD, in the building occupied by Henderson Brown as a shoe shop on the east side of North Front st., and that William A. Pringle be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Coleman Ward.

In Number Seven Division of MURNEY WARD in the building occupied by James McCarthy as a shoe shop on the North side of Bridge Street in said Ward, and that Charles Panter be and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Number Seven Division of said Murney Ward.

In Number Eight Division of MURNEY WARD, in the building occupied by Harry Geary as a butcher shop on the South East corner of Coleman and Bridge streets in the said Ward, and that Nicholas W. Lazier be, and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Number Eight Division of said Murney Ward.

4. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the Clerk of the Council for the Corporation of the City of Belleville shall attend at the City Hall in the City of Belleville on Saturday the 20th day of August 1898 at the hour of Ten o'clock in the Forenoon to proceed to sum up the number of votes given for and against this By-law, in accordance with the provisions of the Statute in that behalf.

5. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Belleville shall attend at the City Hall in the said City on Tuesday the 16th day of August 1898 at the hour of 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of appointing and shall appoint in writing signed by him two persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes given for and against this By-Law and for the purpose of appointing one person to attend at each polling place upon the day of the polling of the said votes on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of promoting the passing of this By-Law and a like number on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of opposing the passing of this By-Law, which place, day and hour are hereby fixed for said purpose.

NOTICE.

To the Municipal Electors of the City of Belleville:

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the proposed By Law which has been taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the City of Belleville and which will be finally passed by the said Council (in the event of the assent of the Electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication in the INTELLIGENCER newspaper of Belleville, the date of which first publication was Wednesday the 27th day of July 1898, and that the votes of the electors of the said Municipality will be taken thereon and at the hour, day and places therein fixed for taking the votes of the Electors, the polls will be held.

BY THE MASONS.

Corner Stone of First Methodist Church at Picton Laid.

There was a great gathering of the Masonic fraternity and others at Picton to-day, the occasion being the laying of the corner-stone of the new First Methodist Church. Lodges were there in from Trenton, Napanee, Brighton and all the other neighboring towns and townships. Belleville sent a large contingent on the steamer Varuna. Rev. E. F. Malone, the well-known Toronto lawyer, and Grand Master of the Masonic Order conducted the service, which were most impressive. Addresses were delivered by Rev. W. J. Jolliffe B. C. L., President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, and other local and visiting clergyman. At the conclusion of the ceremony tea was served by the ladies of the congregation to the hundreds of visitors.

The new church, which is being erected on the site of the one which was burned some time ago, will be a most beautiful edifice when completed. It will also be one of the largest in the Conference, being about the same size as the Bridge st. church here.

THE BANK CASE.

A Number of New Witnesses on the Stand.

THEIR TESTIMONY HIGHLY IMPORTANT.

Pare, Holden and Mackie Shown to Have Been Together at and Near Napanee -- Holden and Mackie Identified by an Indian on Their Return from Napanee in February, 1897.

Napanee, Aug. 11.—When court opened this morning High Constable Sills took the stand and identified to having arrested Pare and Holden on Aug. 1st, 1897. He also testified to the discovery of the keys in the station.

The defence tried to adduce evidence to show that the detectives were anxious to connect Ponton, but the Magistrate ruled out all questions bearing on this point.

The Indian, John G. Hill, took the stand and identified Holden and Mackie as the two men who were at this place in Feb. 1897. "I did not hear Holden's name, but I had seen him in Belleville two or three times before. Mackie told me his name."

Nathan Mix, a farmer on the Wiggins place, east of the station, testified that he had seen Mackie, Holden, Pare and Roach around his farm from June till the latter part of August. "The man who came down on the train was called the dude. I see the 'dude' in the corner of the prisoner's box," said the witness, pointing out Mackie. "One night I saw two men on the tracks. One had a light coat on. There was a bicycle up against the fence near the track that night." This witness was not sure about Mackie, though he declared the rosemblance to "the dude" was strong.

Mrs. Mix followed in similar strain, but positively identified Pare, Holden and Mackie as the tramps.

Little Willie Mix made a good witness and told a story similar to that of his father and mother.

John Long testified to having seen Holden and Mackie three successive mornings last summer between 6 and 7 o'clock.

Frank Vanalstine was the last witness, and he positively identified Pare, Holden and Mackie as three tramps that summered last year on Hawley's Point, about one mile east of the town.

The court will adjourn to-morrow night till the Tuesday following.

Sanford's Clothing

It is a make that has distinctive merit. The styles are designed by artists of refined taste, and it gives clothing its proper character. The young men's suits, the juvenile, the reefers and top coats, the children's suits, all have a distinction which you instantly recognize, because perfect taste and grace pervade them. The Oak Hall in Belleville have the exclusive control of this make of clothing.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should anyone go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&w5w

A Painful Sight.

While out rowing off Thompson's Point yesterday Mr. Hall of this city witnessed a sight which he will not soon forget. A fine large horse was in the water making desperate efforts to swim, but already worn out by its exertions. It was only a short distance from land but apparently could not see it and soon sank to rise no more. It must have waded out to a point where it got beyond its depth and then become bewildered. Mr. Hall had his children in the boat with him and was unable to render any assistance to the poor animal. He describes the moans of the horse to have been most heart rending. He does not know who is the owner of the animal.

Rightly-Made. Ready-Made.

Force of habit take some men back to the custom tailor, others go because "ready-made" clothes experience drives them there. Rightly-made ready-made cures the habit. Our kind, for instance. —QUICK & ROBERTSON.

May be Serious.

While working at the residence of Dr. Sprague, at 9 o'clock this morning, quite a serious accident befel Mr. Edward Dobbs. He was standing at the top of a 12 foot ladder, engaged in prying out a rafter in the ceiling. The crow-bar slipped and "Teddy" and the ladder came to the floor together. He was badly shaken up, and landed with all his weight on one foot. It cannot be told yet, whether his ankle is broken or sprained, but in either case it is serious enough.

The Tub is Safe.

The Cambria reached Kingston yesterday morning at four o'clock and cleared again at six for Alexandria Bay. The story of her being grounded near Northport was therefore a hoax. We might remark, however, that 48 miles in 8 hours is pretty fast—for the Cambria.

THE CROWN FINDS THE KEYS

Which Prisoner Pare Says He Hid in His Cell.

The Cross-Examination of the Crown's Chief Witness Was Continued Until Late in the Afternoon by Mr. Porter, Then Briefly by the Counsel for Mackie and Holden—Clearing Questions by Crown Counsel—Two Discrepancies in His Evidence.

Napanee, Aug. 11.—At 9 o'clock yesterday High Constable Sills, Chief Adams and Detective Dougherty searched the cell occupied by Pare when in the police station as a vagrant. They found the two keys which Pare says he manufactured in the places in which Pare said yesterday that he hid them. A file about five inches long was also found. Pare never mentioned this file. The articles were taken charge of by the police.

When the keys were taken to police headquarters, ex-Manager Baines came in and said: "Ponton's key was larger than mine." Here he was interrupted by Detective Dougherty's advising him not to say anything about the keys till the originals were produced.

Mr. Porter resumed his cross-examination of Pare, who said that so far as he personally knew Ponton did not know where Holden "planted" the $5,000 in good money and $2,000 in unsigned notes which Pare says was Ponton's share. Mr. Porter got Pare to state that it was about 1.30 when he, Mackie and Holden left Ponton's room. They had "planted" Ponton's money before the train was passed. They did not board it, as it was going too fast. When he heard that Ponton was arrested he had expected "the man in the bank" to look after himself. He did not expect that Ponton would perch.

"You did not think he would do what your doings" asked Mr. Porter.

"I thought he would give us away if there was any proof against him."

"If Ponton had not been acquitted you expected he would give the game away?"

"Yes, likely."

"Still you came to Napanee on the very day he was acquitted, where you were likely to be arrested?" continued Mr. Porter.

On the 20th or 21st of April witness and Holden met in Boston and on the Sunday morning following came on to Deseronto. After breakfast they went to Belleville and saw James "Whale" Mackie and waited for John until the evening. Then the trip to Napanee and the getting the box of money after discussing the matter of the bundle of fifties was repeated. They put up at the Dominion House, Belleville, and after having been hunted up by James Mackie, Ponton came in about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Then Ponton was given $2,500 by Holden and $2,500 by Pare, in the presence of Jack Mackie, and he paid witness $65 for expenses and put the balance in his pocket. Then he pushed Ponton out of the room and saw the last of him. He himself bought a ticket for St. Henri and departed.

After Pare had stated that all information about the money in the bank was given orally, he continued: "I was given no figures on slips of paper. I know of no shingle in Ponton's room that had anything to do with the matter."

That Key Impression.

"What became of the impressions of the key?" asked the lawyer.

"I destroyed them. I never got an impression of a key on paper from Ponton. I don't know where they came from."

A number of minor points were reviewed by the cross-examiner and the witness and details faked, and then Mr. Porter asked:

"Did you know Mr. Baines, and where he lived?"

"No. I knew Green, though."

"When did you get hold of the name Ponton?"

"I could not say."

"Do you know if there were other 'Wilkes' in the bank?"

"No."

Answering other questions, the witness said that he had made a confession that was taken down by Mr. Herrington.

Turning to Mr. Osler, Mr. Porter asked:

"Will you produce that statement?"

"Do you want our brief?" replied Mr. Osler.

Mr. Porter said it was a statement upon which his client was arrested.

Continuing, Pare said the statement was not read over to him. "I did not sign it. I told the story just as my lawyer in Manchester told me to tell it," said Pare.

The magistrate ruled that it should not be produced.

After the witness had stated that he had no conversation with the detectives since he came to Napanee, the court adjourned for lunch.

Pare Concludes His Evidence.

The court again opened at 2 o'clock, with Prisoner Pare in the box. Mr. Porter elicited the fact that Chief Healey had visited the witness in jail after the magistrate had ordered that no visitors should be admitted. The witness admitted that he had talked to Officer Sills while being conducted to jail after the morning hearing, but he said the officer had told him that he ought not to have said this and that.

To Mr. Porter the witness said his two American comrades or cooks were called Eddie Mackie and Jimmie Jones. Pare confessed that while he was in Napanee he had heard from Jimmie by letter. After again stating that he was telling the story for his own benefit, Mr. Porter's examination of this remarkable witness ended.

Lawyer Wilson, solicitor for Prisoner Mackie, then took him in charge, but his first question, "Were you ever in Port Colborne" was not a success, though Pare had sworn that he had stayed over there two days, he could not remember ever being in the place. Nothing new was elicited.

In answer to D. H. Preston, Q.C., counsel for Holden, he said the gold was in separate parcels, and that it took him four days to decide to make a confession.

In answer to Mr. Osler, he admitted Roach's photograph, the brass key, the pent piece of steel, and a file, but he said that the messenger between him and Ponton was John Mackie and not James as he stated in his first examination. He gave a combination demonstration as well, but could not again remember that he was ever at Port Colborne. He reiterated the division of the money story, and said he had passed 76 of the unsigned notes.

"What reason did you give for writing the letter signed, 'Old George of the Baseball Club?'"

"I thought if these men were suing the bank for $50,000 more, I wanted to be there when the cake was cut. I wrote that letter from Manchester. It would make Old George know."

Mr. Porter asked:

"Why did you write the letter to me?"

"I saw your name in the paper, where I saw the rest of the items."

"But you did not know me?"

"We might have got acquainted later.

I was just looking after nailing a piece of that $50,000," said Pare, slily. The witness said that as a matter of fact there was a company winding in Montreal against Ponton.

"Why did you mention Wilkes and Dougherty?"

"I put that in to interest you. I remember Wilkes' name was in the item in La Presse. This is my only explanation of that letter."

In answer to a series of questions from Mr. Porter, the witness said: "The same story I told you about Mr. Ponton I could have told about Mr. Baines. He is not absolutely necessary for me to use Ponton's name for me to tell the story. If I told the story with Mr. Baines' name I would have to change a few details. It was not absolutely necessary to use Ponton's name in this matter. An innocent man would have answered the purpose as well as a guilty one."

To the magistrate the witness said that he signed all the notes he passed.

At 5.15 Pare retired.

Joseph Hill, a Mohawk Indian witness, identified Holden and Mackie as having stopped at his place a year ago last February one Sunday morning between 6 and 7 o'clock. He said he was paid $1 and his father $4 to tell their story. He remembered the names of the two prisoners, which had unsteadily nearly two years ago, but he could not remember those of Detective Wilkes and Dougherty, who had been out to see him two weeks ago.

INGRATITUDE.

What has the Governor-General done to warrant an attack upon him by a Liberal journal? The Winnipeg FREE PRESS, now edited by one of the most unscrupulous of the Ottawa Grit correspondents of the Toronto Globe, gives the retiring Governor the following parting shot:

The Earl of Minto having, it is said, been appointed Governor-General of Canada, a London paper advises him to follow in the footsteps of Lord Aberdeen. It is to be regretted that the London News is not better informed. Lord Aberdeen has not fully understood constitutional and popular Government, as it exists in Canada, and while he has made himself deservedly popular as a prominent man taking a deep personal interest in the welfare of the Dominion, he has not been able at all times, as the Crown's representative, to appreciate fully the relations which should exist between the Governor-General and his advisers. Examples of this defect in His Excellency's official character are not wanting, but at present it is sufficient to say to the London press that if Lord Minto is well advised he will never lose sight of the fact that the man who rules in Canada is not the Governor-General, but his First Minister, whether that Minister's name happens to be Sir Wilfrid Laurier or Sir Charles Tupper.

These utterances are the more inscrutable when it is remembered that this same writer was one of the most ardent in his defence of the Governor-General in all the disputes between the members of the late Conservative Government and His Excellency. There is one explanation, however; it may be that when writing for the Globe he was acting under instructions, and that now he is free, he utters his own views upon the constitutional relations that should exist between a Governor and his advisers for the time being. Or there may be another reason for this change of front: It is well known that this gentleman, while on the Globe's staff, constantly attacked the Deputy Heads of Departments as partizans, and demanded their removal from office, with a view, it was uncharitably said, of securing a place for himself. Was the removal of some Deputy and the appointment of the Globe's correspondent recommended, and rejected by the Governor? If so, we may have discovered a solution of the above attack.

It appears that the object in writing the above paragraph was attained; and that, as a result, but a meagre reception was given to His Excellency upon his visit to Winnipeg. Another paper of that city describes the reception in this language:—

It is regrettable that it should be necessary to even appear to apologise for the loyalty of the people in Winnipeg, but the miserable fiasco which went by the name of "civic demonstration" to Lord and Lady Aberdeen yesterday evening demands, if not an apology, at least an explanation. It is most unfortunately true that the crowd which assembled around the city hall yesterday evening was not as large as is frequently drawn by an itinerant patent medicine vendor. It consisted chiefly of children, drawn by the band and red coats of mounted escorts. The response to the call made by the Mayor for cheers for the Governor-General, upon conclusion of the Governor's reply to the civic address, was comparable only to the cheers of a stage crowd in the performance of an inferior company of barn-stormers.

The so-called reception was an even worse fizzle than the demonstration.

From these facts it may fairly be deduced that, as His Excellency cannot be used by the Grits, they are ready to throw stones at him.

THE HARDY SCHEME.

The STAR, of Montreal summarizes the position of Mr. HARDY in re the Constable vote in a pithy and pertinent manner.

In dealing with what it styles a "Backsliding Bill," it says:

The change is an admission not only that the attempt to legalize illegal votes was wrong, but that he realized the fact that the attempt was condemned by public opinion. The ultimate aim of the new bill is precisely the same as that of the original scheme and that is to deprive eight Conservatives by legislation of the seats they fairly won at the polls.

Mr. Hardy will not trust the election judges to interpret the law, but he is prepared to trust the Court of Appeal to a limited extent. He has such confidence in the Court of Appeal that he is willing to let that Court practically decide whether the Liberal or the Conservative candidates in the close constable constituences are to have the seats, always provided that it decides in favor of the Liberals.

If the Court decides that the constable vote was legal, it is to be counted in favor of the Liberal candidates. Legal or illegal, it is to be counted against the Conservative candidates. He says, in effect: "If the toss is in my favor all right; if not, we will toss up again."

His blunder betrayed the Globe and other Liberal organs into staunchly upholding the principle of creating votes by retroactive legislation, and then he dropped the principle like a hot potato.

Had Mr. Hardy, in addition to acknowledging his wrong-doing, brought forth works meet for repentance, there might have been some disposition in the public mind to condone his wrongful intentions.

Baffled in one attempt at political iniquity, he immediately tries another, with the same ultimate end in view.

It is a wonder he has not introduced a bill to authorize members of the Government who cannot get seats on the floor of the House to speak and vote from the gallery.

Whatever gains Mr. Hardy may make in the House by his trickery must surely be at the expense of his popularity among the electorate, and even if he decides to attempt to govern for the next four years with only two-thirds of his Cabinet in the Legislature, he cannot escape a number of bye-elections.

Mr. Hardy's tactics have not a single merit but their unscrupulousness.

IT IS NOW WAR TO THE KNIFE

Opposition Will Contest Every Stage of Constable Bill.

There Is Now Every Likelihood That the Session Will Thus Be Very Prolonged—The Question of a Boodling Ram—Papers to Be Brought Down—The Continuation of the Debate on the Address.

Toronto, April 11.—Before the meeting of the Legislature yesterday, the Opposition caucused on the Contable bill, which Mr. Hardy would not bring down the day before without a promise that the Opposition would not provide a debate on its first reading. It may be safely judged that there will be no conceding this point to the Premier. The bill will be fought from beginning to end, at every stage and at every juncture. This looks like an indefinite prolongation of the session.

The Provincial Secretary, for the Minister of Agriculture, said there was no record in the department of the Government having purchased a ram from T. D. Hodgins during the past five years.

Mr. Hodgins, Conservative member for East Middlesex, said he had been accused of having sold a ram to the Government at a long price during the election campaign. It was true the Government had purchased a ram he had sold, but not from him but from a middleman, and consequently as he had not got the cash he must be excused from having had any boodling transaction with the Government.

The return asked for under this head will be brought down.

In reply to Mr. Hodgins' motion for a return of all correspondence concerning the proposed normal school for London, Mr. Ross promised to have it brought down.

Mr. Douglas, E. Northumberland, resumed the debate on the address. He spoke as a farmer, and defended the curriculum of the agricultural college. The petition asking for Mr. Dryden's retention as Minister had been signed largely by Liberals and Conservatives alike in his riding. Personally he had received many valuable points from the work of the Agricultural College. After justifying the good roads appointment, he closed by saying that the rise in the price of wheat was as much to be credited to the Government as the rise in binder twine.

Mr. Foy, South Toronto, hoped that the Fisheries bill would be taken up promptly and would not be afterwards found to be ultra vires. He claimed that the Ministerialists had had the party lash raised over them and they were supporting Mr. Hardy, right or wrong. He argued the meaning of the word reasonable in the time which should elapse between the defeat of a Minister and the time he found a seat, and thought five months more than enough. He quoted precedents in support of his contentions, and claimed that the presence of Ministers in the House was absolutely necessary owing to the enquiries by members. He held that the fact that the Commissioner of Crown Lands had given an important decision since he had a seat in the House ought to suggest that a gentleman responsible to the country should be in the position. He then argued that the constable vote matter should be settled by the courts, and stated that he was pleased to have from both sides of the House an expression against ex post facto legislation. He contended in closing that the House had no right to interfere in election trials that are now pending.

Dr. McKay, South Oxford, took up the remaining half hour before recess.

After dinner Mr. Powell, Ottawa, in the course of his address, made two telling points, the first when he charged the Government with intimidating the Ottawa civil service and the second when he called attention to an article by the late Hon. W. E. Gladstone, in the North American Review, contending that Ministers should have seats in the House.

Mr. Graham, proprietor of the Brockville Recorder and member for Brockville, produced circulars to identify Mr. Whitney with the licensed victuallers, and in further proof that the Government had not all the liquor men's votes, told how his own seat had been protested by a bartender.

Mr. Lucas, Conservative whip, recalled in rebuttal how the only hotelkeeper who had supported him in Centre Grey had since lost his license, and how a license inspector had stumped on the same platform with Hon. John Dryden.

Mr. Hislop, another promising young Government back-bencher, concluded, and Mr. Kribs of Waterloo moved the adjournment of the debate.

TERMS AGREED TO.

Cuba and Porto Rico to Be Evacuated—The Town of Coamo Taken—Soldiers' Perils at Sea.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Secretary Day at 1 o'clock yesterday made the following statement to the Associated Press: "We have agreed upon a protocol embodying the proposed terms for the negotiation of a treaty of peace, including the evacuation of Cuba and Porto Rico, and it is expected this protocol will be executed."

The preliminary negotiations looking toward the confirmation of peace advanced a long stride yesterday when the Secretary of State and the French Ambassador agreed upon the terms by which future negotiations for a treaty are to be conducted, and reduced these to the form of a protocol. This protocol, it is true, has yet to be signed, and is to be submitted to the Spanish Government before the formal signatures are affixed, but the Administration's view as to the progress made to-day was set out in Secretary Day's remark, "It is expected that this protocol will be executed."

Town of Coamo Taken.

Coamo, Porto Rico, Aug. 11.—Gen. Wilson took the town of Coamo yesterday, with a loss of only seven men wounded.

The Spaniards are known to have lost their commander, Major Yelloscas, Capt. Ecauto, Capt. Lopez and 9 privates, all killed, and to have 35 wounded. The Americans captured 180 prisoners, practically the whole force of Spaniards, except the cavalry.

The capture of the town and garrison was neatly planned and splendidly executed.

Soldiers' Perils at Sea.

Hong-Kong, Aug. 11.—The third United States Philippine expedition, now at Manila, encountered many perils. Typhoid and meningitis played havoc on the transports. Two seamen went insane and leaped overboard. When three days out from Honolulu fire was discovered aboard the transport Morgan City, in the coal bunkers. At midnight, when all the troops were asleep, Capt. Dillon assembled the crew and told them the news. Every man was pledged to secrecy.

Silently the men coupled on the hose and the steam pipes. Then they began battling the flames in the hold. Next morning the fire was as fierce as ever. Night and day the heroic crew fought the fire, but with little success. And still the 700 troops aboard did not know that a fire was burning beneath their feet. The Morgan City fell off in speed, and the whole fleet was delayed.

Capt. Dillon asked no aid, and the fire burned until the fleet reached Manila, when for the first time the troops learned of their peril.

Mr. Beaven Has Failed.

Vancouver, Aug. 11.—Hon. Robert Beaven, who was sent for by Lieutenant-Governor MacInnes to form a Ministry last Monday, has failed so far and it is not believed that he will succeed in the task, as the Opposition leaders are said to have repudiated him.

The Lieutenant-Governor yesterday sent for Hon. Joseph Martin to cope with him in the political situasion, and Mr. Martin is now in Victoria. It is generally believed that the announcement will be made to-day that he has been given the Beaven task and, moreover, that he will succeed. The newspapers here and in Victoria yesterday comment unfavorably on the Lieutenant-Governor's move in calling to Mr. Beaven.

Penny Postage at Christmas.

London, Aug. 11. — (Montreal Star Cable.)—I learn on unimpeachable authority that the new Imperial postal rates will come into operation on Christmas Day, the consent of the Chancellor of the Exchequer having been obtained to-day. Hon. Wm. Mulock will leave for Canada on August 20. It is definitely decided that he shall receive a Knighthood, though it will not be announced just yet.

Charged With Murder.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—High Constable Groulx and Constable Lafevre of Hull last night arrested both Louis and Andre Riopelle, on suspicion of having been implicated in the death of Leon Boyer, who was found dead on the Eardley Road, on Saturday. The examination opens on the 17th.

CURZON ACCEPTS.

Mr. Balfour Makes the Announcement in the House in the Course of a Reply to Sir Charles Dilke.

London, Aug. 11.—During the debate on the appropriation bill in the House of Commons yesterday, Sir Charles Dilke, Advanced Radical, opened an attack upon the Government's foreign policy, especially in the Far East.

The Liberal leader in the House, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, followed in the same strain.

The Government leader, Mr. Balfour, replying, said he regretted the absence of the Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, on account of indisposition, adding "especially as it would have been the last occasion for him to address the House on foreign affairs, a subject upon which he has made so great and deserved a reputation." (Cheers.)

Mr. Balfour then announced Mr. Curzon's acceptance of the Vice Royalty of India, in succession to the Earl of Elgin.

During the course of his remarks, Mr. Balfour said it would not be pretended that the British Empire alone, or in an alliance with another empire, could prevent the legitimate development of other commercial and military empires. Mr. Balfour then said:

"Though we may not anticipate maintaining our old relative superiority in China, it is expected that the volume of British trade will increase as rapidly in the future as in the past. The question of equal facilities of trade is distinct from the question of concessions."

The foreign office last evening formally announced the appointment of Mr. George N. Curzon, until now the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, as Viceroy of India, in succession to the Earl of Elgin.

Mr. Curzon, the new Vicerory of India will probably start for Calcutta in November. The appointment excites quite unusual interest.

What the Montreal, Ottawa & Georgian Bay Canal Would Do for Canada.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—The issuing by the Queen's Printer of the evidence taken by, and the report of, the Senate Special Committee on the Montreal, Ottawa & Georgian Bay canal has once more attracted public attention to that important undertaking. The pamphlet contains 50 pages, of which 42 are taken up with evidence. The report concludes: Your committee, reviewing the evidence as a whole, are of the opinion:

That the construction of such a canal as that proposed by the Montreal, Ottawa & Georgian Bay Company is, beyond a doubt, feasible and practicable.

Your committee can only refer to the eivdence of the major general commanding in respect to the advantage of the proposed canal as viewed by the Imperial military authorities.

Your committee, therefore, in submitting the evidence adduced by the various scientific, expert, commercial and other witnesses, feel that it proves most conclusively that the construction of the Montreal, Ottawa & Georgian Bay canal will be of inestimable benefit to the general prosperity of the Dominion of Canada.

Senor Carranza Reappears.

Montreal, Aug. 11.—Lieut. Ramon De Carranza, the ex-member of Senor Polo's Washington staff, who was ordered out of the country by Sir Wilfrid Laurier at the instance of the British Colonial Office, turned up in Montreal again yesterday morning. He made no attempt to conceal his presence, signing his name on the Windsor register. He was found at the house of the Spanish Consul, but refused to offer any explanation of his presence here. His lawyer says he came back to bid his friends good-bye.

Dr. Pattullo Dead.

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly—that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. The cause is generally disordered stomach, and a cure can be effected by using Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, containing Mandrake and Dandelion. Mr. Finlay Wark, Lysander, P.Q., writes: "I find Parmelee's Pills a first class article for Billous Headache.

Wheat Went Down a Notch at Chicago, But Spot and Sept. and Dec. Options Rose at Liverpool.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 10.

Doubt as to the exact nature of the pending U.S. Government crop report had the effect of checking trading on the speculative wheat market at Chicago to-day, and, as a result, a strong opening was followed by a weak turn. At the close all deliveries were ⅝c to 1¼c per bushel below Tuesday's final figures. The demand for cash wheat at Chicago continues to exceed receipts, the farmers still holding back.

At the Liverpool board to-day spot wheat advanced 2d to 3d per cental; the September future appreciated to the extent of 1⅛d and the December option rose ¾d. Paris wheat went 20 to 25 centimes higher.

THE AUGUST CROP REPORT.

On the Whole It Is a Very Encouraging Compilation.

The Best Crop of Fall Wheat Ever Harvested in the Province Is Offset by Losses in the Average of Other Cereals—Three Tons of Hay Per Acre Reported—The Potato Crop Below the Average, and Fruit Variable.

Toronto, Aug. 11.—The following is from the August crop bulletin now in course of preparation by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The figures of acreage and yield will be published in a few days:

The Weather—Detailed reports from the Toronto Observatory as to the temperature and precipitation of the three months from May to July inclusive indicate that the mean temperature during May and July was above the average at every station in the province, the difference in the majority of cases being from one to four degrees. The same is true as regards June, with the exception of one station, where it was very slightly below the average. The general mean average for the whole period was 63.9, as compared with 61.7 degrees, the average for the corresponding period for the previous sixteen years. The rainfall for May was about half an inch less than the average, that for June very slightly in excess of it, while the precipitation during July was only 1.11 inches, as compared with the sixteen years' average of the month of 2.63 inches, or considerably less than one-half. The result of the high temperature of July, combined with the scanty rainfall, was to hasten the ripening of all grain crops and advance the harvesting season.

Best Crop of Fall Wheat.

Fall Wheat—The crop of fall wheat is one of the best ever harvested in the province. Both east and west the yields have been large, an occasional low yield being more than balanced by a heavy return close by. The crop was cut early, and was harvested in a good condition generally, although a few correspondents complain of "lodging" owing to the heavy straw, and of "shelling." The grain is described as being plump, and in many cases goes considerably over standard weight. Occasional reports of rust were received, but little complaint was received regarding insects except in the case of the midge, which was injurious in Welland, Haldimand and Lincoln, particularly in the last named county.

Spring Wheat—Many correspondents in the eastern portion of the province report a considerable increase in the acreage devoted to spring wheat. This crop, like other cereals, ripened early owing to the hot weather, which in some neighborhoods prevented the heads from filling well. The yield as a whole, however, will be considerably above the average, especially in eastern Ontario, where a number of correspondents speak of the crop as the best for many years. The main drawbacks experienced have been frost and drouth, and some slight injury from rust and midge is also reported.

Barley—The crop is generally good, and with a few exceptions the grain is bright and in fine condition, though in some places light in weight owing to the heat and lack of moisture. The frost in July also inflicted some damage on the crop. Slight losses from smut and rust have been observed, but there appears to have been a marked exemption from the ravages of destructive insects.

Oats—There will be about an average yield of oats as regards quantity, the crop, which promised splendidly during the earlier part of the season, having suffered considerably from the late frosts, and to a still greater degree from the hot, dry weather, which caused premature ripening. The straw is consequently short, and the grain apt to be light. The yield is better in the extreme eastern counties, both in quantity and quality, than elsewhere. In a number of localities injuries from frost and the attacks of grasshoppers are mentioned, but smut seems to have almost entirely disappeared, being mentioned by only one correspondent.

Rye—The greater part of this crop is fed green, to supplement pasture, and the results this season have been satisfactory. Where grown for the grain the yield per acre will be slightly above the average, except in the Lake Ontario counties, in some of which there was a small yield.

Beans Not Increasing in Popularity.

Beans—Judging by the remarks of correspondents beans do not appear to be increasing in popularity as a field crop. The crop was more or less affected by drouth and frost, but despite these drawbacks it will be almost up to the average for yield.

Peas—The yield of peas varies greatly, even in the same county or township. The crop got a good start, but the continued drouth checked the growth, and caused the vines to ripen too early. The frost of July 10th also did considerable injury to this crop. The straw, though short, is bright, and will make good fodder. The "bug" was frequently complained of in the Lake Erie district, but further east it did not appear to give much trouble. The yield per acre for the province will fall a little short of the average, and runs all the way from 10 to 30 bushels to the acre.

Three Tons of Hay Per Acre.

Hay and Clover—Correspondents are almost unanimous in favorable comments regarding this crop. While old meadows did not do so well, newly sown fields gave large yields. Three tons to the acre are frequently reported, and four and five tons per acre are also mentioned. The average will be about two tons, or say fifty per cent. above the average. Many farmers cannot find room in their barns for the surplus crop. In addition to the generous yield the crop generally has been saved in first-class condition, several correspondents claiming that in this respect it is the best for many years. Cutting was earlier than usual. Alsike did not do so well as red clover or timothy, and there will be a remarkable scarcity of seed in the case of this variety.

Corn—This promises to be a fair crop in the Lake Erie counties, but in the other districts much injury has been done by the frost of the second week of July. The drouth has also told against the crop in every section of the province. Several Middlesex correspondents refer to large numbers of crows and black birds having attacked the young corn.

Potatoes—The potato crop will be considerably below the average in most localities owing to the late frosts in June and July, which were very destructive in the northern counties and some low-lying lands elsewhere, and the more recent drouth, the effects of which have been generally felt throughout the province. A good yield is anticipated in the St. Lawrence counties, where the conditions have been more favorable, and timely rains may bring some improvement in the case of late-planted crops. The ravages of the potato beetle are noted by some correspondents as an additional cause of the shortage, and blight has appeared in a few sections.

Roots—The large majority of reports as to the root crops are encouraging, the only drawback being the excessive and long-continued drouth which has retarded development in many localities. With a due amount of moisture during the remainder of the season there will be a good yield, but otherwise the crop will be a light one. Little injury has been done by insects, except that two or three correspondents refer to the ravages of grasshoppers in Muskoka and Manitoulin.

Flax—The crop will be only middling in quality, frost and drouth having told upon both seed and stalk.

Tobacco—The counties of Essex and Kent have been experiencing a boom this year in the growing of tobacco. A large area has been given to the crop, and although the early part of the season was too dry for best results the plants in many cases are quite promising. While many of the growers are practically without experience, the general opinion appears to be that the crop will be a fairly successful one in that particular section. Grasshoppers and the "worms" of the sphinx moth are reported to have done injury to the plants. Correspondents also report tobacco as being grown in the county of Prescott and on St. Joseph's Island, Algoma, and other sections are also becoming interested in the crop.

Fruit a Variable Crop.

Fruit—The apple harvest will be a light one this season, the yield in most localities being considerably below the average. This is attributable among other causes to heavy rain storms occurring while the trees were in blossom, which interfered with fertilization, and to the prevalence in many neighborhoods of the tent caterpillar and other destructive insects which have wrought much damage where spraying has been neglected. Much of the fruit is small and hard, owing to the drouth. Winter apples will be particularly scarce. Plums, while yielding fairly in some parts, have sustained a good deal of injury in many places from the attacks of the curculio, and the yield as a whole will be below the average. Peaches as a rule have done but poorly, and the crop will be small. Pears have been the most successful of the larger fruits, and are likely to be abundant. There was a good yield of cherries, although some losses from black knot are noted. Grapes will also be plentiful. The drouth proved injurious to small fruits, which promised an immense yield. Strawberries yielded fairly, but raspberries were small and dry.

Pastures and Live Stock—Pasturage was excellent during the spring and early summer, and the yield of hay was large, but the recent dry, parching weather has been severely felt, many farmers being compelled to feed hay to their stock. The condition of live stock generally is good. The prospects for fall and winter are highly encouraging, as there are ample supplies to winter the stock. The general lack of fresh pasture has resulted in a marked temporary falling off in the flow of milk, and a consequent slackening in dairy operations. Recent rains have already in some neighborhoods restored the fertility of the pastures.

The Apiary—The season has been a good one for honey, bees swarming early and in some neighborhoods excessively. The average yield will be nearly fifty pounds per hive, and there has been a good increase in colonies.

Labor and Wages—The supply of farm labor as a rule has been fully adequate to the demand. Through the greater part of the province the wages of harvest hands run from 75 cents to $1.25 or $1.50 per day, with board. Monthly wages vary from $12 to $25 per month, with board, the larger amounts being where engagements are limited to a month or two in the harvest season. In some eastern localities men are obtainable by the day for from 50 to 75 cents and board, or $1 without. Taking the province throughout, $1 or $1.25 with board, would probably be a fair average for harvest hands engaged by the day, and $15 per month for engagements for the season.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—Another strike is imminent at the W. C. Edwards Company's mills, Rockland. The men have demanded from the firm a ten-hour day without any reduction in pay, an answer to be given by September 1st. Mr. Edwards states he will not consent to their demands.

Stolen Kisses.

Young men do not try to steal kisses from girls who are sallow and sickly. There is a book containing over a thousand pages and over three hundred illustrations, that every young woman and every mother of young daughters should read. It tells in plain, every day language that anyone can understand, many vital truths that every maid, wife and mother should know. It tells the untold suffering and agony that women endure who enter upon the important duties of wifehood and motherhood without seeing to it that they are strong and well in a womanly way.

It tells about a wonderful medicine for women. A medicine that fits for wifehood and motherhood. A marvelous medicine that gives strength, vigor, vitality and elasticity to the delicate and important feminine organs that bear the brunt of maternity. It contains the names, addresses and photographs of many hundreds of women who were weak, sickly, nervous, fretful, childless wives, but who are now healthy, happy, amiable wives and mothers, through the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. That book is Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It used to cost $1.50, now it is free. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, for a paper-covered copy. Fine French cloth binding, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

"During the fall and winter of 1894 I was engaged in teaching at Public School No. 31, in Smith Co., near Tyler, Texas," writes Mr. J. P. Sneed, of Omen, Texas. "During this time my wife was badly afflicted with female weakness. We tried three of the best physicians in the county without benefit to my wife's health, but at great expense. My wife grew worse and we gave up in despair. She could not get in and out of doors without help. She was not able to stand on her feet long at a time, and complained of dragging down pains in the abdomen. Nothing but an untimely death seemed awaiting her. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for his advice. My wife took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and in six months was completely cured, at a cost of less [illegible] we employed before consulting Dr. Pierce."

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves tired, listless, dyspeptic and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these Pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St., Glencoe, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

EMPIRE DAY.

New Holiday in the Public Schools of Ontario.

An order in council has been passed making May 24th "Empire Day." The proposal for this was forwarded by Hon. G. W. Ross to the Dominion Educational Association now in annual session in Halifax, and adopted. The day will be observed as a half holiday in all the public schools in the province and will be celebrated by the raising of flags and other patriotic ceremonies. All the superintendents of education represented at the Halifax meeting have favored the idea, in all likelihood become recognized throughout the Dominion. When the 23rd falls on a Saturday or a Sunday the ceremonies are to be held on the Friday afternoon preceding.

Daily Intelligencer.

ANOTHER "SPLENDID RECORD."

The Globe claims the increased revenue of $500,000 in the Post Office Department during the last year, as a saving effected by Postmaster-General Mulock. Why not claim the splendid crop of hay this year as the result of Mr. Fisher's efforts in the Department of Agriculture; or the increased catch of cod and mackerel to the Minister of Fisheries' unsound arguments on the most favored nation treaties? An easy, but characteristically dishonest way of manufacturing a "Splendid Record."

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—"What do you think of the Constable Vote question?"

"In nine cases out of ten I think, that any man a cop puts in, ought to be fined or sent to gaol."—Events.

—The first thing we know the Globe will be preaching protection as the salvation of the country. It is an awful falling away from its old time principles.—Events.

—It is to be much desired that the Canadian delegates at the Quebec conference will take a firm stand in protecting our saw-logs, pulpwood and crude nickel, especially the last, which, in view of an increased demand for it in warship building, promises to become a most valuable metal. —Events.

—The Ottawa Citizen and Free Press have been discussing their relative circulations which has resulted in the Free Press styling the Citizen "a rechauffage," "a matutinal shrew," "a galled jade," "a parallelogram." The Citizen's retort is that the Free Press "is nothing more than an octype of a siphonaphorous hydrozoan." This equals Dan O'Connel and the Dublin "fish-wife."

—The momentous question is: "Are you in favor of the passing of an act prohibiting the importation, manufacture or sale of spirit, wine, ale, beer, cider, and all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverage?" Now, don't all speak at once. There is plenty of time, as the question is to be settled on September 29th, after the hot and thirsty spell is over. Events.

—It is very funny to read in the Toronto Globe a defence of the protective duty on cotton. Only a few years ago the Globe was yelling for a removal of the cotton, coal oil and a hundred other duties, that it did not scruple to declare were simply acts of robbery of the people. The only Conservative institution that the Globe cannot bolt whole is the Dominion Senate, and that it wants wiped out of existence, simply because it interferes with the Liberal Commons having as free a hand as the Globe wishes it to have.—Events.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS.

The President of the G. T. R. and Party Spend a Few Hours in Belleville.

About four o'clock yesterday afternoon a special train consisting of three coaches passed down the Grand Junction railway to the dock. The coaches were the Violet, the private coach of the President of the G. T. R. of Canada, the General Manager's coach and a baggage car. The party on board consisted of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, President of the G. T. R., and Lady Rivers-Wilson, General Manager C. M. Hays and Miss Pauncefote, daughter of the British Ambassador at Washington.

The party were joined by Mr. John Bell, Q.C., Solicitor for the G. T. R., at the dock. It is understood that the only purpose of the party coming to Belleville was to view once again the beauties of the Bay of Quinte and to try the fishing. Boats were engaged in the evening and in company with Mr. W. E. Foster the whole party went out on the bay to fish, but met with very indifferent success. The party left for the east shortly after seven this morning.

The beautiful coaches were examined and admired by a great many la t night. Sir Charles' palace on wheels, Violet, which by the way was named in honor of his beautiful wife, excited the greatest admiration. It is a master-piece of the decorator's art.

A Fizzle.

The "grand summer carnival" at Toronto, consisting of sculling and canoe races, held this week, and to which the City Council contributed largely of the civic funds, has proved as great a fizzle as the affair which was held here two years ago. The Star says: "The big crowd of visitors has not arrived; it is not likely to arrive. The hotel keepers have their regular quota of summer visitors, but these visitors, if they know that there is a regatta on, do not take the trouble to go and see it. Outside the contestants themselves, and their immediate following, club or personals, there is probably not a handful of persons who have been attracted to the city by this series of regattas.

WANT MORE WATER.

Efforts Being Made by Manufacturers To Improve the Water Power.

It is understood that Mr. R. B. Cooper and Mr. W. H. Lingham are making an effort to secure a better water power for their mills. The low water in the Moira this year has been a great drawback to them in their operations as well as to other local manufacturers. There is a lake about 60 miles north of here, the power of which is the joint property of the Gilmour Co., of Trenton, and the Rathbun Co., of Deseronto, and it is thought that if the dam there is released, there will be an abundance of water here. The Gilmour Co. have consented to replace the dam and efforts are being made to induce the Rathbuns to make a like concession.

They found it to be in an unsafe condition and recommended that it be rebuilt. The work will be undertaken as soon as possible.

MISS FRENCH ON THE STAND.

Ex-Manager Baines Also Gives His Testimony.

Court Will Adjourn Till Tuesday—Magistrate Daly Will Decide To-Day Whether He Will Try the Case—The Eventualities in Either Event—Young Joe Haycock Corroborates His Aunt, Mrs. McGreer, as to the Noises.

Napanee, Aug. 12.—The evidence adduced yesterday was very interesting, but it is as yet not considered here as conclusive. To-day will be a startling day for both defence and Crown. The Crown will ask the magistrate to convict on the evidence produced, and the defence will object to a committal. If the magistrate decides to try the case, then the Crown will declare its case closed. If the magistrate decides not to try the case, then a thorough criminal investigation must go on before him. In that case an adjournment must be had till the defence can gather its witnesses together. It is understood that Magistrate Daly will try the case if the evidence is strong on either side. He will give his ultimatum this afternoon.

HIGH CONSTABLE SILLS

Gave Evidence as to Arresting Holden and Pare.

High Constable Sills was the first witness yesterday. He testified to having arrested Pare and Holden on August 21, 1897. He also testified to the discovery of the keys in the police station. The defence tried to adduce evidence to show that the detectives were anxious to connect Ponton, but the Magistrate ruled out all questions bearing on this point.

The Indian, J. G. Hall, took the stand and identified Holden and Mackie as the two men who were at his place in February, 1897. "I did not hear Holden's name, but I had seen him in Belleville two or three times before. Mackie told me his name," said the witness.

Nathan Mix, a farmer on the Wiggins place east of the station, testified that he had seen Mackie, Holden, Pare and Roach around his farm from June until the latter part of August. The man who came down on the train was called the "dude."

Recognized the "Dude."

"I see the 'dude' in the corner of the prisoners' box," said the witness, pointing out Mackie. "One night I saw two men on the tracks; one had a light coat on. There was a bicycle up against the fence near the track that night." This witness was not sure about Mackie, though he declared the resemblance to the dude was strong.

Mrs. Mix followed in a similar strain, but positively identified Pare, Holden and Mackie as the tramps.

Little Willie Mix made a good witness and told a story similar to his parents.

John Long testified to having seen Holden and Mackie three successive mornings last summer between 5 and 7 o'clock.

Frank Vanalstine positively identified Pare, Holden and Mackie as three tramps that summered last year on Hawley's Point about one mile east of the town.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Miss French Told Her Story in a Musical and Sympathetic Tone.

The court opened sharply at 2 o'clock. Miss Margaret French took the witness stand. She told her story in a low, musical voice that awakened sympathy among the audience. To Mr. Osler she said: "My name is Margaret French. I live with my widowed mother in Toronto. I am a first cousin to prisoner Mackie. I had eight months in the house of Mackie during the winter of 1897 and 1898. He lives at Church street, Belleville, with his wife and four children, and I worked at the house. I have had no quarrel with him. I made a statement to Detective Dougherty, and, not liking to give evidence, went to Detroit, but was followed and brought back."

Witness saw some tools on the foot of the bed and a revolver was on the bureau one day, but did not recognize the jimmy and the brace and bit produced in court. Two days before she saw the tools Mackie came home with a cut on the side of his face. He said he had fallen out of the rig and cut his face on the ice. She had no date, but it must have been in the last of January or first of February. Continuing:

"Mackie asked me to write a letter for him. He asked me to address the letter to W. Durand, Dominion Bank. I am not sure if it was addressed to Napanee. This letter stated that Mackie was a girl and her friend going to call on Mr. Durand and his friend. They had called, but could not go in because there was company. He cautioned Durand not to have anyone there. The girls wanted to go in by the stairs, but might get in by the back way. I wrote such a letter, and gave it to Mackie. He did not tell me what he wanted it for."

Witness then identified Jack Roach's photo as that of a man Mrs. Mackie called Jack, and once she said during the Preston trial to Mackie that if it was too bad that Mr. Ponton should be convicted." He said nothing. Mackie slept till early late in the morning. Sometimes it was 12 or 1 o'clock of the day time when he would get up. She never heard Ponton's name mentioned by Mackie prior to the theft. Robert Francis, in Toronto, is my father's brother. He is now in Dawson City. He went seven weeks ago. He has got there. Last fall he lived at 59 Mutual street. He was there when Mackie was with them. They were often together."

To Lawyer Wilson she said: "A hammer, something to sharpen the knives and a revolver were the tools I saw. I always noticed a revolver in the bureau drawer."

Mackie Called His Lawyer.

At this stage Prisoner Mackie called his lawyer over and held an animated conversation.

Then witness went on: "There was a trunk in the other room. The upper part of the trunk may have been on the bed, and the tools in this. Mrs. Mackie and I generally went to bed between 10 and 11 o'clock. Robert was sick once while I was at his house. I left on July 6 or 7. That was before Mrs. Mackie's little girl had her teeth treated. When she spoke about the runaway he talked as he ordinarily did. I did not think it was extraordinary at that time. I would not be positive that the photo shown me was that of 'Jack.' The first time I met my cousin was 12 years ago. Then two years ago I became better acquainted with him. I heard Robert always kept late hours. It was not extraordinary that he did so last summer."

This finished Miss French's examination.

Chief Adams on the Stand.

Chief Adams testified that he came to Napanee on Oct. 3, 1897, and that he is Chief of Police. He detailed the search for the keys in the police station door before yesterday, and what he found. He found an oilcloth, an old rusty, dinted tin box and the tin lid of a box in and near a hole near the railway track near the half-mile post east of the village on July 14, 12.45 noon. On Sunday morning, 17th July, in company with Detectives Wilkes, Dougherty, Thornhill, Inspector Healy and Mrs. Healy he went into the Blewett shed and dug up certain burglars' tools, which he produced.

To Mr. Porter he said the box was found away from the hole and would not go into it until the loose dirt was scraped out.

To Mr. Wilson he said Detective Dougherty was present when the oilcloth was found.

Sidney Scott identified Holden, Pare and Mackie, and Jack Roach's picture, as men who were loafing around half a mile from Hawley's Point during the rainy week in July, 1897.

Walter Coxall, a grocer, testified to having sold an empty tin biscuit box labelled Toronto Biscuit Company a year ago, but could not identify the one in court without the label.

Joseph Haycock, jr., said he slept in Napanee in Mrs. Greer's room in the Grange block on the night of Aug. 27, 1897. Ponton's room was right below where he slept. He was awakened by something heavy falling on the floor. After that he heard the moving of light feet and murmur of voices. These sounds were directly below him. They vanished towards the stairs. One night he met a man right in front of the entrance to Ponton's room. He had a black moustache.

To Mr. Northup witness said he met the man about three weeks prior to the robbery. Could not say he was one of the prisoners.

A. W. Grange said on July 1, 1897, Mr. Ponton rented these rooms. Mr. Douglas rented the rooms and paid the rent.

Manager Hill of the Dominion Bank testified that the books of the bank showed that there was, on Aug. 27, '97, $31,329 in the bank, besides $10,000 in unsigned notes. The key found by Sills fitted the combination lock perfectly.

Ex-Manager Baines on the Stand.

Ex-Manager Baines identified the key of his compartment, and said: "On Aug. 27 there was $33,140.50 in the bank." On Aug. 5 he was playing cricket against Picton. He asked Mr. Ponton to close the safe for him that night. The match was in Napanee. He was accustomed to lock the safe himself.

"Had you any assets in Government bonds?" asked Mr. Osler.

"Yes. The ten days' balance sheet shows this. This sheet of Aug. 10, third item, says: 'Government securities, $10,486.20.' That is in Mr. Ponton's writing. This book was Mr. Ponton's work. Mr. Durand might also see the entry as well as Mr. Ponton and I. Mr. Durand knew the combination of the safe, but he had no business in the safe."

"As a matter of fact had you any Government bonds in the bank?"

"No. We never had these Government bonds here. They were in Toronto. They were a ten days' asset; $2,600 was reduced every six months."

"Did you ever put any of the new $10 bills in circulation?"

"Yes. That was done on Aug. 27, the banking day of the theft, but before the robbery." He did not see any marks of violence the morning after the robbery, but afterwards found a hole on the side of the safe.

The combination lock was intact externally and internally. The iron plate between the two compartments had been raised up, an instrument put in and the compartment pried off. The oilcloth was produced. "We had such a piece around some mortgages in our safe. After the burglary it was gone," said the witness. He identified some of the coins found on a prisoner as his, but not as of them. He recognized also the bills as a portion of the stolen unsigned bills. "Letter A 46401 to 47000 inclusive are the numbers of the bills stolen," said the witness. He then explained Ponton's finances and verified prisoner's signature.

Mr. Northrup took up the cross-examination. The witness said that Mr. Green first informed him that the safe could not be opened.

"What caused you to suspect Mr. Ponton?"

"The sending up of Green, instead of receiving a telephone message, as was done on ordinary bank business. I did not speak to Mr. Ponton about that. Ponton lost five or six minutes in sending for me. He should have telephoned."

"What's the next suspicious circumstance?"

"There were no other suspicious circumstances."

Witness said he had written the combination of the safe on the back of a calendar.

Going over the list of juniors in the bank during his regime the witness said: "Jones, Barron, Ponton, Loundesborough, Tucker and Green lawfully had the vault combination, while Durand and I had lawfully one combination of the safe." On Sept. 10 he found a hole in the side of the safe.

Detective Wilkes took the stand and to Mr. Osler said: "I am a Pinkerton detective. I first arrived here last year, four days after the robbery. I searched Ponton's rooms."

"Look at this paper," said Mr. Osler, handing an impression of a key on paper.

"I found that in Mr. Ponton's room. There are three impression on that paper. I found it on the right hand side of the upper bureau drawer, under a paper lining. I found nothing else in the room. I saw Mr. Dougherty find cheques in the clothes of Mr. Ponton."

To Mr. Porter the detective witness said: "I was here before Detective Dougherty came on the scene. Mr. Green arrived a few days after I did. The rough holes in the partition seemed to have been bored by an old bit. Mr. Green and Mr. Young discovered these holes. I found no marks of violence on the safe door. I saw some paint chipped off. I did not examine the combination inside. The combination had been changed at that time. The lock of the upper compartment had its bolt bent. The lower compartment lock was intact. My impression was that the door of the upper compartment had been forced."

At 6.30 the court adjourned till to-day at 9.30 a.m.

Wedded.

Miss Helena Maud Peck, daughter of Mr. J. H. Peck, of Prince Edward County, was, on August 7th, married to Mr. John Percy Hawley, son of Mr. William Hawley, of Napanee. Rev. A. C. Mayhee performed the ceremony, which was a private one. Mr. Frank Dempsey assisted the groom and Miss Florence Dempsey was bridesmaid. The young couple will reside in Napanee.

THE LATEST.

THE BANK CASE.

Detective Wilkes Denies Any Animus Against Ponton.

THE MAGISTRATE WILL NOT TRY THE PRISONERS.

Evidence for the Defence Will be Heard--Last Year's Evidence of Bogart and Normile Put In--Pare Again Remanded--Court Adjourned Until Tuesday Next.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Napanee, Aug. 12.—There were few persons in court this morning. The women were decidedly in the minority.

Detective Wilkes was again put in the box and said that when he first came on the case there were three "Willies" in the bank, but he denied ever having looked through the bank books. His evidence of last year was put into court and taken as read.

The detective addressed a few words to the court, denying that he had any personal animus against the prisoner and complaining of the conduct of the lawyers for the defence, especially during last year's trial.

Clarence Bogart, Manager of the Dominion Bank at Montreal, was sworn but gave no evidence. The evidence he gave at last year's trial was put into court and taken as read.

The same was done with Wm. J. Normile's evidence regarding Ponton's purchase of a bicycle.

Then ensued argument by Mr. Osler and Mr. Porter as to whether the Magistrate should try the case or not.

Mr. Osler claimed that the Magistrate should not try the case because all the three prisoners did not elect. He said this was the rule that guided a County Judge.

Mr. Porter claimed that this rule did not apply to the Magistrate, and that the Crown should not ask for a decision till all the evidence had been put in.

The Magistrate said that Mr. Osler was his legal adviser, and the responsibility of his action rested solely upon the Crown. He decided not to try the case, but was willing to hear any evidence the defence had to offer.

The defence asked for time to get their witnesses.

The Magistrate fixed Tuesday at 2 o'clock for the reassembling of the court.

During the morning prisoner Pare was again remanded to gaol for eight days.

The court adjourned till Tuesday at 2 p.m.

MR. PORTER BACK.

He Criticizes Magistrate Daly's Course.

Mr. E. Guss Porter, counsel for Mr. Ponton, returned to the city this afternoon. He expresses great surprise at the decision of Magistrate Daly, and declares his statement that he would be guided by Mr. Osler's opinion to be most peculiar and unprecedented.

NOTE.

The Pinkerton men have been in town several times this week hunting up evidence. They have prudently confined themselves to lanes and back streets and their presence has not been noticed.

HORSE ATTACHED.

Difficulty Over a Cheque Leads to the Attachment of "Frank Smith."

It is said that a few days ago Mr. "Em" Pierce, of Springville, N.Y., who had been for some days in the city negotiating for the sale of his well-known pacing stallion "Frank Smith," went to the Merchants Bank to cash a cheque for $100, preparatory to leaving for home. The clerk, who was hurried at the time, made, it is alleged a mistake in counting the cash and gave him 20 ten dollar notes instead of 20 fives.

Soon after Mr. Pierce left the city the error was discovered and he was communicated with and asked to return the surplus $100. His reply was that he had received nothing in excess of the face of the cheque. It is understood that the manager of the bank has issued an attachment against the horse, which is here in charge of Mr. Ackerill, V. S.

Mr. Hamilton, manager of the bank, was seen by the INTELLIGENCER this morning, and asked if he could give any information, but he stated that any statement from him would be premature at present.

Aboard the Hattie Ann.

A few days ago Mr. Jas. Mullin, skipper of the sloop Hattie Ann, engaged W. Tarlington and C. Mercier to ship with him to Deseronto and back. After loading with lumber at Deseronto they were on their way back and had reached Telegraph Island when the gaff broke and the sails came down. They made two attempts to repair the gaff, but both times it broke. The crew claim that they lay off there for twenty-four hours with nothing to eat but a loaf of bread, washed down with buttermilk. Finally Mullin consented to return to Deseronto, where the crew claim that he discharged them, but Mr. Mullin claims that they mutinied and left. At any rate he refused to pay them and they shipped aboard another boat for Belleville.

Mr. Mullin was brought before Magistrate Flint this morning charged with non-payment of wages, but the case was dismissed, Mr. Flint remarking at the same time that the plaintiffs might feel thankful that they were not indicted for mutiny, under the provisions of the Marine Act. W. Carnew appeared for Mr. Mullin.

THE PLEBISCITE FARCE!

The INTELLIGENCER has, upon a number of occasions in the past, expressed its opinions upon the course pursued by the Government in submitting the question of Prohibition to the people, instead of grappling with the subject as a Government, and assuming the responsibility attached to such a policy. It is anti-British and a shirking of a responsibility which, under our system, attaches, legitimately, to the responsible advisers of the Crown. This duty the Government of the Dominion has evaded by resorting to a plebiscite, which is to be taken on the 29th of September next; when the people will be asked to record their votes, yea or nay, upon the question:

"Are you in favour of the passing of an Act prohibiting the importation, manufacture, or sale of spirits, wine, ale, beer, cider, and all other alcoholic liquors for use as beverages?"

Yes, or No, is all the elector has to say when he receives and deposits his ballot paper.

To meet the expenses of obtaining the opinion of the electors upon this question $250,000 was voted at the last session of the Dominion Parliament.

What is to follow after this quarter of a million of dollars has been spent and the vote taken, is in the womb of the future, the Premier refusing positively to state the policy of the Government.

In the course of the debate on the Plebiscite Bill, Ministers were urged to state what they proposed to do in case of an affirmative vote being given. It was asked:

1—Whether the Government would pass a prohibitory law if there was any affirmative vote of a majority?

2—Whether they would require a majority in each province?

3—Whether they would require a majority of the whole electorate or only of the [illegible]

The Premier declined to answer these plain pertinent questions so essential to the proper understanding of the subject, and as to what was to follow if the people affirmed the principle of prohibition. The Premier at first equivocated, confining himself to the simple declaration: "We leave it to the people and to the Government to decide what should be their policy after the result of the plebiscite is known."

After further pressure from the Opposition, he ventured to point out some of the difficulties which would be encountered in dealing with so important a subject, which any ordinary statesman should have well considered before submitting the question to the people, and been ready to inform each and every elector what was to follow, in case of an affirmative vote. No, in this, as on the school question, he sought a Torres Vedras behind which to take shelter, and therefore after much pressing, he gave vent to his fears, leaving, as will be seen on reading his statement, a number of loop holes through which to escape. He said:—

"If the plebiscite were to result in a prohibitory law the Minister of Finance would have a very serious task before him in replacing the revenue which would be immediately cut off, for at present $7,000,000 were derived from the liquor traffic in customs and excise. Additional taxes might have to be put on tea, coffee and sugar, but the addition could only be moderate, for if they went beyond a certain point they would [illegible] no revenue. No more duty could be placed on tobacco. Indeed, the tobacco duties were, perhaps, too high already, and any increase would only lead to an increase of smuggling. If, therefore, a prohibition law were carried, the Government might be faced by the necessity of direct taxation. [illegible] there was another consideration. Would prohibition prohibit? This also must be left to the electorate, and was a matter for their consideration. Another matter was the question of compensation, which had to be considered as well as revenue."

This indicates a doubt on the part of the Premier as to the propriety of attempting [illegible] even if the electorate [illegible] prohibition [illegible] venue [illegible] taxes on [illegible] who would [illegible] in Hayworth's [illegible] prohibitory law [illegible] been tried [illegible] Kirk [illegible] prohibit?"

[illegible] Impurer will ask himself [illegible] taints have been considered [illegible] policy formed thereon, before the [illegible] was submitted to the people? [illegible] the Government know now as well [illegible] will know after the vote, whether [illegible] will prohibit," and how a revenue of $7,000,000 is to [illegible] got of [illegible] was recently [illegible] is not necessary in the mining [illegible] intense.

the question of prohibition before him, and could not but have come to the conclusion that the principle would again be affirmed, and therefore should have stated frankly what his Government proposed to do. A contemporary points out that

"In four of the provinces there have already been popular votes on the liquor question. These provinces are Ontario, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Prince Edward Island. Manitoba was the first province to have a prohibition plebiscite. The voting took place there on July 23rd, 1892. In the following year, December 15th, 1893, Prince Edward Island voted. In 1894 Nova Scotia and Ontario went on record, the former voting on March 15th, and the latter on June 19th. In every instance the result was in favour of prohibition. The votes recorded were as follows:—

	For Prohibition.	Against Prohibition.
Ontario	192,497	110,757
Nova Scotia	43,756	12,355
Prince Edward Island	6,118	1,923
Manitoba	18,037	7,115
	261,008	132,150

Majority for prohibition, 128,858."

Is there any reason to suppose this decision will be reversed? Will not the other Provinces swell that majority instead of reducing it? Quebec and British Columbia may carry a negative vote, but will not New Brunswick and the North West balance the account?

It must be borne in mind, however, that not one half of the vote was polled in the four Provinces in which the question of prohibition was considered.

In Manitoba the full strength of the vote is, as nearly as can be ascertained, 65,684. The vote polled was 25,152.

In Prince Edward Island, the possible vote is 25,245. The vote cast was 8,041.

In Nova Scotia the rolls show a voting power of 111,124, while the vote polled was 56,011.

In Ontario we have 650,021 and the vote cast was 303,250.

So that not one half of the whole vote was cast either for or against prohibition, the total vote in these four Provinces being for prohibition, 261,008, and 132,150 against it.

Will there be any great difference in the number of votes cast at the coming election? If not, in what class are the non-voters to be counted?

Will not Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues class them among the Nays, and declare it inexpedient to introduce any law, as under such circumstances, "Prohibition would not prohibit?

There is this significant fact which the Prohibitionists have to consider, and that is, that Tarte's paper LA PATRIE in Montreal, and LE SOLEIL, Pacaud's paper in Quebec, the two recognized organs of Mr. Laurier, whose articles are written under inspiration from Ottawa, are violently opposing the principle of prohibition, declaring that Sir Wilfrid is not responsible for asking a plebiscite upon the subject. What next?

A GRIT "RAM"-IFICATION.

At the meeting of the Ontario Legislature on the 10th instant,

Mr. Hodgins, Conservative member for East Middlesex, said he had been accused of having sold a ram to the Government at a long price during the election campaign. It was true the Government had purchased a ram he had sold, but not from him, but from a middleman, and consequently as he had not got the cash he must be excused from having had any boodling transaction with the Government.

It is understood that the price paid was a big one, that is not surprising if the ram were bought from a Grit; but the seller says it was a big animal. By all means let the return promised on the subject be brought down, with full particulars as to the size and weight of the beast, so that it may be seen whether it was fairly comparable to the famous ram of Derby, that a century ago was celebrated in a popular ditty, from which the following lines are selected:

As I went down to Derby,
'Twas on a market day,
There I saw the biggest ram, sir,
That ever was fed upon hay.

The wool upon the animal
Reached clear up to the skies,
And the eagles built their nests there,
For I heard their young ones' cries.

The feet upon the animal
Were forty feet around,
And every step he took, sir,
He covered an acre of ground.

PRICES FIRM.

Although the Crop Report Was Bearish the Wheat Demand Was Good and Receipts Light.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 11.

The United States Government report issued last night making the condition of spring wheat 96.5 had a bearish effect on speculative prices this morning at Chicago and the September and December options opened nearly a cent below Wednesday's close.

The demand for cash wheat, however, kept the price of this month's delivery up, and the light day's receipts caused a late sympathetic recovery in futures, which closed ¼ to ½c higher than yesterday. The evident reluctance of farmers to market their new wheat is one thing that keeps the price of the cereal up.

On the Liverpool board to-day September wheat declined ⅞d per cental and the December option 1¼d. Paris market unchanged to 10 centimes higher.

THE PROTOCOL ACCEPTED.

Spanise Cabinet Has Authorized M. Cambon to Sign It.

Hostilities Are to Cease as Soon as the Signatures of the High Contracting Parties Are Affixed to the Document —The Terms of the Protocol Which Will Form the Basis of the Spanish-American Treaty.

Madrid, Aug. 12.—The Government has received the protocol, and the Cabinet Council rose at 9.40 last night, having approved it. The Government wired M. Cambon last night, empowering him to sign the preliminaries of peace.

The day has been diplomatically one of the busiest since the outbreak of war. There have been no fewer than three Cabinet Councils, in addition to various diplomatic conferences. Though the text of the protocol was not received until the evening was well advanced, the Government had been made fully acquainted with the contents through Paris.

The matter was practically settled at the Cabinet meeting in the afternoon, and the receipt of the actual document, therefore, only required a meeting of the Cabinet for a formal acceptance.

"Ministers adhere to the statement that the protocol contains no modifications of the original terms, but only new suggestions. They expect it will be signed at Washington to-day (Friday), and that a suspension of hostilities will be announced.

Duke Almodovar de Rio, Minister of Foreign Affairs, assures the correspondents of the Associated Press that the negotiations for the peace treaty will take place in Paris, but he says the commissioners have not yet been appointed.

The terms of the protocol will not be published until the instrument has been signed.

POINTS OF THE PROTOCOL.

Basis Upon Which the Spanish-American Treaty of Peace Will Be Founded.

These are among the points covered by the protocol:

The cession of Porto Rico to the United States, together with other Spanish West Indian islands, not including Cuba.

The relinquishment of sovereignty over Cuba.

The cession of an island in the Ladrones.

Recognition that the United States shall temporarily occupy the city and harbor of Manila, until the final decision as to the disposition of the Philippines is reached.

The appointment of a commission to determine the final disposition of the Philippines.

The constitution of a peace commission to arrange the future of the Philippines, with the place and time of meeting.

The suspension of hostilities to follow the formal signing of the protocol.

The evacuation of Cuba to be arranged by a commission of capitulation.

The disposition of the Spanish warships now in blockaded Cuban ports to be settled by the commission of capitulation.

Raising of the blockade against Cuba.

Certain fortified points, such as Morro Castle and Fort Cabanas, to be occupied by United States troops at the discretion of the President.

Spanish soldiers remaining in Cuba until the end of the rainy season to perform police duty and preserve order.

A special commissioner to be appointed to co-operate with Capt.-Gen. Blanco in the direction of affairs.

The Spanish municipal governments to be continued, as was done at Santiago, until such time as the evacuation shall have been completed.

Spanish officials to be permitted to collect revenues with the exception of those imposed upon the importation of food products.

Arrangements to be made for feeding, if not compensating, such Spanish soldiers as shall be employed in police duty.

Mines in the harbor of Havana to be removed by the Spanish authorities.

All minor details regarding the evacuation of Cuba and Porto Rico will be left to the commission of capitulation. This is done in order that there may be no confusion in the protocol.

FIGHT AT PORTO RICO.

Eight Hundred Spaniards Attack Lighthouse Guarded by 40 Americans.

New York, Aug. 12.—A cable from Cape San Juan, dated Aug. 9, says a two hours' fight took place before daybreak yesterday. Eight hundred Spanish attempted to retake the lighthouse guarded by 40 United States sailors, commanded by Lieut. Atwater, Assistant Engineer Jenkins, Ensign Bronson and Gunner Campbell. The Spaniards were driven back by shells from the warships Amphitrite, Cincinnati and Leyden. Refugees report that 100 Spaniards were killed.

William H. Boardman of the Amphitrite, Lawrence of the Massachusetts and a second-class man of the Naval School were seriously wounded. They were in the lighthouse when the Spanish advance began. The Spaniards had retreated after the first landing of the troops at Cape San Juan last week, and marched through Luquillo, pulling down the United States flag at Fajardo. It was subsequently replaced.

Terrified refugees warned the lighthouse force that the Spanish were coming. There were 60 women and children in the outbuildings during the fight.

Schwan Had a Fight.

Camp near Honigueros, Aug. 10, via Bermuda, Aug. 12.—Advance guard, including cavalry of this command, while reconnoitering northwest of Rosario River, near Hermigueros, developed a strong Spanish force which lay concealed in the hills north of Mayaguez. In a general engagement that followed, Lieut. Byron, 8th Infantry, my aide-de-camp, was wounded in foot and Private Fernborger, Company D, 11th Infantry, and one other private were killed and fourteen enlisted men were wounded. It is reported that most if not the entire Spanish garrison of Mayaguez and surrounding country, consisting of 1,000 regulars and 200 volunteers, took part in the engagement. We drove the enemy from his position and it is believed inflicted heavy loss. A wounded Spanish lieutenant was found in the field and brought in to our lines. The conduct of officers and men was beyond all praise. I propose to continue my march on Mayaguez at an early hour to-morrow. (Signed) Schwan.

Carlist Agitation Suspended.

London, Aug. 12.—The Carlist agitation seems suspended for the moment, and the best authorities are convinced that there will be no rising until peace is concluded.

Will Surrender to Garcia.

New York, Aug. 12.—Santiago advices yesterday say that Gen. Luque, commanding the Spanish garrison at Holguin, has offered to surrender to Gen. Garcia. Gen. Luque had 10,000 Spanish soldiers under him at Holguin when the Santiago surrender took place.

Cubans now occupy Gibara. The Spaniards evacuated the town, leaving 1,000 sick and wounded, who are being taken care of by the Cuban commander.

Refused Cervera's Surrender.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Spain has refused the offer of the United States to surrender Admiral Cervera and all the naval prisoners at Annapolis, Portsmouth and the Naval Hospital, Norfolk. The reason given for the refusal is that the Spanish Government did not consent to an acceptance of the paroles of Admiral [illegible]

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly —that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Go into this subject carefully before you buy, and let the best win.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Government Allowed the Opposition to Have Its Own Way With the Oratory Yesterday.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—It looks as though there might be a division at the Legislature on the address some time to-night. The House sat until 1 o'clock this morning, when Mr. Carscallen of Hamilton moved the adjournment of the debate. This, of course, means that he will resume this afternoon. He will probably be followed by the Minister of Education, and this great oratorical duel is expected to form the grand finale of the debate.

It was rumored about the corridors yesterday that Hon. William Harty would not fight the protest against him in the Kingston election courts.

The Debate Resumed.

Mr. W. A. Kribs of South Waterloo talked on the address for over an hour, assailing the Government on every point, from present issues to the surplus. He made a comprehensive assault on the Liberal policy.

Dr. Elisha Jessop of Lincoln was the next speaker. He insisted that Mr. Hardy was in full retreat, and refused to accept the Attorney-General's version of his alleged statement about not having men capable of filling the position of Minister of Agriculture.

Mr. H. G. Lackner, Conservative, had been the first of his party to represent North Waterloo in the Legislature since Confederation, and he so told the House. He made another attack, reviewing the failures of the Government, and badgered them with calling off their dogs and stopping the debate. He touched legally upon the constable question.

The Evening Session.

Mr. Beatty of Leeds started the discussion in the evening. It was supreme[illegible] of Mr. Gibson the decision of Hamilton would be reversed in the event of another election. The strongest Liberal riding in the province has said they do not want the Minister of Agriculture, in that or any capacity. They approve neither his policy nor his methods. The Government had violated the spirit, if not the letter, of the law by calling the House without a full Cabinet. He suggested that the Government seek to interest British capitalists in our iron ores, and closed by saying the Government should not endeavor to change the rules of the game after the game had been begun.

Dr. Pyne, East Toronto, said that with two portfolios vacant the Government had not offered him one. "It is evident, Mr. Speaker, that you have gone as far as you can go; in future you will have to look to us for advancement." He, too, urged an iron ore policy. After denying the analogy of the Macdonald precedent, Dr. Pyne said the unblemished reputation of the judiciary of Canada had never been questioned for thirty years.

The debate was continued by Mr. Kidd of Carleton and Mr. Hodgins of Middlesex.

It was 12.15 o'clock when Mr. Hodgins had finished.

The Mayor of Hamilton having spoken, Mr. Little of Cardwell held the floor until 1 o'clock, after which Mr. Carscallen of Hamilton moved the adjournment of the debate.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several med cal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. THE SIN OF AVARICE.

HONESTY IN MONEY-GETTING COMMENDED BY DR. TALMAGE.

DENOUNCES HASTE TO BE RICH.

The Direful Perils Which Beset the Rich Vividly Described—Bribery as Arraigned by the Bible, Accursed of God and Man—How the Mighty Have Fallen by the Blight.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Rev. Dr. Talmage preached this morning from the text, I. Timothy vi, 9, "They that will be rich fall into a temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition." He said:

That is the Niagara Falls over which rush a multitude of souls—namely, the determination to have the money anyhow, right or wrong. Tell me how a man gets his money and what he does with it and I will tell you his character and what will be his destiny in this world and the next. I propose to speak to-day about the ruinous modes of getting money.

In all our city, state and national elections large sums of money are used in bribery. Politics, from being the science of good government, has often been bedraggled into the synonym for truculency and turpitude. A monster sin, plausible, potent, pestiferous, has gone forth to do its dreadful work in all ages. Its two hands are rotten with leprosy. It keeps its right hand hidden in a deep pocket. The left hand is clinched, and with its ichorous knuckle it taps at the door of the courtroom, the legislative hall, the congress and the parliament. The door swings open and the monster enters and glides through the aisle of the council chamber as softly as a slippered page, and then it takes its right hand from its deep pocket and offers it in salutation to judge or legislator. If that hand be taken and the palm of the intruder cross the palm of the official, the leprosy crosses from palm to palm in a round blotch, round as a gold eagle, and the virus spreads, and the doom is fixed, and the victim perishes. Let bribery, accursed of God and man, stand up for trial.

The Bible arraigns it again and again. Samuel says of his two sons, who became judges, "They took bribes and perverted judgment." David says of some of his pursuers, "Their right hand is full of bribes." Amos says of some men in his day, "They take a bribe and turn aside the poor in the gate." Eliphaz foretells the crushing blows of God's indignation, declaring, "Fire shall consume the tabernacles of bribery."

It is no light temptation. The mightiest have fallen under it. Lord Bacon, Lord Chancellor of England, founder of our modern science, author of "Novum Organum" and a whole library of books, the leading thinker of his century, so precocious that when as a little child he was asked by Queen Elizabeth, "How old are you?" he responded, "I am two years younger than your majesty's happy reign"; of whose oratory Ben Jonson wrote: "The fear of every man that heard him was lest he should make an end," having an income which you would suppose would have put him beyond the temptation of bribery—$36,000 a year and Twickenham court, a gift and princely estates in Hertfordshire—yet under this temptation to bribery, falling flat into ruin and on his confession of taking bribes giving as excuse that all his predecessors took them; he was fined $200,000, or what correspond with our $200,000, and imprisoned in London Tower.

The black chapter in English, Irish, French and American politics is the chapter of bribery. Some of you remember the Pacific Mail subsidies. Most of you remember the awful tragedy of the Credit Mobilier. Under the temptation to bribery Benedict Arnold sold the fort in the highlands for $31,575. For this sin Gorgey betrayed Hungary. Ahithophel forsook David, and Judas kissed Christ. When I see so many of the illustrious going down under this temptation, it makes me think of the red dragon spoken of in Revelation with seven heads and ten horns and seven crowns drawing a third part of the stars of heaven down after him.

The lobbies of the legislatures of this country control the country. The land is drunk with bribery. "Oh," says some one, "there's no need of talking against bribery by promise or by dollars, because every man has his price." I do not believe it. Even heathenism and the dark ages have furnished specimens of incorruptibility. A cadi of Smyrna had a case brought before him on trial. A man gave him 500 ducats in bribery. The case came on. The briber had many witnesses. The poor man on the other side had no witnesses. At the close of the case the cadi said: "This poor man has no witnesses, he thinks. I shall produce in his behalf 500 witnesses against the other side." Then pulling out the bag of ducats from under the ottoman, he dashed it down at the feet of the briber, saying, "I give my decision against you." Epaminondas, offered a bribe, said, "I will do this thing if it be right, and if it be wrong all your goods cannot persuade me."

The president of the American Congress during the American Revolution, General Reed, was offered 10,000 guineas by foreign commissioners if he would betray this country. He replied, "Gentlemen, I am but a very poor man, but tell your king he is not rich enough to buy me." But why go so far when you and I, if we move in honorable society, know men and women who by all the forces of earth and hell could not be bribed. They would no more be bribed than you would think of tempting an angel of light to exchange heaven for the pit. To offer a bribe is villainy, but it is a very poor compliment to the man to whom it is offered.

I have not much faith in those people who go about bragging how much they could get if they would only sell out. Those women who complain that they are very often insulted need to understand that there is something in their carriage to invite insult. There are men at Albany and at Harrisburg and at Washington who would no more be approached by a bribe than a pirate boat with a few cutlasses would dare to attack a British man-of-war with two banks of guns on each side loaded to the touchhole. They are incorruptible men and they are the few men who are to save the city and save the land.

Meanwhile my advice is keep out of politics unless you are invulnerable to this style of temptation. Indeed if even you are naturally strong you need religious buttressing. Nothing but the grace of God can sustain our public men and make them what we wish. I wish that there might come an old fashioned revival of religion, that it might break out in congress and the legislatures and bring many of the leading Republicans and Democrats down on the anxious seat of repentance. That day will come, or something better, for the Bible declares that kings and queens shall become nursing fathers and mothers to the church, and if the greater in authority then certainly the less.

My charge also to parents is, remember that this evil of bribery often begins in the home circle and in the nursery. Do not bribe your children. Teach them to do that which is right, and not because of the 10 cents or the orange which you will give them. There is a great difference between rewarding virtue and making the profits thereof the impelling motive. That man who is honest merely because "honesty is the best policy" is already a moral bankrupt.

My charge is to you in all departments of life, steer clear of bribery, all of you. Every man and woman at some time will be tempted to do wrong for compensation. The bribe may not be offered in money. It may be offered in social position. Let us remember that there is a day coming when the most secret transaction of private life and of public life will come up for public reprehension.

We cannot bribe death, we cannot bribe sickness, we cannot bribe the grave, we cannot bribe the judgments of that God who thunders against this sin. "Fie!" said Cardinal Beaufort, "fie! Can't death be bribed? Is money nothing? Must I die, and so rich? If the owning of the whole realm would save me, I could get it by policy or by purchase—by money." No, death would not be bribed then. He will not be bribed now. Men of the world often regret that they have to leave their money here when they go away from the world. You can tell from what they say in their last hours that one of their chief sorrows is that they have to leave their money. I break that delusion. I tell that bribe taker that he will take his money with him. God will wrap it up in your shroud, or put it in the palm of your hand in resurrection, and there it will lie, not the cool, bright, shining gold as it was on the day when you sold your vote and your moral principle, but there it will lie, a hot metal, burning and consuming your hand forever. Or, if there be enough of it for a chain, then it will fall over the wrist, clanking the fetters of an eternal captivity. The bribe is an everlasting possession. You take it for time, you take it for eternity. Some day in the next world, when you are longing for sympathy, you will feel on your cheek a kiss. Looking up, you will find it to be Judas, who took 30 pieces of silver as a bribe and finished the bargain by putting an infamous kiss on the pure cheek of his Divine Master.

Another wrong use of money is seen in the abuse of trust funds. Nearly every man during the course of his life, on a larger or smaller scale, has the property of others committed to his keeping. He is so far a safety deposit, he is an administrator and holds in his hand the interest of the family of a deceased friend, or he is an attorney, and through his custody goes the payment from debtor to creditor, or he is the collector for a business house, which compensates him for the responsibility, or he is treasurer for a charitable institution, and he holds alms contributed for the suffering, or he is an official of the city or the state or the nation, and taxes and subsidies and salaries and supplies are in his keeping.

It is as solemn a trust as God can make it. It is concentered and multiplied confidences. On that man depends the support of a bereft household, or the morals of dependents, or the right movement of a thousand wheels of social mechanism. A man may do what he will with his own, but he who abuses trust funds in that one act commits theft, falsehood, perjury and becomes in all the intensity of the word a miscreant. How many widows and orphans there are with nothing between them and starvation but a sewing machine or held up out of the vortex of destruction simply by the thread of a needle, red with their own heart's blood, who a little while ago had by father and husband left them a competency! What is the matter? The administrators or the executors have sacrificed it—running risks with it that they would not have dared to encounter in their own private affairs.

How often it is that a man will earn a livelihood by the sweat of his brow and then die, and within a few months all the estate goes into the stock gambling rapids of Wall street! How often it is that you have known the man to whom trust funds were committed taking them out of the savings bank and from trust companies and administrators, turning old homesteads into hard cash, and then putting the entire estate into the vortex of speculation. Embezzlement is an easy word to pronounce, but it has 10,000 ramifications. There is not a city that has not suffered from the abuse of trust funds. Where is the court house or the city hall or the jail or the post office or the hospital that in the building of it has not had a political job? Long before the new court house in New York city was completed it cost over $12,000,000. Five million six hundred and sixty-three thousand dollars for furniture! For plastering and repairs, $2,370,000; for plumbing and gas works, $1,231,817; for awnings, $23,553, the bills for three months coming to the nice little sum of $13,151,198.39. There was not an honest brick or stone or lath or nail or foot of plumbing or inch of plastering or inkstand or doorknob in the whole establishment.

That bad example was followed in many of the cities, which did not steal quite so much because there was not so much to steal. There ought to be a closer inspection, and there ought to be less opportunity for embezzlement. Lest a man shall take a 5-cent piece that does not belong to him, the conductor on the city horse car must sound his bell at every payment, and we are very cautious about small offenses, but give plenty of opportunities for sinners in a large scale to escape—for a boy who steals a loaf of bread from a corner grocer to keep his mother from starving to death, a prison, but for defrauders who abscond with $500,000, a castle on the Rhine, or, waiting until the offense is forgotten, a castle on the Hudson!

Another remark needs to be made, and that is that people ought not to go into places, into business or into positions where the temptation is mightier than their characters. If there be large sums of money to be handled, and the man is not sure of his own integrity, you have no right to run an unseaworthy craft in a hurricane. A man can tell by the sense of weakness or strength in the presence of a bad opportunity whether he is in a safe place. How many parents make an awful mistake when they put their boys in banking houses and stores and shops and factories and places of solemn trust without once discussing whether they can endure the temptation! You give the boy plenty of money and have no account of it and make the way down become very easy and you may put upon him a pressure that he cannot stand. There are men who go into positions full of temptation, considering only that they are lucrative positions.

An abbot wanted to buy a piece of ground, and the owner would not sell it, but the owner finally consented to let it to him until he could raise one crop, and the abbot sowed acorns—a crop of 200 years! And I tell you, young man, that the dishonesties which you plant in your heart and life will seem to be very insignificant, but they will grow up until they will overshadow you with horrible darkness, overshadow all time and all eternity. It will not be a crop for 200 years, but a crop for everlasting ages.

I address many who have trust funds. It is a compliment to you that you have been so intrusted, but I charge you in the presence of God and the world be careful—be as careful of the property of others as you are careful of your own. Above all, keep your own private account at the bank separate from your account as trustee of an estate or trustee of an institute. That is the point at which thousands of people make shipwreck. They get the property of others mixed up with their own property, they put it into investment, and away it all goes, and they cannot return that which they borrowed. Then comes the explosion, and the money market is shaken, and the press denounces, and the church thunders expulsion.

You have no right to use the property of others except for their advantage, nor without consent, unless they are minors. If with their consent you invest their property as well as you can, and it is all lost, you are not to blame. You did the best you could, but do not come into the delusion, which has ruined so many men, of thinking because a thing is in their possession, therefore it is theirs. You have a solemn trust that God has given you.

In any community there may be some who have misappropriated trust funds. Put them back or, if you have so hopelessly involved them that you cannot put them back, confess the whole thing to those whom you have wronged, and you will sleep better nights, and you will have the better chance for your soul. What a sad thing it would be if after you are dead your administrator should find out from the account books, or from the lack of vouchers, that you were not only bankrupt in estate, but that you lost your soul!

A blustering young man arrived at a hotel in the west, and he saw a man on the sidewalk whom he supposed to be a laborer, and in a rough way, as no man has a right to address a laborer, said to him, "Carry this trunk up stairs." The man carried the trunk up stairs and came down, and then the young man gave him a quarter of a dollar which was clipped, and instead of being 25 cents it was worth only 20 cents. Then the young man gave his card to the laborer and said: "You take this up to Governor Grimes. I want to see him." "Ah," said the laborer, "I am Governor Grimes." "O," said the young man, "you—I—excuse me." Then the governor said: "I was much impressed by the letter you wrote me asking for a certain office in my gift, and I had made up my mind you should have it, but a young man who will cheat a laborer out of 5 cents would swindle the government of the state if he got his hands on it. I don't want you. Good morning, sir."

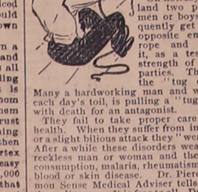

I do not suppose there was ever a better specimen of honesty than was found in the Duke of Wellington. He marched with his army over the French frontier, and the army was suffering, and he scarcely knew how to get along. Plenty of plunder all about, but he commanded none of the plunder to be taken. He writes home these remarkable words, "We are overwhelmed with debts, and I can scarcely stir out of my house on account of public creditors, waiting to demand what is due to them." Yet at the very time the French peasantry were bringing their valuables to him to keep. A celebrated writer says of the transaction: "Nothing can be grander or more nobly original than this admission. This old soldier, after 30 years' service, this iron man and victorious general, established in an enemy's country at the head of an immense army, is afraid of his creditors! This is a kind of fear that has seldom troubled conquerors and invaders, and I doubt if the annals of war present anything comparable to its sublime simplicity."

Oh, is it not high time that we preach the morals of the gospel right beside the faith of the gospel? Mr. Froude, the celebrated English historian, has written of his own country these remarkable words: "From the great house in the city of London to the village grocer the commercial life of England has been saturated with fraud. So deep has it gone that a strictly honest tradesman can hardly hold his ground against competition. You can no longer trust that any article you buy is the thing which it pretends to be. We have false weights, false measures, cheating and shoddy everywhere. And yet the clergy have seen all this grow up in absolute indifference. Many hundreds of sermons have I heard in England on the divine mission of the clergy, on bishops and on justification, and the theory of good works, and verbal inspiration, and the efficacy of the sacraments, but during all these 30 wonderful years never one that I can recollect on common honesty." Now, that may be an exaggerated statement of things in England, but I am very certain that in all parts of the earth we need to preach the moralities of the gospel right along beside the faith of the gospel.

My hearer, what are you doing with that fraudulent document in your pocket? My other hearer, how are you getting along with that wicked scheme you have now on foot? Is that a "pool ticket" you have in your pocket? Why, O young man, were you last night practicing in copying your employer's signature? Where were you last night? Are your habits as good as when you left your father's house? You had a Christian ancestry perhaps, and you have had too many prayers spent on you to go overboard. Dr. Livingstone, the famous explorer, was descended from the highlanders, and he said that one of his ancestors, one of the highlanders, one day called his family around him. The highlander was dying. He had his children around his deathbed. He said: "Now my lads, I have looked all through our history as far back as I can find it, and I have never found a dishonest man in all the line, and I want you to understand you inherit good blood. You have no excuse for doing wrong. My lads, be honest."

Ah, my friends, be honest before God, be honest before your fellow men, be honest before your soul. If there be those who have wandered away, come back, come home, come now, one and all, come into the kingdom of God.

I am glad some one has set to music that scene in August, 1881, when a young girl saved from death a whole rail train of passengers. Some of you remember that out west in that year on a stormy night a hurricane blew down part of a railroad bridge. A freight train came along, and it crashed into the ruin, and the engineer and conductor perished. There was a girl living in her father's cabin, near the disaster, and she heard the crash of the freight train, and she knew that in a few moments an express was due. She lighted a lantern and clambered up on the one beam of the wrecked bridge on to the main bridge, which was trestlework, and started to cross amid the thunder and the lightning of the tempest and the raging of the torrent beneath. One misstep and it would have been death. Amid all that horror the lantern went out. Crawling sometimes, and sometimes walking over the slippery rails and over the trestlework, she came to the other side of the river. She wanted to get the telegraph station where the express train did not stop, so that the danger might be telegraphed to the station where the train did stop. The train was due in a few minutes. She was one mile off from the telegraph station, but fortunately the train was late. With cut and bruised feet she flew like the wind. Coming up to the telegraph station, panting with almost deadly exhaustion, she had only strength to shout, "The bridge is down!" when she dropped unconscious and could hardly be resuscitated. The message was sent from that station to the next station, and the train halted, and that night that brave girl saved the lives of hundreds of passengers and saved many homes from desolation. But every street is a track, and every style of business is a track, and every day is a track, and every night is a track, and multitudes under the power of temptation come sweeping on and sweeping down toward perils raging [...] stop the train! Let us throw some signal. Let us give some warning. By the throne of God let us flash some influence to stop the downward progress. Beware! Beware! The bridge is down, the chasm is deep, and the lightnings of God set all the night of sin on fire with this warning: "He that, being often reproved, hardeneth his neck shall suddenly be destroyed, and that without remedy."

On holidays in England two parties of men or boys will frequently get hold of opposite ends of a rope and pull on it, as a test of the strength of the two parties. They call it the "tug of war." Many a hardworking man and woman in each day's toil, is pulling a "tug of war" with death for an antagonist.

They fail to take proper care of their health. When they suffer from indigestion or a slight bilious attack they "wear it out." After a while these disorders wear out the reckless man or woman and the result is consumption, malaria, rheumatism, or some blood or skin disease. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser tells all about these diseases. It is free to all. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures all the maladies named. It cures the cause. It makes the appetite hearty, the digestion perfect, the liver active and the blood pure. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. Don't let a druggist impose on you with a more profitable substitute.

"I had a very severe pain in the small of my back, where my hips join on to my body, and it hurt so that I thought I was going to come apart," writes Wm. Z. Powers, Esq., of Erin Shades, Henrico Co., Va. "My doctor came and pronounced it rheumatism. He gave me a prescription, but I got no better, but worse. I purchased a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery from my druggist and commenced to use it. I began to improve at once and got well. Now I am in perfect health,—no pain, no rheumatism."

Nearly every disease known to doctors and the treatment is described in Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. One thousand and eight pages and over three hundred illustrations. FREE. Send thirty-one one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y., for paper-covered copy. A Drunken Policeman Kills Six.

New York, Aug. 12.—Policeman Henry C. Hawley of the Tenderloin Station, while in a fit of drunken rage yesterday, shot his wife, his mother, Mary Hawley, his son, 4 years old, and his daughter, 6 years old. He then shot himself in the head. He was removed to Bellevue Hospital, where he died soon afterward. The others will die.

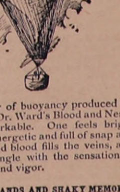

To Postpone Election Trials.

Toronto, Aug. 12.—Motions to postpone election trials in Halton and South Perth were heard at Osgoode Hall yesterday. Both trials are at present fixed for September 1. The motions were enlarged till Saturday.

Several Hamiltonians are said to be interested in the division of a fortune—no less than $150,000,000—said to be laid away in the Bank of England and awaiting claimants. Those directly concerned are Mr. D. Dewey, Mr. W. G. Moore, Mrs. Van Norman, Mrs. A. C. Turnbull and Mrs. R. B. Ferrio.

TREMBLING HANDS AND SHAKY MEMORY.
A HAMILTON MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH A NEW MEDICINE.

DEAR SIRS,—

I have spent half a fortune in doctors' bills, all to no avail. These Pills seemed to reach the seat of disease at once, and they also seemed to possess a remarkable influence over me. The violent palpitation of the heart, the trembling of the hands, the loss of masculine vigor, the frightful dreams, the loss of memory and general collapse of the entire system, have yielded to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Great were the results from the use of four boxes of these Pills. I am enjoying the very best of health. I fully believe they are able to do for others as much as they have done for me. Before using them I was a miserable wreck. To-day I am a well man.

Yours truly,
THOS. FLYNN, 51 Elgin St., Hamilton, Ont.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

The Organization Convention Held in the City Hall Yesterday.

A largely-attended Convention of Prohibition workers for the purpose of preparing for the Prohibition campaign was held yesterday. Delegates were present from Trenton, Deseronto, Thurlow, Sidney, Tyendinaga and other municipalities, in addition to a large number from the city. The different churches, Epworth Leagues, Y. M. C. A.'s, W. C. T. U.'s and other religious organizations were all well represented.

The Convention was called to order at 2 p.m. by Mr. W. W. Chown. Rev. Newton Hill conducted the devotional exercises.

Letters of regret at their inability to attend were read from Rev. Mr. Houck, Tweed; Rev. Mr. Wallace, Belleville; Rev. Mr. Balfour, Thomasburg; Rev. Mr. McTavish, Deseronto; S. Russell, M. P. P.

Mr. W. W. Chown, in opening the Convention, said that they were gathered for the purpose of organizing East and West Hastings for the vote on the plebiscite on the 29th of September. He hoped the delegates would take hold of the work and do their utmost to roll up a substantial majority in favor of prohibition. He then nominated as a committee to nominate the officers and committees: Rev. C. W. Watch, Rev. G. H. Copeland, Rev. J. R. Eaton, Rev. D. M. Martin, W. H. Gordon, Mr. Hicks, J. A. Smith, Mr. Cooper, W. R. Pennock, J. M. Simmons.

Rev. G. Horton, of Trenton, then delivered a stirring address. No true patriot, no honest man, no loyal citizen, no believer in the Christian Religion, in the light of the nineteenth century, would care to take the responsibility for the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquor. It is true that this by no means lifts the responsibility nor removes the curse against the business. Woe unto the man who giveth his neighbor drink. Right and wrong are eternal principles; the verdict pronounced upon human conduct cannot be reversed to suit the selfishness or the opinions of men. The liquor business does not make just returns, it gives no equivalent to the man who buys it, supplies no want, is not even harmless. The liquor seller takes the health, happiness, and in the end the life of his customers. The revenue should be placed in Judas' treasury, it is the price of blood. The very fact that the traffic is shackled by license and had to be regulated proved that it was dangerous and dishonest business. The saloon is a sworn enemy to Christianity, education, pure legislation and business, but they can all be won over to its side by a few dollars license fees. 75 per cent. of the crimes committed in this country were the effects of strong drink, and 3,000 are destroyed in this country every year by drink. It was said, that because the Scott Act and other partial measures failed, that prohibition could not succeed. The temperance people had never asked for these measures, had never asked for anything short of total prohibition and they were not going to stop until they got it. (Applause.) Mr. Horton also dealt with the question of revenue. Some were always talking about the $7,000,000 revenue forgetting the $6,000,000 that was expended to enforce the law and the $40,000,000 spent upon drink.

Rev. Dr. Galbraith said that arguments were not needed to convince the present audience of the benefits of prohibition. We must not underrate the strength of the enemy; there is a three-fold and mighty force arrayed against us; the appetite in men who want the liquor, the selfish greed of those who want to make money out of the misfortunes of others and the accumulated wealth of the traffic. Those opposed to prohibition would not scruple very much as to the means they resorted to in order to defeat it. We must, therefore, be wise as serpents and harmless as doves. We should go into the conflict with the conviction that God is with us and that we must ultimately triumph. Prohibition was no novelty, it had been tried and proven by the people of old, such as the Egyptians, Carthaginians, Romans, Spartans, Chinese and the Turks, before the time of Mohammed. Dr. Galbraith declared that the argument advanced by the opponents of prohibition, that it interfered with personal liberty, was based neither upon logic nor upon philosophy. True personal liberty consists in doing as we like so long as we do not interfere with the rights, comforts and well-being of others. The drink traffic, therefore, not prohibition, interferes with personal liberty. The true object of society is to do the greatest good to the largest number and it is upon this principle that we are working. The wealth of the nation consists of the aggregation of the wealth of the individual and the traffic which made the few rich at the expense of the many impoverished the nation.

Mr. W. W. Chown remarked that a French-Canadian speaking at a convention in Toronto had declared that if we in Ontario did not wake up, that Quebec would give a larger majority in favor of prohibition.

Rev. Dr. Gardiner made a few remarks of a semi-political nature, with which the following speakers all took issue.

The noinating committee reported in favor of the election of the following officers:

President W. W. Chown, Belleville.

Vice Presidents—Rev. Dr. Galbraith, Belleville; G. W. Ostrom, Trenton; S. Russell M.P.P., Deseronto; Rev. D. M. Martin, Tweed; Dr. Coleman, Sidney; N. Vermilyea, Thurlow; J. C. Hanley, Read; Geo. Clare, Chapman.

Secretary—Rev. C. W. Watch.

Asst. Sec.—C. F. McTavish.

Treasurer—D. V. Sinclair.

The Executive Committee, in addition the officers, Rev. R. Wallace, Rev. V. H. Cowsert B. A., W. R. Aylsworth, John Forin, W. B. Riggs, Mrs. Merrill.

The Finance Committee, W. H. Gordon, D. V. Sinclair, C. P. Holton, S. G. Emerson, Rev. C. W. Watch, Rev. N. Hill, Dr. Goldsmith.

Organization Committee—Rev. Dr. Galbraith, J. A. Smith, Rev. D. M. Martin, Rev. R. Duke, Rev. G. H. Copeland, Rev. J. R. Eaton, O. S. Hicks.

Rev. V. H. Cowsert, B.A., made a short but vigorous address. He urged them to turn in and work hard for actual, genuine, bona fide prohibition. The reason the traffic had not been abolished long ago was because it had systematically covered up its tracks. It could not live in the light, there was no necessity for prohibitionists to exaggerate, the truth was bad enough. The present was the grandest opportunity ever offered to a young nation and he hoped that Canada would seize it.

Rev. J. J. Rice thought that the people were already educated to the benefits of prohibition and the great necessity was organization.

Rev. A. Martin said that prohibition should not be considered as a matter of dollars and cents but as a matter of principle.

Rev. Mr. McArthur, of Melrose, told of the hard fight they were having in Tyendinaga. He believed that, with the co-operation of their Roman Catholic brethren, they would win. He dwelt upon the value of personal influence.

The Finance Committee reported, asking the Convention to raise $150 for the expenses of the campaign. The services of that veteran canvasser, Rev. A. Campbell, were called into requisition and $100 was subscribed in a few minutes.

The Organization Committee reported that the General Executive Committee should have the oversight of the campaign; that the Central Committee supply the literature to the local committees, the latter to pay for some; that the Dominion Alliance literature be used; that the local organizations be urged to hold public meetings and to prosecute the campaign vigorously through the pulpit and the local press.

Rev. R. Duke, of Foxboro, spoke briefly. He claimed that the revenue derived from the liquor traffic which would be lost by the passing of a prohibitory law would be more than compensated by the greater buying powers and tax-paying power which a thoroughly sober nation would possess.

Rev. N. Hill pronounced the benediction and the Convention was at an end.

THE PRENTICE BOYS

Celebrate the Anniversary of the Relief of Derry.

The steamers Varuna and Armenia bore Prentice Boys, Lodge No. 13, and many of their friends to Deseronto this morning. The I.O.O.F. Band were on hand and supplied their usual splendid programme.

In the lumber town the 209th Anniversity of the Relief of Derry was celebrated by a monster demonstration. Lodges were present from Kingston, Picton, Belleville and all the neighboring towns, together with hundreds of other visitors, and the town was taxed to its utmost to provide accommodation. The procession, which took place this morning, was a splendid one. At its conclusion addresses were delivered by well-known members of the order, including several from Belleville.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should anyone go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&w5w

Fish Stories.

All the big bass have not been caught by the gill nets. On Wednesday Mr. Hall caught a 4½ pounder, and yesterday Mr. W. R. Roote caught a 4 pounder.

The largest fish caught in Moira Lake this season, a 30 pound 'longe, was successfully landed by Mr. J. C. Dale on Tuesday evening. It measured 46½ inches in length. So says the Madoc Review.

Mr. Cecil Rhodes Takes Water

During his speech to the shareholders of the Chartered Company, Mr. Rhodes' voice was affected by his cold. One of his brother directors handed him a glass of water. "Is it Apollinaris?" inquired the speaker, and on receiving an affirmative reply, took a draught, and said emphatically, "Good!" and resumed his speech.—LONDON DAILY MAIL, April 22nd, 1898.

—Mr. William L. Brown, a prominent agriculturist, who for twenty years conducted that department on The London Free Press, died at his home in West London, aged 56 years.

—Lieut. Carranza, who arrived at Montreal unexpectedly from the French Island of St. Pierre, Miq., has engaged passage on the Dominion Line steamship Scotsman, which sails for Liverpool to-morrow.

—Vigorous measures have been taken to place the sea forts of Copenhagen in a state of military efficiency. It is supposed that these measures are due to fears of a conflict between Great Britain and Russia.

—Near Westbrook, in the Township of Kingston, a young man named W. Baker stopped on the feed-board of a threshing machine and was drawn into it. On being taken from the cylinder he succumbed to his injuries.

—Serious trouble in the interior of Alaska is apprehended by the United States Government. Food riots are feared at Fort Yukon and other up-river points, growing out of the failure of the transportation companies to get supplies in there on the prevailing low water. A military Government will be established at Fort Yukon as soon as possible.

CHEEKY TALK FROM RUSSIA

Novoe Vremya Is Pleased With Lord Salisbury's Attitude.

Result of the Cession of Port Arthur and Ta-Lien-Wan Will Not Show for Some Time—Russia's Military Position on Indian Frontier Fully Organized to Meet British Ill-Will—Mr. Balfour Gives Assurances in the House.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—Following in the footsteps of the Novosti, the Novoe Vremya eulogizes the Marquis of Salisbury for the wisdom with which he keeps in check the Russophobe outburst of members of his party and the prudence with which he endeavors to obviate all pretext for misunderstanding between Great Britain and Russia.

The paper says it observes that "unfortunately more than half the British dublic share Mr. Chamberlain's views," but cannot understand "why the Russophobes are apprehensive of the Russians at Port Arthur."

The Novoe Vremya then says: "The result of the cession to Russia of Port Arthur and Ta-Lien-Wan will not show themselves for some time to come. A considerable period must elapse before these ports can serve the purpose for which they were intended by the Russian foreign policy, that of providing a permanent outlet in the Pacific Ocean. Quite otherwise is Russia's position on the Indian frontier, where everything has been long organized for military action if some extreme excess of ill-will upon the part of Great Britain should drive Russia to such action."

BRITAIN CONSIDERING.

Russia's Aggressive Action in Regard to China Is Engaging John Bull's Most Serious Attention.

London, Aug. 12.—The Hong-Kong & Shanghai Bank will make a claim for heavy indemnity in case the contract for the New Chwang Railway is nullified.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. A. J. Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader, admitted that the facts set forth in the Pekin despatch to the London Times yesterday were substantially as therein set forth.

The correspondent of the Times cabled that the Tsung-Li-Yamen had given formal assent to all the conditions proposed by the Russian Charge d'Affaires regarding the contract for the New-Chwang Railroad extension loan, these conditions being in direct conflict with the terms of the signed contract, and designed to block the completion of the contract, the whole movement being designed as a blow at British concessions.

After making the admission referred to yesterday, Mr. Balfour added that the matter was "engaging the serious attention of the Government."

This statement was received with cheers.

Will Remain at Gibraltar.

A despatch received here yesterday from Gibraltar says the departure from that place of the British Military squadron, which was fixed for yesterday, has been countermanded and the squadron has been ordered to remain at Gibraltar while awaiting further orders.

It is not known whether this change in the Admiralty's plans has any connection with the situation in the far East.

Has the Contract Been Signed?

London, Aug. 12.—The Daily Mail says yesterday: "We understand that the Franco-Belgian contract for the construction of the Pekin-Han-Kow Railway has been ratified by the Tsung-Li-Yamen, and actually signed."

On the contrary, the Pekin correspondent of the Times, telegraphing Wednesday, says the contract is still unratified.

Denmark Is Preparing.

Copenhagen, Aug. 12.—A sensation has been caused by the sudden measures that are being taken to place the sea forts of Copenhagen in a state of military efficiency. It is supposed that these measures are due to fears of a conflict between Great Britain and Russia. The official organ announces that the Government of Denmark has expended 500,000 kroners in ammunition, and awaits an additional grant by Parliament.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The vice-regal party passed through Toronto yesterday. They lunched at Government House with Sir Oliver Mowat.

Rev. Dr. Spencer of Brantford has been offered the position of superintendent of the Baptist Missions in British Columbia.

Contractor Tanquier and a force of 50 men have left for Port Arthur to start work on the Ontario & Rainy Lake Railway.

Col. Aylmer, Adjutant-General, has been called to the command of the Canadian militia, pending the arrival of the new general.

The Lieutenant-Governor and party attended the last day's sport of the Toronto regatta yesterday. The programme was good and well carried out.

Thomas Rolston, a boy working at the C.P.R. freight shops, Toronto Junction, caught his left arm in a planer and was badly cut from the wrist to the shoulder.

F. A. Leach, superintendent of the United States mint in San Francisco, Cal., estimates that the gold output of the Klondike this year has been only about $5,000,000.

THE LOVERS OF THE SEA.

Twain are the lovers of the sea
And hard the burden of their life
Who wage for that which may not be
Wars unproclaimed and secret strife,
While the gold wanton feeds their hate
And triumphs in their sad estate.

Sometimes about the earth she flings
Her foam white arms and clips his waist,
And with low, purling laughter sings
Her love song to him so enlaced.
Sometimes she casts one lazy kiss
To heaven that stoops and smiles for this.

And presently in wilder mood
She leaps to meet the lowering skies,
With sparkling lips to taste love's food
Full tenderly from starry eyes.
Then frets and sighs to be caressed
Awhile upon earth's envious breast.

Yet fears she wholly to declare
For one or other of these twain,
Lest the love, destined to despair,
Forget its worship in its pain,
Lest the high heaven should crack and fall
Or earth divide and swallow all.

BOWIE AS A SLAVE TRADER.

Tactics by Which He Beat the Law and Made Enormous Profits.

The United States had not long suppressed the slave trade. There were plenty still of lowland planters, with money in both pockets, ready to buy whatever of "black ivory" other men would fetch in. Lafitte, the Louisiana pirate, kept up the business of such fetching in. His haunts were no great ways from the Bowie habitat. Moreover, young James was in the way of coming upon the pirate whenever the business of board rafting took him to New Orleans. He was too shrewdly American not to grudge such fair profits to a pack of foreigners. In company with his brother, Rezin Bowie, Jr., and two others of like adventurous minds he undertook to get a fair sharing in it.

Money was needed to begin. Bowie sold his land to get it. Then the four entered into treaty with Lafitte. He sold them sound and likely blacks off his slaveships at the rate of $1 a pound. That made the average price something like $140 the head. In the open market the blacks would fetch from $500 to $1,000 each. But there was another and a better chance of gain, which the trading crew were quick to seize upon. Under the laws then standing all Africans brought in in violation of the statute were confiscated and sold out of hand, one half the price going to the authorities, the other to the informer. Bowie and his comrades made a practice of informing upon themselves; then when the slaves were seized and sold they bid them in, pocketed half the money they paid and found themselves free to offer their purchases wheresoever they chose, for the blacks were now lawfully within United States boundaries and a commodity as staple and as marketable as cotton.

The profit was enormous—nobody ever bid against the partners at the forced sales, though there were a lively crying and a swift mounting of prices at the later vendings. Altogether the company realized a profit of some $65,000 within a couple of years. But the business involved such mummery and flummery of false names, pretended disguises and pretended seizures that the Bowies pretty soon tired of it. They dissolved it, and at least set about spending as strenuously as they had gone about making.—Martha McCulloch-Williams in Harper's Magazine.

The End of a Famous Old Inn.

Hampstead folk and Londoners who find their way up to the heights of Hampstead for a breath of fresh air will have noticed that the famous "Jack Straw's Castle" is now in the hands of the builders. At present the old inn is supported with huge props and the lower part incased in scaffolding. This should be enough to raise an alarm among those who fly to the defense of historic buildings, for "Jack Straw's Castle," it is well known, has been frequented by some of our most famous celebrities, past and present. Here Dickens came for a well cooked chop and a bottle of good wine after a ramble on the heath. Washington Irving introduces the inn in his "Tales of a Traveler," and it has always been a hostelry beloved of artists. Here, too, the old courts leet were held. As a matter of fact, the ancient face of the "Castle hotel" is to be preserved, but the interior will be entirely changed, and the charm of the old inn will have passed away. The low rooms and bar will be replaced by loftier rooms and a modern bar. There must be many who have pleasant recollections of good dinners at "Jack Straw's Castle" after breezy walks on the heath, and many will mourn over the inevitable changes that modernize old cities.—Westminster Gazette.

Farsighted Economy.

Mrs. Widedunks—Jenkinson, we ought to take one of the first class magazines. It's only $4 a year, and the children are getting old enough now to have something good to read.

Mr. Widedunks—Only $4 a year! That's all, is it? If you begin on magazines, you'll think you have to keep it up. At the end of every year you'll want to have 'em bound. There's two volumes in a year. Costs $1 a volume for binding. That makes $6 a year. In ten years it's $60. Then you'll want a bookcase to hold the 20 volumes. That'll cost about $25 because you'll think it ought to be big enough to hold the 20 more volumes. There's $85 thrown away. Do you think I'm made of money? If you want to read the magazines, what's the matter with borrowing 'em?—Chicago Tribune.

Testing Them.

Alexander Hamilton, when slavery existed to a limited extent on Manhattan Island, bought a slave for the purpose of emancipating him.

At the first meeting of the Emancipation society of the city of New York Hamilton attended at the request of La fayette, who desired to become an honorary member.

"Gentlemen," said Hamilton, coming straight to the point, "in token of our sincerity, let every person here emancipate his slaves now."

The members were astonished at the application of this severe test. Not one was willing to submit to it. Hamilton, seeing that his proposition met with general disapproval, took his hat and left the building.—Exchange.

THE WHEEL-WOMAN'S SKIRT.

Short Ones Permissible, But When Too Short They Inspire Disgust.

Addressing athletic women in the Ladies' Home Journal, Edward W Bok has some sensible suggestions regarding their costumes, and presents them very forcibly. "We need only look at some of the wheel-women who ride over our roads and through our streets, with skirts too short for a well-grown child of twelve years, to see how far and to what a vulgar extent this abuse has been carried," he says. "For a woman to be comfortable at her athletics she must have a skirt shorter than that which she wears on the street or in the house. But this does not mean that she should don a garment so scant as to leave her limbs exposed. It is sad enough when we see a very young girl in these abbreviated athletic skirts, but at least we can attribute it to a youthful indiscretion. But when a married woman so far forgets herself, her years and her sex as to parade before the eyes of men in the short skirts which many of them affect, the sight is nothing short of disgusting.

"Even more to be condemned is the custom which some women have adopted of donning short skirts as a regulation morning or afternoon dress, when they really have no thought of athletics. Too often is it the case that women in these abbreviated skirts enter public dining-rooms or loll around verandas in unwomanly attitudes. There is no more excuse for a woman to appear in a public dining-room in an athletic costume than there is for her to appear at breakfast in a decollete gown, or at the dinner-table in a riding habit."

Getting on in the World.

There are many different ways of getting on in the world. It does not always mean making a great deal of money, or being a great man whom people look up to with wonder. Leaving off a bad habit for a good one is getting on in the world; to be tidy instead of disorderly is getting on in the world; to be careful and saving instead of thoughtless and wasteful is getting on in the world, to be active and industrious, instead of idle and lazy, is getting on in the world; to be kind and forbearing, instead of ill-natured and quarrelsome, is getting on in the world; in short, when we see any one properly attentive to his duties, we may be sure that he is getting on in the world.

Herbert Spencer.

Herbert Spencer makes the following interesting statement in a letter to the London Times: "During the first twelve years of my literary life every one of my books failed to pay for its paper, print and advertisements, and for many years after failed to pay my small living expenses—every one of them made me the poorer. Nevertheless, the forty millions of people constituting the nation demanded of the impoverished brain-worker five gratis copies of each. There is only one simile occurring to me which at all represents the fact, and that is but a feeble way—Dives asking alms of Lazarus!"

Position When Sleeping.

Doctors say that insomnia is sometimes brought on by incorrect position. Medical authorities recommend that people should lie on the right side, because when the body is thus placed the food gravitates more easily out of the stomach into the intestines, and the weight of the stomach does not compress the upper portion of the intestines. Children should not be permitted to sleep with the arms thrown over the head.

THAT NAPANEE ROBBERY.

("Society," in Events.)

The trial of the suspects in the Napanee Bank robbery is absorbing a large amount of the public attention these days. The story told by the prisoner Pare is a remarkable one, and is so finished in every detail that it is almost too good to be true. The man's reputation is such that the tale will require so much backing up, that the detectives might as well have made out a case independent of anything he had to say. So far there is nothing to shake faith in the innocence of Ponton, who does not seem to have been connected with the robbery in any way, unless Pare's confession is to be taken as proof of his complicity. The crown claims to have evidence to back Pare up in this, that and the other statement, but, so far as I have heard, it does not seem to have anything to connect Pare and Ponton except Pare's statement. True, it is said that there are witnesses who will swear to having seen Pare coming down the stairs from Ponton's quarters, but it will be necessary for the Crown to go further and prove that Ponton was in his room at the time. A man as expert as Pare in getting in and out of banks and bank vaults would have no trouble in getting in and out of a man's room during his absence. Then, none of the stolen money has been found on Ponton, nor has it been claimed that he was in debt or to such pressing need of funds that he would hire crooks to rob the bank that he might have robbed on his own account, and with a much better show of getting off. As far as the evidence already taken goes, Ponton is not in much danger. No one would believe a man with Pare's character without the strongest kind of corroborative evidence. He is so sure of everything that one is inclined to believe that he learned the story he told the court as a school boy learns his lessons. It is a sad bad that the Crown has to build so largely on his evidence, which is certainly not of a disinterested character. Future developments will be watched with interest, and the wish of all right thinking people will be that justice will be vindicated, let the guilty ones be whom they may.

Whether or not young Ponton be guilty of aiding in the robbery of the Napanee bank in which he was employed is of little moment beside the fact that he has become the popular hero of the town, and all the girls in it are going wild about him. They do not seek to know whether he had a hand in the affair, and do not seem to care if he had. It has become the rage to rave over him, and the honest young men of the town, the ins and outs of whose private quarters have not been made the gossip of the street as described by a noted crook, are completely ignored by these gushing belles. I am not one who would blame them for sympathizing with the young man if he is wrongly accused, but cutting his photographs out of the newspapers to ornament their hats, and gushing over him in the way they are said to be doing is going beyond all bounds. While women persist in carrying their sentiments to such extremes, they cannot hope to win respect for any views they may entertain on such questions, for instance, as prohibition. Most people will be inclined to think that that too is a mere matter of gush, and there is no fixed principle behind it.

Meanwhile, however, Ponton is to be envied, for I am told that Napanee has some very pretty girls, and that any fellow would rob a bank or ten banks, if by so doing he could win their favor and bask in their smiles. Society indeed has reached a bad state when all a man has to do to win the favor of its fair is to have himself accused of some daring crime. If the thing goes on it is likely to make robbers of us all out of sheer desperation. No fellow who has the proper spirit of gallantry is going to be left out in the cold for the small matter of cracking a safe or walking off with a cash box.

A Correction.

Mr. Porter wishes it stated that he is in no wise adversely criticised Magistrate Daly's ruling on the Napanee bank case.

SEARCH FOR ROACH.

He is Being Sought All Over the Continent--Attacking Pare's Story.

Napanee, Aug. 12.—Mr. Dougherty goes to New York, and when he returns he may bring John Roach with him.

The members of every detective staff in North America are looking for the ex-Montrealer, but any statement that his whereabouts are known is untrue.

ANOTHER ARREST PROBABLE.

An important arrest in connection with the robbery will be made next week. The Crown officers have their eye on a well-known criminal of Montreal who has passed some of the unsigned bills in Ottawa and Montreal.

The defence will have in Napanee on Tuesday next the witness who is expected to swear that Pare and Holden were a considerable distance—half a day's journey—from Napanee during the two weeks of the time during which, according to Pare, he and Holden were loafing about the outskirts of the town.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should anyone go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands on the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "Corsican," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&s6w

Does He Fear Justice?

Why does Hon. A. S. Hardy call the Legislature to decide a question which the Conservatives are quite willing to leave to the judiciary, every member of which, according to Mr. Hardy's testimony, is warranted to do justice to everybody?

The Attorney-General has gone out of his way to boast that everyone is sure of justice from the Ontario judiciary, and, that being true, the Government which leaves to politicians the question which the Opposition would leave to judges [illegible] mightily afraid of [illegible] Telegram.

RELIEF OF DERRY.

Grand Celebration by the 'Prentice Boys at Deseronto.

(From our own Correspondent.)

Deseronto, Aug. 12.—The 'Prentice Boys' celebration, which took place in Deseronto to-day, was largely attended. There were probably 4,000 or 5,000 visitors in town. Excursions came in by boat and rail from Gananoque, Kingston, Picton, Watertown, Tweed, Brighton, Trenton and Belleville. Also, large numbers drove in from the surrounding country. The temperature was comfortable and just enough rain fell to lay the dust.

About 2 o'clock p.m. the procession formed and marched to the driving park. It consisted of Prentice Boys, Lady True Blues in carriages, True Blues, Sons of England and Orange Lodges and citizens in carriages. The lodges were from Gananoque, Kingston, Selby, Tyendinaga, Picton, Belleville, Trenton and Deseronto. Six bands of music were in the procession and the streets were lined with spectators. At the park there were speeches, bicycle races, bicycle parade, games, etc. Everything passed off quietly and all appeared to enjoy the day.

Special Bargains in Shirts.

This (Saturday evening) the Oak Hall are offering two special lines of shirts, one with fine colored bosom and cuffs, and the other, a full colored shirt with soft bosoms, cuffs and tie to match. These are all $1.25 goods, clearing to-night at 75cts.

Brigade Camp Echoes.

Old Durham is still ahead at the Military camp held this year at Belleville. The 46th Battalion, of Durham, commanded by Col. Hughes, had the proud distinction of taking the highest number of marks of efficiency obtained by any of the battalions at the annual drill; the Military Inspector pronounced the 46th the best rural Battalion in Canada in every respect.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Sergt. Frank Markey, a member of No. 1 Co., 40th Northumberland Battalion of Infantry, who has had a bad attack of inflammatory rheumatism since his arrival home from the Belleville military camp, is, we are informed, not improving very rapidly.—Cobourg Sentinel Star.

Died at Cambray.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foster started on the 10th for Cambray to visit her father, who was dangerously ill. They were too late in getting home to see him alive. Amos B. Coates was 72 years of age. He was a native of Yorkshire, England, and came to this country in his youth. For a great number of years he had been engaged in farming and fruit growing. He was a faithful member of the English Church. In politics he was a staunch Conservative. He leaves a wife, three daughters and one son.

It's Never Too Late.

No. As Tan or Chocolate in a shoe is a nice color you can wear them all the year round. We are selling them cheap enough even if you don't want to wear them. We have just reduced the price of a line of Ladies' Tan Cloth Top Lace Boots, American manufacture, from $2.00 to $1.50. This is a real snap. Buy a pair for immediate wear and one for next summer.—HAINES & LOCKETT.

From the Palmy Bermudas.

Mr. Darrell, a leading merchant of Hamilton, Bermuda, who is making a tour of this country, is in the city. He brought his daughter, Miss Minnie, to this city to take a course at the O. B. C.

Mr. Darrell is accompanied by Mr. Robertson, also of Hamilton, whose son was a student at the O. B. C. last winter. Both are gentlemen of education and refinement and they declare themselves to be delighted with the climate and scenery of this country.

Counterfeit Coin.

A large number of spurious "quarters" are in circulation. They look and feel all right, but when sounded the cheat is at once apparent. They were probably manufactured by the gang of counterfeiters who were recently captured at Montreal. Look out for them.

Newspaper men are blamed for a lot of things they cannot help, such as using partiality in mentioning visitors, giving news about some folks and leaving out others. They simply print the news they can find. An editor should not be expected to know the names and residences of your uncles, aunts and cousins, even if he should see them off on the train. Tell him about it. It's news that makes the newspapers, and every man, woman and child in the neighborhood could be associate editors if they would.

DEPARTMENTAL EXAMS.

Results for Belleville and Albert College.

The results of the departmental examinations in Forms I. and II. were made public to-day. The results in forms III. and IV. will appear in two or three days.

In Form II. the figures (2) and (3) signify that the candidate has passed Part I. of Form II. certificate. The word matriculation with (c) or (4) appended implies that the candidate has passed Part I. of matriculation.

Regarding the value of the certificates, it will be understood that a Form I. certificate has the same qualifying value for a teacher's certificate as a Public School leaving certificate, which, together with a Form II. certificate, gives primary standing and enables the candidate, if eighteen years of age before the end of the year, to enter a County Model School.

FORM I.

Belleville—Y. Adams, H. Burgoyne, F. M. Clarke, S. Downs, M. R. Dumble, H. Greatrix, E. E. R. Hall, C. E. Jones, L. R. Jones, A. G. Lent, C. E. McMillan, M. J. McClatchie, A. McCoy, M. Row, P. S. Robinson. Honors—V. Handley, H. B. Palen.

SALE OF FIREARMS.
Dealers Must Conform to the Law as Affecting It.
In view of the fact that dealers in firearms and the public generally are not aware that a strict view is taken by the law in regard to the sale of pistols, air-guns or ammunition to minors, or the disposal of firearms to anyone without a record being kept of the sale, the following extracts are published from the statute in that behalf:
Sec. 106.
1. Everyone is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding fifty dollars, who sells or gives any pistol or air gun, or any ammunition therefor, to a minor under the age of sixteen years, unless he establishes, to the satisfaction of the justice before whom he is charged, that he used reasonable diligence in endeavoring to ascertain the age of the minor before making such sale or gift and that he had good reason to believe that such minor was not under the age of sixteen.
2. Everyone is guilty of an offence and liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding twenty-five dollars, who sells any pistol or air gun without keeping a record of such sale, the date thereof and the name of the purchaser, and of the maker's name or any other mark by which such arm may be identified.

The Clearest Exposition Yet Given of the Constables' Votes Question.

The Montreal Star of August 10th deals with this question so fully and so clearly that we reproduce the statement in extenso:

"It is not likely that anyone would attempt a defence of the Hardy proposition with respect to this constable matter if it were presented purely as an academic question. Its real defence—the circumstance that makes it acceptable to many moderately good people—is that the Hardy Administration is in a tight place, and that, unless some twist is resorted to, this truly good Government will have to make way for Mr. Whitney and his colleagues. It is the obliquity of moral vision, which the necessities of party so often induces in otherwise upright citizens, which constitutes one of the most threatening evils of the party system.

"Now let us dissociate this constable problem from party politics for a moment, and see what Mr. Hardy's proposed bill really looks like.

"The whole matter hinges upon the question—Had the election constables a legal right to vote? If the courts decide that they had, then the problem disappears, but if the courts hold that every ballot cast by an election constable was an illegal ballot and that neither have been tendered [illegible] ver, then it is as clear as noonday that the proper thing to do from the standpoint of public interest is simply to take these bad ballots out of the boxes and thus leave the election as it would have been if these officials had not illegally attempted to vote.

"Let us suppose that the illegal ballots are in the boxes were not cast by constables at all, but were home-made ballots of [illegible] color from the official lot, which [illegible] silently 'stuffed' into the ballot [illegible] some outside parties. What [illegible] proper thing to do in such a [illegible] ballots being of a [illegible] color from the others, could easily be sorted out, thus leaving the contents of the ballot boxes in precisely the condition in which they would have been if this ridiculous attempt to change the result had not been made. Surely under such circumstances the correct course would be to ignore these colored ballots and report the count of the official ballots as the result of the election.

"What would be thought if in such a case the minority candidate should set up a claim that the presence of these home made ballots in the boxes voided the election, and that the right thing to do would be to hold it over again and give him a second chance to win? He would be told at once that there was no reason to put the country to the expense of a second election, that there was no doubt as to who had the majority of legal votes in the constituency, and that the majority candidate would at once get the seat.

"But let us carry the supposition a little further: Suppose that the Returning Officers in three or four constituencies in which these colored ballots had been 'stuffed' into the boxes, had counted them as good votes, and had thereby returned the minority candidates as elected. Then these minority members let us suppose, with the rest of the Legislature, and with the law with the help of a [illegible] gently declared that when the result of an election was changed by leaving out these bad ballots, the seat should not go to the majority candidate, but should be contested again; but that when the dropping of the colored ballots did not change the result of the election, then there should be no second contest. The statement of such a supposition so blandly shows its absurdity. No citizen with a shred of conscience would tolerate so openly corrupt a course for a moment.

"But is this not exactly what Premier [illegible] proposes to do? The votes of these [illegible] are not colored, but—thanks to the extraordinary election law kept in force by the Ontario Liberals—they are as plainly marked as if every man-jack had signed his name to them. Consequently, on the supposition that the courts hold them to have been illegally cast, it would be as simple a task to sort them out and leave the election in the condition it would have been in had these bad ballots never been deposited in the boxes, as we have seen it would be in case of the colored ballots. But this plain and just method of procedure does not commend itself to Mr. Hardy. He wants to pass a law allowing the elections to stand in all cases in which they were decided in favour of his candidates, but, in any case in which the rejection of those constabular ballots leaves the Conservative candidate with a majority, voiding the election and giving the Grit candidate a second chance. If the conscience of Ontario permits this to pass, blind partyism may feel itself fairly secure in its seat for a while."

A YANKEE JUNKETING PARTY.

The Hon. Clifford Sifton has been treating a number of Minnesota editors to an excursion through Manitoba, the Nor' West Territories and British Columbia, "the idea being that they would write glowing accounts of it and cause people from their own sections to desert them and flock into the Canadian territory." The party was lavishly entertained wherever it went. The Calgary Herald opines the result of what it calls this "editorial junketing," by quoting what appeared in the American papers represented, and says:—

"There is very little practical information about the country and its resources; there is a heap of gush about grub, Anglo-Saxon unity, Union Jacks, Indians, and Stars and Stripes. If there is to be any more Yankee editorial junketing at the expense of Canada there are three things the organizers should do.

"1. Select a few leading representative papers in each State.

"2. Show the visitors the actual resources of the country, its farms, ranches and mines.

"3. Leave their wives at home.

"And thus ends this long-headed scheme for booming our Northwest."

The Minister of the Interior, Mr. Sifton, has a softer pate than he has had credit for if he supposed Yankee editors would extol Canada at the expense of their own country. The expenditure of the people's money in such a way is not only useless but an inexcusable fraud upon the revenue of the country.

ERIE & HURON GOBBLED.

Lake Erie & Detroit River R. R. Now in Control.

Chatham, Aug. 13.—The Erie & Huron Railway, which runs from Chatham to Rondeau, a distance of 74 miles, has passed into the hands of the Lake Erie & Detroit River Railway. The latter line connects at Blenheim with the E. & H., and it is expected trains will run through from Sarnia to Walkerville, via Chatham. The Michigan Central and L. E. & D. R. R. have been negotiating to get control of the E. & H., but as the Walker proved to be the most successful. The selling price is to be $750,000. This road was owned by the Bickford Estate. The papers have all been signed and the L. E. & D. R. R. are now practically in control.

MR. SEMLIN ACCEPTS.

He Will Endeavor to Form a Government in British Columbia.

Vancouver, Aug. 13.—Hon. Robert Beaven, who was called upon by Lieut.-Gov. McInnes to form a Cabinet, has failed, and the political affairs of the province have reached a crisis. In an interview yesterday Mr. Beaven refused to say what he would recommend the Lieutenant-Governor to do under the circumstances, but said that the latter had decided to call Mr. Semlin, the present leader of the Opposition, to form a Ministry. Hon. Joseph Martin is therefore out of the race for the Premiership, for the time being at least. Although Mr. Semlin accepted the call doubts prevails in some quarters as to whether he will succeed in forming a Government, but local Opositionists believe nothing will occur to prevent Mr. Semlin from forming a strong Cabinet. It is doubtful if Mr. Martin will accept the Attorney-Generalship under Mr. Semlin.

London Papers Have Gloomy Articles—"The Door Is Closed," Says the Daily Mail—These Repeated Humiliations Are Becoming Intolerable," the Standard Affirms—France Is Backing Russia.

London, Aug. 13.—All the morning papers, including the supporters of the Government, attack Lord Salisbury for weakness in dealing with the Chinese question.

The Daily Chronicle says: "What is to be the result, nobody can say. There is room for the gloomiest forebodings. Does the country realize that for want of a little foresight and firmness British prestige may one long be plunged into a colossal war. Such, without the least doubt or exaggeration is the appalling possibility."

The Daily Mail says: "The door is closed. The proudly boasted British lion does not exist in the Yang-Tse Valley. It is a mistake; and, looking to what Lord Salisbury has done in Egypt, his failure in China is inexplicable."

The Standard says: "These repeated humiliations are becoming intolerable."

France Will Back Russia.

Paris, Aug. 13.—The papers are full of the significance of the Chinese question. The Matin says: "In China the greatest game in the world is being played, and French intervention should be officacious and decisive."

The Soir has a sensational article headed "War Between England and Russia Imminent."

The Journal des Debats says: "England is now seeking an arrangement with Russia. The understanding is impossible unless Russia remains mistress of the north and England is ensured her influence on the Yang-Tse River. In short, the lines of the section are outlined, and the market along with the disruption which would occur whenever China falls to pieces. Clearly neither France, Germany nor Japan could hold aloof from such an agreement."

The article hints that France would support Russia in the event of war, and says in conclusion: "France will be content with the southern provinces bordering on Tonquin."

Prorogued Until Oct. 29.

London, Aug. 13.—The House of Commons met yesterday at 10.30 a.m. A host of questions on the subject of China elicited little information, except that the Government leader, Mr. Balfour, declined to pledge the Government to prevent the ratification of the Franco-Belgian, Pekin-Hankow concession.

But Mr. Balfour promised that in the event of British capitalists purchasing railroad concessions obtained by French or Belgian syndicates in the Yang-Tse-Kiang Valley, Her Majesty's Government would support and assist them, both in London and at Pekin, in this and in all other legitimate British commercial enterprises.

The China appropriation bill then passed its third reading and the session was suspended until 2.30 p.m., when Parliament was prorogued.

The Queen's Speech at the prorogation of Parliament among other things stated that relations with other nations continue friendly, and that arrangements had been made to establish at an early date penny postage between the United Kingdom, Canada, Newfoundland and elsewhere. Parliament was formally prorogued until Oct. 29.

BY THEIR OWN VOTES

The Government Defeat the Opposition on the Address—A Spirited Debate—Government Majority 6.

Toronto, Aug. 13.—A solid day of debating, and a vote before daylight was the feature of yesterday's Legislature. The Government, as will be seen from the report, was sustained by a majority of six, less than the number of Ministers in the Cabinet.

The Debate Resumed.

Mr. Carscallen, Hamilton, resumed the debate on the address. To the people in the galleries, who had heard the Government members speak, it must have appeared, he said, that the Ministry was composed—

Of little gods, in number seven,
Too good for earth, not ripe for Heaven.

He deprecated this man-worship on the part of Government supporters, and advised them to assert their manhood and bolster up their self-respect by stopping it. A wrong previously committed, according to the Attorney-General's memorandum calling the House together was justification for committing another. If Mr. Hardy really believed constables had a legal right to vote, why had he called the House? It could not have been to pass fisheries legislation, because a modus vivendi must have existed between the Governments interested for the regulation of this department. The truth was that members had been called to pass retroactive legislation to get the Government out of a hole. To quote Sir John Macdonald's Act of 1887 in a previous year was the height of absurdity, as it did not affect the seat of any member of the House. Every one should have the privileges of the franchise, but thousands of citizens did not enjoy that right on March 1. Why was not the bill brought in to enfranchise all of them? The laws of March 1 should govern the elections. The plan of the Attorney-General to allow of no decision by a trial judge until a decision had been given by the Court of Appeal was an attempt to shackle justice. As its decision might be influenced by the decisions of trial judges the regular course of procedure should have been allowed to prevail. The bill proposed is retroactive in its effect because it will deprive certain candidates of March 1 of their rights. In the face of this fact it was useless to deny that the proposed legislation was ex post facto in its character. He appealed to members on the Government side to insist that the bill be dropped, that they might maintain the constitution and be able to face their constituents. When he considered the fact that the Opposition had been returned 43 strong he counseled members of the Government benches not to place too much reliance upon their small majority, but to use their power to uphold the rights of the people by refusing to sanction any such legislation. The Government had not used public office as a public trust, but as a means of corrupting the electorate. They had studied to centralize power and by an artful policy to obtain control of the consciences of the incumbents of public offices. While he would not charge that Ministers were personally corrupt, they exercised a tyranny over the independence neck, while the left was in the liquor men's pocket. The electorate was not free, and the control of a man's conscience constituted for that man the most abject kind of bondage. Their opponents wanted them to say what kind of a liquor law they would bring in if they came into power. He could assure them that it would be one satisfactory to the whole people. (The Premier laughed aloud.) The Attorney-General might laugh, but he could tell him that always having been in office he did not know the feelings of the people. He denounced the numbered ballot at some length, and then passed on to consider the case of the defeated Ministers. He thought it an insult to the people for the Attorney-General to say that there was no man equal to the position of Minister of Agriculture but John Dryden. The same applied in Mr. Gibson's case. He quoted precedents to show that the Government had had "reasonable" time to fill the portfolios with Ministers responsible to the people. If they were sincere some of the less able members should resign and give them a seat. A reference to the sawlog and nickel questions, and then the speaker closed with an appeal first to the Premier and then to the Government to compel them to do it. He spoke for two hours.

Mr. Conmee was the next speaker. He denied that the constables' bill was ex post facto legislation. It was not a question of votes—votes questioned by the Opposition. If members were re-elected their seats might be again attacked as now. That was the need of settling the question by legislation. The fisheries question alone was of sufficient importance to have the House called together. The only liquor dealer who supported him in Port Arthur lost his license, so he was on a party with Mr. Lucas, the Conservative wife, but touching the latter's case he had a letter from a Clarkshorn banker stating that Mr. Lucas had practically given up his license and quit the business. He quoted from Mr. Carscallen's old-time speeches when he was a Liberal, in opposition to what he had said to-night, and he asked which Carscallen they ought to believe.

It being 6 o'clock the Speaker left the chair.

The Evening Session.

Mr. Conmee resumed at the evening session, defending the Government.

Mr. Wardell, North Wentworth, said the Attorney-General was not to be congratulated on calling the House together. He refused to believe in the celestial birth of the Minister of Agriculture. The fact is the two Ministers were hanging on with a death grip to their seats. The Minister of Crown Lands was also a judge—a mining judge—and should not have a place in the Cabinet. He wished to get information about the fisheries. How could this be done when the office was not represented. The hon. the Attorney-General might just as well appoint himself permanent Premier, the Ministers perpetual Ministers, as attempt to pass the iniquitous bill proposed.

The Minister of Education.

Hon. G. W. Ross went into a recital of British precedents with regard to the defeated Ministers, and declared that, with reference to Messrs. Gibson and Dryden, there was an immediate prospect of their return. Coming to the constable vote, he said that Parliament had been called to declare the rights of certain electors to vote, and yet the Opposition complained. Every step taken by the Liberal party had shown an unswerving confidence in the judiciary. Mr. Ross concluded by denying that the bill was retroactive, excepting in a "matter of procedure."

Mr. Whitney spoke for over two hours. Replying to Mr. Ross, he took no back water for supporting any statement about officials. He and Mr. Ross had a heated debate re the statement that the right of constables to vote had never been disputed. Mr. Whitney quoted from an editorial of the Globe of 1887, which said: "According to the latest authority, constables had no right to vote."

The debate was continued by Messrs. Boyd of North Bay, White of Renfrew, Bloomfield of East Simcoe, Fox of West Victoria, Morrison of West Hastings and Carnegie of East Victoria.

Government Majority of Six.

A vote was reached at 2.45 o'clock this morning on Mr. Hoyle's amendment to the amendment condemning the Government on the question of the defeated Ministers and calling upon His Honor to terminate such a state of affairs.

The vote was 49 to 43, on a straight party vote, giving the Government a majority of 6.

Mr. Beatty of Parry Sound voted with the Government, and Mr. Tucker, the Patron, with the Opposition. Mr. Craig, Government, was the only absentee.

The result was hailed with prolonged applause, and counter applause from the two sides of the Chamber.

The amendment was lost and the address carried on the same division.

The House adjourned at 3 o'clock.

Government business will have precedence during the month of August.

The No Grog Law.

In July, 1862, congress revolutionized the American navy by passing the historic law providing:

"That from and after the 1st day of September, 1862, the spirit ration in the navy of the United States shall forever cease, and thereafter no distilled spirituous liquors shall be admitted on board of vessels of war except as medical stores and upon the order and under the control of the medical officers of such vessels and to be used only for medical purposes.

"From and after the 1st day of September next there shall be allowed and paid to each person in the navy now entitled to the spirit ration 8 cents per day in commutation and lieu thereof, which shall be in addition to the present pay."

And since that day there has been no [illegible] United States navy.—San [illegible]

THOUGHTLESS FOLKS LOOK AT THE PRICE.

The cautious ones look at quality. They reason rightly—that the cheapest is the costliest—Better to buy once at a fair price than twice at prices that can't possibly hold any value.

Mothers of Boys.

The quality ought to be your guide. All wool, honest sewing, honest linings cost money, but they wear. We never have had and never shall have, anything but good clothing to show you. The best that can be put into boys' clothes is none too strong for the assaults of romp and play. That this reliability costs less here than elsewhere is the truth. If you ever hear of anyone selling clothing lower than we do, you may depend upon it, they ignore quality—risk satisfaction—trust to luck. There's no luck here, solid, substantial, fact-selling.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I was in consumption, and when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of wasting of the kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 210 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

Demand for Cash Wheat Larger Than the Supply—Russian Wheat Crop Fails—The Prices.

Friday Evening, Aug. 12.

Higher cables from Liverpool and reports of the destruction of a great part of the Russian crop, together with a strong cash demand and light receipts at home brought about an elevation in the price of wheat at Chicago to-day. The cash article advanced over a cent per bushel, this month's delivery 2¼c and the later options ⅝c to 1¼c. The close was about at the top price for the day.

On the Liverpool Board to-day spot wheat was up, and also futures. The September option gained 1¼d per cental and the December future ⅝d. Paris wheat closed 15 to 25 centimes lower than yesterday.

Toronto Live Stock.

The run of live stock at the Cattle Market to-day was large—77 carloads, composed of 1300 cattle, 1700 hogs, 1017 sheep and lambs and 75 calves.

Exporters sold at $4.12½ to $4.60, the bulk going at $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt.

Light export bulls sold at $3 to $3.50; heavy bulls of choice quality $3.80 to $4.12½ per cwt.

Loads of good butchers and exporters mixed sold at $4 to $4.20.

Butchers' cattle were not as plentiful accordingly as the exporters, especially the better class, prices for these being firm, but the poorer qualities were slightly easier. Choice picked lots sold at $4.15 to $4.25; good, $3.85 to $4.10; medium, $3.50 to $3.80; common, $3.12½ to $3.37½; and inferior $3 to $3.25 per cwt.

There were about 25 milk cows, the quality of which was not as good as usual, and prices were easier, ranging from $25 to $40 each, the average price being about $35.

There was a large number of feeders and stockers, especially the latter, many of which were not sold, but consigned through to Buffalo.

Feeders sold from $3.50 to $3.75 and steers of choice quality, weighing 1100 lbs. each, might bring a trifle more.

Prices for stockers were firmer, selling at $3.25 to $3.50, the bulk going at $3.35 to $3.40; feeding bulls $2.50.

Calves sold from $3 to $7 each, and for veals of choice quality $5 per cwt. live weight was paid.

Sheep have been in good demand on account of cheap space for export. Ewes sold from $3.25 to $3.45 per cwt., the latter price only being paid for choice picked lots; bucks sold at $2.75 per cwt.

Spring lambs sold at $3 to $4 each, or $4.75 to $5 per cwt. live weight.

Hogs—Deliveries 1700, choice selections selling at $6 to $6.10, light fats $5.50 to $5.60, heavy fats $5, sows $3.25 to $3.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—Hogs—Estimated receipts to-day 15,000; left over, 2500; fairly active, 5c to 10c higher; light, $3.70 to $4.05; mixed, $3.70 to $4.10; heavy, $3.70 to $4.15; rough, $3.70 to $3.80.

Cattle—Receipts 1500; strong; beeves, $4.20 to $5.40; cows and heifers, $2.20 to $4.80; Texas steers, $3.20 to $4.30; Westerns, $3.60 to $4.60; stockers and feeders, $3.20 to $4.80.

THE WAR DOGS CALLED OFF.

Destruction in Spain's Colonies to Be Followed by American Reconstruction.

The Protocol Basis of Peace Has Been Signed on Behalf of Spain and the United States—Its Provisions—President McKinley's Peace Proclamation High Naval and Military Officers Cabled to Cease Warfare.

Washington, Aug. 13. — Ambassador Cambo and Secretary Thiebaut drove over to the White House from the French Embassy and were immediately ushered inside and to the Cabinet room, where President McKinley, Secretary Day and Assistant Secretaries of State Moore, Adee and Cridler had been awaiting them five minutes. There, in the historic Cabinet room, the ceremony of formally agreeing to and signing the protocol of peace took place at 4.32 p.m.

Provisions of the Protocol.

The protocol provides:

1. That Spain shall relinquish all claim of sovereignty over and title to Cuba.

2. That Porto Rico and other Spanish islands in the West Indies, and an island in the Ladrones, to be selected by the United States, shall be ceded to the latter.

3. That the United States will occupy and hold the city, bay and harbor of Manila, pending the conclusion of a treaty of peace, which shall determine the control, disposition and government of the Philippines.

4. That Cuba, Porto Rico and other Spanish islands in the West Indies shall be immediately evacuated and that commissioners, to be appointed within ten days, shall, within thirty days from the signing of the protocol, meet at Havana and San Juan, respectively, to arrange and execute the details of the evacuation.

5. That the United States and Spain will each appoint not more than five commissioners to negotiate and conclude a treaty of peace. The commissioners are to meet at Paris not later than Oct. 1.

6. On the signing of the protocol, hostilities will be suspended, and notice to that effect will be given as soon as possible by each Government to the commanders of its military and naval forces.

The above is the official statement of the protocol contents, as prepared and given to the press by Secretary Day.

The protocol was signed by Secretary of State Day, representing the United States, and M. Cambon, the French Ambassador, representing the Spanish Government.

PEACE PROCLAMATION.

President McKinley Issues One on the Signing of the Protocol.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—The President has issued the following proclamation:

By the President of the United States of America.

A Proclamation:

Whereas, by a protocol, concluded and signed Aug. 12, 1898, by William R. Day, Secretary of State of the United States, and His Excellency Jules Cambon, Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary of the Republic of France, at Washington, respectively representing for this purpose the Government of the United States and the Government of Spain, the Government of the United States and Spain have formally agreed upon the terms on which negotiations for the establishment of peace between the two countries shall be undertaken; and,

Whereas, it is in said protocol agreed that, upon its conclusion and signature, hostilities between the two countries shall be suspended, and that notice to that effect shall be given as soon as possible by each Government to the commanders of its military and naval forces;

Now, therefore I, William McKinley, President of the United States, do, in accordance with the stipulations of the protocol, declare and proclaim, on the part of the United States, a suspension of hostilities, and do hereby command that orders be immediately given, through the proper channels, to the commanders of the military and naval forces of the United States to abstain from all acts inconsistent with this proclamation.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this 12th day of August, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-eight, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-third.

William McKinley.

By the President:
William R. Day, Secretary of State.

A copy of the proclamation has been cabled to our army and navy commanders. Spain will cable her commanders like instructions.

Order's Sent to the Commanders.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 13. — The order sent to General Merritt to suspend hostilities was as follows:

Washington, D.C., Aug. 12, 1898.
Adjutant-General's Office,
Merritt, Manila:

The President directs all military operations against the enemy to be suspended. Peace negotiations are nearing completion, a protocol having just been signed by representatives of the two countries. You will inform the commanders of the Spanish forces in the Philippines of these instructions. Further orders will follow. Acknowledge receipt.

By order of the Secretary of War.
(Signed), H. C. Corbin,
Adjutant-General.

The orders sent to General Miles and General Shafter were identical with the above, save as to names.

As the order states, further instructions will be sent to each General. General Merritt will be directed to confer with the Spanish commandant at Manila to carry out the terms of the protocol and to occupy Manila immediately. General Miles will put himself in communication with the chief authority in Porto Rico for the purpose of having Spanish forces turn over San Juan and other points to him preparatory to evacuation. Owing to conditions in Cuba, the orders to General Shafter to be sent hereafter will be much different than those to other generals.

The Navy Department is also preparing orders to all commanders on lines similar to the War Department's order.

THE POPE IS VERY ILL.

First Official Announcement of the Sickness of His Holiness.

Rome, Aug. 13.—The Observatore Romano, the organ of the Vatican, announces that the Pope was stricken with an illness yesterday caused by the extreme hot weather. Dr. Lapponi orders absolute rest. All audiences are suspended.

The news has caused a great sensation, as it is the first official announcement of the illness of the Pope.

Editor Dan's Easy Thing.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The Government has awarded the contract for the completion of the Goderich harbor works to Mr. Dan. McGillicuddy, editor of the Huron Signal. This work was undertaken by Luke Madigan some years ago for $50,000. After spending considerable money on it he threw up the contract. New tenders were recently called for, Mr. McGillicuddy receiving the contract at $58,000, an amount in excess of the first contract, on which at least $10,000 was expended.

MAGISTRATE DALY'S FIAT.

He Will Not Try the Napanee Bank Robbery Case.

Thinks Crown Counsel Osler Will Have to Take the Responsibility of His Action, as He Follows That Gentleman's Legal Advice—Counsels' Contentions—Magistrate's Decision—Defence Evidence and Argument on Tuesday.

Napanee, Aug. 13.—The court opened at 20 minutes to 10 yesterday. There was a slim attendance.

Detective Wilkes again took the stand, and his cross-examination was continued. Mr. Porter told the magistrate that, by agreement, Wilkes' evidence, given at last year's trial, would be taken as read. To Mr. Porter the witness said: "Manager Baines, Ponton, Durand and William Green were engaged at the bank when I came here. I made no examination of the books of the bank, but I had a brief conversation with Mr. Baines concerning Ponton's cheques." To Mr. Osler the witness said that he had been in fault in his evidence of yesterday. The vault door had been put into shape when he first came upon the scene on September 6th. "I also confused the upper and the lower compartments," the witness confessed.

Clarence Bogart said he was manager of the Dominion Bank at Montreal. When the robbery took place he was assistant manager at Toronto. The evidence of Mr. Bogart at last year's trial was agreed to be taken as read.

William J. Normiles' evidence was also taken as read. He had testified at last year's trial concerning a bicycle that Ponton had bought from him.

As to the Trial of the Case.

Mr. Osler here asked the magistrate to decide whether he proposed to try the case or treat it as a preliminary investigation. "If you treat it as a preliminary investigation I think I would rest the case here. I would not be justified in duplicating evidence if this is to be but a preliminary enquiry. If your Worship should decide to try it, the Crown has further evidence to produce."

As to whether the magistrate should try it or not, Mr. Osler said: "That all the prisoners did not elect is a reasonable ground for your Worship's refusing to try." Mr. Osler reasoned by analogy that the rule concerning the County Court judges' course applied to the magistrate.

Mr. Porter's Argument.

Mr. Porter, in answer, said it was necessary that the defence should have the magistrate's opinion upon this matter. "The law," he continued, "gives your Worship the right to try this case. Under this law my client has seen right to elect to be tried by your Worship. There are no circumstances that have arisen that would warrant your Worship to refuse to try. The discretion of the magistrate must be exercised before the prisoner makes his election. This is a case that your Worship should try and not treat as a preliminary investigation. There is no evidence produced that would justify my client's being even committed for trial. If my client is not tried by your Worship it would be a great injustice to say to him, 'You must be in jail till next November to allow the Crown to hunt up further evidence against you.' This would be contrary to all principles of British justice. The prisoner should be allowed the earliest opportunity to answer any evidence brought forward in this investigation. The Crown should put in all evidence it has against the prisoners, and should close the case before asking the court for a decision. The Crown says if you decide not to commit the prisoner but to try the case, then they will put in further evidence. The Crown is putting the court in an awkward position. All the evidence should be put in before your Worship is asked to decide."

The Point at Issue.

Mr. Osler—"The whole point is whether your Worship is going to try the case or not. If you try it, I have evidence I wish to give. If you do not try it I will close my case." The Crown counsel again went over the criminal code. The making of the defence is not pleading, but takes place after the examination of the witnesses for the prosecution.

Mr. Porter took issue with Mr. Osler upon this point, and reasoned by analogy with a civil action. "The defence of my client is not guilty," Mr. Porter concluded.

Will Not Try It.

"It was my opinion," said the magistrate, "and my intention at the commencement of this case, unless the whole elected to be tried by me, not to try any of them. I remarked that at the time. I am now thrown upon the question of when I should decide what has always been a question in doubt in my mind, and I am only too glad to hear the opinion of so able an advocate as Mr. Osler on the subject. He says that the time for me to decide whether I shall try the case or not is after the evidence has been heard. He is properly the Queen's adviser in this case. He is my counsel by law, I suppose. The County Crown Attorney is my legal adviser, and when Mr. Osler comes he takes his place, I suppose, as my adviser. I think, therefore, he will have to take the responsibility of my action in this matter. I am going to act as he thinks is the proper legal course in the case. And I think it would be hardly right, in view of the importance of the case, that only some of them elect to be tried. It might prejudice the case for the Crown for me to try a part and then leave the other part. There is no economy in doing so. The same time will have to be occupied in going over one trial as in trying the whole. The same witnesses will be examined. In taking this view I think Mr. Osler is only taking a merciful view of the poor police magistrate, who does not get one cent for his services. I have spent now seventeen days in this case and I don't expect to get one-hundredth part of a cent for my services. The result is I think I ought not to spend any more time than is absolutely necessary. I have so good an excuse to avoid it. All circumstances considered, I think I should decide not to try the case. I am prepared to give the defence a chance to put in any evidence they desire."

Defence Evidence on Tuesday.

Mr. Porter said: "I ask your Worship to fix a time when I can give argument upon the evidence already produced and also produce defence evidence. I will be ready with my witnesses by Tuesday."

The magistrate replied: "I fix it for Tuesday at 2 o'clock."

Prisoner Pare was again formally remanded yesterday morning. Court was adjourned till 2 o'clock on Tuesday.

What love can compare with the tender self-sacrificing spirit of the weary, watch-worn mother by the side of her suffering little one? Such mothers take little or no account of their own weariness and weakness, but keep on until they drop. They seldom realize how completely their baby's health depends upon their own.

Every mother, and every woman who expects to be a mother, ought to obtain the health-bringing, strength-creating assistance of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives elastic endurance to the organs concerned in motherhood, and nourishing vitality to the special nerve-centers.

Taken early during gestation, it makes motherhood perfectly safe and almost painless. Its beneficial effect is transmitted to the child in increased constitutional vigor. It protects the mother against relapse and improves the quantity and quality of nourishment during the nursing period.

It reinforces tired over-wrought women at every critical stage, and heals the special diseases to which they are subject. It was designed for this express purpose by an educated physician and skilled specialist.

Dr. Pierce has devoted thirty years to this particular field of practice. His thousand-page book, the "People's Medical Adviser," will be sent free, for 31 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of customs and mailing only. Or, cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address, R. V. Pierce, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. J. B. Clough, Box 203, Lisbon, Grafton Co., New Hampshire, writes: "I am the mother of a nice baby four and a half months old. He is a perfect child and weighs about eighteen pounds. If you remember I wrote you about a year ago about my condition. I cannot give too much praise to your 'Favorite Prescription' as it saved me a great deal of suffering. I got along remarkably well this being my first baby."

THE ELECTRICAL STORM

Of Friday Caused Much Damage and Loss in Western Ontario—Port Dalhousie Lighthouse Burned.

Port Dalhousie, Aug. 13.—During the severe storm which swept over the province early on Friday, the large lighthouse on the east pier was struck by lightning and burned down to the pier level.

The lighthouse was built anew in 1893, and had revolving lights and all the latest machinery. The other lighthouse had nothing but a stationary light. Therefore, until it becomes known to the marine men, it will handicap them somewhat to enter the port at night.

The keeper of the lighthouse lost all his books, also a number of tools necessary to keep on hand, together with some personal effects which he also kept when on duty. The season's requirements, with the exception of one barrel of oil, which was stored in the small house, were also destroyed.

The steamer Elvin played a stream of water on the building, but the flames had made too much headway for this to have effect.

Craigville—William Howie's barns, on 9th con. Innisfel, were struck by lightning. His season's crop, about 1,000 bushels of grain, was destroyed. Mr. Howie had a very narrow escape while trying to save his horses. No insurance.

Salem—Hugh Black's barn and all the season's crops were destroyed, involving a loss of $1,500.

Tottenham—Lightning struck the house of Daniel Gavin, con. 5, Tecumseh, and set fire to his barns, all of which were destroyed, with all the crops. Loss heavy; insurance only $800.

Mitchell—Fred Horn, who lives about a mile and a half from here on the Stratford road, lost his barn and almost entire crop by lightning. Insurance $1,400. Thomas Boyd, Township of Logan, also lost his barn and season's crops. Insured for $1,000.

Chesley—Barn of Michael Schroder, Brant Township, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground; also Mr. William Burney's barn, on the same line. Loss heavy.

Whitechurch—Stable belonging to the Methodist parsonage was struck by lightning and totally destroyed. Rev. W. W. Leech lost his new buggy and cutter.

St. Catharines—The lightning, which was very severe, visited G. W. Robertson's farm, in Grantham Township, just outside the city, on Niagara street, and totally destroyed his barn and season's crops. His residence was destroyed by fire some time ago. Mr. Robertson was fortunate enough to get out the live stock. The electric car service was suspended for the greater part of the day, owing to their generators being burned out by the lightning. The rain, which fell in torrents, caused serious washouts in the fruit districts.

Petrolea—Thursday afternoon's storm blew down the tents of Main's circus and upset the animal cages. There was great excitement, but the management acted so energetically that only two or three children were slightly hurt. The canvas of the big tent was badly ripped. Mr. Stewart's barn near here was struck by lightning and consumed. Many shade trees were laid low.

A Small But Interesting Budget From Ottawa.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—The prize list and program of matches for the annual meeting of the D.R.A., which will commence on the new Rockliffe range on Monday, Aug. 29, have been curtailed by the executive of the association, so that instead of the matches continuing over the entire week as heretofore, they will last but four days.

CAN'T EAT.

FOOD is the fuel that feeds the fires of life. Digestion is the process that turns the fuel into energy. Few possess perfect digestion. If your digestion is imperfect, if you cannot eat what you like without discomfort, if you cannot eat when you ought to eat, the time has come when you should take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Hunger is the best Sauce. Take these Pills and get hungry. You may eat what you want if you take Dr. Ward's Pills.

WHAT THEIR MERITS ARE:

My system was entirely rejuvenated by the use of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I consider them a marvellous strength and nerve builder for dyspepsia. I was so sick and miserable that I seemed to have no life or energy left in me. I suffered so at times that I thought death would be better for me. I had tried Doctors and different kinds of medicines, but all failed to do me any good. I am in every way now a well woman, and have been for months. Before using these Pills I was so sick that I could not keep anything in my stomach. I was under the opinion that dyspepsia could not be cured, but now I am satisfied it can be cured, for I am able to eat like any healthy woman and feel better in every way. They have built me up also,—I now weigh several pounds more than I ever did before. In conclusion, I would advise every woman afflicted with poor digestion to give Dr. Ward's Pills a trial.

THE CONSTABLE VOTE.

Mr. Hardy has scored victory. He had 6 majority on a division which, with the Speaker and one Grit absent, would make the Government majority 8, just the number of Grit members who owe their elections to what may be decided as illegal votes. So that Hardy holds office on the votes of eight members, who, assisted by other Grits, vote themselves Members of the House of Assembly in defiance of what the courts may decide.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—Hardy newspapers in Ontario are arguing that the paid election constables have a prescriptive right to vote. It is a rather weak case that depends on such a claim. Because a man does wrong for ten years before being challenged cannot make his act right after he is challenged.—Gazette.

—The plebiscite vote will be taken in some provinces on lists one year old, in some on lists two years old, and in some on lists prepared for the occasion. The Liberal Government's franchise has its peculiarities, and they do not make for uniformity.—Gazette.

—Do our contemporaries who talk so learnedly about a course of action being justified because there is a "precedent" for it, realize how absurd that argument is? There is no crime in the calendar from petty larceny to murder, for which a precedent cannot be found. It is funnier still when so-called Reformers argue for "precedent." The true Reformer is, within his scope and sphere, an iconoclast smashing tradition.—London News.

Impure blood is an enemy to health, and may lead to serious disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla conquers this enemy and averts danger.

Pain Cannot Stay

Where Nerviline—nerve pain cure—is used. Composed of the most powerful pain subduing remedies known, Nerviline never fails to give prompt relief in rheumatism, neuralgia, cramps, pains in the back and side, and the host of painful affections, internal or external, arising from inflammatory action. Unequal for all nerve pains.

Ivy Poison and Its Cure.

Poison ivy grows over trees and fences and runs over the walls and along the ground. It may be distinguished by its brown, hairy-like stem, its three leaves (in cluster) and white berries. It is also known as the poison oak; sometimes it takes the form of a bush and other times that of a vine. The poison ivy and poison sumach are utterly unlike in appearance, but both belong to the same general order—rhus.

The poison sumach grows in swampy places and is known also as poison dogwood and poison alder. It grows from six to twenty-six feet in height, in shrub-like form, its foliage consisting of about five pairs of opposite and terminal leaflets. It can always be recognized in the fall by its color and white berries.

Ivy poison is very painful; first the skin is very itchy, then red and swollen, eventually breaking into blisters. The face often swells so much that the eyes are closed.

Having described the plants and told how to detect the poison, I append a number of receipts for the latter's cure when the poison is in its first stages.

Bathe the affected parts with a saturated solution of baking soda (bicarbonate of sodium) in water that is warm—not hot, as that changes the soda into washing soda; or

Bathe with warm water and soap—good, pure soap; or

Bathe with alum curds—a tablespoonful of powdered alum to a pint of milk; or

Bathe with weak ammonia water; one part aqua ammonia to five parts of water; or

Bathe with carbonate of sodium—one ounce to half a pint of water, or sulphite of sodium or chlorinated soda in same quantity to same amount of water; or

Bathe with lead water and laudanum in equal parts, or with witch hazel added; or

Bathe with half an ounce of phenol sodique diluted in three ounces of water; or

Bathe with one ounce of glycerine of carbolic acid diluted with eight ounces of water; or

Bathe the affected parts with a two per cent. solution of creoline.

In the later stages, when the inflammation is great and blisters appear—

Use sassafras bark tea; two ounces of bark to a pint of hot water. Let it soak a few hours, and bathe, while it is warm, the affected parts; or

Oak bark tea used in the same way as the above; or

Break the blister, if not already broken, by pricking, and drop, with quill or dropper, solution of subsulphate of iron, full strength, into the blister.—Ladies' Home Journal.

A New Garment For Ten Cents.

Have you ever tried to dye over your cast-off garments? Thousands in Canada answer "Yes, and very successfully, too." To those who have not yet attempted the work we would say, "There is money in it when you use the Diamond Dyes." Old dresses, capes, blouses, jackets, coats, pants, vests, stockings, ribbons, and other articles of wearing apparel, can be renewed and fitted for wear at very small cost. The sum of ten cents expended for some fashionable color of the Diamond Dyes will often save you many dollars. Beware of the cheap package and common soap grease dyes; they spoil your goods, waste your money and ruin your temper. All up-to-date dealers sell the Diamond Dyes. See that the name "Diamond" is on each package you buy.

A SISTER'S HELP.

Brought Renewed Health to a Despondent Brother.

His Health had Failed and Medicines Seemed to do Him no Good—Where Others Had Failed, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Met With Great Success

Dr. Williams' Medicine Co.:—

GENTLEMEN,—A few years ago my system became thoroughly run down. My blood was in a frightful condition; medical treatment did no good. I surfeited myself with advertised medicines, but with equally poor results. I was finally incapacitated from work, became thoroughly despondent, and gave up hope of living much longer. While in this condition I visited my father's home near Tara. A sister, then and now living in Toronto, was also visiting at the parental home. Her husband had been made healthy through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and she urged me to try them. Tired of trying medicines, I laughed at the proposition. However, later on she provided me with some of the pills and begged me to take them. I did so, and before I had used two boxes I was on the road to restored health. I am commending their good qualities almost every day I live because I feel so grateful for my restoration, and I have concluded to write you this letter wholly in the interest of suffering humanity. I am carrying on business in Owen Sound as a carriage maker. This town has been my home for twenty-eight years and any one enclosing a reply three cent stamp can receive personal indorsation of the foregoing. This much to satisfy those who cannot be blamed for doubting after taking so many other preparations without being benefitted. You may do just as you like with this letter. I am satisfied that but for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I would not be able to attend to my business to-day. Perhaps I would not have been alive.

Yours very sincerely,
FREDERICK GLOVER.

THE BEEHIVE.

Look out for robbers when the honey harvest becomes scarce.

The way to get wax of a light yellow color is to let it cool slowly.

Do not expect many swarms and a large honey flow at the same time.

The best time to introduce a queen is the middle of the day when the greater part of the bees are at work.

If a colony becomes queenless and it is not diseased, unite it with another and give it a brood frame from another colony.

Second swarms may be controlled by taking out all cells but one after the first swarm issues, as second swarms rarely issue unless there is a plurality of queens.

If frames of clean comb are given to newly hived swarms so that they can go to work at once, there is not much danger of the bees leaving the hive and swarming out.

To raise comb honey to the best advantage there should be good, populous colonies, and when they are in this condition swarming is likely to occur often.—St. Louis Republic.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

In preserving berries or any other fruit liable to fall to pieces if a small lump of alum is added to the fruit while cooking it will make it firm.

If you use a wooden pail about your household and it begins to shrink and leak, fill it with water and then stand it in a tub filled with water. This will swell the wood so it will leak no more.

The backs and arms of chairs become very dirty with constant use. They should be washed with warm water in which there is a little soap and then the polish brought back by kerosene or turpentine.

A goodly amount of kerosene on a soft rag cleans shutters nicely. This takes off all the dust and brightens them as well. Brush well first, then apply the kerosene, rubbing hard, then polish with a dry flannel cloth.

It is stated that in the West Indies the lizards, from the large iguana downward, run erect on their hind legs when hurried. Pictures on rocks at the watershed of Guiana show lizards running erect. The Mexican iguanoid lizard and the "frilled lizard" of Australia also do so.

ASTHMA CAN BE CURED,

But not by the hundreds of preparations now being advertised as Asthma cures, which may relieve for a time but have no effect in preventing future attacks. They are only anti-spasmodic in their action and the longer the person uses them the worse the Asthma becomes until the drug loses its effect entirely. Clarke's Kola Compound is the only remedy ever known to cure Asthma without the slightest indication of its return. It is now being used throughout the leading hospitals in England and Canada, and the homes for incurables in different parts of Canada, having already cured over 500 cases of Asthma alone. Three bottles are guaranteed to cure any case of Asthma. A free sample will be sent to any sufferer from this disease. Mention this paper. PECULIAR MONSTERS.

THE FIERCE, MAN EATING CROCODILES OF AUSTRALIA.

These Powerful and Cunning Brutes Grow to Twenty-seven Feet In Length and Will Tackle Anything From a Sheep to a Thousand Pound Bullock.

The crocodile of the Nile differs very little from that of our own northern rivers, which is generally termed "alligator," though in reality a true crocodile. The head of a true alligator is broader and shorter than that of the crocodile. There is also considerable difference in the teeth and their disposition in the jaws. The teeth of the alligator are unequal, and the larger of the lower canine enters a cavity in the upper jaw, while that of a crocodile simply fits into a groove on the outside of the upper jaw, leaving the tooth clearly visible when the mouth of the monster is closed. There are also differences in the webbing of the toes and the form of the legs, though to the general observer there is little or no difference. Crocodiles seem equally at home in salt or fresh water, while alligators don't appear to relish and rarely visit salt waters.

The crocodiles no doubt feed largely upon fish, but as they grow older and stronger and require great quantities of food they will when hungry attack anything from a sheep or kangaroo to a bullock, a big crocodile making short work of a bullock weighing over half a ton. Some of these monsters measure as much as 27 feet in length and possess immense strength besides wonderful cunning and patience. It will lie in wait at any watering place frequented by animals, hardly distinguishable from a log of wood, so still and impassive it has become. The animal coming down to drink is suddenly seized in the crocodile's huge jaws and drawn into the water and drowned.

At other times the tail is used to sweep the animal into deep water, where, even though its prey may be a heavy bullock, it has little or no chance against its enemy, which is specially provided by nature with an arrangement that prevents the water rushing down its huge throat, even though its jaws are fully distended through holding its prey. Thus after a few brief seconds the unequal struggle is over, and the saurian takes the carcass in tow to some favored locality, where he can enjoy it at his leisure.

In the early days at Port Darwin, N. Z., bathing in the open sea was forbidden, owing to the danger from crocodiles, there and nearly everywhere else in Australia called alligators, though in reality no true alligators exist in Australia. A young trooper named Davis, a fine swimmer, disregarded the general order and one morning early went for a swim. Far out in the harbor he noticed what he and others took to be a floating log. Many of the northern trees float and are washed down in the wet season to the open sea. Out went the strong swimmer, nearer and nearer to the supposed log, until too late he recognized his mistake and that he was approaching instead of a log a huge and apparently listless crocodile.

But the knowledge came too late to be of any service to poor Davis, though some men called out to him from a small craft close by to "Go back!" "Go back!" and Davis did make an attempt to retreat and was swimming manfully shoreward when the huge brute flashed down upon him at a terrific speed, and, opening his great jaws to their utmost capacity, came down with a smack that was heard even to the shore, and inside their cruel grasp was Trooper Davis' head. Then, with the quickness common to the saurian, it had disappeared with its victim.

Every possible attempt was made to recover the body, but without success, though the harbor was soon alive with boats and the water thrashed around for a considerable time. Though this means failed, the body was soon afterward found lying on a rock, or rather a reef, some little distance from the scene of the accident. The lowering of the boats and the noise of the beaten water had no doubt caused the monster to let go his prey.

Crocodiles at nighttime low and bellow just like cattle, especially like bulls, and I have spent some nights in an open boat in Cambridge gulf, northwestern Australia, where the whole place seemed to be alive with them, and what with their splashes and cries, the weirdness of the whole scene and their close proximity as they at times rocked the boat, sleep was impossible, for there are several instances on record where crocodiles have taken or have attempted to take men from out of camps and boats.

A poor fellow named Reed, the mate or second mate of the Gulnan, had gone in his vessel to some river in Carpentaria gulf—I believe the Roper. The vessel was at anchor near the mouth of the river. The mate, Reed, had been dispatched in charge of a watering party and was some distance up the river in a large open boat. Water had been obtained, and they were all ready for a return to the ship. All being made snug, the tired fellows turned in, having made their camp in the boat. The night was a very fine one, the moon shining brightly, when toward midnight the sleeping camp was aroused by some terrific shrieks. These were the cries of poor Reed, who, enveloped in his bedding and mosquito curtains, was being borne off by a crocodile.

It is said by those who knew him well and accompanied him on this and other previous trips that he had the habit of sleeping with his foot on the gunwale of the boat, and no doubt this afforded the crocodile an easier opportunity of seizing him. All night and a great part of next day were spent in searching for the missing man's body, but without success.

The crocodile has a remarkable eye. It can arrange the pupil to a vertical or horizontal position at will to suit its requirement by day or night. It has a special natural protection to the eye, and through a "duct" escapes the fluid when the "monster weeps." In fact, he is a peculiar brute altogether, with many special gifts besides his huge jaws that help to make of him the terror he is.—Sydney Mail.

CURIOUS CULLINGS.

In a recent book on China the author says that Chinese burglars are difficult to catch, as they oil their bodies all over and twist their pigtails into bunches stuck full of needles.

About 100 years ago starch was used only for stiffening the frills around the necks of the ungodly. Religious people called it the "devil's liquor" and regarded its use as highly reprehensible.

In certain parts of Africa it is considered a mark of disrespect to bury out of doors at all. Only slaves are treated in such unceremonious fashion. The honored dead are buried under the floor of the house, where they must make things pleasant for the living.

THE LADRONES.

Stopped, Has It?
It was such a good watch. I never had it cleaned in five years. That is the remark we hear every day. Is it any wonder watches go to pieces? A watch is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and to give satisfaction and wear a lifetime should be cleaned every eighteen months. Has yours been attended to? If not, bring it in. MADOC SCORCHED.

Terrible Conflagration on Saturday Night and Sunday Morning.

Methodist Church and Sixteen Business Places Gone--Belleville No. 2 Engine on the Scene--A Narrow Escape--The Losses.

At 12 30 on Sunday morning a telegraph message was received by the authorities here stating that a terrible conflagration was raging in Madoc and asking that the local Fire Brigade be sent to the scene. No. 2 station was ordered out and with a full force of men, No. 2. hose waggon and No. 2 engine with 1200 feet of hose, under the charge of Ald. Starling, Chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, and Foreman Thos. Meagher, hastened to the G. T. R. depot. Some difficulty was experienced in loading the equipment, owing to lack of facilities, but finally equipment and men were safely on board two flat cars. The run to Madoc was made in 40 minutes but great difficulty was experienced in unloading.

The brigade had wired before leaving Belleville to have planks ready for the unloading; the planks had been duly brought to the station, but for some reason or other had been taken away again, and the brigade were forced to wait again until they were returned. The fire was pretty well spent by this time, but the Belleville men worked for nearly rix hours to keep the flames from spreading across the street, and to thoroughly extinguish the still-burning ruins. The water supply, however, was ridiculously inadequate, the only available fountain being the little creek which, at this season of the year, is almost completely dried up.

The Belleville men left for home again about eleven o'clock and reached here about noon. When a little this side of Tuftsville the train ran over a horse and narrowly escaped derailment. The men expressed themselves as highly delighted with the treatment they received from the Madoc people, who even in the midst of their great calamity found time to extend their courtesies to the visiting firemen.

The fire was one of the worst that has ever visited this county. One veteran fireman declared that Belleville had never seen such a fire. It broke out in the sheds McGuire's hotel, supposed to have been the work of incendiaries, and spread rapidly down Durham and St. Lawrence sts., destroying the Methodist Church and sixteen places of business. The limited fire appliances were altogether unable to cope with the flames, hence the call to Belleville. A list of losses will be found below.

A thrilling incident was the narrow escape of a boy named Simpson. He was on the tower of the Methodist Church ringing the bell and didn't notice until too late that the tower was in flames and his retreat was cut off. He climbed out on a ledge, however, and placing his hands in two crevises in the brick wall he slid down to a place of safety. He was badly scorched by the flames and his hands were terribly torn by the contract with the brick. An eye witness describes the escape as one of the most daring feats he had ever witnessed.

A press despatch states: The burnt portion extends over the whole block from Durham street to Elgin, and the total loss is estimated at fully $50,000.

The following are losses and insurances; P. Sinclair, loss $2,000, insurance not yet known; J.L. McGuire, Windsor hotel, loss $10,000, insurance $6,000; W. Mullet, loss $3,000, no insurance; T. Mullet, drug store, loss $1,000, no insurance; W. H. O'Flynn, loss $17,000, insurance $9,000; M. Bristol, loss $10,000, insurance $1,000; W. Orr, loss $1,500, insurance not known; Methodist Church, loss $10,000, insurance $6,500.

A. Sanderson had a narrow escape in decending from the roof of the Methodist Church. His hair was very severly burned. No fatal results anticipated.

THE DEATH LIST

Four Deaths in Belleville and Vicinity.

John Snider, aged 70 years, died at Rossmore yesterday, of old age. Deceased was quite well on Saturday, but passed quietly away Sunday morning. He leaves a family.

Mrs. Anne Holmes, of Sidney, died at the Hospital on Saturday, aged about 90 years. Her family all preceded her to the grave. The funeral took place to-day to St. Michael's cemetery.

Mary Andrews, aged 63 years, died at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Campbell, Strachan st., on Saturday. Deceased was a sister of Mr. Wm. Andrews, tailor. The funeral took place yesterday to Flinton.

Irvine G., infant son of Mr. Geo. Perkins, died yesterday. The funeral takes place this afternoon.

Oak Hall Record.

The Oak Hall has been established in Belleville for nearly 24 years. During that time notice the number of clothing houses started and the number of failures. Not one of these stores failed to tell of its superior qualities and how they were going to revolutionize the clothing trade. You know the results. The Oak Hall record speaks for itself and the whole argument is summed up in the one word "success."

The Circus May Winter Here.

J. H. Rice, representing Walter L. Main's circus, is in the city. Mr. Rice is trying to make arrangements to rent the fair grounds for the Main show, with the intention of quartering the animals and storing their stuff during the winter. This would mean that a good deal of money would be distributed among our merchants and farmers and be considerable benefit to them. Mr. Rice further says his show will exhibit here, provided the license asked is not too high. In London and Hamilton the license is $50.

A TALK WITH MISS FRENCH.

A Young Woman Who Testified in the Napanee Bank Robbery Case is Now in Toronto--Detectives Hunting for Jack Roach.

(Toronto World.)

The Napenee robbery case is not yet dead, though resting for a time. The country is being scoured by detectives in search of Jack Roach, who is expected to be willing to tell a story in line with Pare's.

Jack stands a good chance of escaping arrest, for, after his release by the Toronto police in May last, he went to Fort Erie. He may now be an inmate of some American prison under a false name and away out of the line of search.

Detective Dougherty, when shown the picture of Jack Roach in The World, said; "That's a good picture. It will do no harm."

Mrs. Robert Mackie made on Saturday her third visit to this city to see Miss French. She returned home on Saturday night.

A pretty woman is Miss Margaret French, the witness for the Crown in the Napanee robbery investigation. She was seen by The World last night at her mother's apartment's, over Bond's drug store, on Yonge street.

Having introduced himself, the reporter was greeted with, "Oh, sir, I have nothing more to say! I have been warned by the Crown lawyers not to do any more talking. You know," and Miss French waxed naively confident, "if I get telling my story over and over again, I may get it somewhat confused."

"But did you not make a statement before you gave your evidence?" was queried.

"Yes a few days before I ran away to Detroit I made a statement of what I knew personally and had heard from Mrs. Mackie. Detective Dougherty took it down in writing. This statement was fuller than the story I told in the witness box," replied Miss French.

"What did Mrs. Mackie tell you?"

"That would be telling, but I can't say anything about it, except that she said Mr. Ponton came to her house in Belleville and suggested the scheme of a hold-up. I never saw Mr. Ponton in my cousin's house, and of my own personal knowledge know nothing of his complicity in the case. But I did see Jack Roach, and I have heard Mrs. Mackie mention Holden's name.

"I suppose I might tell you," continued Miss French, "that Mrs. Robert Mackie, my cousin's wife, was up here yesterday to see me. Detective Dougherty was with me at the time, but Lizzie—that's Bob's wife—stayed till he left. She asked me if I was going to take the stand when the trial came off in the fall. I told her I thought I would have to. She seems to think that I should not have given my evidence, but I told her that I had spoken the truth, without fear or favor, and with no desire to injure her or her husband. I wrote to them at Belleville before the trial came on and told them that I knew many things about the affair, but they took no notice of what I said. They might have sent me out of the country. If I had gone into this matter for the purpose of making money I could have gone to the Dominion Bank and claimed the reward in return for my story. I do regret that I didn't tell Bob what I knew when he was up just before the Hamilton races this spring."

As the the reporter rose to go, Miss French remarked: Be sure to state that my brother told me to tell only what was true, not 'what was safe,' as one paper had it."

Another Confession.

A persistent street rumor has been in circulation to-day that Pare had made another confession and sent for one of the lawyers of the defence. It is said he now states that Ponton was not mixed up in the affair.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.
Why should anyone go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? NAPANEE NEWS.

Many Saw "Billy."

The Steamer Merritt took between two and three hundred excursionists to Napanee on Saturday afternoon. Upon reaching the town many of the young men and women aboard sought out the Dominion Bank and the gaol, where W. H. Ponton is incarcerated, accused of being mixed up in this now well known bank robbery. It was soon ascertained that he occupied the north corridor facing the railway track and was standing at the window above for a period of three quarters of an hour he held a distant "levee" with his friends, who waved handkerchiefs and hands to their old acquaintance. Some young girls who possessed a desire to carry away relics from Napanee sought out the woodshed of the Bank and returned to the boat content with bits of bark taken from the now famous Dominion Bank wood shed. Others went to the hotel, and made enquiries for the sleuths who tracked Pare to his lair, but they were gone—all gone, detectives, lawyers and reporters, not to return until Tuesday next. Further enquiries elicited the fact that "Billy" Ponton's friends were still legion in the town. They still firmly believe that he will be acquitted of any complicity in this case, and say there is nothing to connect him with it but the evidence given by the notorious prisoner Pare, who is well known for his lying "confession" in past instances.

Not Belleville Men.

One of our contemporaries copied on Saturday last an item from the Napanee Express, in which it leads its readers to believe that some men from Belleville got a load of Napanee fire water on board, and "talked loudly of releasing W.H. Ponton from gaol." It is only fair to the citizens here, to state that the Chief of Police at Napanee says,—"that only one Belleville man was among the crowd referred to, and that the individual who was noisy was not a Belleville man, but hailed from Montreal."

Napanee Business Man Gone--Leaves Wife and Babies.

A young man, married, with wife and babies, formerly well thought of in the town of Napanee, where he managed a boot and shoe business, has left for parts unknown. This is not all; not content with leaving his wife and babies, he has taken a young woman also hailing from that town with him in his flight. Strong sympathy is felt by all for the injured wife who has been left behind.

In His 88th Year.

On Saturday our old friend, Mr. Wm. C. Birc, of Halloway, was in the city. Although in his 88th year, Mr. Bird's mental faculties are little impaired. We saw him write without the aid of glasses, and in conversation with him we found his memory good and his conversation denoted how lively an interest he took in passing events. He has apparently completely recovered from the severe accident of a year ago, when he fell a distance of 12 feet.

HAS NOT BETTERED HIS POSITION.

Mr. Hardy has not bettered his position by the partial back-down from his attempt to steal a majority in the Legislature by, as Wordsworth said of the ancient freebooters,

"The simple rule sufficeth them,
The good old plan—
That they may take who have the power,
And they may keep who can.

His original proposal, that the eight or so of his followers who had been illegally elected by the votes of the election constables should, aided by the member who was elected by the error or carelessness of a pressman in printing the ballots for South Perth, sit as judges in their own cases and set the courts at defiance by pronouncing judgment in their own favor in advance of the properly constituted legal authorities, had to be dropped. The substitute trick, namely that, if the constables votes are held by the courts to be invalid, the seats shall not be awarded to the candidates who polled a majority of the legally recorded votes, has received condemnation equally as general as did the originally proposed outrage. Public opinion on the question is fairly voiced by the Weekly Sun - the Patron organ - as follows:

Mr. Hardy's original proposal was to validate by retroactive legislation in the interests of his party doubtful votes given at the last election. Of this there can be no question. The organ of the Government distinctly assumed that such was his intension, and argued the case upon that footing. It cited as the warrant for that proceeding a Dominion precedent which could have had no force or relevancy on any other supposition. He now changes his plan, and instead of validating the doubtful votes he proposes a reference of the question by the Legislature to the Court of Appeal and, in case the decision of that court is against the validity of the votes, that the elections affected by it shall be held over again. We acknowledge the concession, and having no interest in the balance of parties we should be only too glad to see a bridge of gold made for the retreat of Government from a position in which it would have been committed to a violation of one of the most vital principles of legislation. Even the amended proposal, however, is not free from the objection which attaches in the judgment of all sound constitutional jurists to retroactive legislation of any kind. Acts of indemnity remitting penalties which have been innocently incurred, or which it is otherwise desirable to forego, do not fall within this category, nor are they encroachments on the judicial power; they are simply an exercise of the power of pardoning, which is not generally possessed by the judiciary, in favor of a class. That the legislature is the best interpreter of its own intentions is a palpable fallacy; the legislators change with every election, and the House has no corporate memory. By this mode of reasoning the power of interpreting the law would be altogether transferred from the judiciary to the politicians. Let the Legislature take the proper pains to make its meaning clear in the statute; the judiciary will then not fail to give its intention effect. Mr. Hardy, we venture to opine, had better have let the whole thing alone. He is likely by offending the public conscience and setting the judges, who are to hold the election trials, against him, to lose fully as much as he will gain by his interference with the course of the law. A party leader cannot make a greater mistake than by exposing himself in the eyes of the people to the slightest imputation of unfair play.

Mr. Hardy has succeeded in forcing his amended trick through the Legislature; but the judgment of his followers in that body is not final. The appeal of the Conservative party will be taken to the court of final resort—to the high court of public opinion—in the bye-elections, and Mr. Whitney will win a verdict which will displace from office the men who, under the name of "Liberals," have sought to keep themselves in power by means which would have been destructive of the rights of the people.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER

Delivers a Patriotic Address at Sydney, Cape Breton.

Sydney, C.B., Aug. 15.—The Cape Breton Conservatives met in convention Saturday and elected officers, E. T. Mackeen being appointed president.

Sir Charles Tupper was present and spoke at considerable length. Sir Charles delivered an address, and was careful to avoid extensive reference to questions political. Speaking of the coming Quebec conference, he said he had submerged his proposed active campaigning programme in order that the interests of the country might not be jeopardized. He referred to the effect of the unhappy Spanish-American war and the resultant friendly relations between the United States and Great Britain and the colonies, and the consequent favorable opportunity for settling important questions between Canada and the country to the south. He compared this with the existing conditions on the occasion of a former conference at Washington. In this case the Opposition would strengthen the hand of the Government. After urging attention to the voters' lists, he said: "I am unable to put my finger on one single act of the Liberal Government that has benefitted the country, except where they followed the steps and policy of the Conservative party." While admitting the present prosperity of Canada, he was confident that the Conservatives would win a signal victory at the next general election.

ACTION INCIDENT ON PEACE.

The United States Will Raise Its Standing Army to 100,000.

Must Garrison Its New Territory—Closing Bombardment—Last Land Fight—Counting the Cost of the 114 Days of War—Spain Preparing to Evacuate—Her Papers in Mourning—Cuban Junta Recognizes Armistice.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 15.—The War Department will ask Congress to increase the standing army even beyond its present war basis. The department has decided that the 65,000 men now in service will not be sufficient for the needs of the Government.

The whole volunteer army will disappear as soon as the President issues his final peace proclamation. It is the understanding that 100,000 men will be needed at home, in Cuba, in Porto Rico and in the Philippines.

The proclamation of peace will disband all the volunteers and necessitate new enlistments.

General Alger said that it was the intention of the department to garrison the places named, both with regulars and volunteers, until the final proclamation. The Seventh Army Corps, under General Fitzhugh Lee, will be distributed in Cuba, and the corps will be strengthened as occasion permits for this purpose. The eighteen regiments under General Wade, which were intended for Porto Rico, and which are still under orders for that island, will be distributed for garrison duty in Porto Rico and Havana, so that the War Department's idea that all the State soldiers shall have duty outside of the United States will be carried out.

The mustering out of soldiers still at muster grounds under the second call will begin in about fifteen days.

The Closing Bombardment.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 15.—Advices were received by General Shafter Saturday morning to the effect that Manzanillo was bombarded Friday, day and night, and again in the morning. General Shafter also cabled to the Spanish commander at Manzanillo that peace had been declared, and requested him to advise the American commander of the fact under a flag of truce, which he did, and the shelling of the town ceased. The shelling of the town began just 23 minutes before the signing of the protocol.

THE LAST LAND FIGHT.

The Americans Repulsed by the Spaniards Near Coamo, Porto Rico.

Washington, Aug. 15.—A despatch from Gen. Wilson, near Coamo, Porto Rico, tells of a reverse to the American arms on Friday. A Lancaster battery was sent forward to capture a mountain stronghold and the Spaniards opened fire. The American troops, which included the Third Wisconsin, rushed forward and drove the enemy back, but reinforcements were secured and Wilson's forces were compelled to retire at a gallop under a deadly fire. Corporal Swanson was killed and several were wounded.

A later despatch says all hostilities have ceased, the signing of the peace protocol having been published throughout Cuba and Porto Rico.

What the War Has Cost.

Washington, Aug. 15.—Although the war with Spain lasted only 114 days, it is estimated that it has cost the Government so far $150,000,000, of which $98,000,000 has been actually paid out of the treasury. Beginning with March 1, when the first increase in the expenditures in anticipation of war became apparent in the daily expenditures of the treasury, the actual disbursements on this account have been approximately as follows: March, army, $600,000; navy, $2,400,000; total, $3,000,000. April, army, $1,200,000; navy, $9,800,000; total, $11,000,000. May, army, $12,000,000; navy, $7,000,000; total, $19,000,000. June, army, $16,500,000; navy, $6,500,000; total, $23,000,000. July, army, $29,500,000; navy, $5,500,000; total, $35,000,000. To Aug. 13, army, $5,500,000; navy $1,500,000; total $7,000,000. Total charges to War Department, $65,300,000; total to Navy Department, $32,700,000; grand total, $98,000,000.

The appropriations made to Congress on account of the war aggregated about $360,000,000, and cover the time to January 1, 1899.

SPAIN PREPARES TO EVACUATE.

Instructs Her Governors-General to Carry Out the Terms of the Protocol.

Madrid, Aug. 15.—The Government Saturday evening telegraphed instructions to the Governors General of Porto Rico and the Philippines for the carrying out of the terms of the protocol signed by the United States and Spain, and to prepare for evacuation. Instructions were also sent as to the policy to be adopted in the event of the insurgents refusing to observe the armistice.

Spanish Papers in Mourning.

Madrid, Aug. 15.—El Pais Sunday printed the text of the protocol signed by the United States and Spain with mourning borders, and says: "Spain, without colonies, is reduced to the role of a third rate power."

El Imparcial says: "Peace will not bring to Spain even the rest she so much needs after three years and a half of war."

El Nacion says, bitterly: "If Spain had at least been vanquished only after a furious and heroic struggle, she could resign herself. Peace with the United States will only be a momentary respite from our misfortune."

El Tiempo (Conservative) says: "Peace is an accomplished fact. The bitterness of defeat does not prevent us from seeing with satisfaction the end of the war."

The News at Hong Kong.

Hong Kong, Aug. 15.—News of the cessation of hostilities between the United States and Spain was received here Saturday. The British steamer Australian, bound for Sydney, New South Wales, was chartered to carry the news to Manila. No other vessel was available for the purpose, owing to the prevalence of typhoons.

Soldiers Home Again.

New York, Aug. 15.—Four transports, St. Louis, Vigilancia, Matteawan and Miami, having on board troops who were ordered home from Santiago de Cuba, arrived off Cape Wikoff, Montauk Point, L.I., yesterday morning.

THE CUBAN JUNTA

Recognizes the Armistice—Message to the Cuban Republic.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 15.—Senor Palma, the head of the Cuban Junta, has sent the following cable by way of Santiago:

Bartolomeo Masso, President Cuban Republic, Santiago, Cuba: I have this thirteenth day of August, 1898, accepted in the name of the Cuban Provisional Government the armistice proclaimed by the United States. You should give immediate orders to the army throughout Cuba, suspending all hostilities. Preliminary terms of peace, signed by representatives of Spain and the United States, provide that Spain will relinquish all claim over and title to Cuba.

Havana Has the Last Shot.

Key West, Aug. 15.—The Sacabie San Francisco, the monitor Miantonomah and the auxiliary yacht Sylvia were fired upon by the Havana batteries shortly before 5 o'clock Friday morning. One ten or 12-inch shell struck the San Francisco's stern, as she turned to get out of range and tore a hole about a foot in diameter, completely wrecking Commodore Howell's quarters and smashing his book case to fragments. Nobody was injured, and being under orders not to attack the batteries, the ships retreated as fast as their engines could carry them.

NO GUESS WORK.

This is not a "guess work" store, just what we say in our advertisements, we intend to do. You can pin your faith to that statement And what is more, you can compare our advertisements with the goods you buy, and if they are not as represented, come back and get your money. We give you the opportunity, save a dollar when you can.

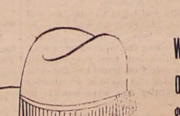

Handkerchiefs.

A large size fine lawn handkerchief for gentlemen. The kind you always pay 10 cts. for. We are making a special run on these, and are selling 6 for... 25c

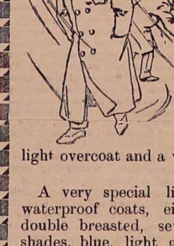

A large size red cotton handkerchief. In fact we offer you the choice of several different sizes. Very cheap, 6 for 25c

HATS FOR 75C. WORTH at least $1 25

We wish to draw your attention to a big assorted lot of Fedora hats, all sizes, colors grey, brown and black. These goods have been put out to clear. They sold at $1.25 and $1.50. You may have your choice for 75 cts. This is an opportunity to get a nice hat at a very nominal figure.

Waterproof Coats.

The man who is not in possession of a good Mackintosh does not know what a comfort it is on a rainy cold day. The fall fairs will soon be on and you will be running around more or less. We combine a light overcoat and a waterproof.

A very special line of English waterproof coats, either single or double breasted, several different shades, blue, light grey and dark grey, all well trimmed and every seam sewn. This coat is warranted not to go hard. Our price $6

We can furnish you with coats at $4, $5, $6, $7, $8, $10, $12 and $15. The largest variety in Belleville to select from.

MEN'S SUITS.

"Honest trading needs no taffy." Ours is no "soft soap" establishment. We do not talk customers into buying, we do not have to. The clothing we sell talks, and customers buy it on their own sound judgment. You, who know us, know that we make no promises without producing the proof.

A new line of sack suits for fall, made of pure wool, a very pretty brown and green mixture. These suits are made by Sanford and every coat bears the label, which is in itself sufficient guarantee. They are perfect fitting, well trimmed and made. Just such suits are being offered at $10 elsewhere. We know they are worth $10 all right in the ordinary store, but our prices are always the lowest. We offer you this extra special suit at only $8

A GROWL IN LONDON.

Growing Indignation Over the Chinese Affair—A National Humiliation—Some Strong Language.

London, Aug. 15.—The morning papers express the growing indignation of the country at the position of affairs in China.

The Daily Graphic says: "If this state of things continues, the guns will go off of themselves."

The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail who professes to divulge the terms of a long existing secret treaty between China and Russia, says: "It is nothing less than an offensive alliance. China undertakes to regard Russia as having a preponderating influence in all questions of commercial and internal politics, while Russia will support China against all "open door" demands. Russia finances China in internal developments; and China grants Russia preferential rates in certain areas; and railways built in the joint interests of the two countries will be under Russia's practical control.

"Russia will assist China in developing her military and naval forces and China will co-operate with Russia as an ally. This treaty has been in abeyance since Li Hung Chang visited the Czar. That it has become operative at the present moment in respect to the Pekin-Hankow and New Chwang contracts is significant."

The Daily Chronicle, in an editorial which reflects the general opinion of the London morning press, comments upon the fact that the Marquis of Salisbury and all the responsible officials are leaving London at such a critical moment. It says: "The curtain is deliberately dropped upon a scene of national humiliation and national indignation."

ELEVEN LIVES LOST.

A Captain, His Wife and Two Children Among Those Drowned.

London, Aug. 15.—Advices from Melbourne report that the American barque C. C. Funk, Captain Nissen, which sailed from Tacoma, May 22, for Melbourne, has been wrecked on Flinders Island, Tasmania. Eleven of those on board the barque, including Capt. Nissen his wife and two children, were drowned.

Are Wearied of Mahdism.

Atbara, Aug. 15.—A most significant omen of the Khalifa's impending downfall is the large band of refugees who have just arrived at Korti, on the Nile, about fifty miles above Old Dongola, after a journey of 400 miles across the desert from El Obeid, the capital of Kordofan, whither Hicks Pasha's army was marching when it was cut up by the Mahdists. The party numbers eleven hundred souls, men, women and children, with their stock and effects. With them are certain influential sheikhs, who come as a deputation from the whole population, begging the Sirdar to occupy El Obeid.

Cholera in Madras.

Madras, Aug. 15.—The cholera is epidemic here. Between Monday morning and Friday night there were 53 deaths from the disease, the fatalities prior to the day first mentioned having been 117.

Hungarian Cabinet Resigns.

London, Aug. 15.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Chronicle says: "Baron Banffy, the Hungarian Premier, has gone to Ischl, Upper Austria, to see the Emperor-King, and to tender the resignation of the Hungarian Cabinet."

"Pig's Foot Charlie" Killed.

Hamilton, Aug. 15.—Word has been received here that William Wye, known as "Pig's Foot Charlie," was killed near Lynden Saturday evening. He got caught in a threshing machine while assisting a farmer, William Coverdale, and was cut to pieces. One of his legs was cut off near the trunk. Wye was well known here, as he used to peddle pigs' feet around the saloons and hotels at night. He was about 40 years of age.

Vesuvius in Eruption.

Naples, Aug. 15.—Mount Vesuvius is now in a state of eruption from a new crater.

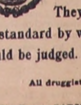

Yachtsmen Drowned.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 15.—The sloop yacht Leone, with 17 men aboard, while anchored outside of Boston light, was run into by a barge in tow of the tug Honeybrook, and five men were swept from the deck by the heavy tow line. Two were drowned, one killed and two rescued.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

The sun shines for all, but the sleeping car porter does it for a quarter.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. The cause is generally disordered stomach, and a cure can be effected by using Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, containing Mandrake and Dandelion. Mr. Finlay Wark, Lysander, P.Q., writes: "I find Parmelee's Pills a first class article for Bilious Headache.

Love and war go hand in hand. Even the din of battle has a sort of engagement ring.

The proprietors of Parmelee's Pills are constant receving letters similar to the following, which explains itself. Mr. John A. Beam, Waterloo, Ont., writes: "I never used any medicine that can equal Parmelee's Pills for dyspepsia or Liver and Kidney Complaints. The relief experienced after using them was wonderful." As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

B. C.'S POLITICAL TANGLE.

Mr. Semlin Called Upon to Form a Cabinet.

"Fighting Joe" Martin Offered a Portfolio, Which He Declined—Conservatives Say the Importation of Federal Politics Is Necessary to Save the Province—They Claim to Have a Majority of Four—New Complications.

Victoria, B.C., Aug 15.—Mr. Semlin has accepted the task of forming an administration and expresses confidence that he will have no difficulty. He has put himself in communication with the leading members of the Opposition.

Martin Declines It.

Mr. Joseph Martin has been offered the Attorney-Generalship in Semlin's Cabinet and refused. Martin says Semlin should have refused to undertake the task of forming a Ministry until the question of the leadership of party was settled at a caucus of the elected members of the Opposition. Martin says further that before he entered provincial politics he was given to understand by prominent members of the Opposition party that he (Martin) would be leader. Martin says Semlin is weak and incapable, and therefore he will not consent to serve under one so entirely unfitted for the position of leader.

CONSERVATIVES CLAIM MAJORITY.

Declare That the Standing Is 21 Government and 17 Opposition.

Vancouver, Aug. 15.—Conservatives elected in the provincial election claim to have a majority of 4, or 21 to 17. Popular feeling is now for Federal politics in the Local Legislature. It is considered the only salvation for the province, doing away, as it would, with the bitter sectionalism now existing as a curse to the province. The Vancouver World, Conservative and Government, strongly advocates party lines and says a Conservative Government, as at present, would bring all the strongest and best men in the Cabinet from both sides.

New Phase Every 24 Hours.

Every 24 hours a new phase of the unique political situation in British Columbia presents itself. Mr. Semlin says he is confident of forming a Cabinet and satisfying the people and Parliament. His sympathizers say two Independents, Henderson of Westminster and Clifford of Cassiar, will follow him, as well as Irving and Cassiar, heretofore Government supporters. They say he will have a majority sufficient to pass a measure to rearrange the distribution of seats fairer than now, enabling him to go to the country and sweep everything before him.

Fighting Joe Is There.

But there is the Martin faction to contend against. Followers of "Fighting Joe" say that Mr. Semlin is guilty of a breach of trust, that at a meeting of the Opposition members it was agreed that no leader would be decided upon till a subsequent meeting this month. Mr. Semlin agreed with the rest. He has kicked over the traces and must take the consequences.

Mr. Martin says he has nine followers and Mr. Semlin will not get their vote. If Mr. Martin's followers stand out Semlin is done for, but if Martin gets the Chief Justiceship—and he is said to have his commission in his pocket, figuratively speaking—his followers will fall into line.

A Farmer Killed by an Engine.

Inglewood, Ont., Aug. 15.—About 4.35 Saturday afternoon John Clarridge, a prosperous farmer near here, was struck and almost instantly killed at a crossing on Main street by a northbound Grand Trunk engine. In making the steep grade to the crossing he failed to notice the approach of the engine, and he kept on his way regardless of the engine's repeated whistling and the excited shouts of persons who witnessed the accident. The wagon was completely demolished and the contents scattered in every direction. The horses alone escaped without injury. Dr. Emmerson of Claude was immediately summoned, but when he arrived the unfortunate man was beyond the reach of his skill. The skull had been fractured, the collarbone broken in several places, and a number of ribs broken. After hearing one witness the coroner's inquest was adjourned till Thursday evening, Aug. 18.

Kemptville, Ont., Aug. 15.—Mrs. Hugh Fiddis of North Gower Township committed suicide on Friday evening. She made an attempt once before within the past year. She hanged herself to the knob of the door in the house.

WAS LEON BOYER MURDERED?

Some Suspicious Circumstances Have Come to Light.

David Dube Met Riopelle on the Road and Saw a Man in the Bottom of the Wagon—Increased Amount Deposited in P. O. Savings Banks—Cold Storage Experiments—To Prevent Improper Speculation—Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—An autopsy was held on the body of Leon Boyer, who was found dead on the Eardley road. The facts will be given at the preliminary examination on Wednesday next. David Dube, a pedlar, states that on the night of the tragedy he was on his way to Alymer from a trip in the country, and met Riopelle, who is now in jail on suspicion, driving a team a short distance from where Boyer's body was found. There was another man in the rig lying prone on his back, and to all appearances either dead or very much under the influence of liquor. Something in the man's position caused Dube to think that the man was dead, and it was with difficulty he restrained an impulse to ask the driver what the trouble was with his companion. He proceeded on his way home, however, but mentioned his suspicions to some neighbors.

Deposits in P. O. Savings Bank.

During the year ended 30th June, 1898, the total amount deposited in the Post Office Savings Bank was $9,183,693, an increase of $960,693 over the previous fiscal year. The withdrawals totalled $8,853,178, or $1,197,092 more than was withdrawn the previous year. Interest allowed to depositors during the fiscal year 1896-97 totalled $1,024,511. Last year the interest allowed was $982,725, a decrease of $41,786. The amount standing to the credit of depositors at the close of the fiscal year was $34,480,987, an increase of $2,100,118 over the amount at deposit on the 30th of June, 1897. The average amount at each depositor's credit is $242, a slight increase over the average of the preceding year.

To Prevent Improper Speculation.

The secretary of the Parliamentary Committee on Agriculture is now engaged sending circulars seeking the views of the butter and cheese trade respecting a proposed law to prohibit improper speculation in the sale of butter and cheese. The task is by no means a small one, there being in the Province of Quebec 1,467 cheese factories and 807 creameries, and in the Province of Ontario 1,152 cheese factories and 200 creameries. Thus it is expected that the views of about 5,000 persons interested in the matter will be received in reply to the committee's circular. These will be tabulated so that when the Agriculture Committee meets next session it will be able to deal with the proposed law, fully apprised of the views of the trade upon it and recommend action upon the measure accordingly.

Personal and General.

The Customs Department is refusing to accept Jubilee stamps in payment of duty. With October will end the acceptance at the Customs Department of any stamps in payment of duty.

A communication has been forwarded to Senor Bonilla Martel, the Spanish Consul-General at Montreal, informing him that the Federal Government had no power to compel the captain of the American fishing schooner Florence to pay over to him the drafts on Paris for between two and three hundred thousand francs taken from the body of Candido Diaz, the Spanish victim of the Bourgogne disaster.

Some very interesting experiments are at present being made by the Department of Agriculture in a cold storage building here. The articles being experimented with are beef, butter, eggs, berries and cheese, and they are being tested especially with reference to the value of formaline, the antiseptic. So far the experiments are understood to have been very satisfactory.

Official reports to the Department of Railways and Canals indicate a considerable diminution in the volume of trade passing through the Soo Canal during the past few weeks.

An investigation into the death of Fred. Barbeau, thought to have been drowned in the Ottawa River, has been demanded by his relatives. Cries were heard at the time Barbeau met his death, and this has given rise to suspicions of foul play. Relatives say that a gang of toughs have often threatened to beat him.

Ovila Lachance, a city fireman, was attacked with lockjaw Saturday morning as a result of his injury, and he now lies in the Water Street Hospital, hanging between life and death.

In order to settle the difficulty between the street railway and its employes, an offer has been made by the company of a 10-hour day, with wages at 14 2-7 cents an hour. The employes' union will consider the proposition to-day.

The residence of Casimir D'Aoust, Clarence street, was entered by thieves Sunday night and $110 in gold and bills stolen.

A Letter for Grandpa.

The man who takes proper care of his health in youth and maturity lives to smile as he reads the letters of his grandchildren. It's worth something to do that. It's worth a little daily care and thought for health. It's worth a dollar here and there for the right remedy for the insidious ills that make the big diseases.

When a man's liver is "out of whack" or his digestion is bad, or his appetite "finicky," he should take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes a man "hungry as a horse." It fills the blood with the life-giving elements of the food a man takes. It is the great liver invigorator. It makes the digestion perfect. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and nerve tonic. It drives all impurities from the system. It cures nervous prostration, bilious complaints, malarial troubles and 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. The medicine dealer who offers a substitute for the sake of a few extra pennies profit, is dishonest.

"Would have written you before now, but thought I would wait until I got entirely well," writes Mrs. Mary Tibbs, of Hitchcock, Galveston Co., Tex. "Now I am pleased to say that I am sound and well. I have been using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' We think your medicines the best in the world. I was troubled with female weakness, headaches, cold feet and hands, a disagreeable drain and general weakness; was exceedingly nervous, had poor appetite, constipation, distress in the stomach, too much flow, falling of internal organs, of two years' standing. Three bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and three of 'Golden Medical Discovery' completely restored my health."

Constipation and biliousness are nasty, nagging disorders that keep a man or woman dull and miserable. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure, speedy, permanent cure. One little 'Pellet' is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Dealers sell them. Nothing is "just as good."

WORK OF THE IMPERIAL HOUSE.

Measures of Prime Importance Passed During the Past Session.

London Aug. 15.—The New York Post's correspondent cables: The session of Parliament has not been so infertile as the London press makes out. The following measures are all of first-class importance, some being quite new departures: The Irish Local Government Act extends to Ireland all the rights and apparatus of self-government enjoyed by Great Britain, and contributes from the Imperial Exchequer over $8,600,000 in relief of this year's taxation. Politically, the measure draws the teeth of the Home Rule Government.

The Vaccination Act makes vaccination a matter of conscience.

The Criminal Evidence Act allows, but does not compel, the accused to give evidence in his own defence.

The Colonial Loans Act places the Imperial credit at the service of the Crown Colonies, subject to certain safeguards, and makes the Imperial Federation.

The London University Act provides the metropolis for the first time with a teaching university.

The session is also memorable because it added 22,000 men to the British army, and to the British navy 7 battleships, 8 armored cruisers and 12 destroyers.

Moreover, it should be realized that there is a surplus of revenue of over $18,000,000; but the session produced no new parliamentary reputation, and, in this respect, was disappointing.

M. PURCELL KILLED.

Brother of Pat Purcell, Ex-M.P. for Glengarry, a Victim of the G.T.R.

Cornwall, Aug. 15.—M. Purcell of Glen Walter, brother of the late Patrick Purcell, ex-M.P. for Glengarry, was struck and instantly killed by a train on the G.T.R., a few miles east of here, Saturday morning. He was driving across the track and misjudged the train, which was a pay car special. His head was badly crushed and the body was thrown against the fence, 50 yards away. A hired man who was riding in the rear part of the carriage escaped uninjured. The remains were taken to Cornwall and an inquest is being held. The deceased was about 50 years of age, and one of the wealthiest farmers in Eastern Ontario. He returned home only last night from a trip to Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia. He was a married man, and leaves a wife and several children.

THE POPE IS VERY FEEBLE.

The Condition of His Holiness No Longer Admits of Disguise.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—The Rome correspondent of the Cologne Gazette says: "The condition of the Pope no longer admits of disguise. His health has gradually gone from bad to worse, and His Holiness is now a decrepit old man. His voice is of the weakest; thinking tires and prayers confuse him. He has been observed to commence the same prayer ten times without noticing the repetition. Cardinal Rampolla, Papal Secretary of State, conducts all Vatican business."

Produced a Commotion.

Rome, Aug. 15.—The Pope's extreme weakness has produced a great commotion. Dr. Laponni, the Pope's physician, thinks there is no danger if the Pope is able to pull through the hot weather. All the members of the family of the Pope have hurried to Rome.

His Holiness on Friday insisted upon getting up, but soon had to be carried to bed again in a state of partial collapse. He does not suffer from any specific affection, but only from debility.

Perils of the Arctic Ocean.

Winnipeg, Aug. 15.—Rural Dean Burman of this city has received a letter from Rev. T. O. Stringer, Herschel Island, Arctic Ocean, dated January 10, 1898. He says out of eleven ships bound west only three got through the ice. Three ships were total wrecks, one being burned and the others sank. Fourteen men were lost in trying to reach shore. Five other ships were frozen in near Point Barrow.

While loading hay at Thornhill Man., William Mordy was thrown from a load, and received injuries from which he died.

RICHARDSON TO RESIGN

To Make Room in the Legislature for Hon. John Dryden.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—The rumor that John Richardson is going to make way for John Dryden in East York was variously received, but it is generally believed. On Friday night the Minister of Education lent color to it when he assured in his speech that evening "Honorable gentlemen opposite that the Ministers would not be without seats long." Mr. Richardson, it is said, is to be made Inspector of Fisheries under the new Act, leaving Ald. Sheppard and Mr. Wilmott among those who also ran.

THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.

BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

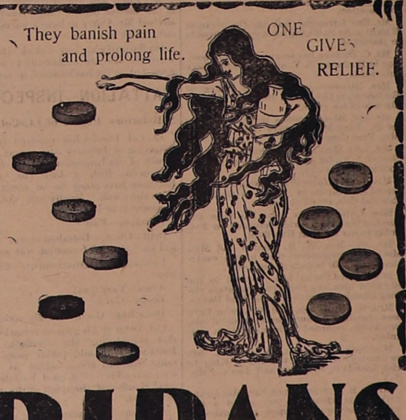

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box, 5 boxes for $2, at Druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by the Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

OBITUARY.

JOHN H. MERKELL.

Mr John H. Markell whom many of the older residents of Belleville will remember as a furrier in this city, died last week in Chicago, where he has lived since he left Belleville, at the ripe age of 83 years and six months. His last request was that a notice of his death be sent to his old friend Mr. Geo. S. Tickell, and that an announcement of his death be inserted in the INTELLIGENCER.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—The Events Publishing Company, in bringing forth "Events," have brought into the journalistic field a "slashing" good weekly. It hits all sides of politics with a relentless hand, frequently making a bull's eye.

—I notice that the Liberal Ministry when it takes a jaunt is not above riding in the private cars that the Tories used to be condemned for using. It seems the Liberals are bound to do everything that their papers found fault with the other fellows for doing.—Events.

—The expense of carrying the mails to England will not be lessened by the new Penny Postage. The letter-writer will benefit, but $700,000 revenue will have to be made up from somewhere, and the people will have to pay it as a whole, by having something taxed, such as tea, sugar, tobacco or something else.

—Ex-Manager Baines says his reason for suspecting W. H. Ponton, his ex-teller in the Dominion Bank, "was because Ponton had not used the telephone when informing him of the safe which could not be opened, thereby losing four or five minutes." To the ordinary outsider, this reason for suspecting an employee seems weak. What excuse would Baines have given had he been manager and the bank robbed in the days prior to the handy telephone?

A DARING SCHEME.

Bold Attempt to Victimize Hotelmen.

On Wednesday last Mr. Baird, of the Hotel Quinte, received a communication signed "Henry A. Chase" dated from Toronto on the preceding day. The writer represented himself as a traveller for Goldstein, Gormley, Jones & Co., of Broadway, New York City. He stated that he was having a watch repaired at Toronto and had instructed the watchmaker to forward it to him at the Hotel Quinte, per Dominion Express C.O.D. He himself would be at the Quinte on the 13th and in the meantime he would ask Mr. Baird to lift the watch.

Mr. Baird was a little suspicious, when he read the letter, and made enquiries. A packet arrived on the 10th, addressed to Chase, with $1.75 and 25c express charges to pay. Mr. Baird, on enquiry, found that Mr. Jackson, the proprietor of the Aberdeen House at Trenton, had received a similar letter, and becoming suspicious, opened the packet and found it to contain a piece of tea lead instead of a watch. On Friday evening Mr. Baird telephoned the authorities at Toronto to arrest the man, but was informed that they could not act on a telephone message, but would cause a detective to make investigation.

On Saturday Mr. Baird found that Mr. Curry, of the Queen's Hotel here, had received a similar letter signed "Clarence Milburn," and had paid the charges at the Canadian Express Co.'s office. Acting on Mr. Baird's advice, Mr. Curry opened the packet and found that it contained tea lead. The perpetrator of the fraud had simply sent out a number of those letters and was waiting in Toronto while the money was pouring in from victimized hotelmen.

Mr. Curry and Mr. Baird laid the facts of the matter before Chief Newton, who advised Mr. Curry to have a warrant sworn out, which was done.

On Saturday at four o'clock the Chief wired the Toronto authorities to arrest the man, but so far has received no reply.

BATTALION INSPECTION

Satisfactory Report of Lt.-Col. Otter.

Lt.-Col. Ponton has received from the Inspector of Infantry the report of the results of the Inspection of the Battalion held on the 15th of July last, and the Battalion have cause to be congratulated upon the result. Briefly put, Col. Otter's comment is as follows:

Physique—Fair.

Drill—Good,—Battalion moves smartly, and its "attack" formation was well done.

Clothing and Accoutrements—Clean and tidy.

Arms—Very good.
Books—Good.

Discipline—Good,—Steady under arms.

Col. Otter in his general remarks states, that, considering the strength of the Battalion, he would prefer more in the ranks than full corps acting as bearers, etc., and adds:—"A good Battalion with good Bands and the spirit of the corps is very good."

It is hoped that many of the young men of Belleville will now unite with the Battalion as officers and fill the honored places that their fathers and so many of the old citizens of Belleville have in past years occupied in connection with our City Battalion.

LOVE AT FIRST SIGHT.

A Daughter of Rebekah Captivated an Oddfellow While Both Were at Grand Lodge Meeting Here.

Hespeler, Ont., Aug. 12.—A very romantic wedding was celebrated here yesterday by the Rev. F. E. Nugent, pastor of the Methodist Church, when Miss Mary L. Webster, of Elora, D. D. G. M. of Myrtle Lodge, Daughters of Rebekah, was united in marriage to Mr. John J. Kenyon of Ruthven, Essex County, both delegates to the grand bodies now meeting in Galt. Mr. Kenyon met the girl who was to be his wife at the Grand Lodge meeting in Belleville last year, which they both attended as delegates, and it was a case of love at first sight. They came from Galt to Hespeler yesterday afternoon by trolley. He proposed and was accepted, and the ceremony was solemnized without delay a few minutes after, while the ink on the marriage license was scarcely dry.

MR COLE DECLINES.

Refuses Now to Lease the Elevator.

Mr. F. F. Cole, the grain dealer who was negotiating for the lease of the Downey Elevator, was in the city on Friday and met the members of the special committee appointed by the City Council. Mr. Cole, who has just returned from a trip to the West, distinctly declined to sign the agreement based upon his offer of July 25th, drawn up by the City Solicitor. Mr. Cole said the season was now too far advanced to have the elevator placed in repair in time for this season's crop.

It will be remembered that Mr. Cole made an offer before the meeting of the Council held on July 12th, which was not considered large enough. In response to the request of the Committee he made another offer of $600 per year, lessee to pay taxes and place the elevator in repair. On motion of Ald. Lott the report of the committee in favor of the acceptance of this offer was thrown out, and Mr. Cole was asked to make another offer. Mr. Cole was absent from home at the time, but his stenographer wrote to the effect that he considered Mr. Cole's offer of $600 to be his last and best. On August 2nd, on motion of Ald. Falkner, Mr. Cole's offer was accepted, but, of course, Mr. Cole was by this time no longer bound to accept it and he is perfectly within his rights in declining to have anything to do with the elevator.

The Aldermen who voted to throw out the report of the committee on July 12th have the keen satisfaction of knowing that their action has cost the city $600 a year. The Downey Elevator will now probably remain a white elephant on our hands, a monument to the ability and zeal of the City Council of 1898.

THE LISTENER.

Captain John W. Philip of the battleship Texas is 58 years old and has been in the United States navy for 42 years.

Edward Silsbee, an American, has just presented to the Bodleian library a guitar which belonged to Shelley and which is referred to in his poem "To a Lady With a Guitar."

As a result of Baron Rothschild's first victory in a race for the Grand Prix de Paris with Leroi Soleil at Longchamps, he has given his winnings, 200,000 francs, to the poor of Paris.

Bjorne Bjornson, Bjornstjerne Bjornson's son, who is an actor and stage manager, has been appointed director of the new theater at Christiania. His name is a shade less awful than his father's.

The Rev. Albion W. Knight, rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church of Atlanta, has just accepted the presidency of the Bank of Florida at Jacksonville. He will hold his rectorship at the same time.

Admiral Camara is half English, his mother before marriage having been a Miss Livermore of Liverpool. Camara is a graduate of the naval academy of San Francisco. He is an ardent monarchist.

The new French military commander in chief, General Jamont, is a Breton by birth. He is 67 years of age and served in the Crimea, Lombardy and Mexico. He was in Metz in 1870 and commanded the Tonquin expedition in 1885.

M. Chauvin, the barber deputy of the last parliament who failed to be re-elected, has excited surprise in Paris by going back to his trade and setting up a barber shop in the Tivoli passage, where he shaves and cuts hair himself.

Parker Pillsbury, who will be 89 years old on Sept. 22, is living in his home in Concord, N. H. He is well in mind and body, though not strong. He recently visited his nephew in Boston, General A. E. Pillsbury, and made a pilgrimage to all the historic points of interest in the city.

Leschetizky, the present reigning teacher of the piano in Europe, gets $5 a lesson and even at that only receives as pupils one out of about 60 applicants. He never gives more than one lesson a week to the same pupil, each one of whom incloses the fee in an envelope and puts it on the piano before the instruction begins.

Signor Ferdinando Boccini of Milan has given $80,000 to found a high school of commerce in Milan similar to those in Antwerp and Lyons. He is one of the many self made men in Italy and from very small beginnings has lived to see enormous establishments bearing his name in most of the large cities of Italy.

John R. Marshall, the negro colonel of the Eighth Illinois regiment, was born a slave at Alexandria, Va., in 1859. He was graduated with honors from a military school in his home town and afterward received the benefit of a course at Hampton. In civil life he has served with acceptance in the county clerk's office in Chicago.

POULTRY POINTERS.

Exercise is good for egg product.

Feed often and enough to be relished.

A supply of charcoal will often prevent sickness.

Eggs are flavored to a great extent by what the hens eat.

Do not compel fowls to roost in close, hot quarters during the summer.

The value of a breed depends largely upon the purpose for which it is kept.

Wood ashes scattered over the floor of the poultry house often cause sore feet.

Feed the poultry all the fattening food they will eat a few days before marketing.

To make poultry pay have good stock and comfortable quarters and give good care.

While nearly every breed has good merits, there is no breed that is the best in all essentials.

With turkeys it is more important to have fresh cocks each year than with chickens.

All fowls intended to be killed for market should be given no feed for 24 hours before killing.

Neither eggs nor chickens alone will pay best, but rather a combination of both, as even nonsitters take seasons of rest.—Exchange.

The Westminster clock has been so remarkably uniform that for years the error has only reached three seconds on 8 per cent of the days of the year.

Most of the internal part of watches and clocks, except the pinions and actions, is usually made of brass, because of its ductility at ordinary temperatures.

THE WEEK'S WHEAT.

The Cash Article Has Been in Demand, But Late Options Have Been Depressed—The Prices.

Saturday Evening, Aug. 13.

Cash and nearby deliveries of wheat have shown a strong upward tendency on the Chicago market during most of the past week, but at the same time the more remote options have been depressed. The cause for this is found in the fact that, while this year's crops are very large, old stocks are much depleted, and farmers are still refusing to make free deliveries of new wheat. The shortage of immediate supplies has kept up present prices, but in the prospects of an American yield of over 600,000,000 bushels are seen the reasons for the low quotations on the September and December deliveries, which have declined 3c per bushel during the week. As the week closes the promise of large receipts next week has caused a recession in this month's article, and the outlook seems to be for lower prices for all deliveries.

The Liverpool prices reflect the same condition. Spot and early delivery wheat is strong, and the later options are depressed. The Continental markets have acted along the same lines. The European markets have derived a slightly firmer tone the past day or two from reports of wholesale damage to Russian crops.

A Cloudburst Drowns 17 People.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 15.—A special to the Banner from Knoxville says: "News has just reached here that a cloudburst has occurred at Beech Creek, a remote locality in Hawkins County, nearly 20 miles from Rogersville. Seventeen persons lost their lives. Thirteen of the bodies have been recovered. The dead were members of poor families. Their cabins in a narrow valley were swept away in the flood from the cloudburst.

They Paid $2,000,000 Cash.

Toronto, Aug 15.—It became definitely known on Saturday that the Gooderham-Blackstock syndicate had purchased the Centre Star mine at Rossland, paying two million dollars for it, and the deal was the chief topic in business circles.

Chesley's Loss by Fire.

Chesley, Ont., Aug. 15.—Yesterday at half-past 1 o'clock, Biette & Co.'s steam sawmill and cheesebox factory was destroyed by fire. It is supposed the fire started in or near the furnace room. Loss over $3,000; insured for $1,000.

Challenger Won on a Foul.

Dorval, Que., Aug. 15.—On Saturday the Challenger, the American boat, in the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club's championship races, won the first race of the series on a foul. The Dominion passed the buoy one-half minute before her competitor. Three of the series won will determine the winner, and one race will be sailed each day, beginning to-day.

Election Protests Again.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—Justice Moss Saturday morning in Osgoode Hall postponed the election protests of South Perth and Halton until the judges fix another date. He will hear the case of North Perth next Friday. Centre Simcoe, East Elgin and West Elgin were also postponed.

3,500 Harvest Hands Required.

Winnipeg, Aug. 15.—The Provincial Department of Agriculture Saturday notified Immigration Agent Scott at Toronto that 3,500 extra harvest hands would be required to garner Manitoba's big crop.

A Big Mistake.

A fool, a barber and a baldheaded man were traveling together. Losing their way, they were obliged to sleep in the open air, and to avert danger it was agreed to watch by turns.

The first lot fell on the barber, who for amusement shaved the poor fool's head while he was sleeping. He then woke him, and the fool, raising his hand to scratch his head, exclaimed: "Here's a pretty mistake. You have awakened the baldheaded man instead of me!"—Liverpool Mercury.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A Young Girl the Victim of Monday Night's Storm.

The Family Were at Tea when the Fatal Shock Came--No Other at the Table was Seriously Hurt--All were Stunned.

Tweed, Aug. 16th.—Miss Bella Baker, the fourteen year-old daughter of Mr. W S. Baker, of Huntingdon Township, was struck by lightning and instantly killed.

The family were sitting at the table when the stroke came.

Strange to say, none of the rest of the family were seriously injured, although all were more or less stunned.

The storm was quite severe all over this section, but no other serious results are reported.

THE GORMANS.

An Attractive Addition to Belleville's Mercantile Establishments.

This morning the Gormans opened to the public their new store, situated on Front st., in the building for many years occupied by Geo. Ritchie & Co. A reporter of the INTELLIGENCER called to-day and found everything booming at the new store.

The commodious building has been fitted up with great taste and the store presents a most attractive appearance. On each side of the entrance are elegantly furnished enclosures, to be used for the purpose of fitting shoes. Beautiful palms and ferns have been placed in prominent positions and were much admired by the lady visitors to-day. The windows are very astefully decorated, the work of Mr. J. R. Laughlin, who came from Toronto to accept a position with the Gormans. A large flag with the inscription "Gormans' Shoe Store" floats from the top of the building.

The stock, which comprises boots and shoes, trunks and valises, is a most complete one, and as it is entirely new and includes only the latest styles, it cannot but meet with the favor of a discriminating public. Gormans will adhere rigidly to the cash system.

Mr. Geo. Gorman, formerly of the Sun staff, is the manager of the new business, and this fact should be a sufficient guarantee that the business will be a complete success. Mr. J. L. R. Gorman, another popular young man, is also connected with the business, and will do his utmost to give his wants of customers courteous and satisfactory attention. Miss H. Morton will act as cashier.

In Selecting Your Suit.

There is a great difference between a suit bought to sell and one bought to wear. The former in most cases is the brightest looking and the best appearing. On the other hand the good wearing article sometimes has a coarse look, but time tells and always look sharp when a low price suit has the appearance of a fine article. The Oak Hall will give you the benefit of their long experience in selecting your suit.

DEFENCE WILL NOT SHOW ITS HAND.

Napanee Bank Robbery Investigation to Conclude To-Day.

TO COMMIT ALL THE PRISONERS.

No Witnesses to be Called on Behalf of the Defence Until the Assizes.

(Mail and Empire.)

NAPANEE, Ont., Aug. 15.—The bank robbery case has now passed several stages, and from what can be learned this evening the defence will not present their case to-morrow, and a legal argument is all that will occupy the court to-morrow afternoon. The prisoners will in all probability be committed for trial to the fall Assizes, in November.

FOR THE DEFENCE

Important Evidence to be given by Lawyer Macaulay.

Will Mar the Symmetry of Pare's little Yarn--Mrs. Macaulay's Diary is now an Important Factor in the Case

When W. H. Ponton's Counsel left for Napanee this morning they were accompanied by a witness whose evidence may have the effect of materially breaking the force of Pare's contession. Barrister C. D. Macaulay, who is the new witness, claims that he can prove that W. H. Ponton was the guest Mrs. Davy on one of the occasions on which Pare asserts that the ex-bank clerk was in the company of himself and Holden.

While in conversation with his wife last evening Mr. Macaulay was comparing the dates of some incidents which occurred recently when he made the remark that on such a date "Billy" Ponton had spent the evening at the residence of Mrs. Davy, Mr. M's mother-in-law. On reference to the reports of Pare's evidence he found that the arch-conspirator had testified that on that very evening Ponton was in the company of himself and Holden.

Fortunately Mrs. Macaulay keeps a diary and a reference to it confirmed the accuracy of Mr. Macaulay's recollection. Mrs. Macaulay was ill on the evening in question, and her attention had been drawn to singing, which was taking place in her mother's residence next door. She enquired as to the personnel of the singers and found that the party consisted of Mr. Ponton and two young ladies, who were passing the hours of the evening in music and social chat.

Mr. Macaulay also joined the party and Mrs. Macaulay has a distinct recollection of hearing the conversation between her husband and Ponton. All these facts, with a woman's love of detail, were recorded in the diary and are confirmed by Mr. Macaulay's memory. Ponton left there at 10.30 o'clock intending to escort one of the young ladies to her home.

The INTELLIGENCER could not ascertain whether Mr. and Mrs. Macaulay would be placed in the box at this juncture or whether their evidence would be held in reserve until the trial proper in the autumn.

Refilling Apollinaris Bottles.

On July 8th, William J. Verner, of Richmond Street West, Toronto, was charged before the Police Magistrate with unlawfully selling and having in his possession for sale, goods to which a false trade description, namely, Apollinaris, was applied. The actual offence of which he was accused was that of refilling Apollinaris bottles bearing genuine labels, with the intent that same should be taken to contain genuine Apollinaris, which is bottled only at the Spring near Neuenahr, Rhenish Prussia. He was convicted.

It may not be generally known that such offenders, likewise those who use counterfeit labels or otherwise sell spurious Apollinaris, are liable under the Criminal Code to imprisonment for two years with hard labor, and fine.

Yachting Notes

Mr. Fenwick's new 32 footer Vera had her first trial under canvas yesterday afternoon. She worked out of the harbor against a strong and gusty southerly wind, and after about an hour's sailing returned to the harbor, as rair was approaching and it was deemed advisable not to wet the sails until after they have been well stretched, besides which one of the flimsy "spreaders" gave way. The trial was very satisfactory, the yacht being remarkably weatherly, pointing high, footing fast and much quicker in stays than any other craft's in the waters hereabouts. Her sail-carrying power is also notable, her large rig seeming to incommode her but little in the strong breeze, which at times blew a gale.

The handsome schooner Wave Crest, of the Rochester Yacht Club, is off Massassaga Park.

He was Fooled.

A dray was turning the corner of Front and Campbell sts. this morning when the load, one of the large packing boxes in which plate glass is usually cased, fell over the front of the vehicle upon the back of the horse. The animal broke away and ran a short distance, but was secured. In the meantime the agent of the company with which the glass was insured hurried to the scene and ordered the box to be forced open to see if the contents had been broken. The axe was lifted to strike and the agent's face wore an anxious expression, when the drayman casually remarked that the box was empty. The agent looked tired and vanished.

A CYCLONE IN RAWDON

A Woman and a Cow Made Playthings By the Wind.

The Woman Carried 30 or 40 Feet--The Cow Lifted 20 Feet and Killed --Barn, Shed and Buildings Demolished.

MARMORA, Aug. 16.—About six miles south of Marmora Village, on the county gravel road, in the township of Rawdon, a cyclone came down on Monday between 6 and 7 a.m., and caught John Livingstone's barn and completely demolished it, taking it about 20 feet from its original place. The woodshed was torn away and both ends out of the drive house.

Mrs. Livingstone, who was down cellar at the time, ran up and out towards the woodshed, and was taken up with the wind for 30 or 40 feet.

Close by the lightning struck a cow belonging to John Barlow. The cyclone took the cow about 20 feet high, whirled her around, and when she fell to the ground she was found to be dead.

The Livingstone family had a very narrow escape.

Newspaper Advertising.

There was a strike on the Chicago newspapers about a month ago.

It compelled the proprietors to cease publishing for some days.

The "Newspaper Maker" says :—"Aside from the newspapers the down town stores felt the suspension of the papers the most. Their business fell away to nothing. The strike convinced the advertisers of the necessity of newspaper advertising."

The other channels of advertising were open to them as usual.

But a trial convinced the advertisers of the truth of their own belief—that other channels of advertising are the little "holes" in which many drop the profits of legitimate newspaper advertising.

MADRID'S REIGN OF TERROR

Some Scraps of Truth Which Escaped the Press Censor.

Why Spanish Telegrams Have Been Colorless—The Impending Revolution Inevitable—Why One Correspondent Thinks a Carlist Uprising Sure to Come—Manila Has Fallen—General Augusti at Hong Kong.

Chicago, Aug. 16.—A Record special from Madrid says:

A perfect reign of terror prevails here. The editors of several Republican newspapers have been thrown into prison and others have sought safety in flight.

The press censor examines whole newspapers before publication. Some of the journals appear many columns blank and some have suspended publication altogether. The foreign correspondents dare not tell the truth, as they would be expelled if they did. Hence their telegrams are colorless, and even then all are not passed.

I am managing to send some scraps of truth by means of a subterfuge, which, of course, I cannot now reveal.

Revolution Is Inevitable.

The impending revolution is slow in coming, but when it does come all the authorities now occupying the scene will fall without resistance. They are utterly incapable of defending their position.

One thing that makes me think the Carlists mean to make an early move is that the private secretary of Don Carlos and the Marquis of Cerralbo, one of his leaders, both affirm that the patriotism of the pretender induces him for the moment to disapprove of an uprising in his favor.

Reputation for Deception.

As Don Carlos has a reputation for falsehood, and as one of his notorious habits has always been to keep the public alert and stimulate the fanaticism of his partisans by announcing an approaching crisis when it is out of the question, the more intelligent people infer from his present pacific declarations that he is preparing to do something serious. In fact there are constant rumors here of Carlist agitation in the provinces.

BLANCO HAS RESIGNED.

He Did Not Wish to Superintend the Evacuation of Cuba.

Madrid, Aug. 16.—The Government has received from Captain-General Blanco a despatch tendering his resignation. The reason given by General Blanco for resigning is that he does not wish to superintend the evacuation of Cuba. The Government is also informed that General Augusti, Governor-General of the Philippines, will leave Manila for Spain by the first mail steamer, giving his command to the second rank.

The next Cabinet Council will consider the question of summoning the Cortes. Senor Sagasta, the Premier, is hopeful that the Ministers will be agreed upon this point.

MANILA HAS FALLEN.

A London Business House's News Confirmed From Madrid.

London, Aug. 16.—The Westminster Gazette says it has received from a London business house a report that Manila has fallen. The report comes from the firm's Hong Kong agent.

Confirmed From Madrid.

Madrid, Aug. 16.—According to La Correspondencia de Espania the surrender of Manila occurred after the last attacks made upon the city.

ALREADY TROUBLESOME.

One Class of Cubans Who Will Not Recognize the Armistice.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 16.—Trouble with the Cubans is breeding. Their attitude is one of sullen hostility towards America. The better class in Cuba favor the annexation of the island to the United States, and a majority of the masses are ready to work and accept the shelter and protection afforded by an American protectorate; but they are influenced by a certain class of rabid orators and breeders of sedition and rebellion against anything smacking of law and order. This inflammatory class demands and urges the recognition of Cuba for Cubans and spurns all offers or suggestions tending to prosperity under an American protectorate and excites popular discontent.

Their advice to the Cubans is to repudiate all offers of peace or a cessation of hostilities, and to look upon the armistice as an agreement between the United States and Spain on their own account and not binding upon the free and independent state of Cuba, whose liberati army not only repudiates pacification, but will ignore the armistice to the point of continuing to wage war and shooting every Spaniard in the field.

Uncle Sam Will Have to Pay Them.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 16.—A secret meeting was held last night at the Palace between the commanding officers of the American army and the Cuban leaders. The strictest secrecy was maintained, but it can be said with good authority that General Garcia was present. The meeting lasted one hour and a half. The information obtained is to the effect that the Cuban situation was thoroughly reviewed, and that it was resolved to disband the Cuban army, and that the United States should pay the men off. This involves the expenditure of $15,000,000, but it is most important to the prosperity of the island, whose wealth is entirely agricultural, nobody, planter or farmer, daring to cultivate his lands while insurgents are in the field, raiding and burning.

Shipment of Spanish Soldiers.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 16.—The Spanish steamer Isla de Luzon sailed yesterday morning for Spain, having on board 2,136 Spanish soldiers. The Isla de Panay will probably sail to-day.

Rough Riders Returned.

New York, Aug. 16.—The Rough Riders are home. With Col. Theodore Roosevelt and Fighting Joe Wheeler they have reached Montauk Point. They came on the transport Miami.

Lightning Struck Soldiers.

Lithia Springs, Ga., Aug. 16.—During a terrific thunderstorm here lightning struck Camp Hobson. Seven soldiers are in the hospital seriously hurt.

BAD GANG BROKEN UP.

The Johnson Family of Counterfeiters at Last in the Law's Clutches—Caught on Canadian Soil.

Detroit, Aug. 16.—David Henry Johnson, the youngest of the four Johnson brothers, notorious counterfeiters, was arrested early yesterday morning at the house of Joseph J. Wetherald, farmer, living two miles from Blenheim, Essex County, Canada. Johnson was locked up at police headquarters at Windsor.

He was the third of the family to be arrested in this city within the last week. Two of the other brothers, Charles and Edmund, were arrested here Friday. The fourth brother, John, alias "Shang," Johnson, is in Kingston Penitentiary, Canada.

Young Johnson is known to the police and secret service as the most dangerous man in this country, and the whole family were artists in their line. The man arrested yesterday eluded even suspicion for the last 10 years. The official secret service says there is positive proof that David Johnson, though only 30 years old, was the author of counterfeit bills in 1888, and the authorities have been looking for the man who did this job ever since the bills first came into circulation. The bills in question are $2 notes, with heads of Hancock and Windom. The counterfeit Hancock note came out 10 years ago. The difference between it and the original is in the signature and in the vignette. The discrepancy is so small that many experts have been fooled. The Windom $2 note was issued Aug. 4, 1891, and the imitation was discovered in 1893.

Detectives Were Looking for Them.

The detective force of this city has been looking up evidence against the Johnsons for a long time. More than three months ago they went to work and the first point scored was the arrest of Charles and Edmund. Saturday last the house in which David had been living was searched, and a hollow place behind the base board bedroom panel was removed, touching a spring, and showing a small cabinet. Detectives found in here plates and other apparatus for making counterfeit money; also between $7,000 and $10,000 in counterfeit notes. A letter was found in the house giving information of the death of Wetherald of Blenheim, who is a relative of the Johnsons. Detroit officers, with Officer Mahoney, visited Blenheim, and Mahoney made the arrest. Johnson was very obstinate, but was finally taken to Windsor, and says he will fight extradition to the last. In searching the house of the other brothers, the officers found a large number of dies and colorings. The arrests are regarded as of the utmost importance. Washington authorities connect the Johnsons with the issue of a number of other bills, including $100 silver certificates, which are among the best counterfeits ever turned out. Treating notes with glycerine gives them the appearance of having been used. Johnson is married and has two children. He lived in Detroit more than a year under the guise of a traveling agent.

Waives Extradition.

David Henry Johnson, youngest of the four Johnson brothers, was arraigned before Commissioner Bartlett of Windsor yesterday and dscidd to come across without extradition papers.

MONUMENT TO WOLFE TONE.

Dublin Puts on Holiday Clothes in Honor of the Great Irishman.

Dublin, Aug. 16.—The whole city is en fete in connection with the laying of the foundation stone of the monument in memory of Wolfe Tone. Delegates are in attendance from the United States, Australia, South Africa, France and Italy. There was an immense procession to the site of the monument. A memorial car, containing the foundation stone, which was decorated with flags presented by the Daughters of Erin '98 Association of New York City, preceded the procession.

On the return of the Belfast contingent to that city at 11 o'clock last night a fierce conflict ensued between the contingent and a hostile crowd, which had gathered, and was awaiting their arrival. Stones and other missiles were thrown and many persons were slightly injured, and a number of windows were broken.

Barn and Season's Crop Burned.

Highfield, Aug. 16.—A spark from a passing train set fire to the stubble in a field belonging to Peter Wardlaw, concession A, Etobicoke, and before it was observed had spread to the barn. The last load of grain off 90 acres was standing on the threshold, and when it was run out it was in flames. The whole of this season's crop was consumed, together with some pigs, live stock and implements. Much difficulty was experienced in saving the house.

A Burglar Attacks a Woman.

Berlin, Ont., Aug. 16.—Mrs. M. F. Anthes had occasion to go down stairs for something for the baby, when she was accosted by a midnight marauder, who endeavored to choke her. Her screams were heard by her brother, who slept in the house. He quickly got his revolver and chased the burglars away, firing three shots after them. There is no clue to the thieves, who got little or nothing.

Orange and Green.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—As the Orange Young Britons of Ottawa, several hundred strong, were marching to church Sunday in celebration of the opening of the Derry gates, they encountered a funeral of a prominent Catholic. While the cortege passed the bands ceased playing and the procession stood with heads bared, winning for themselves the thanks of a host of Catholics.

Cataract Power From Hamilton.

Hamilton, Aug. 16.—In a very few days the Cataract Power Company will be supplying power to Hamilton concerns from the turbines near St. Catharines. The wiring is completed and the machinery is now being tested. It is said that 5,000 horse-power is available.

A War Correspondent Dead.

London, Aug. 16.—Mr. A. F. Macdonald, who accompanied the expedition which was sent out in the hope of rescuing General Gordon from Khartoum, as correspondent, is dead. The deceased was by birth a Canadian.

Sorry That Col. Hay Is Leaving.

London, Aug. 16.—The afternoon papers, without exception, express regret at the probable return of Ambassador Hay to the United States to succeed Secretary Day.

HATS FOR 75C. WORTH at least $1.25

We wish to draw your attention to a big assorted lot of Fedora hats, all sizes, colors grey, brown and black. These goods have been put out to clear. They sold at $1.25 and $1.50. You may have your choice for 75 cts. This is an opportunity to get a nice hat at a very nominal figure.

Waterproof Coats.

The man who is not in possession of a good Mackintosh does not know what a comfort it is on a rainy cold day. The fall fairs will soon be on and you will be running around more or less. We combine a light overcoat and a waterproof.

A very special line of English waterproof coats, either single or double breasted, several different shades, blue, light grey and dark grey, all well trimmed and every seam sewn. This coat is warranted not to go hard. Our price $6

We can furnish you with coats at $4, $5, $6, $7, $8, $10, $12 and $15. The largest variety in Belleville to select from.

MEN'S SUITS.

"Honest trading needs no taffy." Ours is no "soft soap" establishment. We do not talk customers into buying, we do not have to. The clothing we sell talks, and customers buy it on their own sound judgment. You, who know us, know that we make no promises without producing the proof.

A new line of sack suits for fall, made of pure wool, a very pretty brown and green mixture. These suits are made by Sanford and every coat bears the label, which is in itself sufficient guarantee. They are perfect fitting, well trimmed and made. Just such suits are being offered at $10 elsewhere. We know they are worth $10 all right in the ordinary store, but our prices are always the lowest. We offer you this extra special suit at only $8

GOVERNMENTS AND THE FISH

The Second Reading of the Fisheries Bill Not Opposed.

Mr. Hardy Explains His Bill—He Dilated Upon the Importance of the Industry and Pointed Out That Owing to the Privy Council's Decision There Would Be Two Sets of Officials—Mr. Hoyle Makes Suggestions.

Toronto, Aug. 16.—The Attorney-General's Fisheries bill met with no opposition at its second reading in the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Hardy Explains His Bill.

In moving the second reading of his bill, Mr. Hardy explained that since the decision of the Supreme Court, upon which the bill of 1897 had been based, had been greatly altered by the Privy Council, his new bill had become urgent as well as essential. One of the features not upheld by this court of last resort had reference to the rights to take fish with certain implements, and also to the close season. The Privy Council had adjudged the provinces to have control of the bottoms of rivers and lakes, and therefore the right to take out fish rested with his Government. So did the right to impose license fees. The revenue from these licenses was of considerable importance, the Dominion Government having realized from $80,000 to $88,000 per annum therefrom during the last few years. To the Dominion Government, on the other hand, had been declared the right to make regulations as to the close season, and also as to the implements to be used. Certain minor regulations as to the use of the foreshore still rested with the Provincial Government. The fact that the Dominion Government had the right to fix the amount of license to be charged, made a deadlock, he admitted, technically possible, but in the usual course of events actually improbable. No modus vivendi had been arrived at between the Minister of Marine and the Provincial Government. He had simply come to a partial arrangement whereby the Federal Government conceded that they had no right to issue licenses, but were allowed to collect such of this year's licenses as were issued before the decision of the Privy Council had been given.

Two Sets of Officials.

Two sets of officials to administer the altered law would now be necessary. The Dominion Government would have to appoint officers to see that the regulations were observed, while the Provincial Government would appoint others to protect the fisheries. Upon the high seas and the international lakes and rivers the Dominion Government would still retain controlling power, because in the event of international questions arising they would be held responsible. They would still retain patrol vessels to prevent illegal fishing in such waters, while the Provincial Government would appoint controllers of inland fisheries. The question of official salaries had not yet been decided, though the salaries in the Dominion Department ranged from $8,-200 to $500. In the meantime the House was asked to sanction the appointment of a deputy commissioner to organize a new Fisheries Department.

Vast Importance of the Industry.

Concluding, the Premier explained in detail the sections of the bill, and added an amendment to the effect that it should go into force immediately upon passing the Legislature. He spoke of the vast importance of protecting the fisheries, an importance which could not be overestimated or too graphically described. He spoke of it as a convenient and healthful means of sustainance to those settling in and opening up a new country, as a means of relaxation to those engaged in every other calling in life.

Mr. Whitney Acquiescent.

The Opposition leader agreed with the Government's idea of the immense importance of the fisheries. He still believed that the matters could have been arranged so that the necessity of a special session would have been precluded. He urged, however, since the present session was a fact, that the bill be considered without haste, and reserved any further remarks till it reached the committee stage.

Mr. Hoyle's Suggestions.

Mr. Hoyle, as representing North Ontario, a constituency largely interested, congratulated the Government upon getting the decision from the Privy Council, and made a few suggestions. Learning from the Attorney-General that the matter of obstructions came within the power of the Local Government, he urged some restrictions in this matter, especially as the obstructions along the Beaver and Severn Rivers were found an inconvenience to anglers in his riding. People, he thought, should have the opportunity to fish without being compelled to go 15 miles to do so. He also suggested that the game wardens, as not being overburdened with work, might take upon themselves the duties of fisheries inspectors, and avoid the expense of salaries of new appointees.

Mr. Foy wanted the bill consolidated with the Fisheries bill, to which it was an amendment.

Mr. Hardy thought this might involve the elimination of certain clauses, and might deprive the province of possible rights now in dispute.

The Battle Begins Afresh To-Day.

The bill will come up in committee of the whole on Thursday. To-day the Constable bill will be introduced.

In response to Mr. Whitney's protest, Mr. Hardy decided practically not to ask the House to sit mornings. Prorogation this week is a possibility.

Mr. John Richardson, M.P.P., (East York), denied that he had been approached with the offer of the job of Fisheries Inspector, or that his constituency would be opened for Hon. John Dryden.

Tornado Killed Seven People.

Minneapolis, Aug. 16.—A Ganby, Minn., special to the Journal says: A tornado last night struck 12 miles northwest of this place, killed seven people, wrecked many buildings and did great damage to the crops. The entire family of Joseph Hutchinson, including his wife and four children, were killed, also Peter Juglin.

Barns, Horses and Hay Burned.

Portage la Prairie, Aug 16.—During a heavy thunderstorm Sunday evening lightning struck William Wisaart's barn, two miles north of the town. His stables, with all their contents, two horses and 25 tons of hay, were all lost. The loss is about $2,000.

Governor of New Guinea.

London, Aug. 16.—The Queen has approved the appointment of Mr. George Ruthven le Hunte, C.M.G., Colonial Secretary of Mauritius, to be Lieutenant-Governor of British New Guinea, in succession to Sir William MacGregor, M.D., K.C.M.G., C.B., who is retiring from that office.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

MARTIN CHANGED HIS MIND

The Northwest's Fighting Member Down Off His High Horse.

He Will Now by His Own Action Play Second Fiddle to Semlin—He Will Be Attorney-General, and Mr. Cotton Will Be Finance Minister—A Point Upon Which the Old Government and Opposition Fully Agree.

Vancouver, Aug. 16.—Joe Martin changed his mind yesterday, and consented to become Attorney-General under Mr. Semlin, who is struggling to form a Cabinet. This means that the Opposition at present shows unbroken ranks. Mr. Semlin is to be Premier, Mr. Martin Attorney-General, Mr. Cotton Minister of Finance. Mr. Semlin will also take the Agricultural Department, and Messrs. Foster and Green of Kootenay are spoken of at this writing as the other two who will accept positions to make the complete Cabinet. This leaves Vancouver Island, which has controlled the province since Confederation, completely out.

How the Tally Stands.

There are now eighteen Government, eighteen Opposition and two Independents, according to Opposition figures. Should the Semlin-Martin combination secure a Cabinet, the appointment of a speaker would leave the parties in such a position that business would be hopelessly blocked. Mr. Semlin will meet Parliament, but cannot hope to secure a majority vote to pass his much-desired redistribution measure before going to the country. When the House meets business will be blocked, and there will have to be fresh elections on the old lines. The Opposition and Government alike agree that Mr. Turner should have been asked to form a Government and meet Parliament, but the Lieutenant-Governor took a different view.

A STAMPEDE FOR GOLD.

Rich Placer Diggings Have Been Found on Pine Creek, Northwest Territories—1,000 Miners Thitherward.

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 10, via Seattle, Wash., Aug. 16.—What is regarded as an important discovery of rich placer diggings is reported to have been made on Pine Creek, a small stream emptying into Atlin Lake, a feeder of Lake Tagish. The discovery is located in the Canadian Northwest Territory.

The news has caused a great stampede from Juneau and other southeastern Alaska points, and it is estimated that at least 1,000 prospectors have started for the locality.

Walker Carter, who has just returned here from the diggings, says: "I saw four men shovel in twenty-six ounces in two days, one pan from bed rock containing four dollars. This was on Discovery claim. Pine Creek is about fifteen miles long and will average 75 feet in width. The current is very rapid. The diggings are what is known as bar diggings or summer placer. Discovery claim is about eight miles from the mouth of the creek. The bed-rock is only five feet from the surface, and is of a slate formation. Miller, who discovered the mine two years ago and left it dormant, now has five men at work shoveling into sluice boxes, and he pays $12 a day each, settling every night with dust taken from the boxes.

"The men are taking out $60 a day to the man. Captain Strickland of the Canadian Mounted Police and several other men are already on the ground and have staked claims for themselves and reserved the Government claims. When I left 33 claims had been located, and the balance of the creek is reserved by the Canadian Government. When I was coming out to Juneau, I met a large lot of prospectors going into every bay along Tagish Lake trying to find the spot which they had heard of, but whose location they did not know."

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, Aug. 15.—There were about 400 head of butchers' cattle, 60 calves, 300 sheep and lambs and 40 store hogs and small pigs offered for sale at the East End abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, but trade was slow owing to the high prices asked by the drovers for anything pretty good in the beef and mutton lines. The prices of good to prime cattle were about the same as on last Monday's market, but common and inferior beasts did not bring as high prices as on that day, although they were dearer than on last Thursday's market. Prime beeves sold at about 4¾c per lb. and a few of the best were sold at higher rates; pretty good cattle sold at from 3½c to nearly 4½c per lb., while the common and inferior beasts sold at from 2¾c to 3¼c per lb. Calves were scarce and dear at prices ranging from $2.50 to $8 each. Shippers are paying from 3¾c to 3½c per lb. for good large sheep. Lambs sell in lots at from $2.60 to $3.50 each, and a few choice ones brought $4 each. Fat hogs sell at from 5¼c to a little over 5½c per lb. Store hogs sell at from $7 to $9 each and pigs from two to three months old sell at from $2.75 to $4 each.

CANADIAN DIVORCES.

The Senate Divorce Committee Will Have Something to Do Next Session.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—The Senate Divorce Committee will not lack employment next session. Two new notices of application for divorce appear in Saturday's Canada Gazette. They are by David Stock of Toronto, on the ground of bigamy, and by I. S. G. Van Wart of Calgary, on the ground of desertion. Mr. Van Wart states that his wife has married one B. Smith of Oakland, Cal., "according to the laws of the State of California."

Ottawa Street Railway Company employes, at a meeting yesterday, decided to refuse the company's offer of 14 2-7 cents per hour for a 10-hour day. The men will not take anything less than $1 50 per day, and if their demand is refused they will go out on strike.

The statement of circulation and specie for July shows amount of Dominion notes outstanding $23,320,238; specie reserve, $11,955,585; guaranteed and unguaranteed debentures, $19,176,667.

The Cabinet is represented here by Hon. R. W. Scott, the only Minister in town. He is still endeavoring to complete the list of returning officers for the plebiscite.

FOUR BABIES AT A BIRTH.

The Happy Mother Lives in Kingston—Details of the Event.

Kingston, Aug. 15.—On Sunday forenoon Mrs. W. Bowman of Upper Colborne street, gave birth to four children, one of them, a girl, being stillborn. There were two boys and two girls. The boys are active and of good size. The episode has created great interest. Mrs. Bowman is a daughter of Sergeant Culhane, 5th Field Battery, and was born in Hyderabad 25 years ago.

The babies were baptized Sunday. The boys are James St. Vincent and Michael James. The girl is called Mary. Rev. Father O'Brien christened them. Mrs. Mayor Livingston was a caller, and left a $5 bill.

The infants when placed on the scales yesterday weighed 16¾ pounds, the individual weight being four and three-quarters, four and one-quarter and three-quarter pounds. The latter was the weight of the dead girl.

Umbrella Tramp Found Dead.

Chatham, Ont., Aug. 16.—This forenoon Thomas Talley, jeweler, while out in the woods about two miles from the city, came across the dead body of a man about 75 yards from the concession road. It had been there for some time, as little more than the bones and clothes were left. The head was gone. His straw hat and a small bottle were found close by; also a bundle of umbrella sticks, which would indicate that he was a tramp of that character.

"ASLEEP!"

Nothing so appeals to a mother's heart as the sight of her baby asleep. This is doubly true when the white lips, the fevered brow, the blue lines beneath the eyes and the thin little hands tell the pathetic story that baby is ill. To the child that comes into the world robust and healthy, the ordinary ills of childhood are not a serious menace; but to the weak, puny baby with the seeds of disease implanted in its little body even before birth, they are a serious matter and frequently mean baby's death.

The woman who wants a strong, healthy baby must see to it that she does not suffer from weakness and disease of the important and delicate organs concerned in motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on these organs, allaying inflammation, healing ulceration and soothing pain. It fits a woman for wifehood and motherhood. It banishes the discomforts of the period of anticipation and makes baby's entry to the world easy and almost painless. It insures the newcomer's health and an ample supply of nourishment. It rids maternity of its perils. It has caused many a childless home to ring with the happy laughter of healthy children. Over 90,000 women have testified to its marvelous merits. It is the discovery of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting Physician to the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. All medicine dealers sell it. Ailing women who write to Dr. Pierce will receive free his best advice.

Scores of women who have been cured of obstinate and dangerous diseases by Dr. Pierce's medicines have told their experiences in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. It contains 1008 pages, over 300 engravings and colored plates, and is free. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, for paper-covered copy; cloth binding 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BRITAIN AND RUSSIA.

John Bull Will, It Is Said, Demand That Li Hung Chang Be Dismissed From Office.

London, Aug. 16.—The Foreign Office, it was reported here yesterday, though the report as yet lacks confirmation, intends to demand that the Chinese Government dismiss Prince Li Hung Chang from power on the ground that he is responsible for the recent anti-British attitude of the Tsung Li Yamen.

The Foreign Office, it is also asserted, has had under special consideration the question of seizing the Taku forts on the Gulf of Pechin, at the mouth of the Pekin River, and the city of Tien-Tsin, the port of Pekin, in the event of China refusing to comply with this demand, holding all until compliance is assured.

Half-Hearted Depreciation.

London, Aug. 16.—The semi-official Journal de St. Petersburg, in yesterday's issue, deprecates the tone of the British press and says: "Russia does not contemplate fresh acquisition in the far East. Her only object is to preserve the advantage recently gained. The Russian Government does not desire to injure the economic interests of Great Britain any more than those of any other power."

FRENCH SHORE QUESTION.

Mr. Chamberlain Will Appoint a Commission to Settle Matters.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 16.—The Colonial Government yesterday received a despatch from Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, British Secretary of State for the Colonies, stating that Her Majesty's Government had decided to appoint a Royal Commission to enquire into the state of affairs on the Newfoundland French treaty shore, and as to legislative or other measures required to carry out the treaty.

CANADA WINS.

Dominion Sails Home First, Beating the Challenger Easily.

Montreal, Aug. 16.—The Dominion, the Canadian boat, won the second of the international yacht races yesterday, defeating the American boat by 2 minutes 47 seconds on a 12-mile triangular course, in a light breeze.

Steamship Men in Trouble.

Queenstown, Aug. 16.—J. W. Jago, chief officer of the White Sar Line steamer Britannic, was discharged yesterday on the charge of robbing the mails and smuggling, but was immediately re-arrested upon a warrant issued at the request of the United States Embassy, charging him with embezzlement and larceny.

London, Aug. 16.—At Bow Street Police Court yesterday Daniel Wood, steward of the Cunard Line steamship Lucania, who was arrested for alleged complicity with Jago, was released on his own recognizance to attend when called for.

Hit Hard by American Competition.

London, Aug. 16.—Owing to the disquieting growth of American competition in the tin-plate trade, the Welsh manufacturers are being put to serious shifts in order to maintain their position as the controllers of the tin-plate industry. They are now endeavoring to force their workmen to take lower wages, employing for that purpose the threat to introduce into their establishments a new patented tinning machine, which has just been invented, and which does away with most of the work of tinmen, requiring only one attendant. This machine is said to be in successful operation at the Monmouthshire tin plate works.

It's Very Hot in London.

London, Aug. 16.—Yesterday was the hottest day London has known for a long time. The St. John's ambulance staff was out in full force, and treated scores of cases of heat prostration. Upward of 150 cases had been treated at the various hospitals before 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A number of policemen were overcome. The surgeons found that their prostration was due to swelling of the legs and feet, produced by the heat from the asphalt and wood paving on which they stood.

Dewey Was Struck by an Express.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 16.—Frederick Dewey, locomotive foreman of the Michigan Central Railroad at Montrose, was walking on the track, from the yards to the junction, when he was struck behind the head and killed instantly, although the engineer tried to attract his attention by whistling. He seemed not to notice it. Mr. Dewey was about 70 years of age. He leaves a wife, who is at present visiting relatives in Chicago.

Killed in the Klondike.

Ottawa, Aug. 16.—A letter received in the city announces that Francois Marleau, son of Napoleon Marleau of Hull, has been suffocated to death while digging a claim in the Klondike. He was overcome by the gas. He left for the gold fields about two years ago, and is supposed to have accumulated considerable wealth.

MISS EMMA TEMPLE.

HERE IS WHAT SHE SAYS!

At last, after eight months of physical weakness and nervous prostration, caused by over exertion and want of rest,—during which time I suffered greatly on account of the shattered condition of my nerves, and for which I was unable to find any relief. I have found a medicine (Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills) that in three months made my nerves strong, removed all nervous troubles, built up my physical system and made me strong and well. They removed despondency, and in consequence of taking your valuable Pills I look forward to the future hopefully. I have to thank your great cure for nervousness and bodily weakness for my present good health and strength.

Yours truly,

Signed, EMMA TEMPLE, Hastings, Ont.

BRIDGE ST. LEAGUE.

Prohibition the Subject of an Interesting Paper.

The young people of the Bridge street Epworth League turned out in force yesterday evening to the second of the series of meetings devoted to the discussion of the prohibition question. Miss Maclean occupied the chair.

Mrs. Knox read an interesting paper on "The Liquor Traffic as a Hindrance to Missionary Work." She pointed out that the greatest stumbling block in the path of the foreign missionary was the strong drink supplied to the heathen nations by the nominally christian nations. A strong point made was the statement that the amount annually contributed to the cause of foreign missions by all the christian churches in this country would pay our drink bill for only five and a quarter days.

Mrs. Crosby gave a reading bearing upon the same subject, and a selection was rendered by a quartette composed of Mrs. Purdy, Miss Nettie Yeomans, Mr. Larke and Mr. Burns.

At next week's meeting an address on "Intemperance and the Bible" will be given by Rev. Dr. Galbraith.

THE DEBATE ON THE CONSTABLE VOTE.

The debate in the Legislative Assembly at Toronto, on the Governor's Address opening a Parliament, for the purpose of legalizing the "Constable Vote," thereby confirming in their seats no less than eight supporters of the Government, has given evidence of talent on the Opposition benches, which bodes well for the country in the future.

Among those who distinguished themselves was JAMES J. FOY, Esq., Q.C., the new member for South Toronto. His maiden speech was pointed and telling, even upon the minds of Government supporters. The best evidence of its force is the fact that the Toronto GLOBE devoted over a column of editorial in an attempt to refute the arguments advanced, in which it miserably failed. No stronger or more marked compliment could be paid Mr. FOY, than the necessity which the leaders of the party found to weaken its force by a column or two of special pleading in their unprincipled and unscrupulous organ, the Globe.

The closing days of the debate brought Mr. Whitney again to his feet, when he handled the subject of the "Constable Vote," with a masterly hand, which brought conviction to every listener; and were it not that the existence of the party depended upon the vote then to be given, all, except hide-bound Grits, would have yielded; that is, those whose seats did not depend upon the vote which they were about to record.

A strong point made by Mr. Whitney was in quoting from the GLOBE its editorial opinions upon a similar subject in 1887, at the very time that Mr. Hardy claims to have found a precedent for the course he is now pursuing. In view of the Globe's present position, it is well people should know how readily it can change front whenever party exigencies demand it. Here are its opinions when opposing Sir John Macdonald:—

As there has been a little confusion in some quarters over one or two points relating to the instructions to scrutineers, observe the following points:

1. Swear all outside voters, as large sums are being spent everywhere by the Conservatives to illegally pay travelling expenses of voters.

2. Object to every vote offered by deputy returning officers, poll clerks, or constables, as they are now disqualified according to the best legal opinion. Swear them, as they cannot properly take the oath that they have not received or been promised anything for services connected with the election, since a fixed sum is provided by law for their remuneration. They are also liable to penalties for voting illegally.

3. We are aware that in some instances Reform deputy returning officers have been chosen, and naturally it seems a pity that they should lose their votes. It can't be helped. The law must be observed. But it is some consolation that the difference in the matter of fair play may be worth as much as the vote itself. Besides, the deputy returning officers will see that the poll clerk and constable are not allowed to vote, being disqualified by law.—Globe, February 21st, 1887.

Sir John Macdonald has telegraphed his organs an assurance that the Globe is wrong when it says that deputy returning officers and poll clerks cannot vote. Sir John seems to base his opinion on a contention that the employer in this case is not the candidate, but the Crown, and that the Crown is not a "person."

Sir John is, as usual, when he dabbles in law and opposes his opinion against that of the Globe, wrong. If ever this question gets before the Privy Council he will be proved wrong, as he has been in every case that has gone there. The employer in this case is the head returning officer. He is certainly a "person," and there is no more reason why anyone can go behind him—the Crown—than there is in many other cases.

We suppose Conservative deputies and poll clerks will obey Sir John's advice and vote, relying upon his passing an Act of indemnity. But Sir John will not be supreme in the next Parliament, and those officials who vote in defiance of the law will do so at their peril. Sir John cannot protect them.—Globe, February 22nd, 1887.

The best legal authorities agree with us in stating that the deputy returning officers, poll clerks, constables, and persons from whom polling places were hired were disqualified from voting in the late election. This means that on the average 120 votes were cast in every constituency by persons who were not qualified to vote. The vast majority of these votes were no doubt polled for the Government candidates, inasmuch as these officers were the appointees of Tory officials, and very few Reformers were chosen. On inspection of the returns it appears that nearly 20 seats are held by Conservatives by majorities so slender that if these illegal votes are struck off it will change the political complexion of the country. It is most important that the legality of these votes should be tested in the courts, and the Liberals of the constituencies in question should at once consider modes of proceeding.—Globe, February 24th, 1887.

The chief organ of Gritism felt the force of the arraignment, and devoted nearly two columns of its editorial space on the 15th inst. to a quibbling reply. The gist of the whole article, however, is contained in the following characteristic paragraph:—

"In order to clear the ground for discussion, let it be understood that it is "not the object of this article to disprove "a charge that the Globe said something eleven years ago different from "what it is saying to-day."

Certainly not. It were useless, in view of its record, for the Globe to attempt to "disprove a charge that it said "something eleven years ago different "from what it is saying to-day." Were it to make an attempt to reconcile its one day's utterances with those of the next, it would have very little time to consider any other subject.

It has not passed from the memory of its readers that it denounced the acquiring of the Drummond County Railway on the ground that, to acquire a third line between Quebec and Montreal, would be a useless expenditure of money, there not being at present sufficient passenger traffic, or freight traffic to sustain the two lines now in operation; and a few days after defending the Tarte-Blair deal with all its power and ability, abusing those who dared to differ from its last inspiration.

Nor have they forgotten its Crow's Nest somersault—one day condemning the construction of the road with the aid of a bonus; and the next, when its friends were interested in the scheme, in more ways than one, becoming its most ardent defender upon terms much more extravagant than those it opposed.

The most truthful explanation that the Globe could give of its policy, would be to honestly declare "That what the Conservatives propose, we oppose; and what the Liberals propose, no matter how iniquitous, we support." That is Globe-ism.

A Deficit of a Quarter of a Million Expected

DUE PRINCIPALLY TO THE NON-PAYING DRUMMOND LINK.

A telegram from Moncton, N. B., August 15th, says:—The Intercolonial Railway accounts for the fiscal year, ending 30th June last, are being made up, and it is stated that the deficit in the operation of the road will amount to about a quarter of a million, as compared with $59,000 in the previous year, and $55,000 in Mr. Haggart's last year. The increased deficit is largely due to the operation of the extension into Montreal, which has not so far furnished business commensurate with the outlay. The department is now inviting tenders for 400 new 60-ton freight cars, which will be charged to capital account, and it is also alleged that the capital account has been unduly swelled by the inclusion of expenses that have heretofore been met out of revenue.

These are points that will require explanation when Parliament meets. The increased deficit is just what was anticipated by those who had given the subject any thought or consideration.

IRISH LOCAL GOVERNMENT.

Very little has been said or written of late, upon the question of self-government in Ireland, as conceded by the Conservatives of England. Below is a fair synopsis of the concessions which have been made, and not too soon:

The Irish Local Government Bill, which has passed both Houses of the Imperial Parliament is one of the most important contributions to the long chapter of Irish legislation in recent years It differs from nearly all the measures that have preceded it in having the support of all parties. Introduced by a Conservative Government, it has the support of the English Liberals, and the Irish Nationalists are at one with the Irish landlords in gladly accepting it. There are one or two protesting voices on behalf of the "loyal minority," but for the most part they obediently follow the lead of the Conservative Government. The Liberal papers all have it that the Irish landlords have been bought off by being relieved of the county cess, which is henceforth to fall entirely on the occupier as well as the poor rate. There is also a solatium in the shape of an annual grant of £730,000 in perpetuity from the Imperial Exchequer, while a similar grant in favor of English agriculture only runs for five years. In many respects the bill is a more liberal and democratic measure than the English and Scotch Local Government acts, on which it is founded. The parish councils, which have not proved a great success in England, will not be attempted in Ireland, and there is no attempt at joint control with the magistracy. The grand jury system is entirely swept away, and they will meet for the last time for fiscal and administrative duties at the spring assizes of 1893. The new and popular bodies will be elected in March, on the parliamentary franchise, with the addition of women and peers. Dublin, Belfast, Cork, Limerick, Derry and Waterford will be made into county boroughs, and will be practically supreme in their own borders under the supervision of the Local Government Board. The rest of Ireland will be administered by county councils with two subordinate bodies, urban and rural district councils. The county council will be the sole rating authority in rural districts, and will also have charge of the lunatic poor; the rural district councillors will meet together as boards of guardians and levy the poor rates. The urban district councils have charge of the roads and levy all the rates; poor rates and county cess being calculated in one consolidated rate, which will fall on the occupier. It is hoped that this will prove an incentive to prudence, and a substantial safeguard against reckless and extravagant expenditure. It is the application of two great democratic principles,—"trust the people" and "let those who pay taxes spend them." Both parties claim that the effect of the bill will be to strengthen their cause, the Liberals that it will accentuate the demand for Home Rule, the Conservatives that it will allay discontent and satisfy the natural desire of the people to manage their own affairs. It seems very likely that the political effect will not be great, either one way or the other. But if it had the result of bringing together the divided classes, sects, and factions in Ireland, and showing them that they have interests and duties in common, it will be a useful and beneficent measure, both for Ireland and the Empire.

—The Premier of Newfoundland denies the statement sent in a cable despatch to the effect that the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, in an interview with him, advised the Colony to enter the Canadian Federation. Sir James Winter, Premier of Newfoundland, returned from England on the 14th August to consult with the Cabinet before starting for Quebec, for which place he will leave on the 18th August. He states that his mission to London was eminently successful. The colony obtains a Royal Commission to investigate the French shore question, which commission will leave England in September, and also the establishment of a naval reserve as well as many minor concessions.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should anyone go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. BAD FIRE.

Glen Miller Paper Mills Partially Destroyed--Loss $17,000--Incendiary Origin.

On Monday morning the village of Glen Miller was visited by a most disastrous fire. At 1:30 the watchman in the paper mills there heard a noise as of a man walking in the rotary department, and when he went to investigate he found the room in flames. He glanced out of the window at the same time and saw a man running across the yard.

The alarm was sounded and everything possible was done to save the building, but in vain. The rotary and paper manufacturing departments, together with a great quantity of finished and partially finished stock and a quantity of wood and straw, were destroyed. The pasteboard department is intact and is already at work again. The loss on the building is estimated at $12,000 and on the stock $5,000, covered by insurance. Mr. Walter Miller, the Managing Director of the Company, says the mills will be rebuilt.

While in Kingston, a leading merchant there showed Mr. Rattray some samples of gold quartz taken from a claim situated some 45 miles from Tweed. Mr. Rattray pronounced the specimen to be richer than any he had ever seen in his own country and he declares that, if the quartz is at all plentiful, the owners of the Hastings county mines have a bonanza.

The Best Liniment for Horses.

Messrs. Ritchie & Co., the large ranchers of B.C., write: We consider Griffiths' Veterinary Menthol Liniment unequalled for horses. One of ours had a bad sprain on its left leg which was swollen to an enormous size. Griffiths' Menthol Liniment was applied two days, when the swelling and soreness entirely left it. We consider it superior to any other liniment. All druggists, 25 cts.

"PENNY POSTAGE."

It Will Come High, Says Sir Adolphe Caron.

Sir Adolphe Caron says: "Hon. Wm. Mulock's intention of adopting 2-cent postage will cost Canada $800,000 per annum. It is a huge price to pay for the sentimental consideration of Empire-building. I approved the idea long ago, but I could not see how Canada could bear the cost, and I can't see it yet.

"No; I don't think there is any truth in the rumor that Mr. Sifton will replace Premier Greenway in Manitoba. If he did it would be a lucky thing for Sir Wilfrid Laurier. He is the weakest member in a weak Cabinet that is riding for a fall."

Chess Match.

A party of local chess enthusiasts, composed of Messrs. W. F. Jones, J. W. Dafoe, F. J. Marshall, Geo. Fax, W. J. Diamond, T. P. Brown, and Mr. Scrugham, go to Kingston to-morrow, where they will meet a Limestone City team.

THE ROAD CLUB

A Relay Race With Deseronto on August 24.

The Belleville Road Club met at Chas. Schuster's store last evening. The attendance was not as large as was expected.

A letter was read from the President of the Britannia Bicycle Club, of Deseronto, asking for a friendly relay race between Napanee and Tronton on Wednesday, Aug. 24th. On motion the challenge was accepted.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Chas. Schuster, E. Streets and T. M. Nash was appointed to look after and work up the race.

The meeting was adjourned until Friday evening at eight o'clock when all members of the Club are requested to be present.

EVIDENCE IN FAVOR OF PONTON.

Pare's Story Contradicted In Three Important Points.

Ponton's Whereabouts on April 24th—Several Witnesses Prove An Alibi on That Point—Another Alibi on April 27th—Other Important Evidence For the Defence.

Napanee, Aug. 16.—To-night the counsel for the defence in the bank robbery case point with pride to what they have achieved towards setting Holden, Mackie and Ponton free from Napanee gaol. Three links have been forged in what the legal gentlemen for the defence say will be a chain of incontrovertible evidence.

CONTRADICTED ON THREE POINTS.

The trio of points is composed thus: Pare swore, and repeated his statement thrice under Mr. Porter's cross-examination, that on Sunday evening, April 24th last, he and Holden visited Belleville, stopped at the Dominion House and sent John Mackie for Ponton. When the former teller arrived, Pare testified, he was informed that the master mind of the burglarious pack had decided to be no longer under the responsibility of acting as custodian of the $5,000 which he says was to be Ponton's share of the loot. This afternoon Ponton's witnesses to the number of six swore thrice under Mr. Porter's cross-examination, that on Sunday evening, April 24th last, he and Holden visited Belleville, stopped at the Dominion House and sent John Mackie for Ponton. When the former teller arrived, Pare testified, he was informed that the master mind of the burglarious pack had decided to be no longer under the responsibility of acting as custodian of the $5,000 which he says was to be Ponton's share of the loot. This afternoon Ponton's witnesses to the number of six swore that on Sunday night Ponton was from 5 o'clock until shortly after 11 o'clock constantly in the company of his friends. That is link number one. Pare swore that on April 27, about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, Ponton met him, Mackie and Holden at the Dominion House, where the $5,000 was handed over to the former teller. Witness Walker this afternoon swore that date Ponton was acting as locum tenens for his mother in the Belleville Public Library, that the witness and Ponton worked there together until six o'clock afternoons, and that they did so for several days before and after April 27. This is link number two. Pare swore that he went to blacksmith Pringle's shop and bought a bit of steel wire, which he fashioned into a key wherewith Ponton was to get at the combination of the safe. This afternoon Pringle and his assistant, McKee, swore that they had never seen Pare in the shop, and that the bit of wire that was manufactured into a key was given to Pinkerton Detective Wilkes. McKee swore that he had done the job for Wilkes, but could not say that the key that is now in possession of the court, having been unearthed in Pare's police cell, was the one that he had made. And that is point No. 3.

NAPANEE FEELS BETTER.

The town to-night rejoices—at least those who make themselves heard say that Ponton is as good as a free man. John Mackie, who is said by Pare to have been an intimate friend of his, said emphatically that he had never seen the safe-cracker before. When John Mackie left Mrs. Robert Mackie's side in the court room and went over to the gaol to see Pare, the decrepit prisoner greeted him with "Hello, John." John Mackie looked coolly at Pare, and, turning to the constable who had accompanied him, said, curtly: "Never saw the man before in my life." And he went over to the court and swore to that effect. Evidence for the defence will be heard tomorrow and Thursday. It is not decided whether or not Ponton will be put on the stand, but from what can be ascertained it is probable that Ponton's lawyers will not place their client in the witness box. The indications are that none of the prisoners will testify at this hearing of the case.

NARROW ESCAPE.

A Piece of Timber Very Nearly Ends the Career of James Bennett.

James Bennett, a carpenter residing in this city, had a narrow escape from a horrible death yesterday. He was employed at removing some old buildings, the property of Mr. Adam Henry, in the rear of Mr. Henry's Front st. store, and was stooping over to pick something off the ground when a heavy stick of timber fell from the top of the building upon him. Wonderful to relate, Mr. Bennett was only very slightly injured and will probably be able to be around again in a day or so. He sustained a few bruises and was badly shaken up, but he feels very thankful that his life was spared.

Capt Ryan is Sinking.

Capt. William Ryan, of the Cambria, taken to the general hospital, Kingston, yesterday suffering with a stroke of paralysis, is still unconscious and sinking rapidly. He regained consciousness for a few minutes last night, but relapsed again into a comatose condition.

On His Vacation.

Mr. Frank Eaton, formerly soloist in Bridge st. Church choir, is spending his vacation at his home in Ameliasburg. Since leaving here, Mr. Eaton has met with great success in the practice of his profession in the United States, his fine baritone voice being much admired by the music-loving citizens of New York and other large cities. He is now choir-leader in a large Presbyterian Church in Paterson, N. J., and will sing in Bridge street church on Sunday night.

CLARKE'S KOLA COMPOUND CURES

A Child That Suffered From Asthma Almost Since His Birth.

Mr. James Kirkland, 52 Princess-ave., Victoria, B. C., writes: "Our boy, who is just nine years of age, has been troubled with Asthma almost since his birth, which has been continually growing worse in spite of all the medical aid we could procure. Our doctor bills have been very large each year; neither myself nor my wife have had a full night's sleep during the last year of his trouble, having had to poultice and give him medicine to keep him from choking. We heard of a neighbor who had been cured by Clarke's Kola Compound and resolved to try it with the result that to-day our child is completely cured, not having had an attack since taking the second bottle, almost a year ago. He has grown very fast since and is now quite strong and healthy. We feel very grateful to Dr. Clarke for the discovery of this wonderful remedy, as it has saved our child's life." Certified correct by Messrs. Hall & Co., druggists, Victoria, B. C., from whom the medicine was purchased. Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are absolutely guaranteed to cure any case of Asthma or Hay Fever, or money will be refunded. Free sample bottle to any address mentioning this paper. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church street, Toronto, sole agents for Canada. Sold by R. Templeton & Co.

THE LATEST.

THE BANK CASE.

Further Contradictions of the Story Told by Pare.

OTHER LINKS IN THE CHAIN BROKEN.

The Burglar Contradicted as to the Date of his Arrival at Deseronto—As to the Compound Engine—Witnesses who had Never Seen Holden or Mackie Before—The Tin Box Alleged to be an Old Settler.

Napanee Aug. 17, 11.30 a.m.—The defence resumed its effort to discredit Pare's evidence this morning.

Collector of Customs Valleau, of Deseronto, contradicted evidence given by Pare to the effect that he had arrived in Deseronto by steamer Resolute. Mr. Valleau's books showed that the Resolute arrived at Deseronto on Sunday, April 24th, the date on which Pare swore he met Ponton in Belleville.

G. T. R. engineer Mallock, who was in charge of the only compound engine in Canada, swore that Pare lied when he said a train drawn by a compound engine passed himself and a companion on the morning after the burglary.

Raymond Palmer and his brother testified that, though they knew Pare, they had never seen Mackie or Holden before.

Sectionmaster Abbott, of the G.T.R., in whose section tramps roost, was sworn. He had seen a tin box like that produced by the prosecution kicking around the railway track for more than a year.

More Evidence.

Dr. Dolan went to Napanee to-day, to testify that he had administered chloroform to a child of Robert Mackie's on an occasion important to the defence.

An Overcoat Necessity.

POLICE COURT.

Heavy Docket—Disturbed Hornerite Meeting.

Mrs. Herbert Foster was charged with using insulting language towards Mrs. Dalton. Enlarged until Saturday.

William Jero and William Marlow were charged with breaking into a vacant house on Dundas st. Dismissed.

Oliver Wadbaugh was charged with appropriating a watch, the property of one Airhart. Adjourned until this afternoon. F. S. Wallbridge for the prosecution.

Peter Young and Frank Thompson were charged with acting in a disorderly manner by bending the irons in front of Chas. Schuster's store. Dismissed.

Robert Chapman, of Plainfield, was arrested by Constable Duffin yesterday on the charge of stealing five hogs from J. McCreadie. The case is still in progress. F. J. M. Anderson, for the Crown; Geo. Denmark for the defence.

Jas. Sulman is charged with using abusive language towards Nelson McDonald. In progress.

The strange sect known as the Hornerites, founded near Pembroke in 1894 by Rev. R. C. Horner, was expelled from the Montreal Conference of the Methodist Church for insubordination and heresy, have been holding forth in the township of Rawdon. Their meetings are very noisy, "prostrations" being frequent, and they naturally attract a lot of the rabble, who sometimes become disorderly. William J. Joyce, G. Allen and Andrew Mason are now being tried by the Magistrate on the charge of disturbing the meetings of the Rawdon Hornerites. Rev. Robert J. Day, the leader of the movement in this vicinity, a well mannered young man, who laid the information, was in court, surrounded by a body-guard of determined-looking female Hornerites. He stated to the reporters that he could not conscientously give them any information as to the disturbance.

The C. O. D. Trick Also Tried at Kingston.

The Kingston News states that the C. O. D. swindle played on some local hotel men was also tried there, but without success. Proprietor Crote received a letter from Job Buchanan to the same effect as the one received by Mr. Baird, of the Quinte. The proprietor of the Lake View House, Portsmouth, received a similar letter signed Amos Howard.

The swindler has not yet been located, but the Express Companies are holding all moneys forwarded by the hotel men and they will be returned. Over 75 of those packages were sent out by the Dominion Express Company alone.

A Great Improvement.

The workmen have almost finished the work on alterations and improvements we have been making in our store. The result is, that we will now have one of the best ebuipped Dry Goods stores in Canada. We have studied the convenience and comfort of our customers, and have spared no pains to make the store thoroughly up-to-date in every particular.

Three Departments have had our special attention in these changes.

THE MILLINERY DEPARTMENT had quite outgrown its old quarters, and will now occupy the entire flat immediately over the main store. This flat has been beautifully decorated and fitted with the latest appliances, such as mirrors, etc., and we think you will appreciate its appearance when you pay it a visit.

THE CARPET DEPARTMENT. We have removed a brick wall which divided this department and have increased the space for displaying carpets almost double. We will now have Carpets, Curtains and all House Furnishings on the one flat and purpose going even more largely into this line. We control the very best makes of Carpets which can be had only from us.

MANTLES AND UNDERWEAR. The removal of the Millinery from this room leaves ample space for the handling of Jackets, Underwear and Furs to which will be devoted more attention than ever. We purpose going much more largely into Furs and realize we will fill a long felt want in supplying thoroughly reliable goods at moderate prices.

Come in and visit our new departments.

THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Seven Members Display Their Interest in the Rolling Mills Project by Turning up to Discuss it.

At a quarter to eight o'clock last evening Mr. John G. Frost, President of the Board of Trade, and the three representatives of the press were all who had showed up to attend the meeting of the Board of Trade called for the discussion of the rolling mills project. When eight o'clock drew nigh and no more members put in an appearance, the President got disgusted and went home. Owing to the fact that the authorities had neglected to inform the janitor of the proposed meeting, the hall was still in darkness at eight o'clock. Mr. Meagher was sent for, however, and everything was ready for a start at eight fifteen.

A handful of members wandered in and Mr. W. H. Gordon, Vice President, took the chair. On motion Messrs. W. B. Riggs, Henry Canniff, C. N. Sulman and Frank Broderick were elected members. Mr. Sulman strode in, looked at the empty benches, got frightened and vanished. Messrs. J. Parker Thomas, C. M. Reid, Henry Canniff, G. S. Tickell and J. P. Thompson, the remaining members present, thought it would be absurd for them to attempt to discuss the project alone and the Board, therefore, adjourned.

One member remarked that those who had been talking very loudly about the campaign they were going to carry on in favor of the by-law were conspicuous by their absence; the rolling mills project seemed dead. It was also remarked that not one member of the deputation sent to Norwich was present. The hope was expressed that the Mayor would call a public meeting at an early date for the discussion of the by-law.

ON THE CONVENT LAWN.

The Ladies of St. Michael's Score Another Success.

Encouraged by the success of their last venture, the good ladies of St. Michael's gave another garden party on the Convent lawn last evening and scored another decided success. The attendance was large, and the financial results gratifying. The lawn was tastefully decorated with bunting and presented a charming appearance. Refreshments and fancy work were for sale in the booths.

The programme rendered was an exceptionally good one and the ladies are to be congratulated upon the success which attended their efforts to secure only first-class talent. Solos were given by the ever popular Mrs. Jas. Grant and Miss Warrington and by Miss McMartin, of Toronto, who proved to be a vocalist of no ordinary ability. Mr. J. Nevin Doyle and Miss MacGachan rendered solos in their usual splendid style. Piano solos were given by Miss Harvey, of Montreal, and the Misses St. Charles.

HARDY'S SIX OR EIGHT.

The six votes which keep the Hardy Government in power consist of—

One member who retains his seat on the vote of the Returning Officer;

One who won by the rejection of a number of his opponent's ballots because the printer employed by the Government had botched his work;

Six whose seats will be gone from them, if, as the Government fears, the courts hold that election day constables come within the category of paid officials forbidden to vote; and

The five votes of the Ministers themselves.

Mr. Hardy's reason, as set forth in his memorandum calling the House together, was for the purpose of legalizing the Constable Vote, fearing that the Judges would declare them bad, thereby, as he declared, saving expense and trouble to candidates. His proposition now, if passed into law, as it will be, will have precisely the opposite effect. If he legalized the votes the present members would keep their seats. If the Judges declared them improper votes under the law there would be a scrutiny, and the Conservative, if it were found the votes of the constables were cast for the Grit, given the seat. Under the present proposition, if the Judges declare the Constable Vote bad, the scrutiny must follow in order to ascertain how the constables voted. If for the Liberals, then the seat is to be vacated, and another election held, thus adding the trouble and expense of a second election in each case. Yet Mr. Hardy has the cheek to tell the people he wants to save trouble and expense.

HE WAS TOO PRECIPITATE.

It will be fresh in the recollection of our readers that, a few days after the announcement had been made that the Provincial elections in British Columbia had resulted in a tie between the Ministeralists and the Opposition, the Lieutenant-Governor of that province, Mr. Thomas R. McInnes, dismissed the Ministry from office for the alleged reason that they had failed to secure the confidence of the country.

Truly a strange and self-evidently most unwarranted proceeding; for if the Turner Government had not secured the confidence of the country, neither had their opponents. And as protests were certain to be entered against members-elect and bye-elections were sure to follow, as the result of which the question of supremacy between the Government and their opponents would be decided, it is clear that the Lieutenant-Governor allowed his prejudice to warp his judgment and led him to adopt a course which he will find it difficult to justify on constitutional grounds.

Following the dismissal of Mr. Turner's Administration, he adopted the peculiar expedient of calling upon a gentleman who had been defeated in the election, and who, therefore, had failed in his attempt to secure public confidence, to join a Government in which, as the Kingston Whig, an organ of Mr. McInnes' party, says: "He "committed the indiscretion of seeking a "place for his son, Mr. McInnes, M.P., "who left the Commons hurriedly during "last session, and who was talked of as "Attorney-General in a new Cabinet."

This scheme failed, Mr. Beaven having no following and being unable to secure any, even with the golden apples of office at his disposal.

The Lieutenant-Governor, his plan thus defeated, then called in Mr. Semlin, a member of the Opposition, and that gentleman was, at latest advices, still engaged upon his task of Cabinet-making.

If, however, it be true, as alleged by a despatch from Vancouver, that Mr. Prentice, who was stated to have been elected as an Opposition member, has lost his seat because his name did not appear on the voters' list, and that a supporter of the Turner Government obtained the seat, then it is a fact that Mr. Turner actually had a majority of two when he was dismissed from office, for the reason above given.

In what light does Lieut.-Gov. McInnes' conduct now appear?

PONTON'S DEFENCE BEGUN.

Looks as if Mr. Porter Will Try to Establish an Alibi.

The Evidence for the Defence Brought Out at the Napanee Bank Robbery Case—Many People of Standing Testify as to Ponton's Whereabouts on the Dates Mentioned by Pare—Detective Wilkes and the Steel.

Napanee, Aug. 17.—The investigation into the Napanee bank robbery was continued yesterday at 9 o'clock before Magistrate Daly. A striking feature of the defence witnesses is their high standing and integrity. The most startling item in the day's evidence was the association of Detective Wilkes with the drawing out of the key. The court house was thronged.

After it had been agreed that the evidence should be taken as read, Mr. Porter enquired the meaning of the Magistrate in stating that he intended to be guided by Mr. Osler. The Magistrate explained that he would consult Mr. Osler in legal questions, but in other matters would be free to exercise his own judgment.

Mr. Osler stated that the Crown Attorney was the recognized legal adviser of a magistrate, and, although an advocate associated with the prosecuting attorney might in the same sense be looked upon as an adviser, so far as he was concerned he preferred not to play the role of prosecutor and adviser at the same time.

Defence Witnesses Called.

Mr. Porter stated that, this being the case, he would call witnesses to testify on behalf of his client, W. H. Ponton.

Mr. Edward Douglas, proprietor of the Paisley House, was the first witness called. Mr. Douglas' evidence was practically the same as that of last year. He had rented the rooms for Ponton because he wanted prisoner's room for the traveling public, as he did those of his other boarders. The night of the burglary witness saw Ponton about 11.30 in the bar, and afterwards Ponton and Roland Hawley waited a few minutes in the sitting room, and Ponton got a pitcher of water, as was his custom, and went to his rooms. The pitcher would hold about a pint.

To Mr. Osler, witness said he did not look at the clock when his boarders went out. He knew it was after 11 o'clock, as the bar was closed. He tried to observe the law, but that night there were at least two men in the bar after hours. Could not say there were others.

C. B. McAulay, barrister of Belleville, said that he remembered that he spent the evening of April 24 at the residence of his mother-in-law in Belleville, and that Billy Ponton, Miss McLean and Miss Davies, with others, were present. He replied to Mr. Porter in most emphatic terms that it was impossible for Ponton to have been in the Dominion Hotel between the hours of 8 and 11 o'clock of that evening. He was absolutely certain about the date and time.

Mrs. C. D. McAulay, wife of the last witness, was the next to testify. To Mr. Porter she said that she remembered April 24, and that Mr. W. H. Ponton was at her mother's home. In this she was assured by the fact that she made a note in her diary.

To Mr. Osler witness said that she was not in the same apartment, and could hear his voice through a wall adjoining the room in which he spent the evening.

Miss Lulu Davies of Belleville said that she had a distinct recollection of the evening of April 24, as Mr. Ponton had called at her home, and that he had spent from 8 to 11 o'clock with a company of some five people. She could swear positively that Mr. Ponton could not have been at the Dominion Hotel that evening. She also felt certain that Billy Ponton could not have been elsewhere, as he was in her company every Sunday evening that she was not absent.

Upon cross-examination by Mr. Osler, the witness said that she could not swear to any other fixed Sunday, either before or after April 24.

Miss Fanny Newberry said that she remembered meeting Mr. Ponton at Mrs. Davies' on that occasion, as he had acted as her escort about 11.15 that night. She also stated that it was impossible for him to have been at the Dominion Hotel that evening between 8 and 11.15. She remembered the night, as she and Miss Davies had twitted Will for not being present at St. John's Church, where Miss Coleman sang.

Witness said to Mr. Osler that she could not remember any other Sunday either before or after the date spoken of.

Mr. Porter now called George Hanwell, who said that he remembered the 24th well, as the Oddfellows had walked on that day. He also remembered that Ponton, who was stopping there at that time, came in about 11 o'clock. This fact was clear to his recollection, as Mrs. Hanwell had called out to Ponton: "You're a nice fellow to come to see a girl home." Mr. Hanwell explained this by stating that Ponton had agreed to escort Miss Coleman.

To Mr. Osler he said that he was absolutely certain about the date and the time in particular, as he seldom retired at 11 o'clock, as he had done on this occasion.

Upon being re-examined by Mr. Porter, witness said Mr. Ponton had been assisting his mother in the library at Belleville.

James Starling, another resident of Belleville, testified as to Ponton's whereabouts on the 24th.

Alexander Walker said that he had known Ponton for 15 years. During the month of April he and Ponton had spent much time in renovating things in the Belleville library. He could swear positively that Ponton had not left the library that afternoon; he was engaged checking the books and taking them to Mrs. Ponton's place. His evidence was unshaken by cross-examination.

John Mackie, proprietor of the Dominion Hotel, Belleville, and brother of the prisoner Mackie, said that he never received $200 for a board bill from any of the prisoners, and that he did not know the prisoner Pare, and that he had never seen him until a few minutes before, when he saw Pare in the cell. Mackie also asserted that he never took a message of any kind to Ponton on any occasion. To Mr. Osler the witness said he did not know what his brother, the prisoner, did for a living. Did not know the prisoner Pare, although when taken to see him in jail to-day he said, "Hello Jack."

S. D. McCoy of the Napanee Beaver said he saw Ponton on the night of Aug. 27, in front of the Campbell House about 8 o'clock, and was with him about half an hour. He remembered that Billy Coates was there. He again saw Ponton opposite the stone bridge about 10 o'clock. It was absolutely impossible for Ponton to have been in his room at that time.

To Mr. Osler the witness said that he could not swear positively to the time, but that was his nearest estimate.

Roland Holly said that he met Ponton that evening opposite the Tichborne House, and that both of them had a drink at the Paisley House about 11 o'clock.

Mr. F. M. Smith, clerk of the Dominion Bank, was the next witness. On Aug. 27 he had met Mr. Ponton about 9 o'clock in front of the bank. They discussed a baseball game; then Ponton went down the street with Mr. Coates.

Ezra Pringle, a blacksmith and carriage builder of Napanee, said that a man called at his shop and asked for a piece of steel to test a lock. He told Mr. McKee, one of his employes, to "draw" the steel out for the man.

"Who was that man?" asked Mr. Porter.

"He was the man they call Detective ...," said Pringle.

The key was produced and Mr. Pringle swore that a piece of steel much like that was given to the detective. The witness said that he thought it impossible for a key to be made from the impression on the famous piece of paper.

To Mr. Osler he said that it would be impossible for him to make a key from such impression, although other men might.

Mr. McKee, an employe of Mr. Pringle, said that he had drawn out a piece of steel which was a little longer than that in the exhibit, but he thought that the piece in court had been filed.

At this juncture Mr. Porter asked McKee if he had ever seen Pare, to which a negative answer was given. "Then go and see him," said Mr. Porter, significantly.

When Mr. McKee returned he swore Pare was not the man who had called at the shop, and that he had never seen him before. He also said that Detective Wilkes was the man.

His evidence was unshaken by cross-examination.

James Roblin, clerk in a store adjoining the bank, swore that he heard noises the night of the bank robbery, much like the sound of falling silver.

George Mohard also corroborated this statement, as he was in the same room at the same time.

P. G. Carscallen, ex-mayor of Napanee, swore that he saw a man in the bank at 1.30 on the morning of the robbery. He could make no mistake, as he had made an entry in his diary to that effect, with some other matters that occurred that night.

Mr. Osler failed to shake his story in the least.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

A Young Lady at Tweed a Victim to the Electrical Storm—Cyclone at Marmora—Damage Elsewhere.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—The heavy thunderstorm which passed over the city between five and six o'clock yesterday morning, the man at the Observatory says, was one of a number that have passed over various parts of the province since last evening, being general in the northern portion during the night and early morning, and in the southern portion later. A heavy squall accompanied the storm, and the peculiar light which preceded the storm cloud was due to electrical disturbances. The jibboom of the Vivia, the Royal Canadian yacht, was carried away, and several yachts dragged their anchors and were damaged against the wharves. On the Island trees were blown down, tents flattened and other damage done.

Damage at Ayr.

Ayr, Ont.—During the severe electric storm the lightning entered the G.N.W. Telegraph office and post office, and did some damage to instruments and papers of the G.N.W.

Canoe Camp Struck by the Storm.

Gananoque, Ont.—The circus which was to take place at the American Canoe Association camp, Stave Island, was postponed until Thursday night, owing to the violent thunderstorm which struck the camp about 2 o'clock. Many Gananoque people and others who had gone down to witness the circus were provided for during the night by the canoeists. Considerable damage was done to both camps and tents.

House and Barn Struck.

Thamesville, Ont.—A house in the village was struck by lightning and a barn owned by Mr. Farrel, on the first concession Zone, was totally destroyed.

Town Clock Struck.

Cobourg, Ont.—A bolt struck the town clock here, and set it on fire. The wind storm did some damage, and the lifeboat had to go to the rescue of two policemen, who had gone out early.

Wind on a Tear in Derby.

Owen Sound, Ont.—In the township of Derby James Hardy's barn was unroofed, and two barns at Mr. Abrey's shared the same fate. The Sharp orchard was split into kindling wood, and then crossing the Sydenham Valley the wind demolished Oliver's orchard and tore his kitchen away from the house. At Nilsie's farm it unroofed two barns and blew down the windmill. The path of the storm was not more than one hundred yards wide. Sarawak township orchards also suffered considerable damage.

On the Other Side.

At Gary, S.D., eight people were killed.

At Knoxville, Tenn., it is now known that thirty-two persons lost their lives in the cloudburst.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

FOSTER'S.

DEFENDS CONSTABLE BILL.

The Attorney-General Denies That He Retreated.

Premier Hardy Introduces in the Legislature "An Act Respecting the Election Laws," and It Is Read a First Time "On a Division"—The Provisions of the Measure—He Promises to Prevent Protests by "Men of Straw."

Toronto, Aug. 17.—Mr. Hardy introduced his constables' bill, or rather technically "An Act respecting the Election Laws," yesterday afternoon.

Contents of the Bill.

After the preamble, "Whereas a question has been raised since the last general election as to the legal rights of any electors to vote who have been appointed or required by returning officers or deputy returning officers to act as constables or special constables at elections," etc., the bill proceeds:

Section 1 provides for the earliest possible submission to the Court of Appeal of questions as to whether any part of the Election Act disqualifies election constables, persons furnishing election supplies, or persons renting polling booths for voting.

Section 2 provides for the postponement of election trials pending the decision of the Court of Appeal.

Section 3 provides for the proceeding with trial after 15 days from the adjournment of the Legislative Assembly.

Section 4, "to remove doubts," declares the rights of constables, etc., to vote, and relieves them from possible penalties from voting hitherto.

Sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 are technical in their scope.

The Kernal Clause.

Section 13: If a member is unseated as a result of the trial of any of the aforesaid petitions by reason of the disallowance of the vote of any person included in any of the classes of persons whose right to vote is the subject of any of the questions set out in Schedule "A," or partly by reason thereof and partly for some other reason, the seat shall not be given to any candidate, but the election shall be declared void, and thereafter a new election shall be held as in other cases, anything in the election as to the contrary notwithstanding; but nothing in this section shall prevent an appeal from the trial judges to the Court of Appeal.

Section 14 provides that any election petition pending at the time of the passing of the Act shall be tried by two judges on the rata, sitting together, the scrutiny to be held before them.

The remaining sections, Nos. 15, 16, 17, 18 and 19, are word-explanatory or technical.

Mr. Hardy's Defence.

In introducing the bill, Mr. Hardy spoke an hour and a quarter, and stated he had not beaten a retreat. The object of the bill related not only to the constables' vote, but to two other classes of voters as well. It embraced in its purview persons from whom polling booths were rented, those who furnished printed ballots and other election necessaries and those who might be hired by the deputy returning officer as well. The Attorney-General drew a line of demarcation between election officials hired in the public interest to perform public functions, and those employed by one of the candidates for his own benefit. These latter were not entitled to vote, but with the men who were paid public money the case was different. They performed a public duty, and were not called upon to work for either one or other of the candidates.

"We on this side think it an injustice," he said, "that when an Act has been in force for 30 years, and its principles have been recognized for half a century, a new and startling interpretation should be placed upon it after, and not before, an election contest." The fact that both parties up to 1887 had for 50 years tacitly recognized the right of the constables to vote, should be a significant factor in the consideration of the question. He had never heard the slightest doubt expressed on the subject. Four years ago the Government had met the House with the slim majority of seven, or, including West Kent, of nine; there had been no effort then to apply a legal quibble of the kind to deprive the Government of that majority. It was true that the Government had at one time commanded a majority of 87, but it should be remembered that "no chain is stronger than its weakest link."

There was no questioning the right of Oppositionists to assume that returning and deputy returning officers were friends of the Government in power, but the constables, for a variety of reasons, were often not so. The Act of 1868 and 1869, it was true, held returning officers, deputy returning officers and poll clerks to be disqualified, the Legislature thereby implying that they had not been so before. Sir Oliver Mowat, in 1874, in passing an Act enfranchising them, had made no mention of constables, thereby implying that they had never been disqualified. After quoting from the Common Law of England, the Premier took issue with the statement that eight seats were involved in the question before the House. He admitted that there might be three or four, of which two certain ones were South Perth and West Huron. He could not say as to Nipissing, or Muskoka. He was certain, however, that it would not alter the position of affairs in East Lambton, South Norfolk, Lennox or West York; in the latter some constables were Conservatives.

There were ten reasons why constables should vote to one why they should not, and he quoted from learned judges in support of his statement. He then dealt with the newspaper allegations that he had beaten a retreat. They had claimed that the Government, after meeting its friends, had been forced to change their minds and alter their course. There could be no iota of truth in that. No Reformer, either in the House on in the country, had remonstrated with him or the Government against the original measure as founded on the principle of the bill of 1887. In fact, he believed Reformers would have been better pleased had the Government stuck to their original plan as drafted in the memorandum. He challenged the Opposition to point out in the memorandum any reference which would indicate either the original or the final bill. Either course, that of an appeal to the Court of Appeal, or the framing of a bill like that of 1887 had been left open to him.

The collusion of the two parties rivetted the right of the constables to vote more than if the Act had been passed by a bare Government majority. Sir John A. Macdonald's majority in Kingston at the time had been but 17, yet the Act removed all semblance of disqualification from 70 voters. The seats of Sir John Thompson and Dr. Montague were alike jeopardized and secured to them.

"What's right at Ottawa," said he, "is right here." He was working on a wider line, but that did not alter the justice of the case.

He explained why he had preferred the Court of Appeal to the trial judges. He had felt that it would be placing too much responsibility on any single judge to have the political destiny of the province, the fate of two parties, depending on his decision, however learned he might be. Then there was the possibility that one judge might decide one way and another another. This would be manifestly unfair, and unsatisfactory. Was it not, therefore, a statesmanlike, wise, and prudent resolution to have the matter left to a full court, to the court of ultimate resort? Their Lordships had deemed it unwise to take the matter up so late in the season and without a full court and, therefore, he had called Parliament together. A third and most important reason was that it would save members endless expense in litigation. He knew how members of the House had been ruined in years gone by in election trials. Then the Premier went on to say that much had been said, and rightly said, in favor of passing a law to prevent a man of straw, who could not pay his own costs, protesting a member's election. He engaged to take some steps in the near future to introduce legislation to prevent this anomaly.

He denied that there was anything in the bill to be looked upon as a Government voting itself into power or judging in its own cause. The bill was a mere declaration that certain persons had the right to vote. If they always had that right, it gave no additional powers. It was a fair bill. It concurred in the Opposition principle, both of submitting it to the courts and to the people. Mr. Hardy closed by moving the first reading of the bill.

Mr. Whitney Reserves Discussion.

Mr. Whitney reserved discussion until the second reading. He ridiculed Mr. Hardy's statement that he was anxious to get the question before the people. He was acting contrary to all precedent and principle, for, instead of unseating a man by the possible disqualification of certain voters, he was enfranchising the doubtful voters and calling a new election. The Government had had plenty of chances before to pass this legislation, but instead had slept by the wayside and had called an August session of the House to pass it.

Passed on Division.

The Opposition leader consented to have the first reading recorded as "passed on division," and the second reading is to come up to-morrow. To-day the Fisheries' bill will be read a second time.

POISON IN THE MEAT PIE.

Murderer Claus Adds Self-Murder to His List of Crimes.

Key Note to a Story of Wifely Devotion—A Death-Watched Prisoner Gets Enough Strychnine to Poison Himself—Wife Brought Him a Meat Pie—Claus Was Dead Before Night—Medical Men Say From Strychnine Poison.

Nanaimo, B.C., Aug. 17.—The mysterious death in the condemned cell at Nanaimo jail of Claus, the Stikine River murderer, gives the key note to a story of wifely devotion that has in it elements of Spartan drama. How a prisoner under lock and guard, sentenced to death, and, therefore, watched with especial vigilance, could procure access to such poison as strychnine, and in sufficient quantity as to make suicide possible, struck dumb with astonishment the police authorities.

Did Not Fear Death, But the Gallows.

On Sunday night two facts developed which point to a solution of the mystery, when taken with the oft repeated statement by Claus that he did not fear death, but he did the gallows.

These facts furnish the framework of a tragedy. Last Friday evening, after being informed by the sheriff that the sentence of the law would be carried out at the day and hour appointed, he was visited by his wife.

Last Supper of Meat Pie.

At his request she was permitted to prepare his supper for him and bring it to the jail, meat pie being the chief item of the spread. On Saturday the wife was missing. Claus was dead before night and the medical men say he was unquestionably killed by strychnine poison, taken between eight o'clock Friday night and four o'clock Saturday morning. Claus retired early on Friday night, but awoke about 11, when he asked the guard for a drink of water. He only took a mouthful and then returned to his bed. It was shortly after this that he became violently ill.

A Case of Strychnine Poisoning.

Drs. McKeechanie and Davis were summoned, and it was found to be a case of strychnine poisoning. The physicians tried everything possible to bring the man around, and at 8.30 in the evening reported that there was a chance for his recovery. Later on he took a turn for the worse and died at 10.30 in terrible agony.

Story of His Crime.

The law had decided that Claus should die, his crime being the killing of his partners, Burns and Hendrick, with whom he was journeying to the upper Yukon, by the Stikine route. Robbery was the purpose of the murder, which was committed with an axe while the victims were sleeping. The crime was one of extreme ferocity, committed with great deliberation and followed by the concealment of the bodies in a crevasse of ice. At this point the assassin's nerve played him false, and leaving the bodies with the red dyed axe, he took to flight. His suspicious actions induced the miners to investigate, with the result that he was pursued and after a long, hard chase captured. The trial took place at Nanaimo, where the instrument of death had been already erected in the jail yard, when Claus added self-murder to his catalogue of crimes.

A GOOD DEAL FOR JOE.

Mr. Martin Will Be Premier of B. C. if Semlin Succeeds—If Not Semlin Will Be the Defeated Leader.

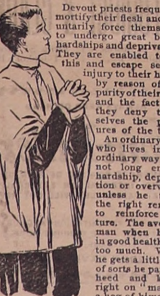

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 17.—The political situation in British Columbia is not as it seems. It now appears that Joe Martin has only consented to work under Mr. Semlin until the party can be whipped into line, when, according to agreement, he (Martin) will take the reins of government into his own hands. In other words, according to the agreement, if the Government can meet the House and carry on the affairs of the country, Joe Martin will be Premier. If it can't, Semlin will be at the head of affairs, as the figurehead of an unsuccessful party.

6,000 Tents at Pike Creek.

The steamer Coquitlam arrived yesterday bringing news of the continuation of the big stampede to the new strike on Pike Creek, the richest strike in the country. Gold dirt from grass roots yields $6 to the pan. Six thousand tents are already up around the creek. Two other creeks are said to be just as rich. Major Strickland, in a letter to the coast, confirms the strike as the best made yet.

Devout priests frequently mortify their flesh and voluntarily force themselves to undergo great bodily hardships and deprivation. They are enabled to do this and escape serious injury to their health by reason of the purity of their lives and the fact that they deny themselves the pleasures of the table.

An ordinary man who lives in the ordinary way cannot long endure hardship, deprivation or overwork, unless he takes the right remedy to reinforce nature. The average man when he is in good health eats too much. When he gets a little out of sorts he pays no heed and keeps right on "making a hog of himself." In some instances he gets thin and emaciated. In others he gets grossly corpulent, and weighted down with flabby fat. In the first instance he is a candidate for dyspepsia and nervous prostration. In the second for kidney trouble or heart failure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enables the average man to undergo a great deal of hardship, deprivation and overwork, in spite of the life he leads. It causes the food to be properly assimilated. It builds firm, healthy flesh, but does not make corpulent people more fat. It cures dyspepsia, nervous troubles, kidney disease and 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption. It prevents weakness in any organ of the body.

"In August, 1895, I was taken down in bed with a burning and severe pains in my stomach and under my shoulders, and dizziness in my head," writes Ira D. Herring, Esq., of Emporia, Volusia Co., Fla. "My home physician said my symptoms were like consumption. Nothing that I ate would digest, and I had great distress in my stomach. I wrote Dr. Pierce for advice, and took four bottles of his 'Golden Medical Discovery' and three of 'Pleasant Pellets.' I am now able to do my work and eat many things that I could not touch before I took these medicines."

An inactive liver and constipated bowels are promptly cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They never gripe.

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Signed, ANNIE E. GAUNTLEY, King Street, Berlin, Ont.

Interesting Extracts from a Letter from a Belleville Boy.

Writing to his parents, a resident of Dawson City says :—

DAWSON, 16th July, 1898.

DEAR FATHER,—I have been very busy since I arrived, working day and night. This is a great country for gold, and is bound to go ahead, no matter what reports you may hear. The gold is here and the only things necessary to make the output tremendous are : 1st. The cost of transportation, which puts food and all supplies at enormous prices, necessitating fabulous wages for labor. 2nd. The removal of the royalty on the gross output of the mines, which makes the claim owner pay 10 per cent. additional on all wages, and the cost of supplies and transportation, which he pays for in gold dust. If it was 10 per cent. on his net profits it would not be so bad, but still even that keeps investors away. To give you an idea of how expensive it is up here, I will give you a small list of things which occur to me. Laborers get $15 per day, a man with a waggon and team of horses gets $100 per day, log cabins rent at from $200 to $400 a month. A bullwing on a good corner recently put up rents for a saloon and gambling house at $10,000 for 7 months. For the ground flour only. This is a 2 story log building about 25x60ft and would not be looked at in a civilized place. Another building on the Front st., made of s'abs (not boards) and which a man in the East would not have on his premises, rents for $12,000 per annum, besides furnishing him with a residence and office. It is on the water front and he stands a chance of losing it next spring if there is a big ice jam at that point, but even if he does he will be ahead. Meals were $5 when I arrived, but they are now down to $2.50 and not very good at that. You get soup (made from Johnston's Fluid beef,) fish some salt cod or salmon, and potatoes, stuff which goes by the name of fish on the menu card, (no fresh fish). Roast meat, beef or mutton or moose, all poor ; potatoes and canned tomatoes or peas or corn, and your choice of 2 or 3 kinds of pie, and tea and coffee or river water to drink. Plain steak (off any old place on the animal,) costs $2.50, while porterhouse or sirloin steaks cost $5.00. If a man wants a bottle of ale or porter, it costs him another $5.00, and everything else is in proportion. A breakfast consisting of a couple of poached eggs on toast and bread butter and coffee costs $2.50, if you have 3 eggs it is $3. Every thing you get at these prices is of a poor quality, except at the present time there are some fresh salmon steaks to be had at $2.50. I had a hard trip down the river, but got through all right and am in good health, and reached here in good time for business.

TRENTON'S GREAT DAY.

The Third Annual Festival of the C. O. M. A.

Trenton Aug. 17—Thousands of visitors have been pouring into the town to-day to attend the third annual festival of the C. O. M. A. The Varna and Merritt brought in many from Belleville. The Garden City also brought in hundreds from Brighton, Colborne, Cobourg and Port Hope. Deseronto, Picton and other neighboring towns are also well represented.

The bands of the Association present are Prin. of Wales' Band, Kingston ; Citizens' Band, Picton ; Citizens' Band, Deseronto ; Citizens' Band, Napanee ; 40th Battalion Band, Cobourg ; Citizens' Band, Campbellford ; Citizens' Band, Yarker, and Citizens Band, Trenton. There also present bands from Rochester, N. Y., Toronto, Peterborough, Bowmanville, Brighton, Madoc and Stirling.

A reception was tendered the different visiting bands this morning and in the afternoon a grand procession of all the bands formed on the market square, and thence proceeded to Stanley Park.

The following programme is now being rendered by the 250 musicians under the leadership of T. C. Carey, Director Princess of Wales' Own Rifles Band, Kingston :

March, "Great Captain,".....Sconton
Valse, "Estudiantina" (Students)....
.....[Waldteufel
Overture, "LeDiadem".....Herman

SIDNEY CROSSING.

Death has removed another old and highly respected resident from our midst in the person of Mrs. Sara Hogle, relict of the late John Hogle, who passed peacefully away at her home this morning after a year's illness. Deceased, who was in her 95th year, was a devout member of the Methodist church and dearly beloved by all who knew her. Four sons and one daughter survive her—Messrs. Albner and Joseph, of Rowdon, and Messrs. Austin, Francis and Mrs. J. W. Young, of this place. General services will be conducted at Aiken's church on Friday at ten o'clock.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should anyone go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids ! The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the Islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m , and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck ; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&wöw

CUBANS MUST SUBMIT.

The War Department Has Fully Instructed Major-General Lawton—It Advises Him to See the Cuban Leaders.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The War Department late yesterday afternoon posted the following in reply to an enquiry from Major-General Lawton, commanding the department of Santiago, for instructions as to the policy to be observed toward the Cubans that are within his military department.

Commanding General, Department of Santiago de Cuba: Replying to your message for instructions, the President directs that you be informed that the United States is responsible for peace, and must maintain order in the territory surrendered and in your department, and must protect all persons and their property within said jurisdiction. Interference from any quarter will not be permitted. The Cuban insurgents should be treated justly and liberally, but they, with all others, must recognize the military occupation and authority of the United States and the cessation of hostilities proclaimed by this Government. You should see the insurgent leaders, and so advise them.

By order of the Secretary of War.

HOW THE U. S. CAPTURED MANILA.

Bombardment for Two Hours, Then Trenches Were Stormed.

Hong Kong, Aug. 17.—Manila has surrendered to Rear-Admiral Dewey. The Americans bombarded the city Saturday and were soon in possession. Governor-General Augusti and his family arrived here yesterday from Manila on the German cruiser Kaiserin Augusta.

The bombardment, which began at 9.30 a.m., was continued for two hours and then the Americans stormed the trenches, sweeping all before them. Those within the walls attempted no resistance.

The losses, American or Spanish, are not yet known. The Spaniards in the trenches probably numbered 5,000 men. The American force numbered 10,000, and the Americans were better armed, better trained and in better condition.

The American warships engaged were the Olympia, Petrel, Raleigh, McCulloch, Boston, Monterey, Charleston and Baltimore.

The American version of the battle is not yet obtainable.

Britain and Russia Negotiating.

London, Aug. 18.—The Daily Graphic says it understands that an exchange of views is occurring between the Governments of Great Britain and Russia, and that negotiations started on Friday last are proceeding in a conciliatory spirit on both sides. Russia declares that she has no interest financially or otherwise in the Pekin-Hankow Railway, nor any desire to acquire any.

The earliest complete clock of which an accurate record exists was made in the thirteenth century by a Saracen mechanic.

The first stroke of the hour in a striking clock is supposed to take place at exactly the sixtieth second of the sixtieth minute.

BY-LAW NUMBER

A BY-LAW Respecting the Council of the City of Belleville.

PASSED THE DAY OF , 1898.

WHEREAS by Sub-Sec. 3 of Sec. 2 of The Municipal Amendment Act of 1896 the Council of any City having a population of 15,000 or less may, by By-Laws, provide that the Council of such City shall be composed of a Mayor and one Alderman for each 1000 of population to be elected by general vote, the population to be determined by the last census of the Dominion of Canada ;

And whereas, by said last census of the Dominion of Canada taken in the year 1891, the population of the City of Belleville was determined at the number of 9914 ;

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED by the Corporation of the City of Belleville :

1. That the Council of the City of Belleville shall be composed of a Mayor and one Alderman for each 1000 of the population of the said City as determined by the last census of the Dominion of Canada, to be elected by general vote.

2. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that this By-Law shall take effect and come into operation immediately after the passing thereof.

3. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the votes of the qualified electors of the said Corporation of the City of Belleville in accordance with the Statute in that behalf shall be taken upon this By-Law on Friday, the 19th day of August, A.D., 1898, commencing at 9 o'clock in the forenoon and continuing until five o'clock in the afternoon of the same day at the following places in the said Municipality by the following Deputy Returning Officers, namely :

In FOSTER WARD in the building occupied by William Bland on West John st., in said Ward, and that the said William Bland be, and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Foster Ward.

In SAMSON WARD in the Police Court room in the Market Building, and that Charles Herring be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Samson Ward.

In KETCHESON WARD, in the building on the South-West corner of Pinnacle and Campbell sts., in said Ward, and that Alexander R. Walker be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Ketcheson Ward.

In BALDWIN WARD, in Number Two Fire Engine Shed on the West side of Front st., and that James Macaulay be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Baldwin Ward.

In BLEECKER WARD, in the building next door north of McGinnis' Store, and that the William A. Lott be, and is appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Bleecker Ward.

In COLEMAN WARD, in the building occupied by Henderson Brown as a shoe shop on the east side of North Front st., and that William A. Pringle be, and he is hereby appointed, Deputy Returning Officer for said Coleman Ward.

In Number Seven Division of MURNEY WARD in the building occupied by James McCarthy as a shoe shop on the North side of Bridge Street in said Ward, and that Charles Panter be and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Number Seven Division of said Murney Ward.

In Number Eight Division of MURNEY WARD, in the building occupied by Harry Geary as a butcher shop on the South East corner of Coleman and Bridge streets in the said Ward, and that Nicholas W. Lazier be, and he is hereby appointed Deputy Returning Officer for said Number Eight Division of said Murney Ward.

4. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the Clerk of the Council for the Corporation of the City of Belleville shall attend at the City Hall in the City of Belleville on Saturday the 20th day of August, 1898 at the hour of Ten o'clock in the Forenoon to proceed to sum up the number of votes given for and against this By-law, in accordance with the provisions of the Statute in that behalf.

5. BE IT FURTHER ENACTED that the Mayor of the Corporation of the City of Belleville shall attend at the City Hall in the said City on Tuesday the 16th day of August 1898 at the hour of 12 o'clock noon for the purpose of appointing and shall appoint in writing signed by him two persons to attend at the final summing up of the votes given for and against this By-Law and for the purpose of appointing one person to attend at each polling place upon the day of the polling of the said votes on behalf of the persons interested in and desirous of opposing the passing of this By-Law, which place, day and hour are hereby fixed for said purpose.

NOTICE.

To the Municipal Electors of the City of Belleville :

I hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the proposed By Law which has been taken into consideration by the Municipal Council of the City of Belleville and which will be finally passed by the said Council (in the event of the assent of the Electors being obtained thereto) after one month from the first publication in the INTELLIGENCER newspaper of Belleville, the date of which first publication was Wednesday the 27th day of July 1898, and that the votes of the electors of the said Municipality will be taken thereon and at the hour, day and places therein fixed for taking the votes of the Electors, the polls will be held.

A Spark Did It.

At 4.30 p.m. yesterday fire destroyed the barn, outbuildings and implements, and the entire season's crop, belonging to John A. Sheppard, one mile east of this place. William Smith was threshing in the barn, when the fire started. The grain thresher was burned. A hay stack 100 rods distant caught fire and was consumed. Owing to a very high wind prevailing, the fire raged fast and terrific. No insurance on the thresher; barn and buildings insured. A spark from the engine is supposed to have caused the fire.

THE BANK CASE.

Close Of The Preliminary Hearing.

The Prisoners All Committed for Trial --$10,000 Bail Will be Accepted For Ponton.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Magistrate Daly committed all four prisoners for trial at the fall assizes.

Bail will be accepted for Ponton. The figure was placed at $10,000.

KNOWS THEM.

A Kingston Convict gives His Opinion of Pare and Holden.

The convict who is putting in the lock system in the new wing at the Kingston penitentiary knows Pare, the Napanee bank robber, very well. This convict was brought up from St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary to this place, a patient of his own, in position in the new wing here. He served a term with both Holden and Pare and says he would not put any reliance in Pare's word. Holden's little finger, he says, is worth Pare's whole body a dozen times over. A convict is at present serving a long term in St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary on account of Pare's poaching on bank. He thinks Holden will hold out and will not support the evidence of Pare. —Kingston Whig.

NOT IN IT.

Kingston Chess Club Badly Defeated by Belleville Players.

Six members of the Belleville Chess Club went to Kingston on the Hero yesterday and administered a decisive defeat to the players of the Limestone City. Two games were played, one in the afternoon and one in the evening. The following was the score:

BELLEVILLE.		KINGSTON.
Marshall	2	(Rev.) Rayson	0
Jones	2	Hennessey	0
Dafoe	2	Berkett	0
Fax	1	Black	0
Scrugham	2	Gouldin	0
Diamond	1	Clarke	1
	10		2

Mr. Fax's game was lost principally through nervousness, the games being played in a crowded room, before a large number of spectators. Mr. Diamond lost owing to the fact that he always by choice plays white, and being compelled to play black in the second was at a disadvantage. The play was spirited and most gentlemanly. A return match will be played here at an early date.

At the conclusion of the afternoon game the visitors were shown around the city by the Kingston players. They visited the locomotive works, the dry dock and the parks, took a trip around the city on the belt line and examined the waterworks system and the fire protection service. They speak in the highest terms of the Kingston players, who were a gentlemanly lot of fellows.

BAD SPILL.

Descronto and Belleville Cyclists Collide With Disastrous Results.

An unfortunate incident of the five mile amateur bicycle race at Trenton yesterday was the collision between McDavitt, of Belleville, and Johnson, of Descronto. Johnson was leading at the time and the Belleville boy was gaining upon him when the former started to run across the track ahead of him. Fred's front wheel struck Johnson's hind one and the two riders were thrown into the ditch.

Both wheels were wrecked and the riders were badly shaken up, although they escaped serious injury. It was an unfortunate termination of a very exciting race.

THE HOP.

Enjoyable Dance At Massassaga Last Night.

About 250 of Belleville's young people attended a ball given by the campers and guests at Massassaga last night. They left here by the Annie Lake and the yacht Emile about 7:30 and returned about twelve.

Dancing took place in the Pavilion, Miss Lockerby being the pianist. Refreshments were served by Mr. O'Brien, of the Park Hotel. All present spent an enjoyable time and it is to be hoped that another of those pleasant hops will be held before the close of the season.

The Bowling Tournament.

In the first round of the Trophy match, C. Davis rink beat Caer Howell 18 to 12. In the second round Lavis beat Parkdale 16 to 15 and R.C.Y.C. beat Biggar's rink 24 to 23. In the third round Lavis men beat G.C. Biggar's rink of the Toronto Victorias, 25 to 19.

WILL FIGHT.

Mr. Allen Claims That He Need Not Appear During the Session--Service of Appointment Was Irregular

Mr. W. J. Allen, M.P.P., for North Hastings, did not appear for examination before the Master in Chancery this morning. His counsel, Mr. W. J. Moore, of Madoc, and Mr. Stewart Masson, of Belleville, contended that his non-appearance was justified by two reasons. First, he need not appear for examination during a session of the House. Second, that the service of appointment was irregular, no conduct money having been granted Mr. Allen. The Master held that the points were well taken and adjourned the hearing until Saturday next.

The Grit petitioners, who have been shining through the columns of the junior Grit shoot here, did not even understand the procedure of the court. Mr. Allen's counsel have been sustained by the Master on every point on the three occasions on which it has come before him, and the Grit counsel have simply stood by with chagrin plainly written upon their faces, expecting another legal defeat. Grant, the leading counsel for the petitioner, did not put in appearance this morning, but was represented by C. D. Macaulay.

At the last hearing Grant quoted, as a precedent, an alleged decision of Judge Moss, declaring that a member must appear for examination, if summoned, during a session of the House. On looking up the matter, Mr. Allen's counsel discovered that the case in question was entirely different and that the judgment established no precedent for the present case.

POLICE COURT.

Peg-Leg Tramp Captured--Decisions in Yesterday's Cases.

The case of Robert Chapman charged with stealing five hogs from J. McCreadie was enlarged until Monday. P. J. M. Anderson for the crown, Geo. Denmark for the defence.

Nelson McDonald charged Jas. Sulman with abusive language and non-payment of wages. The case was settled between the parties out of court.

William J. Joyce, G. Allen and Andrew Mason charged with disturbing Hornerite meetings in Rawdon, were fined $6 apiece, and Rev. Mr. Day and his female body guard departed triumphant.

Oliver Wardhaugh was charged with appropriating a watch, the property of one Airhart. He was ordered to restore the watch. F. S. Wallbridge for the prosecution; W. Carnew for the defence.

A peg-legged tramp made things lively in the vicinity of the G.T.R. depot yesterday. One police officer who attempted to arrest him was attacked with a club and compelled to retreat. Another officer afterwards took the incorrigible in hand and escorted him to the confines of the corporation. His trampship then enquired if he was out of the officer's jurisdiction, and on being told that he was, proceeded to give the unfortunate officer a verbal castigation which he will not forget until his dying day. Later in the evening the tramp, who is an elderly man bearing the name of Edward Burke, returned to the station, and by the united exertions of Sergt. McCrudden and Officer Hayes was finally secured. He struggled desperately, however, and told the officers that the fondest ambition of his life was to have a chance to shoot them. This morning Mr. Pegleg appeared before the Magistrate, and was fined $10 or sixty days, with a chance to get out of the city. The chance was accepted.

Bon Sanford charges his mother-in law, Bridget Clapper, with appropriating a cradle. In progress.

The Elevator.

To the Editor of the INTELLIGENCER.

SIR,—My name has been mentioned as opposing the sanction of the Council to the leasing of the elevator to Mr. Cole at the figures it contained and the way in which it was to be rented without proper competition. I would be obliged to take the same course again under similar circumstances. It appeared to me like a great many other deals made for our City. The City's interests are generally on the right side; the facts in this case are not generally known. Therefore I wish to make a short statement of them. After the expiration of the Downey lease on the 1st of January, 1898, the elevator, which they claim cost them $10,000, became the property of the City. The Downey Co. and their successors paid to the City during their 15 years' lease ground rent cash $300 a year and taxes, which were about $253. They also paid an insurance on the building of about $350 premium.

Now, sir, the first knowledge we had of the deal was a lease which was prepared and read by Alderman Farmer, who had charge of it, at a meeting of the Executive Committee in favor of Mr. Cole at $400 a year, without taxes, and the City would have to pay insurance.

Alderman Doyle, who was Chairman of Finance last year and knew of the condition of the elevator to our assets, said he would decidedly oppose such a deal. Myself and others made the same declaration. The consequence was that the matter was not brought before the Council at its next meeting, but before another meeting Mr. Downey heard of it and sent in a tender for $420 and taxes. Now when the opposition is apparently cured off, there is some other excuse. As long as the City's revenues are handled in this way, municipal taxes will long will our taxes go up and business shrink. I do not see why the Council cannot rent this valuable property to good advantage. We are in the centre of an extensive agricultural district with the best facilities of shipping by land or water. Opposition is the life of trade. There are other grain buyers in this country as well as Mr. Cole.

Yours &c.,
ALD. LOTT.

ED. NOTE We publish the above letter as handed in. We agree with Ald. Lott that this property should be let to good advantage, and if such has not been the case, who is to blame?

A Great Improvement.

The workmen have almost finished the work on alterations and improvements we have been making in our store. The result is, that we will now have one of the best ebuipped Dry Goods stores in Canada. We have studied the convenience and comfort of our customers, and have spared no pains to make the store thoroughly up-to-date in every particular.

Three Departments have had our special attention in these changes.

THE MILLINERY DEPARTMENT had quite outgrown its old quarters, and will now occupy the entire flat immediately over the main store. This flat has been beautifully decorated and fitted with the latest appliances, such as mirrors, etc., and we think you will appreciate its appearance when you pay it a visit.

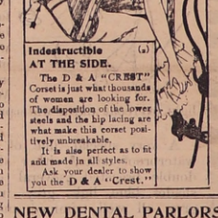

THE CARPET DEPARTMENT. We have removed a brick wall which divided this department and have increased the space for displaying carpets almost double. We will now have Carpets, Curtains and all House Furnishings on the one flat and purpose going even more largely into this line. We control the very best makes of Carpets which can be had only from us.

MANTLES AND UNDERWEAR. The removal of the Millinery from this room leaves ample space for the handling of Jackets, Underwear and Furs to which will be devoted more attention than ever. We purpose going much more largely into Furs and realize we will fill a long felt want in supplying thoroughly reliable goods at moderate prices.

Come in and visit our new departments.

Daily Intelligencer.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL AND THE HON. HUGH JOHN MACDONALD.

This gentleman has fallen under the ban of the Grit press for having declined to preside at a banquet given to His Excellency the Governor-General, in Winnipeg, by a Club, of which he was President. The press dispatches say he resigned the presidency of the Club rather than to do honor to His Excellency by presiding at said banquet.

Under ordinary circumstances, such conduct on the part of the hon. gentleman might be considered childish and churlish. Was this an ordinary circumstance?

It must be remembered that Mr. Macdonald accepted Sir Charles Tupper as his leader, when that gentleman formed his Ministry on the resignation of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, that he accepted a portfolio in Sir Charles' Cabinet, went to the elections a Minister, and fell with his party.

Before retiring from office, Sir Charles, as Premier, with the knowledge and approval of his colleagues, did what is the right, constitutionally, of every retiring Premier, both in England and in Canada, made certain recommendations to His Excellency of appointments, which the Governor declined to accept, for reasons then given, with which it is not our intention to deal at the present moment. To the position taken by His Excellency, Sir Charles and his Cabinet took exception. A correspondence ensued, which resulted in an estrangement between His Excellency and the retiring Premier and his colleagues. There is no evidence on record to show that any member of Sir Charles' Cabinet dissented from the position taken by their Chief, politically or personally, hence the public have a right to come to the conclusion that, while they continued to accept Sir Charles as their leader, and act under his instruction politically, they would be true and faithful to him in all matters affecting the party which he led, and the position he had taken in the controversy with His Excellency.

Mr. Macdonald, with that chivalry and sense of honor, which have ever characterized him, could not become a party to the lauding of His Excellency, as would have had to be the case had he presided at the banquet, without directly giving his chief a slap in the face. Fidelity to party and to his leader, prevented him from placing himself in such a position.

His self-denial, for such it must have been, in declining to preside at that banquet, is in striking contrast to the action and conduct of some of his late colleagues, who were equally responsible for the recommendations made, and were equally snubbed by His Excellency in his refusal to accept them, and who supported Sir Charles in all he had done. These gentlemen, while professing to follow the same chief, did not hesitate, while voting condemnation in the Commons of the course pursued by His Excellency, to accept, so Society Notes in the Ottawa papers say, His Excellency's hospitality and figure prominently at Government House upon festive occasions.

People will admire the self-denial and fidelity to his leader of the one, while they will look askance, if nothing more, at the others.

While such circumstances and events are fortunately rare, Mr. Macdonald deserves credit for his conduct under the peculiar circumstances, rather than condemnation.

A DELIBERATE THEFT.

If the Constable Vote be declared by the Court to be illegal, then six or eight Conservatives who were elected to the Legislature by the majority of the legal votes cast in the constituencies for which they were candidates, will be compelled to surrender the seats which are legally theirs, and to run the elections over again.

This, stripped of all detail, is what Premier Hardy proposes.

Is such an outrage to be tolerated by free and liberty-loving people?

THE FLAWS IN PARE'S STORY

Witnesses For Defence Pointing Out Inaccuracies.

Where His Story Fails—Mr. Porter Begins His Argument in Favor of W. H. Ponton, Who Should Not, He Thinks, Be Committed on the Evidence of Such Men as Pare—Mackie's Case Looking Up.

Napanee, Ont., Aug. 18.—At the request of Mr. Porter the court was not opened until 10 o'clock yesterday. The court house was literally packed. A. S. Valleau, customs collector at Deseronto, testified that the steamer Resolute made only one trip between Charlotte and Deseronto during the month of April, and that was on the 25th of that month.

William Mallock, locomotive engineer, swore that he ran the only compound engine on the G.T.R. He could positively say that the engine never made a trip on the 28th day of August.

Mr. Lucas, station agent at Belleville, said no return tickets were sold between Belleville and Deseronto on the 25th or 26th, 27th and 28th April, as was stated in Pare's evidence. The witness never stated that any return ticket was good for eight days only.

Raymond Harmer, Napanee, said he saw Pare to-day. He resembled a man he saw at a crossing. The witness thought that Holden was with him. To Mr. Osler he said that Roach's portrait looked like the other man of the company.

The Biscuit Box Story Upset.

John Abbott swore that he saw the famous biscuit box kicking around for several months during which time it was alleged to have contained the money taken from the bank.

Maud Mackie, daughter of the prisoner, testified that she had taken chloroform on the 26th of August, 1897. This evidence was corroborated by Dr. Dolan, who administered the chloroform, and who had kept an accurate memo. of the fact. The Doctor did not see Bob Mackie there.

Bryce Allan had seen Pare down the track frequently for two months. Two other men were with him. Robert Mackie was not with him.

George Perrit said he lived near Belleville along the G.T.R., where he worked a farm. His attention was called to tramps in a log house. There were Holden and Pare in the house. The other men with Pare and Holden were younger. He never saw the tramps in that log cabin during the summer. Mackie was not there.

To Mr. Osler the witness said he knew Mackie for 20 years, and that Roach's picture looked much like the one of the men there in the cabin.

To D. H. Preston, Q.C., counsel for Holden, he said he could not swear definitely that it was Holden who was with the five tramps in the cabin.

The Lane and the Window.

John T. Grange of Napanee knew the bank premises well and the adjoining lane. He said that it was impossible to see the bank window from the lane in question. Nor was it possible to see any partition. It was not possible to see it when the door was open. This fact the witness demonstrated. He was manager of the building where the Ponton rooms were; he saw May Baldwin going up the stairway about ten days prior to the robbery.

To Mr. Osler witness said that one might see the corner of the bank from the lane and could see a person turning up that alleyway.

Mr. Templeton, editor of the Beaver, gave evidence to the effect that one passing along the lane could not see the windows nor partition in the bank, nor a man looking in the window.

The court adjourned at noon.

At 2 o'clock the court resumed business.

W. T. Waller, experienced locksmith, said a key could not be made from the impression on the paper found in Ponton's room.

Re-examined by Mr. Porter, witness said he would swear absolutely that such a key could not be made by an eight-inch file, and that the roundness could not be secured by a square-edged file.

William Smith, jeweler, said that as one familiar with Yale locks, a key could not be made from the impression on the paper.

James Mackie Examined.

James Mackie, father of the prisoner, was examined by Mr. Wilson. He thought he had seen Holden before. His reason for so thinking was that the man had asked him for a letter. The man wanted a letter forwarded to Toronto. Such was not done. He did not recognize Pare. The witness lived at the Dominion Hotel all through the summer of '97 and the preceding winter. During this time he knew of no men who were secreted in the hotel. He remembered that Robert was at home last summer, when he was seen frequently by the witness. They played billiards often. The game was usually started about 2 o'clock and the father was usually beaten. It was not possible for John to have been away day after day without his father knowing. "Bob Mackie is a speculator. He has looked after himself the 12 years that he has been married," said the witness.

To Mr. Porter he said he had never seen William Ponton in the Dominion Hotel. He was in the habit of frequenting all parts of the house.

To Mr. Osler Mr. Mackie stated that he was in New York in April of '98.

Nowlton Sanford saw Pare in Portland. He also knew Holden. Saw Pare west of Belleville the first part of July last year for the first time. He thought he saw Holden with Pare and another man who had a black mustache. Witness was then on a flat car coming from Belleville. He had jumped the freight. He then noticed the men sitting in the grove. He visited the "knights of the road" almost daily for three weeks. During his companionship he had never seen Robert Mackie with them. The third party had a mustache, and Roach's photograph resembled his features.

To Mr. Osler: Witness was employed as waiter at the "Hub." Before that he was with a medicine show. He had no regular employment before that, and lived from odd jobs.

Mr. Osler Objects to Some Evidence.

Here Mr. Osler called High Constable Sills for the purpose of contradicting some of the evidence given by the defence.

Mr. Porter objected.

The Magistrate allowed.

Constable Sills said Mr. Dougherty asked Mr. McKee if Pare had secured the wire, and the former said that Pare was the man. McKee did not say a word about Detective Wilkes. McKee had selected Pare's portrait from 15, and said that was the man who had called for the wire.

Cross-examined by Mr. Porter, Sills would not say that McKee had wilfully perjured himself. He could not say that McKee would make a willful misstatement.

To Mr. Wilson the constable said that he had stated that Detective Wilkes had spoken of making an impression by gum.

"That is all the evidence," said Mr. Osler.

Mr. Porter Raises Objections.

At 2.30 o'clock Mr. Porter arose and asked the question what the Crown would do with the counsel's objection to a joint charge being made. Under the circumstances Ponton, if discharged on the joint charge, would be liable for the individual charge. Mr. Porter thought a person should not be liable for two charges for the same offence.

Mr. Osler replied that the Crown would not make use of the two charges, but Mr. Porter contended that no law could justify the position, and that no precedent could be quoted, that no authority exists for the course that is being pursued. The circumstance was most unfair to his client, Ponton.

The Magistrate said that the question ought to be disposed of.

Mr. Osler again asserted that the Crown would not act unfairly after this case is concluded.

"What is the objection to dispose of it now?" asked Mr. Porter.

To this Mr. Osler replied that he refused to argue it.

Mr. Porter asked His Worship to dismiss the present case. This was refused.

Mr. Porter's Argument.

At 3.20 Mr. Porter began his argument in favor of W. H. Ponton. It was a most able address. In it he contended: 1—That no evidence had been put in connecting Ponton with the crime, and that the law will not allow a man to be committed on the testimony of an accomplice. The evidence of Pare, he said, contained 37 flagrant contradictions, both by his own testimony and that of others. that is: When he tells two different stories as to how he secured the combination on Aug. 5. Again, Pare swears that he used the combination of 40, 60, 80 and 40 and 42. Further, that the only set of figures that would open the combination were 53, 78, 93 and 53 to 55. The true combination is proven to be 39, 66, 80, 48. Pare swears that the combination he used would not open the safe. How did he get it open? Mr. Porter argues that he has not told the method, and wants to implicate Ponton. Also, the evidence offered as corroborative of Pare's story, viz., as to the $10,000 in bonds, Mr. Porter showed had utterly failed, as the correct amount was $18,000. Many other statements of Pare he showed to be utterly at variance with the evidence of reputable witnesses, and he asked: Why is Pare lieing about Billy Ponton?

At this point the court adjourned until 9.30 o'clock to-day, when it is expected the arguments will conclude about 11 o'clock, and a verdict will be given.

PEOPLE ROASTED ALIVE.

Disastrous Railroad Wreck in the Rand, South Africa.

Cape Town, Aug. 18.—The mail train from Johannesburg to this place was wrecked yesterday in a collision. After the collision the cars of the mail train caught fire, and 12 natives were roasted alive. Altogether 25 natives and five Europeans were killed, among the latter Mr Devilliers, one of the Rand candidates for Vryburg; Rev. Mr. Dutoit, wife and child, and Davey Cope, a prominent Rand football player. Many other persons were injured.

IT IS NONSENSICAL.

Britain Has for Years Exercised a Protectorate Over South Arabia.

London, Aug. 18.—High Officials at the Foreign Office declare that the story based upon a despatch from Aden, Arabia, to the St. Petersburg Viedomosti, to the effect that Great Britain has recently assumed a protectorate over the whole of South Arabia, is nonsensical, as Great Britain has for many years exercised a protectorate over the tribes around Aden, and there has been no change in the situation for the last two decades.

Earl de la Warr Acquitted.

London, Aug. 18.—In the Queen's Bench division of the High Court of Justice yesterday Justice Wright acquitted Earl de la Warr and Mr. Broadley of the charges of contempt of court in the alleged attempt to induce Ernest Terah Hooley, the bankrupt company promoter, to falsify his evidence in the Bankruptcy Court. The learned judge said, however, that both were blamable, and he mulcted them in costs.

The Pope Resumes Duty.

Rome, Aug. 18.—The Vatican asserts, despite the report to the contrary, that the recent illness of the Pope was a merely transitory indisposition, from which he has entirely recovered. His Holiness has resumed his customary duties and is daily receiving deputations.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

THE FISHERIES BILL

Has Passed the Committee Stage of the Legislature—Some Minor Amendments—Members' Suggestions.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The Legislature yesterday passed through committee the bill relating to the Dominion fisheries, with unimportant alterations.

Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario) submitted an amendment to section 41, a, the clause dealing with the appointment by the Government of a deputy commissioner and staff, providing that the game wardens and such other officers should so far as practicable be employed to carry out the provisions of the Act.

Mr. Powell (Ottawa) said his constituents disapproved of the rumored change by which such of the staff of the Marine and Fisheries Department of Ottawa as were to be retained by the Ontario Government were to be removed to Toronto. Such a move would deprive it of many of its best citizens, which would be an injustice to the capital. He hoped the Attorney-General would act upon the present arrangement with the Dominion Government, and hold the bill over till next session.

Mr. Auld (S. Essex) made a number of suggestions concerning American fishermen, which Col. Matheson afterward said were under the purview of the Dominion. Regarding Mr. Powell's plea, he would clean out the Dominion officials and completely reorganize the department.

Mr. Hoyle said the continuous multiplication of provincial agents would make it necessary for people to get directories to tell who were Government agents.

The Attorney-General said the amendment was out of order, as the Act conferred the power of making appointments entirely on the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. As to Mr. Powell's contention, the Premier promised to show no mercy to such officials as had been responsible for the "gross maladministration" of the Ottawa Department. He might, however, find the experience of certain of the more honest, non-partisan and capable officials at Ottawa valuable in the formation of his own new department. The work of appointing and organizing he hoped to have finished by next session, when he would ask the House to vote salaries. These salaries he could not hope to make as large nor the staff as extensive as those at Ottawa. As for outside agents, the Dominion would still have to retain some, while he would appoint others. If Ottawa officers were retained the Government of Ontario would certainly supervise them better. He might not be able to accede to Mr. Hoyle's resolution, yet he would, when possible, abide by the spirit of it.

Mr. Garrow said he wanted one well-salaried agent to displace the various smaller-salaried officials and thereby to obtain a man who could devote his whole time to supervising the lake fisheries.

Dr. Pyne suggested that a registration fee be imposed on nets, to protect legitimate fishermen from the depredations of tourists and settlers.

The bill then passed the committee stage.

The Attorney-General put through his resolution empowering the calling of a special morning session at 11 o'clock, but it will not take effect to-day.

Mr. Beatty (Leeds) secured an order of the House for a return showing the number of saw logs cut during the winter of 1897-1898 on the limits of the Georgian Bay and on Lakes Huron and Superior, or which were driven to either of said lakes, together with quantity cut at provincial mills and quantity exported uncut.

The House adjourned at 5 o'clock.

FATALITIES AT LONDON.

John Williams Will Probably Die—Jamie Lynch Drowned.

London, Ont., Aug. 18.—John Williams, a Grand Trunk car oiler, while making an air-brake coupling in the Grand Trunk station yards here last evening, received probably fatal injuries through his head being squeezed between the car buffers. He is in a critical condition at the city hospital.

James Lynch, the 5-year-old son of Joseph Lynch, who lives on Wellington street just below Clark's bridge, while fishing in the Thames about 1 o'clock yesterday, lost his balance and fell in. His 7-year-old sister, Mary, who at once went to his rescue, also fell in, and two drownings instead of one would have resulted had not Mrs. Lynch summoned a neighbor, named Robinson, who pulled both children out. The boy was past human aid, but the sister recovered.

The Winnipeg Regatta.

Winnipeg, Aug. 18.—The first day's regatta of the Winnipeg Rowing Club took place yesterday afternoon. In the senior four-oared race, Winnipeg and the James Bay crews lined up for the first heat. The James' Bay crew won by one length. Time 8.84.

To-day the winning crew meets the Argonauts of Toronto.

THE SURRENDER OF MANILA.

Admiral Dewey's Official Report to the Government.

On Aug. 7 General Merritt and Himself Demanded the Surrender of the City But Was Refused—Then Followed the Combined Land and Naval Attack and the Surrender of the City on Aug. 13—7,000 Prisoners Taken—Six Americans Killed.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Admiral Dewey's official announcement of the bombardment and surrender of Manila has been received, as follows:

Manila, Aug. 13.

Secretary of Navy, Washington:

Manila surrendered to-day to the American land forces, after a combined attack. A division of the squadron shelled the forts and entrenchments at Malate, on the south side of the city, driving back the enemy, our army advancing from that side at the same time. The city surrendered about 5 o'clock, the American flag being hoisted by Lieut. Brumby. About 7,000 prisoners were taken. The squadron had no casualties, none of the vessels were injured. On Aug. 7, Gen. Merritt and I formally demanded the surrender of the city, which the Spanish Governor-General refused.

(Signed) Dewey.

Humane Action of the Americans.

London, Aug. 18.—The Manila correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, telegraphing Saturday, says: Nothing could be more humane than the Americans' capture of the town. Gen. Merritt and Admiral Dewey's plan was to spare every object but the armed defences and the trenches. Apparently the American losses were extremely small. The Spanish entrenchments varied in point of distance from two to four miles from the centre of old Manila.

The Spanish commander, convinced that further resistance was hopeless, hoisted a white flag at 1.30, and the order to cease firing was immediately issued in the centre of the town, but in the outskirts street fighting continued for some time afterwards between the rebels and Spaniards. The only fear felt in the city is in regard to the conduct of the insurgents.

Six Americans Killed.

London, Aug. 18.—The Manila correspondent of the Times says: "The latest returns show that six Americans were killed and 39 wounded."

ENFORCE LAW AND ORDER

And Treat All Law-Abiding Manila Citizens Alike.

Washington, Aug 18.—The two American commanders at Manila, Admiral Dewey and Major-General Merritt, united in a joint despatch which was received here late yesterday afternoon, asking for instructions as to the manner of dealing with the various elements, particularly the insurgents, now that the city is occupied by the American forces. After a conference at the White House, in which Secretary Alger and Acting-Secretary Allen participated, instructions were sent the two American commanders. The text of the request for instructions and of the arrangement was not made public, but Secretary Alger summed up the instructions substantially as follows: The instructions are to enforce law and order and to treat all law-abiding citizens alike.

Advice From Russia.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 18.—The Journal de St. Peterburg, semi-official, says: "The prestige of the white population in the Philippines has been almost entirely destroyed by the war. If an attempt is made to give the islands autonomy it should be effected gradually, under strictly benevolent European tutelage. Any other regime would bring back barbarism."

Resignations Rejected.

Madrid, Aug. 18.—The Government has decided to reject the resignations of the Governors-General of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. The Cortes, it is ascertained, will re-assemble on Sept. 15.

Burning Spanish Corpses.

Santiago, Aug. 18.—The bodies of the dead Spaniards continue to be cremated. Over 700 have been burned so far.

FREEMAN HALSTEAD FREE.

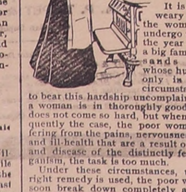

The Canadian Newspaper Man Released From San Juan Prison.

San Juan, Aug. 18.—Correspondent Freeman Halstead was released from prison yesterday. He is allowed full liberty. Captain-General Macias was chiefly instrumental in obtaining his freedom, and Mr. Corden, the British Consul here, was unceasing in his efforts in his behalf.

LUXURIOUS FIXINGS

Found in the Homes of the Members of the Johnson Family.

Detroit, Aug. 18.—Mrs. Georgina Baylis, sister of the three Johnsons, under arrest for counterfeiting, was arrested at noon yesterday by Detective Kane and Special Officer Downey. Her arrest was caused by the finding of more bogus money and counterfeiting materials concealed in the house at 106 McGraw avenue, which was occupied by Charles and Edmund Johnson, their mother and Mrs. Baylis. The latter was housekeeper, and must have known of the work. The charge against her will be the same as that against Mrs. David Johnson. The detectives found that the houses were most luxuriously fitted up with velvet carpets and valuable paintings. They also found $5,000 in bogus money.

It is warm and weary work that the woman has to undergo who cooks the year 'round for a big family. Thousands of women whose husbands are only in moderate circumstances have to bear this hardship uncomplainingly. If a woman is in thoroughly good health it does not come so hard, but when, as is frequently the case, the poor woman is suffering from the pains, nervousness, debility and ill-health that are a result of weakness and disease of the distinctly feminine organism, the task is too much.

Under these circumstances, unless the right remedy is used, the poor woman will soon break down completely and fill an early grave. Over 90,000 women have testified to the marvelous merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Many of their names, addresses, photographs and experiences have been published by permission in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. The "Favorite Prescription" cures all weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that bear maternity's burdens. It makes them well and strong. It builds up the nervous system. It makes weak, sickly, nervous, fretful women strong, healthy, amiable wives. All medicine dealers sell it.

"My youngest daughter, Mrs. Julia Raphe, was all run down with nervous prostration and lung trouble," writes Mrs. Julia Ann Gibson, of Nickerson, Reno Co., Kansas. "She took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and was cured."

If you want to read the testimonies and see the photographs of many grateful patients who were cured by Dr. Pierce's remedies send for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Besides telling about these cures it tells about the home treatment of all diseases. Over 300 illustrations. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, for paper-covered copy. Cloth-covers 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Bailiff's Gruesome Find.

Hamilton, Aug. 18.—Bailiff Hunter went into the office of Dr. E. S. Hillyer, corner of Victoria avenue and Cannon street, yesterday to make a seizure. He did not see him, so he entered the private apartments. On the bed was the dead body of the doctor and on a table, under two empty vials, which had contained poison, it is supposed, was a letter in which he said: "I tire of the struggle." An inquest was opened at 4 o'clock and adjourned till to night. In the meantime a post-mortem examination will be held. The deceased had had practically no practice for years. He was unmarried and has relatives living near Simcoe.

Six Persons Killed and Three Others Seriously Injured.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 18.—A train on the railway running from Union Bay to Union Colliery, Comox, broke through the bridge, killing six persons and seriously injuring three others.

Dr. Johnston in West Lambton.

Sarnia, Aug. 18.—The West Lambton Reform Association held a convention here yesterday for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the vacancy caused by the election of the late member, J. F. Lister, to the Court of Appeals. Many names were before the convention, but all withdrew excepting Dr. Harvey of Wyoming and Dr. T. G. Johnston of Sarnia, the latter being the choice of the convention.

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves tired, listless, dyspeptic and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these Pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St., Glencoe, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto.

FUTURES LOW.

The Cash Demand Keeps Near-by Deliveries Steadier—Liverpool Remains Steady—Chicago Drops Prices.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 17.

The Chicago speculative wheat market was dull to-day, and under selling pressure all deliveries declined ⅜c to ⅝c per bushel. The late deliveries were the weakest on account of the prospects of heavy receipts. The demand for cash wheat prevented the near-by deliveries from receding to the same extent.

On the Liverpool board to-day wheat was inclined to be weak early, but firmed up and closed stronger.

Leading Wheat Markets.

Following are the closing prices to-day at important centres:

AT TRENTON.

Further Particulars of the Musical Festival.

The afternoon trip of the Merritt to Trenton was very largely patronized yesterday. Those who went up were somewhat disappointed to find that the programme was almost over when they reached the grounds. The athletic sports were in progress and resulted as follows:

220-yard hurdle race (professional)—Nolan 1, Ford 2, Coleman 3.

100-yard dash—Coleman 1, Nolan 2, Ford 3.

Running long jump—Coleman 1, Nolan 2, Ford 3.

Vaulting with pole—Nolan 1, Coleman 2.

A well contested lacross match was played by Campbellford and Marmora, resulting in a victory for the latter by four to ten.

In the evening the annual races of the Trenton Rowing Club took place in the harbor. The double-scull race was won by Wilkins and Clark, while the single scull race was won by Joseph Bryant.

At 8 o'clock there was a grand illuminated bicycle parade, headed by a jobo cornetta band, which elicited much applause.

The prize for the best marching band was won by the Princess of Wales' band of Kingston.

A successful balloon ascension was the leading feature of the morning's programme.

The streets of the town were lavishly decorated and ample provision had been made for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. It is estimated that over 10,000 visitors were on the grounds.

A Fire.

About five o'clock in the afternoon fire broke out in a building used by Hill as a carriage shop. It burned with great fierceness and threatened a large frame mill near by. The engine, however, threw two very good streams and the firemen knew their business. The flames were extinguished after a great deal of damage had been done to the shop. One young man, desirous of saving valuable property, plunged into the building, narrowly escaped suffocation, and re-appeared with a 25 cent thermometer.

Don't Miss this Pleasant Trip.

Why should anyone go far from home for a summer's outing when a most pleasant holiday can be taken for a small amount of money by taking the American Line to Montreal through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&w5w

EXCELLENT ONTARIO CROPS.

August Bulletin Sent Out by the Agricultural Department.

The Acreage in This Report Is Final, But the Grain Yields May Be Raised in November by the Actual Threshing Results—A Record Yield of Wheat for 1898—Other Grains and Their Yields—Live Stock.

Toronto, Aug. 18.—The following are the crop estimates of the present year, as compiled by the Ontario Department of Agriculture. The acreage is final, but the yield of grain will be revised in November from actual threshing results:

Fall Wheat.—1,048,182 acres, yield 25,305,890 bushels, an average of 24.1 bushels per acre. In 1897 950,222 acres gave 23,988,051 bushels, an average of 25.2 bushels per acre. The average for the sixteen years 1882-97 was 891,144 acres, giving 18,022,748 bushels, being an average of 20.2 bushels per acre. The acreage this year is the largest since 1883, when 1,097,210 acres yielded only 10.6 bushels per acre. The largest crops of the past sixteen years were in 1884, 20,717,631 bushels, in 1891 21,872,488, in 1892 20,492,497 bushels, and in 1897 23,988,051 bushels. The yield of 1898, therefore, promises to be the largest recorded by the department since 1883. The big increase this year is partly due to the fact that only 25,159 acres were plowed up this spring, as against 55,477 in 1897. On the basis of acreage, yield and quality the Ontario fall wheat crop of 1898 may be set down as the best since 1883 at least.

Spring Wheat.—Spring wheat has an area of 389,305 acres, yielding 6,714,516 bushels, an average of 17.3 bushels per acre. In 1897 323,305 acres gave 4,868,101 bushels, or 15.1 bushels per acre. The crop this year is the largest since 1891, in which year 510,634 acres gave 10,711,538 bushels, or 21.0 bushels per acre.

Barley.—438,784 acres give 12,048,245 bushels, or 27.5 bushels per acre. In 1897 451,515 acres gave 12,021,779 bushels, or 26.6 bushels per acre. The acreage has fallen steadily since 1890, when 701,326 acres were sown, but the yield of the past four years has been about stationary.

Oats.—2,376,360 acres promise a yield of 82,132,026 bushels, being 34.5 bushels per acre. In 1897 2,432,491 acres gave 86,318,128 bushels, or 35.5 bushels per acre. In 1896 the yield was about 83,000,000 bushels, and in 1895 84,700,000 bushels. The great increase in recent years may be seen from the following statement of the sixteen years: 1,875,240 acres giving 64,476,051 bushels, or 34.4 bushels per acre.

Rye.—165,089 acres give 2,683,828 bushels, being 16.3 bushels per acre. In 1897 187,785 acres gave 3,382,005 bushels, or 18.0 bushels per acre. The average of the sixteen years was 16.2 bushels.

Peas.—865,961 acres give 15,681,782 bushels, or 18.1 bushels per acre. In 1897 896,735 acres gave 13,867,093 bushels, or 15.5 bushels per acre. The average for the sixteen years' period was 19.9 bushels per acre. The total crop of 1891 was 18,300,000 bushels, that of 1896 17,500,000 bushels.

Beans.—45,220 acres give 831,698 bushels, being 18.4 bushels per acre. In 1897 50,591 acres gave 981,340 bushels, being 19.4 bushels per acre. The largest yield was in 1895, when 72,747 acres gave 1,414,988 bushels, being 20.5 bushels per acre.

Hay and Clover.—2,453 503 acres yield 4,399 063 tons, being 1.79 tons per acre. This is an increase over 1897 of 587,545 tons, and over 1,000,000 tons above the average of 1882-97. The largest previous yields were as follows: 4,305,915 tons in 1890; 4,384,838 in 1892; 4,968,557 in 1893. The yield per acre has been equalled only once in the past ten years, in 1893. This report on hay and clover is final.

Other Crops.—In regard to other crops, acreage alone can be given at present. Corn for husking has fallen from 335,030 acres in 1897 to 330,748 in 1898; silo corn from 209,005 in 1897 to 189,948 acres in 1898. Buckwheat is 150,394 acres, and potatoes 169,946—both practically the same as last year. Mangels increase from 41,175 in 1897 to 47,923 in 1898; carrots from 12,025 to 12,418, and turnips from 149,336 to 151,601. Rape shows 36,651 acres, as against 31,905 in 1897. Flax drops from 16,240 acres to 10,720 acres. Hops decline from 1,688 to 1,423 acres, and sorghum from 1,175 to 904 acres. Tobacco was reported in 1897 as covering only 785 acres; this year 7,871 acres are reported, of which 5,086 acres are in Essex and 2,140 in Kent.

Live Stock on Hand.—The numbers of live stock are for the 1st of July in each year. Horses were as follows: 611,241 in 1898; 613,670 in 1897; 624,749 in 1896. Cattle: 2,215,943 in 1898; 2,102,326 in 1897, and 2,181,958 in 1896. Milch cows show an increase of 25,000 in the past year, and store cattle a decrease of 20,000. Oxen have dropped from 3,411 in 1896 to 1,780 in 1898. Sheep were 1,677,014 in 1898; 1,690,350 in 1897, and 1,849,348 in 1896. Swine made a remarkable increase from 1,269,631 in 1896 and 1,284,963 in 1897 to 1,642,787 in 1898. There is an increase of no less than 325,000 in young swine over last year. Poultry are 9,084,473 in 1898; 8,485,841 in 1897, and 7,734,167 in 1896. Every class shows an increase.

Live Stock Sold.—The figures are for the twelve months preceding July 1st in each year. Horses are about the same as in the previous two years, 44,404. Cattle are 552,485 in 1898, 508,007 in 1897, and 436,451 in 1896. Sheep show a decrease—666,876 in 1896 to 72,872 in 1897, and to 674,239 in 1898. Swine sold have increased from 1,304,359 in 1896, and 1,339,967 in 1897 to 1,592,697 in 1898. Poultry show a slight increase over the previous year—3,072,767 in 1898; 2,965,221 in 1897, and 2,711,771 in 1896.

The wool clip was 5,104,686 pounds, as compared with 5,139,984 in 1897. There are 190,080 colonies of bees in Ontario.

REVENUE RETURNS.

The Department of the Interior Will Have an Unprecedentedly Good Report to Present to Parliament.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 18.—The Department of Interior for the fiscal year ending June 30, will have a report to present to Parliament which has never been surpassed. The revenue returns are unprecedented in our history, amounting to [illegible]19,851, compared with $250,057 for the preceding year. Cash receipts from the Dominion lands in 1897 are $75,000 more than the preceding year, while expenditures have been decreased over $20,000. Receipts from ordinary lands are over [illegible]2,000 more than the previous year; collections on account of seed grain loans have increased 50 per cent. and receipts from registration fees 70 per cent. The revenue of Yukon district, exclusive of royalty, which was said some time ago to have reached over $200,000, amounts to $231,817. From timber dues on Yukon there was received $43,911; dredging leases $133,005; mining fees $145,263. The Government obtained practically nothing from liquor permits, the actual receipts being $940, as against $3,160 during previous years.

The Government of the Northwest Territories, acting under the authority they had before the recent changes were made, took steps to secure the revenue from this source before the Yukon was detached from their jurisdiction.

Letter From Major Walsh.

A letter has been received at the Department of the Interior from Major Walsh, Administrator of the Yukon, in which he states that he is now on his way out, having quitted Dawson on July 9. On the way out he would meet William Ogilvie, the newly-appointed Commissioner, for conference.

BLACK

How many people wear black! On the street—on the cars—everywhere—the number is surprising. Some wear it through choice, the majority though, in the case of ladies, owing to the death of relatives.

When true, when pure, black is an admirable color, there's a genteel, a dignified elegance about it which arrests attention and commands respect.

In home-dyeing no color has been or is in as great demand, but not till the advent of the now justly celebrated

MAYPOLE SOAP

The Great Home-Dye,

was it possible for the housewife to procure a black dye that would impart to an article or garment that fascinating "something" that ideal freshness and beauty, peculiar to quality and truth in color.

Maypole Soap Dyes (in all colors) are made in England by practical dyers. They are of highest possible quality. They cleanse and dye at one operation all materials without "streaking" or "crocking." They are a revelation. May be used by anyone without previous experience with certainty of success. No rubbing necessary—simply dip the goods.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers everywhere
Price 10c. for all colors, 15c. for black

During the last three weeks I have had several dresses as well as other things to dye. I have tried the BLACK of your Maypole Soap, and I must say that the result was beyond my expectation, it is simply beautiful. I have used a good many dyes of other makes, but with none have I attained the same results as with "Maypole." I am highly pleased and will recommend it.

PONTON ADMITTED TO BAIL.

Plenty of Local Sureties For The Accused

The Law Bearing on His Case--Mackie's Counsel Will Apply For Bail on Behalf of His Client.

(Press despatch.)

Napanee, Aug. 19.—Mackie, Holden and Ponton have been committed for trial, Magistrate Daly announcing that he would accept bail in Ponton's case. He placed the amount at $10,000. Mr. Wilson, Mackie's counsel, will apply to the County Judge for bail for his client.

Mr. Porter asserted that Pare was undoubtedly guilty, but had decided to make an attempt to get a few years' commutation by implicating another man. He had accounted for only 51 days before the burglary and immediately after, whereas, from June 4 to August 27 was a period of 84 days. "The man simply lied," said Mr. Porter. Nothing had been said to connect Ponton with the crime. Mr. Porter closed at 11 o'clock yesterday, with an eloquent appeal for Ponton's release, after occupying the attention of the court for three hours.

Messrs. Wilson and Preston, counsel for Mackie and Holden respectively, followed with brief addresses.

Mr. Osler Asks for Committal.

Mr. Osler then addressed the Magistrate for about an hour. In his remarks he alluded to the fact that a man may turn Queen's evidence at a preliminary investigation and his evidence may be rejected by the trial judge. Pare had everything to gain by telling the truth in this matter. He was not, however, there to sustain Pare's character. The public had to protect itself by utilizing such evidence as his. He would have the court consider what there was in the case that was definite and not dependent on the accomplices' evidence. He contended that there was sufficient evidence to warrant the committal of the three men.

The Prisoners Committed.

Magistrate Daly's summing up was brief. He said the community must be protected. He thought it to the interest of Ponton to have a thorough investigation, consequently he would send him up for trial. As to Holden and Pare, he had no doubt that they should be tried. In the meantime Magistrate Daly grants Ponton bail. No bail was allowed for Holden or Mackie.

Bail for Ponton was fixed at $10,000.

Mackie's counsel will apply to the County Judge for bail.

Ponton, on hearing the decision, was satisfied, as was shown by a genial, good humored smile. Holden maintained his grave, indifferent, long face, but Mackie seemed to be somewhat agitated.

A prominent legal luminary of Napanee says that the most utterly untrue and ridiculous statement Pare made was that he came back to return Ponton $5,000, which he had buried.

It is probable that the prisoners' counsel may endeavor to have the cases tried by the County Judge.

Judge Wilkinson of Lennox in this event will remit the cases to Judge Price of Frontenac.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

NAPANEE, Aug. 19.—Ponton was admitted to bail under Section 601 Dominion Code, 1892, which reads as follows:—"When any person appears before any justice, charged with an indictable offence and the evidence adduced is, in the opinion of such justice, sufficient to put the accused on trial, but does not furnish such a strong presumption of guilt as to warrant his committal for trial, the justice may admit the accused to bail, upon his producing such surety as, in the opinion of the justice, will be sufficient to insure his appearance at the time and place of trial.'

Mr. Wilson will make application to the County Judge on Wednesday next to grant bail to his client Mackie.

Yesterday's despatch contained a misconception of the Magistrate's judgment, in that Mr. Ponton was not committed for trial, but was held on bail to appear when called on.

Mr. Ponton's counsel and bondsmen will go to Napanee to-morrow and will bring him probably back with them. "Billy's" second arrest has only served to prove how many warm friends he has here and in Napanee, and to confirm their belief in his innocence.

The amount of bail for Ponton was not fixed, but it will not exceed $6,000, instead of $10,000, as stated.

Decided to Remove it

The School Management Committee met at 2 o'clock to-day, and upon motion of Wm. Johnson, it was decided to remove the building connecting the old stone Grammar School with the High School. Messrs. Pringle, Bennett, Diamond, Martin and Johnson supported the motion, while Messrs. Hudson, Tennant and Bowell thought that the building should remain standing, at least until next Spring, to see if the Smead-Dowd system of ventilation really required its removal, as well as to avoid this additional expense.

No other preparation has ever done so many people so much good as Hood's Sarsaparilla, America's Greatest Medicine.

Sold the Puppies.

Steward Hepburn, of the steamer Corsican, recently took four little Esquimaux puppies aboard the steamer and sold them to American passengers for $10 each. When the steamer touched at Alexandria Bay an American, who wanted one of the dogs, offered $60 for it, but the passengers said they would not part with their new-found pets for double that sum.

BIRTHS.

CAVANAUGH.—On Aug. 18, 1898, the wife of JAS. CAVANAUGH, of a daughter.

DIED.

WALKER—Aug. 18th, JAS. WALKER, aged 86 years and 6 months.
Funeral from the residence of G. W. Walker, cor. Queen and Ann sts., to-morrow, Saturday, at 3:30 p.m.

GOOD CITIZEN GONE.

Death of Mr. James Walker.

At the residence of his son George, Queen st., about eight o'clock last evening our oldest resident passed over to his eternal home. Mr. Walker had been ill about ten days with pneumonia; the attack was a light one but his enfeebled vitality was unable to resist it.

Mr. Walker was born in Belleville in the year 1812 and has lived in the city almost continuously since. He was a son of the late Joseph Walker, one of the noble band of U. E. Loyalists, and was the first Tax Collector in this district. He received from the Government a grant of the property, now known as the Bleecker Farm, and it was there that James was born. In 1836 he married Mary Goldsmith, who survives him. For many years Mr. Walker was a merchant tailor in the city, retiring later to his farm in the Township of Sidney, returning to the city about seven years ago and residing ever since with his son. Three sons, William, J. W., and Dr. G. W., all in Belleville, survive him. The funeral takes place from the residence of Dr. G. Walker to-morrow afternoon at 3.30.

In religion Mr. Walker was a Methodist, in politics a staunch Conservative. Although of a retiring disposition, Mr. Walker made a great many friends during his long life in the city, and he possessed the respect and esteem of all classes and creeds.

Fine Black Suits.

You can get good black suits at the Oak Hall for $8, $10 and $12, but we wish to mention something better to you. We have a line of extra fine black coats and vests and fine stripe pants, making up a suit worth $25 to order. We guarantee this suit in every respect, the linings and general finish is superior to ordered clothing and the fit is as perfect as possibly can be. Oak Hall price $15. This is something extra nice.

Bonused Works.

Alderman DOYLE has been making enquiry as to the success which has attended the erection of rolling mills in certain sections of Ontario. As a result of these enquiries he has handed us for publication the following letter:

GUELPH, Aug. 2, 1898.

DEAR SIR,—A Joint Stock Co., capital about $80,000, started here some three years ago. The stock was nearly all subscribed by the citizens. The Co. bought land and erected buildings, put in machinery, &c. The Council exempted them from taxation (except school taxes) for ten years. The Co. was called The Guelph, Norway Iron and Steel Co. The raw material they used was chiefly scrap iron. The concern ran for a year or more, but for about a year the mill has been closed up and there is no word of it being started again. The Council did not give the Co. any bonus. I don't think the stockholders will ever get anything. The manufactured article the Co. turned out was a first class article, but from some cause the whole thing seems to have been very unprofitable.

Yours truly,
RICHARD MITCHELL,
City Clerk.

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. The Chess Match

The following are the Kingston press comments:

The Belleville men are great chess players and had an easy game.—Whig.

The Belleville team, it is said, contained two crack players—Jones and Marshall—who probably could have defeated any players in Canada, and a third man, Dafoe, was not far behind them in ability. Kingston had only a scratch team, consisting chiefly of men without experience.—News.

The Bowling Tournamant.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 18.—This, the third day of the bowling tournament, is even more exciting than the previous two, and the interest is at fever heat in the semi-finals for both the trophy and the association prizes. The result in the trophy leaves in the finals Smith, Toronto Victorias v. Kidd, of Hamilton Thistles, who will play off this afternoon at 3 p. m. The game between Lavis and Smith in the semi-finals was stubbornly fought all through, and Smith claimed the victory by four shots, 21 to 17. Hamilton Thistles won the championship. In the association match, fourth round, W. H. Biggar's rink was defeated by 18 to 14, and Lavis defeated Hamilton Victorias 26 to 21.

MURDERED FOR HER MONEY.

A Young and Beautiful New Yorker Killed in a Brutal Way.

Decoyed by a Cheque--Had Intrusted Her Murderer With Money to Bet on the Races--Suspected Person Has been Arrested.

New York, Aug. 18.—Emeline C. Reynolds, a young and beautiful woman, was murdered for her money and jewels in a room in the Grand Hotel, Broadway and Thirty-first street, yesterday morning. A worthless cheque for $13,000, evidently used as a decoy, was found in the woman's clothing. The man who indorsed it, Dr. Samuel J. Kennedy, of No. 60 West Twenty-second street, who posed as the woman's husband at the hotel, is now under arrest. He occupied the same room with her, and employes of the hotel have positively identified him as the man whom they saw leaving the house at half-past two o'clock yesterday morning. He seems to have exercised a strange influence over the woman, and, for that matter, over others like her, for she belonged to the class to whom luxurious living is worth any price.

She had given this man money to bet on the races, for he had a betting system. She had told her mother in Mount Vernon that she had expected to get large profits by the money which she had intrusted to her friend "the doctor." The girl lived at No. 370 West Fifty-eighth st. in luxuriantly furnished apartments, and made trips to Mount Vernon, where she spent Sundays at the home of her parents, where all was staid respectability. She had drawn $500 from a Mount Vernon bank, the savings of the bounty of a broker, and said she was going to take it to New York. She borrowed a black leather bag from her mother to carry away the profits of her speculation.

This bag, still open, was found upon the floor of the room in the hotel near the lifeless body of the woman. Near it was a piece of lead pipe, cunningly fashioned into a weapon, by means of which the woman's head had been battered and her neck broken. Her ear-rings had been torn from her ears, and her jewellery, which she carried with her in a small chamois skin bag, was missing.

GOOD WORK.

What the Methodists are Doing for Their Young People.

Rev. C. W. Watch and Mr. Wm. Johnson were in Toronto yesterday attending the annual meeting of the Epworth Leagues and Sabbath Schools Board.

The annual report of the general secretary, Rev. A. C. Crews, was read and discussed. This report showed that there are 3387 Sunday Schools in the Canadian Methodist Church, with 270,239 scholars, being an increase of 136 schools and 17,783 scholars during the past four years. The home department is a feature which has been developed rapidly during the quadrennium. In 1895 there were 1856 members. In 1898, 7151, an increase of 5275.

The Epworth League report was full of encouraging facts and figures. There are now 658 Epworth Leagues and 860 Epworth Leagues of Christian Endeavor, besides a number of other societies. The total number of Young People's Societies in the church is 1947, with 81,935 members, an increase for the past four years of 912 societies and 34,760 members.

For missions the societies have raised during the year $12,159.80, an increase of $5,112.68 over the previous year.

A resolution of appreciation of the fine work of the general secretary was unanimously passed.

FOR PROHIBITION.

Belleville Royal Templars Visit Point Ann.

About thirty members of the local Royal Templar Council drove to Point Ann last night and held a gospel temperance service in the church. The building was well filled by an attentive audience.

Mr. C. F. McTavish occupied the chair. Addresses were delivered by Rev. N. Hill and Mr. W. W. Chown; solos were given by Miss Dolly Morris and Master Will Garrett. Several choruses were also sung under the leadership of Mr. J. T. Burns. At the close of the programme, a standing vote of the audience was taken on the prohibition question, resulting in a large majority in favor of the change.

THE KENNEL.

Sir Henry Irving's Dog.

The latest number of the London Ladies' Kennel Journal has several stories about famous men and their dogs. One is to the effect that Sir Henry Irving had some years ago a dog called Midsummer Night's Dream. He thought it was a bull-terrier, and made a present of it to G. W. Childs. The animal was exhibited in a Philadelphia exhibition, where it attracted considerable attention. This roused the ire of the other exhibitors, and they declared that Midsummer Night's Dream was not a bull terrier, but a half-bred bull dog. One of them wrote on a piece of paper, which was attached to the dog's kennel: "Henry Irving may know a great deal about Shakespeare, but he knows nothing about bull terriers." Clearly, as is pointed out, the opinion of the great actor counts for nothing in the matter of dog flesh.

Died Yesterday.

Mrs. Sarah A. Clarke, died yesterday at her residence Jones st., after an illness of over four months. Deceased leaves two sons, Joseph H. and William, and two daughters. Her husband preceded her to the grave. Mrs. Clarke was a consistent member of the Methodist Church. The funeral takes place to-morrow at 2:30 o'clock.

THE BY-LAW.

A Light Vote Polled--Probably Carried.

To-day is voting on the Denmark By-law to reduce the number of Aldermen. A light vote is being polled, the great majority apparently being in favor of the by-law. Ald. Denmark is working hard for his pet and claims to be sure of victory. No fixed proportion of the available vote or of the vote cast is required, says the City Solicitor, simply a majority of the votes cast.

It is said that some of the present Aldermen are working against the by-law, knowing very well that they will never be elected by general vote, as their principal recommendation for the position is their ability as log-rollers. Their efforts, however, simply serve to convince the majority of the rate-payers that it is time for a change.

THINKS WELL OF IT.

Mr. Rattray Expresses His Opinion of the Hastings Mineral District.

Mr. P. Rattray, the Colorado mine-owner, and Mr. S. Burrows have returned from a trip to the North Hastings mines. In conversation with the INTELLIGENCER this morning, they expressed themselves as greatly pleased with what they had seen.

They found the work of development had proceeded much further than had been expected. In one mine, over 200 men are employed, and the ore seemed to be very highly mineralized.

Mr. Rattray said that he understood that some of the mines were paying during development, a thing which was unknown in Colorado. He said that, with a little more work, some of the mines would show free gold. The Hastings mining district, he thought, had as bright a future before it as any on the continent. What was needed was a little more faith, a little more enterprise and a little more capital.

FISHER HAS HOPES OF THE WINE INDUSTRY.

A PECULIAR PROHIBITIONIST.

What does that great apostle of plebiscite and prohibition, the Hon. SIDNEY FISHER, mean by his utterances in England upon the wine industry of Canada? In an interview which a representative of the London POST, England, had with the Hon. the Minister of Agriculture, he, the Minister, in speaking of the many resources of Canada, referred in glowing terms to the quality of Canadian grapes, and added:

"Our making of wine is as yet only in the experimental stages, but we hope to make something of it."

What think our prohibition friends of such utterances from the Prohibition Minister of the Crown, who had but a few months ago introduced into the House of Commons a bill providing for submitting to the people the question of the prohibition of the manufacture of wine in Canada? Does he look upon the plebiscite as a farce which will never materialize, no matter what the vote may be? If he and his colleagues are honest upon this question, Mr. Fisher knows that, in case of a majority vote, prohibition should become law under the terms of the submission of the question to the people; therefore no wine can be legally made in Canada. Yet this ardent total abstainer and prohibitionist tells the people of England that "we" Canadians "hope to make something of it," that is the "making of wine."

What have the Montreal WITNESS and papers of that ilk to say to the hon. gentleman who represents the prohibitionists in the Canadian Parliament?

Yet, after all, this utterance of Mr. [illegible] is only in keeping with the policy pursued upon this question by the Government organs, which are telling the people that Sir Wilfrid is not responsible for the action of his Government in submitting the prohibition question to the electorate, and therefore they should not vote for it.

With such advocates, we shall be mistaken if anything other than an expenditure of over a quarter of million of dollars of the people's money ever comes of it.

"[KI]N BEYOND THE SEA."

[Thou]gh the project of an alliance be[tween Gre]at Britain and the United States [is not like]ly to be carried out, yet the [co]nduct of our mother country to [her kin be]yond the sea," during their war [with] Spain, has dissipated the ill feeling that for so long prevailed amongst our neighbors against the mother-land and has created a degree of harmony and good understanding, that cannot fail to broaden and deepen with the process of time. The following, from the New York Commercial Advertiser, is a fair illustration of the present state of public opinion in the United States:

The attitude of the British Government, in the face of steady and expanding aggression in China, strains not only the patience of the British people, but the confidence of Anglo-Saxons all over the world in the vigor and resolution of the British na[tion]. That Lord Salisbury, after being forced to accept the principle of partition of China, should accept the natural corollary of Russian control over concession for a railroad from Pekin into Mantchuria, which is to be Russian-China, is intelligible enough. That which is hard to understand is that he should endure with patience Franco-Russian control of concessions for a railroad from Pekin through Han-Kau to Canton, across the whole breadth of the Yangtse valley, which should be British-China when the inevitable partition comes. Canton is within measurable reach of the French sphere of influence in the South, and the effect of this would be to connect French and Russian-China by a route under control of these nations, crossing British-China near enough the coast to shut British trade and British political influence out of the interior, an[d] deliver the richest part of [C]hina ove[r to] the continental coalition.

It does not becom[e us to be un]friendly and almost [a]n allied people to pursue the British Government with criticism. We Americans are trying to qualify ourselves for dignified share in the larger world relations into which we are drifting on the resistless currents of destiny, by cultivating the habit of trusting our rulers, especially in those delicate dealings with foreign powers in which Governments are guided by information not possessed by the people. It ought to be assumed, even more here than in England, that the English Government understands the situation in China and in Europe better than any possible critic; that it will spare no effort to defend British interests, not even the supreme effort of war when the time comes for it, and that the Government is the best judge of the psychological moment to exchange the words and acts of peace for [tho]se of war. It must be confessed that [the Br]itish people itself begins to show less [than dig]nified trust in its rulers than for[merly, and] its growing impatience and [...] comforting proof of sound[ness in] the nation itself; that in [it] will [not] shrink from supreme [...] to de[...] permit a Govern[ment ...] British interests lowing from that erstwhile noted Anglophobe the New York Sun:

In the question of China's future Americans are vitally concerned. This country is rapidly becoming a great exporter of manufactured products, and, if China were suffered to retain her independence and peacefully to develop her natural resources, we should find in her an invaluable customer. Of all the great European powers, England alone is desirous of upholding in the Far East a state of things propitious for our active and prospective relations with the Middle Kingdom. We should be blind not to recognize the fact that, with reference to the Celestial Empire, there is between the English and ourselves a complete solidarity of interests. How far that recognition should carry us need not be decided now. Meanwhile we should not for a moment underrate the gravity of the threatened complications in Eastern Asia, nor their momentous bearing on the present and future welfare of our people.

As the Commercial Advertiser remarks in an issue subsequent to the publication of the article above quoted:

The temper and tone of English press comment from the beginning of the war will not soon be forgotten by the people on this side of the sea. The heart and brain of England has been with America from the outset, and the spirit of kindliness is rooted in considerations more dignified and more fundamental than merely material advantage. In the expressions of a very large majority of Englishmen during this war may be read the impressive truth that the sentiment of "kin beyond the sea" has at last crystallized into reality.

WHEAT UP.

The Markets in Chicago and Liverpool—New Grain Receipts Light—The Latest Quotations.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 18.

Bad weather reports from Europe, the good cash demand and continued light receipts caused shorts to cover to-day, and as a result September wheat advanced 1¼c per bushel at Chicago, the August delivery ⅞c and the December option ⅝c. The close was about at the high point for the day.

On the Liverpool board to-day wheat futures closed ¼d per cental below yesterday's close, but before the end of the session recovered to about the previous final figures. Paris wheat closed unchanged to 10 centimes higher.

THEY WILL DIVIDE TO-NIGHT

On the Second Reading of the Constable Bill.

Mr. Carscallen Leads Off the Speaking To-Day, and a Hot Time Is Expected—Mr. Whitney and Mr. Ross Made Argumentative Speeches and Left Those Who Followed Little New to Say—The Ram Again.

Toronto, Aug. 19.—The first brush in the Assembly yesterday was about the Hodgins ram. It had been commented upon, and Hon. J. E. Davis, Provincial Secretary, rose to a question of privilege. The ram was not worthless, as the article alleged, nor was Hon. John Dryden a dupe for buying him.

The Constables' Bill.

The Assembly then got down to the more serious work of debating the second reading of the constables' bill, moved by the Attorney-General.

Mr. Whitney, in opening the debate on the second reading of the constables' bill, referred to the hesitation of the Ministry in bringing down their matured bill, and said that everywhere Reformers were objecting to the proposed legislation. The original intention of the Government to pass a declaratory law had now simmered down to a decision to hand it over to the Court of Appeal. He had been told that the latter court had not only refused to take the matter up, but that it did not care to give a decision, believing that it would be binding on the trial judges. He was not disputing that the constables had voting rights, but the point was as to whether the Legislature should pass an Act saying they always had been so entitled. Mr. Hardy had argued that what was right at Ottawa was right at Toronto, conditions being the same. He agreed that this position could not be controverted. But then why had the Government changed its front? Why had they not stood by a position which was parallel to that at Ottawa? Why had they deserted this "right" stand to turn to an appeal to the Court of Appeal? He was glad to hear that in 1887 the Liberals had sprung to the defence of Sir John A. Macdonald's seat, for had he not been told so he could scarcely have thought it.

He next quoted voluminously from authorities to show that the bill was retroactive, and he said that in this case ex post facto legislation was carried so far as to be an actual substitution of the will of the Legislature for the will of the people. Why didn't the Attorney-General pass a straight bill saying the constables had a right to vote? He had no doubt it was because his friends in the House had pronounced an emphatic "No!"

The Bill by Sections.

He then took up the bill, and commented on it, section by section, until he reached section 13. In it not only were the seats of members who depended on the constable vote for their election endangered, but it jeopardized the seat of every man in the House who was legally elected March 1. The wording provided that members could be unseated and a new election called where they partially owed their majority to the constable vote. If this meaning were not intended, he asked the Attorney-General to so change the section that there could be no suspicion of it. In concluding, he protested against the right of members to vote unsuccessful opponents out of their legal rights. He called upon those members to decline to be made instruments for putting a stain upon the province. It should not be made a party question. It was a question above the rise and fall of a Minister, and the people of the province are with them in this opinion.

Mr. Ross Answers.

Mr. Ross told Mr. Whitney that his address had been unusually full of invective and denunciation. In all his experience, he had never seen him so completely unhorsed and demoralized. All his arguments had fallen to the ground. He had come to the conclusion that the Opposition wilfully refused to be satisfied. In the first place, they had howled against a presumed declaratory bill. They had wanted the Government to leave it to the courts. The Government had now proposed to do so, and Mr. Whitney was lecturing them for receding from a declaratory bill. The Ontario ballot was practically a secret one, for out of the 16,000 culpable ballots which had been scrutinized before trial judges, not one had been identified. It it was a bad, corrupt or illegal vote, however, it was only right that it should be traceable, and for this reason the number was a necessity. It was not proposed that the will of the Legislature should be substituted for that of the people. But honorable gentlemen opposite were proposing that candidates, by avoiding the necessity of a new election, should obtain seats in the House without a popular majority. In speaking of the bill he said the Opposition leader wanted to have the right to put his hand in the ballot boxes and take out the constable votes, votes which had been recognized as legal for the past fifty years.

The Minister was arguing the right to pass this legislation, upon the ground of precedents respecting individuals, when the House rose at 6 o'clock.

In the evening session the Hon. Mr. Ross occupied himself with piling up a row of extracts from Acts, constitutions and cases to support the stand taken by the Government in retroactive legislation. He concluded by saying he would accept the sovereign voice of the people, and if defeated would go down with good mien. "We have brought in a bill that will keep honorable friends in their present positions for the next four years," was his concluding sentence.

Col. Matheson Replies.

Col. Matheson accused the Government of obscuring the main issue. All British precedent was against retroactive legislation. Mr. Ross' precedents were worthless, none of them were analogous to the present attempted bill. No British Parliament ever left a question to the courts with the proviso that if successful the fruits of their success should be snatched from them. The alleged proposal of the Government was to leave the question to the courts, at the same time instructing their decision. He concluded his speech by denouncing the extravagance of the Government.

Mr. German of Welland said he was content to let the matter go on the representation of Mr. Ross in his exhaustive speech. He quoted Sir John A. Macdonald as saying that his bill was retroactive. In the first place, the leaders of the Opposition, composed of the leading lawyers of the land, had never stated that on March 1 the constables had no right to vote. He would himself have preferred supporting the bill in a different shape—one that would state clearly constables have a right to vote; nevertheless he was fully satisfied with this as it is.

The other members who spoke were: Mr. Lucas (Centre Grey), Mr. Graham (Brockville), Mr. Hoyle (North Ontario), and Mr. Clarke (West Northumberland). Mr. Carscallen moved the adjournment of the debate at 11 p.m. The second reading, by arrangement between the parties, will be divided upon by the House to-night, or it may be early to-morrow morning.

DOMINION RIFLE MATCHES.

The Adjutant-General of Militia Goes to Welcome New Commander.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—In the programme of the Dominion Rifle Association for the prize meeting at Rockliffe range, commencing Aug. 29, there will be but four days' shooting.

Hon. Col. Aylmer, Adjutant-General of Militia, left last evening for Quebec to meet the new commanding officer, Lieut. Col. Hutton C.B., who is expected to arrive there by steamer from England to-day. The reception to the new general officer commanding will include the usual military formalities of a salute and guard of honor. Lieut. Bell, a subaltern in an Imperial infantry regiment, has been appointed A.D.C. to Col. Hutton.

At the preliminary trial of Andro Riopelle, charged with complicity in the death of Leon Boyer of Black Bay, Dr. Paquet said that he would declare at the enquiry when examined that Boyer was murdered by some one, and that it was the most horrible murder ever committed.

Alexander Crepin, a teamster, met an awful death at the Perley lumber yards yesterday. The front collar on one of his horses gave way suddenly, and Crepin jumped from his seat, but missed his footing and fell under the wagon, the forward wheel of which passed over his head and neck. Death was instantaneous.

ADDITIONS TO UNCLE SAM'S NAVY.

Congress to Be Asked for $50,000,000 to Build 15 Warships.

Washington, Aug. 19.—Congress at its next session will be asked to increase the navy by authorizing the building of fifteen more warships, the estimated cost of which is between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. The specifications will call for unusual speed and an enormous steaming radius. The list is headed with three battleships of 13,000 tons displacement, armed with 13-inch guns. The speed requirement will not be less than 18 knots, with a draught of about 19 feet. Three first-class armored cruisers of 12,000 tons displacement, with a speed of 22 knots. Three second-rate cruisers of 6,000 tons displacement, and six protected cruisers of 2,500 tons displacement, carrying 5-inch rapid fire guns, having a speed of 16 knots, and a steaming radius of 18,000 knots. The protected cruisers are designed for use in the Pacific.

The Windom Counterfeiting Plates.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 19.—The Windom plates have now become the issue in the Johnson case. To find them the authorities will make another thorough and systematic search. When Edward Henry Johnson, father of those under arrest, was caught in Toronto in 1880, he disclosed the hiding place of his plates. They were buried under a big tree in a wood on the outskirts of the town. The Canadian officials dug them up, and found them carefully wrapped in oilcloth and sealed with beeswax.

32,000,000 BUSHELS.

C.P.R. Agents' Estimate of the Wheat Crop of Manitoba and Territories.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—Hon. S. C. Wood of Toronto, President of the Freehold Loan Company, has just returned from a trip through Manitoba, and he estimates the wheat yield at about 18 to 20 bushels per acre.

The weekly crop report made by agents of the C.P.R. at the various points on their lines in the wheat growing region dated August 15 contains the most favorable reports from all sections of the country. The Manitoba wheat crop is estimated at 25,000,000 bushels, and that of the Territories at 7,000,000 bushels.

Graham, Horn & Co., extensive Fort William lumber merchants, have assigned.

Last night's Pacific Express was in seven sections. The first section arrived at 6.10, bringing in the ordinary passengers, while the six sections following have been arranged specially for the convenience of the eastern harvesters, who are coming to assist the Western farmers in gathering in their grain. The total number on board the six trains is 2,500, and they will be distributed throughout the province according to demand.

THE MOUNT ROYAL LAUNCHED.

New Freight Vessel to Ply Between London and Canada.

London, Aug. 19.—Lord and Lady Strathcona attended the launch of a steamship on the Tyne yesterday. Lady Strathcona christened the vessel the Mount Royal. The boat is 483 feet long, 56 feet beam and 42 feet deep, and is capable of carrying 1,100 head of stock. The Mount Royal will ply between London and Canada.

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture in the Canadian Government, and Prof. Robertson of the Department of Agriculture, are visiting Scotland for the purpose of acquiring information regarding the best means of meeting the wants of importers of Canadian produce. Both have addressed the Chambers of Commerce at Bristol and Liverpool, and have interviewed Glasgow merchants. During an interview with Sir John Long at Dundee on Tuesday, Hon. Mr. Fisher confessed that he entertained no hope of ever seeing the embargo on cattle removed.

UNDISPUTED CHAMPIONS.

The Greatest Four-Oared Crew in America Wins at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Aug. 19.—Yesterday was the second and concluding day of the Winnipeg Rowing Club's regatta. The chief event was the second and final heat of the triangular race for the senior four-oared championship. The first heat was rowed Wednesday, when the James Bay Club's crew of Victoria, B.C., defeated the Winnipeg Rowing Club's four by a length. The James Bay crew's competitors yesterday were the Argonauts of Toronto.

The Argonauts beat their opponents by three lengths. Their time was 9.04.

This Argonaut crew, composed of Messrs. Joseph Wright, stroke, F. H. Thompson, E. A. Thompson and R. G. Muntz, have won all the four-oared honors on the continent this year, including the N.A.A.C., C.A.A.C. and the Northwestern, and their victory of yesterday entitles them to retire as undisputed champions of America. The four will now, it is said, disband.

Sugar Refinery Shut Down.

Montreal, Aug. 19.—The works of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refinery Company at Maissoneuve, have been shut down and will remain closed for three or four weeks. About 350 men are temporarily thrown out of employment. The reason for the closing of the refinery is that the demand for sugars this summer has fallen below the expectation, and a larger supply of the refined article has accumulated than the warehouses can conveniently accommodate.

The Canada Sugar Refining Company have not closed their works, but they complain of a similar disappointing demand for sugars from the trade.

Attempted Suicide at Berlin.

Berlin, Aug. 19.—Fred. Rattenbury, trombone player in the 29th Batt. Band, attempted suicide at the residence of Mr. Schlebel, where he boards, last night, by ripping open an artery in his wrist. A doctor soon got him out of danger and he was arrested and locked up in jail. He had been drinking heavily.

Prescott Wants Waterworks.

Prescott, Ont., Aug. 19.—The voting for the bylaw for waterworks took place yesterday and was carried by a majority of 124; also the bylaw for commissioners on waterworks was carried by a majority of 165.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several med cal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

British Columbia Political Atmosphere at Torrid Heat.

Joe Martin Said to Have Got Sufficient Following to Form a Cabinet—Vigorous Comments Upon the Lieutenant-Governor by the Turner Press—A Chinamen's Guy Fawkes Gunpowder Plot at Steveston.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 19.—Papers supporting the late British Columbia Government continue to censure the act of Lieut.-Governor McInnes, in calling on Mr. Semlin to form a Government, when the Turner Government had a majority. The Westminster Sun personally abuses Mr. McInnes, stating that, outside of some exterior polish, he "has not the dignity of a British Columbia Indian, and knows no more about constitutional government than a Tom cat."

The World, the Turner paper, says the first step of the Opposition Government is to increase the Cabinet from five to six—extravagance at the outset. The paper goes on to say that the Opposition members are frantic in their endeavor to secure office or a fat billet. The two new portfolios will go to Ralph Smith of Nanaimo and Mr. Martin of Kootenay. The Cabinet will be completed this week, with a Liberal majority, owing to the efforts of Joe Martin. Mr. Cotton was the only staunch Tory tolerated. An Opposition convention to settle on a leader is advertised for the 26th. This means, according to several delegates, that Joe Martin will become Premier and Mr. Semlin will retire.

The Province publishes a report that the multi-millionaire, James Dunsmuir, and his son-in-law, Mr Bryden, supporters of Mr. Turner, are resigning. The Province says if this thing keeps up there will soon be no Turner party left.

Owing to the loose laws of British Columbia, 32 election protests filed will fall through. The Supreme Court has no power to try election cases and an unrepealed law says guaranteed costs must be deposited in the Bank of England. Of course, this was not done.

Rascally Chinamen's Fiendish Revenge.

An entire village of Chinamen are engaged at the fishing town of Steveston during the fishing season. At night they convert Steveston into a Monte Carlo, with opium garden attachments. Magistrate Pearson attempted to stop gambling and enforce a curfew law, "lights out at 10." He fined several Chinamen heavily. Yesterday under the Town Hall a powder keg, with a half-burnt fuse attached, was discovered. No doubt is felt that the fiendish Chinamen had decided to blow up the Town Hall and kill all the officials when court was sitting. The powder was lodged directly under the Magistrate's chair. A slight dampness in the fuse prevented an awful wholesale murder.

POLICE AFTER PARSON.

The Suspicious Actions of a Preacher Cause Investigations.

Toronto, Aug 19.—The police of Boston, Mass., are on the trail of Rev. W. J. Thompson, at one time pastor of a Baptist Mission at Brantford and well known in Toronto. He some time ago left Ipswich, Mass., rather suddenly. On May 5 last Thompson's wife died and his desire to have the funeral the day following caused the suspicions of the neighbors to be aroused. Six weeks before her death Mrs. Thompson told several neighbors that her married life was not a happy one, her husband having brought a Mrs. Edith Murray, a trained nurse, to live with them. The police have elicited the information on the date of the funeral Thompson did not leave for Europe, but was married to Mrs. Murray in Boston. Thompson's second wife had two children by her first husband, and one of these, a boy about 8 years old, was taken ill suddenly, shortly after the marriage, and died a short while after. Thompson's actions in this case were again considered suspicious by the undertaker and an investigation followed, the result of which made Thompson depart suddenly.

Russia Intriguing Again.

London, Aug. 19.—The Daily Mail's Odessa correspondent says he heard on incontestible authority that Russia had opened pour parlers with Spain for the cession of a coaling station in the Philippines.

THE TRIALS OF LIFE.

LESSON TAUGHT BY JONATHAN'S VICTORY OVER THE PHILISTINES.

INSPIRATION IN ADVERSITY.

Our Ills May Be Borne Lightly if We Will But Have Faith in the Savior and His Power to Lighten the Burdens of This Terrestrial Journey.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Dr. Talmage this morning preached from the text: I. Samuel xiv, 4, "There was a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side." He said:

The cruel army of the Philistines must be taken and scattered. There is just one man accompanied by his bodyguard to do that thing. Jonathan is the hero of the scene. I know that David cracked the skull of the giant with a few pebbles well slung, and that 300 Gideonites scattered 10,000 Amalekites by the crash of broken crockery, but here is a more wonderful conflict. Yonder are the Philistines on the rocks. Here is Jonathan with his bodyguard in the valley. On the one side is a rock called Bozez; on the other side is a rock called Seneh. These two were as famous in olden times as in modern times are Plymouth Rock and Gibraltar. They were precipitous, unscalable and sharp. Between these two rocks Jonathan must make his ascent. The day comes for the scaling of the height. Jonathan on his hands and feet begins the ascent. With strain and slip and bruise, I suppose, but still on and up, first goes Jonathan, and then goes his bodyguard. Bozez on one side, Seneh on the other. After a sharp tug and push and clinging I see the head of Jonathan above the hole in the mountain, and there is a challenge, and a fight, and a supernatural consternation. These two men, Jonathan and his bodyguard, drive back and drive down the Philistines over the rocks and open a campaign which demolishes the enemies of Israel. I suppose that the overhanging and overshadowing rocks on either side did not balk or dishearten Jonathan or his bodyguard, but only roused and filled them with enthusiasm as they went up. "There was a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

My friends, you have been or are now, some of you, in this crisis of the text. If a man meets one trouble, he can go through with it. He gathers all his energies, concentrates them on one point and in the strength of God or by his own natural determination goes through it. But the man who has trouble to the right of him and trouble to the left of him is to be pitied. Did either trouble come alone, he might endure it, but two troubles, two disasters, two overshadowing misfortunes, are Bozez and Seneh. God pity him! "There is a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

In this crisis of the text is that man whose fortune and health fail him at the same time. Nine-tenths of all our merchants capsize in business before they come to 45 years of age. There is some collision in commercial circles, and they stop payment. It seems as if every man must put his name on the back of a note before he learns what a fool a man is who risks all his property on the prospect that some man will tell the truth. It seems as if a man must have a large amount of unsalable goods on his own shelf before he learns how much easier it is to buy than to sell. It seems as if every man must be completely burned out before he learns the importance of always keeping fully insured. It seems as if every man must be wrecked in a financial tempest before he learns to keep things snug in case of a sudden euroclydon.

When the calamity does come, it is awful. The man goes home in despair, and he tells his family, "We'll have to go to the poorhouse." He takes a dolorous view of everything. It seems as if he never could rise. But a little time passes, and he says: "Why, I am not so badly off after all. I have my family left."

Before the Lord turned Adam out of paradise he gave him Eve so that when he lost paradise he could stand it. Permit one who has never read but a few novels in all his life, and who has not a great deal of romance in his composition, to say that if when a man's fortunes fail he has a good wife—a good Christian wife—he ought not to be despondent. "Oh," you say, "that only increases the embarrassment, since you have her also to take care of." You are an ingrate, for the woman as often supports the man as the man supports the woman. The man may bring all the dollars, but the woman generally brings the courage and the faith in God.

Well, this man of whom I am speaking looks around, and he finds his family left, and he rallies, and the light comes to his eyes, and the smile to his face, and the courage to his heart. In two years he is quite over it. He makes his financial calamity the first chapter in a new era of prosperity. He met that one trouble—conquered it. He sat down for a little while under the grim shadow of the rock Bozez, yet he soon rose and began like Jonathan to climb. But how often is it that physical ailment comes with financial embarrassment! When the fortune failed, it broke the man's spirit. His nerves were shattered. His brain was stunned. I can show you hundreds of men in our cities whose fortune and health failed at the same time. They came prematurely to the staff. Their hand trembled with incipient paralysis. They never saw a well day since the hour when they called their creditors together for a compromise. If such men are impatient and peculiar and irritable, excuse them. They had two troubles, either one of which they could have met successfully. If when the health went the fortune had been retained, it would not have been so bad. The man could have bought the very best medical advice, and he could have had the very best attendance and long lines of carriages would have stopped at the front door to inquire as to his welfare. But poverty on the one side and sickness on the other are Bozez and Seneh, and they interlock their shadows and drop them upon the poor man's way. God help him! "There is a sharp rock on one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

Now, what is such a man to do? In the name of Almighty God, I will tell him what to do. Do as Jonathan did—climb; climb up into the sunlight of God's favor and consolation. I can go through the churches and show you men who lost fortune and health at the same time, and yet who sing all day and dream of heaven all night. If you have any idea that sound digestion, and steady nerves, and clear eyesight, and good hearing, and plenty of friends are necessary to make a man happy, you have miscalculated. I suppose that these overhanging rocks only made Jonathan scramble the harder and the faster to get up and out into the sunlight, and this combined shadow of invalidism and financial embarrassment has often sent a man up the quicker into the sunlight of God's favor and the noonday of his glorious promises.

It is a difficult thing for a man to feel his dependence upon God when he has $10,000 in the bank, and $50,000 in government securities, and a block of stores and three ships. "Well," the man says to himself, "it is silly for me to pray, 'Give me this day my daily bread,' when my pantry is full and the canals from the west are crowded with breadstuffs destined for my storehouses." Oh, my friends, if the combined misfortunes and disasters of life have made you climb up into the arms of a sympathetic and compassionate God, through all eternity you will bless him that in this world "there was a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

Again, that man is in the crisis of the text who has home troubles and outside persecution at the same time. The world treats a man well just as long as it pays to treat him well. As long as it can manufacture success out of his bone and brain and muscle it favors him. The world fattens the horse it wants to drive. But let a man see it his duty to cross the track of the world, then every bush is full of horns and tusks thrust at him. They will belittle him. They will caricature him. They will call his generosity self aggrandizement and his piety sanctimoniousness. The very worst persecution will sometimes come upon him from those who profess to be Christians.

John Milton—great and good John Milton—so far forgot himself as to pray in so many words that his enemies might be eternally thrown down into the darkest and deepest gulf of hell, and be the undermost and most dejected and the lowest down vassals of perdition. And Martin Luther so far forgot himself as to say in regard to his theological opponents, "Put them in whatever sauce you please, roasted or fried or baked or stewed or boiled or hashed, they are nothing but asses!" Ah, my friends, if John Milton or Martin Luther could come down to such scurrility, what may you not expect from less elevated opponents? Now, sometimes the world takes after them, the newspapers take after them, public opinion takes after them, and the unfortunate man is lied about until all the dictionary of Billingsgate is exhausted on him. You often see a man whom you know to be good and pure and honest, set upon by the world and mauled by whole communities, while vicious men take on a supercilious air in condemnation of him, as though Lord Jeffreys should write an essay on gentleness or Henry VIII. talk about purity or King Herod take to blessing little children.

Now, a certain amount of persecution rouses a man's defiance, stirs his blood for magnificent battle and makes him 50 times more a man than he would have been without the persecution. So it was with the great reformer when he said, "I will not be put down; I will be heard." And so it was with Millard, the preacher, in the time of Louis XI. When Louis XI. sent word to him that unless he stopped preaching in that style he would throw him into the river, he replied, "Tell the king that I will reach heaven sooner by water than he will reach it by fast horses." A certain amount of persecution is a tonic and inspiration, but too much of it, and too long continued, becomes the rock Bozez throwing a dark shadow over a man's life. What is he to do then? Go home, you say. Good advice, that. That is just the place for a man to go when the world abuses him. Go home. Blessed be God for our quiet and sympathetic homes! But there is many a man who has the reputation of having a home when he has none. Through unthinkingness or precipitation there are many matches made that ought never to have been made. An officiating priest cannot alone unite a couple. The Lord Almighty must proclaim banns. There are many homes in which there is no sympathy and no happiness and no good cheer. The clamor of the battle may not have been heard outside, but God knows, notwithstanding all the playing of the wedding march, and all the odor of the orange blossoms, and the benediction of the officiating pastor, there has been no marriage. So sometimes men have awakened to find on one side of them the rock of persecution and on the other side of them the rock of domestic infelicity. What shall such a one do? Do as Jonathan did—climb. Get up the heights of God's consolation, from which you may look down in triumph upon outside persecution and home trouble. While good and great John Wesley was being silenced by the magistrates and having his name written on the board fences of London in doggerel, at that very time his wife was making him as miserable as she could—acting as though she were possessed by the devil, as I suppose she was, never doing him a kindness until the day she ran away, so that he wrote in his diary these words: "I did not forsake her. I have not dismissed her. I will not recall her." Planting one foot upon outside persecution and the other foot on home trouble, John Wesley climbed up into the heights of Christian joy, and, after preaching 40,000 sermons and traveling 270,000 miles reached the heights of heaven, though in this world he had it hard enough—"a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other."

Again, that woman stands in the crisis of the text who has bereavement and a struggle for a livelihood at the same time. Without mentioning names, I speak from observation. Ah, it is a hard thing for a woman to make an honest living, even when her heart is not troubled, and she has a fair cheek, and the magnetism of an exquisite presence. But now the husband or the father is dead. The expenses of the obsequies have absorbed all that was left in the savings bank, and, wan and wasted with weeping and watching, she goes forth—a grave, a hearse, a coffin behind her—to contend for her existence and the existence of her children. When I see such a battle as that open I shudder at the ghastliness of the spectacle. Men sit with embroidered slippers and write heartless essays about women's wages, but that question is made up of tears and blood, and there is more blood than tears. Oh, give woman free access to all the realms where she can get a livelihood, from the telegraph office to the pulpit! Let men's wages be cut down before hers are cut down. Men have iron in their souls and can stand it. Make the way free to her of the broken heart. May God put into my hand the cold, bitter cup of privation, and give me nothing but a widowless hut for shelter for many years rather than that after I am dead there should go out from my home into the pitiless world a woman's arm to fight the Gettysburg, the Austerlitz, the Waterloo of life for bread! And yet how many women there are seated between the rock of bereavement on the one side and the rock of destitution on the other! Bozez and Seneh interlocking their shadows and dropping them upon her miserable way. "There is a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

What are such to do? Somehow let them climb up into the heights of the glorious promise: "Leave thy fatherless children. I will preserve them alive and let thy widows trust in me." Or get up into the heights of that other glorious promise, "The Lord preserveth the stranger and relieveth the widow and the fatherless." O ye sewing women on starving wages! O ye widows turned out from the once beautiful home! O ye female teachers kept on niggardly stipend! O ye despairing women seeking in vain for work, wandering along the docks and thinking to throw yourselves into the river last night! O ye women of weak nerves, and aching sides, and short breath, and broken heart, you need something more than human sympathy. You need the sympathy of God. Climb up into His arms. He knows it all, and He loves you more than father or mother or husband ever could or ever did, and instead of sitting down, wringing your hands in despair, you had better begin to climb. There are heights of consolation for you, though now "there is a sharp rock on one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

Again, that man is in the crisis of the text who has a wasted life on the one side and an unilluminated eternity on the other. Though a man may all his life have cultured deliberation and self poise, if he gets into that position all his self possession is gone. There are all the wrong thoughts of his existence, all the wrong deeds, all the wrong words—strata above strata, granitic, ponderous, overshadowing. That rock I call Bozez. On the other side are all the retributions of the future, the thrones of judgment, the eternal ages, angry with his long defiance. That rock I call Seneh. Between these two rocks 10,000 times 10,000 have perished.

O man immortal, man redeemed, man blood bought, climb up out of those shadows! Climb up by the way of the cross. Have your wasted life forgiven. Have your eternal life secured. This hour just takes one look to the past and see what it has been, and take one look to the future and see what it threatens to be. You can afford to lose your health, you can afford to lose your property, you can afford to lose your reputation, but you cannot afford to lose your soul. That bright, gleaming, glorious, precious eternal possession you must carry aloft in the day when the earth burns up and the heavens burst.

You see from my subject that when a man gets into the safety and peace of the gospel he does not demean himself. There is nothing in religion that leads to meanness or unmanliness. The gospel of Jesus Christ only asks you to climb as Jonathan did—climb toward God, climb toward heaven, climb into the sunshine of God's favor. To become a Christian is not to go meanly down. It is to come gloriously up—up into the communion of saints, up into the peace that passeth all understanding, up into the companionship of angels. He lives upward; he dies upward.

Oh, then accept the wholesale invitation which I make this day to all the people! Come up from between your invalidism and financial embarrassments. Come up from between your bereavements and your destitution. Come up from between a wasted life and an unillumined eternity. Like Jonathan, climb up with all your might instead of sitting down to wring your hands in the shadow and in the darkness—"a sharp rock on the one side and a sharp rock on the other side."

Stockings were first used in the eleventh century. Before that cloth bandages were used on the feet.

Every man watches his balance in the bank, and his balance in his cash account, pretty closely. There is another ledger account that the average man entirely forgets to his own undoing. It is his account with death. It is more important than a "profit and loss" account, for its a "life and death" account. It is a man's duty to himself and family to look up this account once every day and see that the balance is on the right side.

It doesn't pay to let this account run on, and have it debited with indigestion, and then impure blood, and finally nervous exhaustion, or prostration, or deadly consumption. When these diseases come it means a debit balance with death brought down in the blood red ink of another life sacrificed on the altar of foolish overwork and neglect of health. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the appetite keen, the digestion perfect, the liver active and the blood pure. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and health-forger. It makes firm, healthy flesh, but does not produce corpulence or raise the weight above nature's normal. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchial, throat and catarrhal affections. Honest dealers don't urge substitutes.

"My wife had suffered for seven years with dyspepsia, sick headache and costiveness," writes Mr. Alonzo D. Jameson, of Dunbarton, Merrimack Co., N. H. "We tried many doctors and many kinds of medicine, but all were of no avail. We purchased six bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which together with the 'Pleasant Pellets,' has entirely restored my wife's health. We cannot say enough to you in thanks for these valuable medicines."

It may save a life. Send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, to World's Dispensary Med. Association, Buffalo, N. Y., for a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser; cloth binding 50 stamps. Contains 1008 pages, over 300 illustrations—a valuable medical library in one volume.

Star Pointer's Great Feat.

Joliet, Ill., Aug. 18.—At Ingall's Park today Star Pointer paced a mile with running mate in 1.59¼. A strong cool wind down the back stretch undoubtedly prevented the big bay from lowering his world's record of 1.59½. Time by quarters: .30, 1.00, 1.28¾, mile 1.59½.

The Oldest Q.C. Dead.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Gustavius Wickstead, Q.C., of Ottawa, born in 1799, died yesterday morning. He was law clerk of the Legislative Assembly of the old Province of Canada in 1841-1867, and from Confederation down to 1887 served in a similar capacity to the House of Commons. He was made Q.C. by Lord Elgin, being the oldest Queen's Counsellor in Canada by many years.

TREMBLING HANDS AND SHAKY MEMORY. A HAMILTON MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH A NEW MEDICINE.

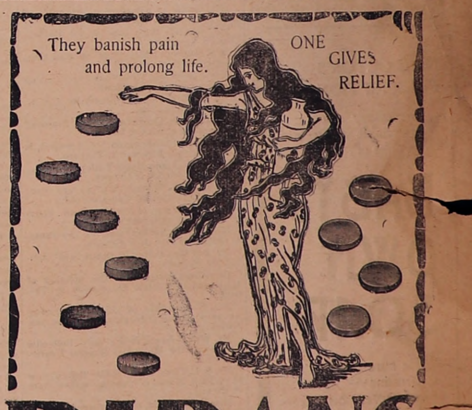

DEAR SIRS,—

I have spent half a fortune in doctors' bills, all to no avail. These Pills seemed to reach the seat of disease at once, and they also seemed to possess a remarkable influence over me. The violent palpitation of the heart, the trembling of the hands, the loss of masculine vigor, the frightful dreams, the loss of memory and general collapse of the entire system, have yielded to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Great were the results from the use of four boxes of these Pills. I am enjoying the very best of health. I fully believe they are able to do for others as much as they have done for me. Before using them I was a miserable wreck. To-day I am a well man.

Yours truly,

THOS. FLYNN, 51 Elgin St., Hamilton, Ont.

BAVARIA'S MAD KING.

Indications Are that His End is not Far Distant.

The latest news of the condition of King Otto of Bavaria seems to indicate that the end of the unhappy monarch is approaching. Since ... twenty-fifth year King Otto has been hopelessly insane, and has spent nearly twenty years in seclusion at the Castle of Furstenried, near Munich. The form of mental disease from which he suffers is known as "paronia," and it involves at times terrible delusions and appalling fits of terror and anger. In a general way the patient is listless and stolid, only recognizing those constantly about him.

He has been "King" since 1886, when his brother Ludwig II., came to an untimely end. He lives in what seems a horrible mockery of royal state. His suite of rooms on the ground floor is sumptuously furnished and adorned with fine pictures. The park and gardens are kept up in costly style. Until lately the King has eaten and drunk well, and smoked some forty cigarettes a ..., using as many boxes of matches to ... them. But since Christmas he has ... left his bedroom, and in all probability will never do so again.—London ...icle.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—The Toronto Globe has committed the Liberal party to prohibition. In an editorial last week it advised everyone who has the interests of Canada at heart to vote for prohibition, and said that the Liberal party could be relied upon to carry out the wishes of the people in the matter. That is going it pretty strong even for the Globe, but then one must not forget that the party has repudiated most of the fine things the Globe committed it to in the old days before they know the trials of office. The Globe evidently believes that prohibition is going to be carried, and that the prohibition party is a good one to stand in with.—Events.

—The prohibitionists put their foot in it when they went out of their way to insult the press, by charging it with lack of principle, and insinuating that it could be bought up by the liquor interest. Whatever may have been their experience with the journals that support them, I can tell them that the newspapers of Canada, as a whole, cannot be bought up for any such purpose. They may have refused to publish the trash that the prohibitionists are sending out, and they are sensible to do so. I am told that they are distributing a dodger in Toronto from house to house, that is disgusting to anyone of refined sentiments. The thing is illustrated with pictures of drunken men, such as one never sees in real life, and for the sake of the children, innocent of such sights, into whose hands many of these dodgers necessarily fall, the authorities should put a stop to their distribution. A campaign carried on by such methods, picturing grotesque impossibilities instead of giving arguments, is not likely to have an elevating influence in the country. Common decency requires that the veil of charity should screen such sights, and it little becomes the prohibitionists to spread them broadcast.—Events.

THE DRINK BILL OF THE DOMINION.

Royal Commission Estimated it at Forty Millions Annually—Valuable Information.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Mail and Empire gives the following facts:

The Royal Commission on Prohibition calculated the drink bill of Canada, on the average retail prices, at $39,879,854 per annum. This however, does not allow for the weakening of spirits by water, which, the commissioners say, it is well understood, is largely done. They reported, therefore, that the actual drink bill would be undoubtedly in excess of the sum named, or to put it in round figures, something beyond forty million dollars a year. The calculation was made on the basis of the consumption of 1893. The first cost of this flood of exhilaration and desolation is placed at $15,030,064, including the duty, leaving $25,000,000 to pay for its distribution and yield a profit to all who handle it. The commission found that more than 21,600,000 gallons of stimulants were consumed by Canadians, costing as follows:—

Spirits, 3,809,596 gals	$8,728,563
Malt liquors, 17,255,487 gals......	8,232,145
Wine, 511,626 gals...............	933,356
	$15,030,064

It was estimated that of this $11,158,683 represented domestic liquors, and $3,871,381 imported.

A RECENT CALCULATION.

A more recent calculation, which, however, agrees in the main with the foregoing, has been made by Mr. Geo. Johnson, the Government statistician. His calculation, which is based on the consumption of 1896, places the drink bill for that year at $35,393,054, or $6.90 per head for every man, woman and child in Canada. Mr. Johnson gives the details of his figuring. The retail price of spirits he averages at 7 1-2 cents a drink, some vendors charging 5 cents, and some 10 cents. A gallon of spirits contains 75 drinks, which, at 7 1-2 cents each, would yield $5.62 1-2. On this basis Mr. Johnson figures that the consumption of 2,794,022 gallons in 1896 meant an outlay to the consumer of $15,716,374. Mr. Johnson allows 20 drinks to a gallon of beer. A consumption of 18,305,804 gallons would, therefore, call for an expenditure, at 5 cents a drink, of $18,305,804. The retail price of wine Mr. Johnson arrives at by adding 45 per cent, to the cost and duty. Wines valued at $945,370 would, therefore, extract $1,370,886 from the consumer. To sum up, the statistician places the drink bill for 1896 at the following figures:—

Spirits.........................	$15,716,374
Wine...........................	1,370,886
Beer...........................	18,305,804
	$35,393,064

In this calculation, as in the one made by the prohibition commissioners, no allowance is made for the dilution of spirits, which would considerably increase the receipts of the retailer. Mr. Johnson points out that, on the same basis as he figured for 1896, the liquor consumption of 1892 cost the consumer $37,288,015. If, he adds, the drinking habits of the people had kept pace with the growth of population, the liquor bill for 1896 would have been $39,107,077. So that, if this calculation be accepted, the people of Canada were spending about $3,700,000 less for drinks in 1896 than they would have spent had they drank as hard as they did in 1892.

By applying Mr. Johnson's method to the official returns of 1891, the last year reported upon, it will be seen that the drink bill went up considerably and kept pace pretty well with the estimated growth of population. Spirits taken out of bond for consumption, less the exportations, amounted to 3,561,534 gallons. This, retailing at $5.62½ per gallon, would realize $20,033,628. The beer manufactured and imported measured 18,215,455 gallons, which to $1 a gallon, represents $18,215,455. The value and duty placed on imported wines were, combined, $641,930. By adding 45 per cent to this we get $932,245. Altogether, therefore, the drink bill for 1897 was as follows:

Spirits..............................	$20,633,628
Beer.................................	18,215,455
Wine.................................	932,245
	$39,781,328

The liquor taken out of bond for consumption in 1897 represented, when retailed, $7.73 per head for every man, woman and child in Canada. There was, however, an unusually large quantity of spirits ex-warehoused on account of the prospect of increased duties. The figures computed by the Inland Revenue Department show that since Confederation the consumption of spirits and wine has steadily declined in Canada, whereas the people have taken more freely to beer drinking. The following show the quantities per head for the last nine years, as compared with the record of the three previous decades:—

ASTHMA PERMANENTLY CURED.

Mr. R. N. Hume, the well-known C. P. R. engineer of the western division, writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma in its worst form for over twelve years, and never succeeded in getting anything to help me permanently until the C. P. R. doctor prescribed Clarke's Kola Compound for me in December, '95, when two bottles have entirely cured me; at least I have not had even a slight return of the asthma, and have no hesitation in recommending this wonderful remedy to all asthmatic sufferers. I am personally acquainted with at least six cases in my own town who have been completely cured." Sold by all druggists. CASSINI TO ST. JAMES.

Russian Ambassador to Washington to Succeed De Stael—More of Advantage to Russia.

London, Aug. 19.—M. De Staal, the Russian Ambassador to Great Britain, according to a special despatch from St.

COUNT CASSINI.

Petersburg, will soon retire from London and be succeeded by Count Cassini, Russian Ambassador to the United States

What Washington Has to Say.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The report from London that Count Cassini, Russian Ambassador here, will shortly be transferred to London, excited much interest in diplomatic quarters, as it was felt to have an important bearing on the Chinese question, which has recently reached an acute issue between Russia and Great Britain. Count Cassini is probably the best posted public man of Russia concerning Chinese affairs, as he was for five years Russian Ambassador at Pekin prior to coming to Washington. It was during his service at Pekin that Russia executed the coup of gaining Port Arthur and part of the Liao Tung Peninsula. The recent clash between Russia and Great Britain grew out of some of the British concessions made while Count Cassini was at Pekin. His transfer to London will, therefore, give his Government the advantage of having the negotiations with Great Britain conducted by a diplomat thoroughly conversant with the condition of Chinese affairs.

MASSACRED 500 NATIVES.

Spaniards in the Philippines Accused of Great Cruelty—Heavy Fighting With Insurgents.

London, Aug. 19.—The Singapore correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The native rebellion in the Philippines has extended to the hemp provinces, in South Luzon. Heavy fighting occurred at Taglatuan, Pilar and Ponsol, the immediate cause being outrages committed by the Spaniards at Pagiatuan. The Spanish also burned Pilar and massacred 500 natives. The insurgents are concentrating at Albay with the object of cutting off the retreat of the numerous Spanish in the Camarines Province.

"A German cruiser has been carrying despatches from the Captain-General of the Lisayas Island to the district between Cebu and Iligan and the Spanish military depot. The German flag has also been transporting in Mindanao, the steamer Rosario, taking troops thence to Iloilo. After the island of Maskate had been taken by the insurgents, the latter indignantly refused to allow the German steamer Clara to enter any ports under their control."

50 AMERICANS LOST AT MANILA.

General Merritt's Report to the Washington War Department.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The War Department has received the following:

Manila, Aug. 13.—After describing preliminaries, much the same as Admiral Dewey's report, Gen. Merritt proceeds:

After about half an hour's accurate shelling of Spanish lines MacArthur's brigade on the right and Greene's on the left under Anderson made a vigorous attack and carried Spanish works. Loss not accurately known; about fifty in all. Behavior of troops excellent; co-operation of navy most valuable. Troops advanced rapidly on walled city, upon which white flag shown and town capitulated. All important centres protected. Insurgents kept out. No disorder or pillage.

No Joint Occupation With Insurgents.

Washington, Aug. 19.—The War Department yesterday made public the order sent to General Merritt, regarding the occupation of the city of Manila by the American forces. The order is as follows: "The President directs that there must be no joint occupation with the insurgents. The United States, in the possession of Manila city, Manila bay and harbor, must preserve the peace and protect persons and property within the territory occupied by their military and naval forces. The insurgents and all others must recognize the military occupation and authority of the United States, and the cessation of hostilities proclaimed by the President. Use whatever means in your judgment are necessary to this end. All law-abiding people must be treated alike."

Spanish Peace Commissoners.

London, Aug. 19.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily News says that Generals Blanco, Castellanes and Leon, and Admiral Manterola have been appointed commissioners for Cuba, and Gen. Macias and Ortega and Admiral Vallarino for Porto Rico. It is probable, the correspondent says, that Senor Leon y Castillo, the Spanish Ambassador to France, will preside at the sessions of the Paris Committee.

The Terms of Capitulation.

London, Aug. 19.—The Hong Kong correspondent of the Daily Mail says: The terms of the capitulation of Manila, as agreed upon Saturday between Gen. Jaudenes and Gen. Merritt, include the cession of the Philippine archipelago to the United States.

Spanish Troops Sent Away.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 19.—Four thousand Spanish troops have already been shipped and the transports Villa Donga and Estra De Panal will leave today with 3,000 more. Gen. Toral says more transports will be needed than have been provided. The 6,000 Spanish at Guantanamo Bay cannot leave before the last of the month. Sickness is increasing among them.

VANKLEEK HILL VISITED.

The Fire Fiend Destroys Many Valuable Buildings at an Early Hour This Morning.

Vankleek Hill, Ont., Aug. 19.—About midnight a fire broke out which totally destroyed the residence and hardware store of Henry Cheney, house and shop occupied by Rev. Dr. W. K. and Miss Anderson; Blanchard, merchant tailor, and J. Landeau, barber; John Farmer's harness shop, dental office of Drs. Howes and Fitzpatrick and D. J. Jamieson & Sons' store, as well as Windsor hotel, Main street. Fire now under control. Insurance and loss at present unknown.

MEDICAL MEN AT QUEBEC.

First Business Meeting of the Canadian Medical Association.

Quebec, Aug. 19.—At the first business meeting of the Canadian Medical Association yesterday afternoon, papers were read by Dr. Rosebrough, Toronto, on the treatment of inebriates, which result-ed in the appointment of Drs. Thorburn, Muir and Adam, as a committee to study and report on the subject; on Monocular Diplopia, by Dr. Ryerson, Toronto; on Septic Peritonitis, by Hon. Dr. Marsil; on Genit Urinary Instruments, by Dr. Valentine, New York; on the Physican and Life Insurance, by Dr. Thorburn, and Cases in Gall—stones, cancer, tumor, etc., were exhibited and commented on by Dr. Smith of Orangeville.

It is stated that the question of the inter-provincial registration of the medical diplomas will be raised before the Canadian Medical Association. It is one of the most important from the professional standpoint that can come before the convention. The aim of such registration is to provide that a man holding a diploma in any one part of Canada might practice in any other part of it.

Albert Brown Killed.

Tilsonburg, Ont., Aug. 19.—Albert Brown, a well-known citizen, was instantly killed last evening at the bridge in course of construction over the Otter Creek, on the new T.L.E. & P. Railway, half a mile east of Tilsonburg. The frame of the pile driver fell, striking him on the head. He leaves a wife and seven children.

AN ISOLATED RACE.

The Ainos of Japan, Who Had Never Seen a Foreigner.

Mrs. Mabel Loomis Todd writes for The Century from personal observation an article entitled "In Aino Land." Mrs. Todd says:

In the summer of 1896, as a lay member of the Amherst college expedition which visited northern Japan to view the total eclipse of the sun, I had the rare opportunity of seeing the absolutely primitive "hairy Aino" of that region.

In the southern portion of the island, near Hakodate and Sapporo and about Volcano bay, travelers have visited these shy and silent people. But several hundred miles north are many Ainos who until the summer of 1896 were strangers to the members of any race but their own or the few Japanese who are establishing small fishing villages along the coast. The dwellers in the province of Kitami are too distant to be sought by visitors, and a foreign woman, the Japanese officials informed me, had never before reached Kitami.

Skirting the rough western coast by steamer and rounding Cape Soya, the eclipse party located at Esashi, which must not be confused with another town of the same name near Hakodate. The news of the arrival of strange white foreigners spread quickly among the neighboring villages. Walking with stately tread, bushy haired and bearded groups of Ainos often passed the expedition headquarters, apparently looking for nothing unusual and giving no evidence of curiosity, yet never failing to see every foreign figure within their range. Humbly accompanying their lords, women and children frequently followed, far less imposing than the men. Somewhat larger and apparently stronger than the Japanese, although not taller, the older men are actually patriarchal, with long beards and masses of thick hair parted in the middle. Many faces have a benign and lofty expression.

Driven gradually through ages from the south of Hokkaido, the Ainos are among the few races yet retaining in this overcivilized world of ours an utterly unspoiled simplicity. Their origin has never been satisfactorily traced, but they were certainly in Japan long before the present race of Japanese had arrived, and names clearly originating in the Aino tongue are still retained all over the empire. Gentle and subservient to the conquering race, it is evident that they formerly held more egotistic views than now, even fancying themselves the center of the universe, as is shown perhaps by an old national song:

Gods of the sea, open your eyes divine.
Wherever your eyes turn, there echos the sound of the Aino speech.

A Breakfast He Didn't Eat.

There is a woman who keeps a hotel and restaurant down town. She is good as good can be and prominent in righteous works. Last Sunday morning a man I know went into her cafe and ordered breakfast. It was a little late, and he was hungry. His breakfast order included several extras. Before a single dish had been placed before him the proprietress walked up to his table and said in a voice that was distinctly audible to everybody in the room:

"Would you please pay me now?"

The man looked up in surprise.

"Why, I don't owe you anything yet," he said.

"But I want you to pay me now," persisted the landlady. "You're the only one here who isn't a regular boarder. I don't know you, and I want to go to church, so please pay me now."

The stranger rose in wrath.

"Madam," said he, "I wouldn't for worlds keep you from going to church. Here is the money, and you may keep the breakfast."

And breakfastless, but filled with a rage that made him forget his hunger, the stranger stalked out.—Washington Post.

Russia's Priceless Jewels.

"A whole guidebook devoted simply to the Hermitage could give no sort of idea of the barbaric splendor of its belongings," writes Lilian Bell of the famous St. Petersburg museum in The Ladies' Home Journal. "Its riches are beyond belief. Even the presents given by the emir of Bokhara to the czar are splendid enough to dazzle one like a realization of the 'Arabian Nights,' but to see the most valuable of all, which are kept in the emperor's private vaults, is to be reduced to a state of bewilderment bordering on idiocy. It is astonishing enough to one who has bought even one Russian belt set with turquoise enamel to think of all the trappings of a horse—bit, bridle, saddle girth, saddle cloth and all—made of cloth of gold and set in solid turquoise enamel, with the sword hilt, scabbard, belts and pistol handle and holster made of the same. Well, these are there by the roomful. Then you come to the private jewels and you see all these same accouterments made of precious stones—one of solid damonds, another of diamonds, emeralds, topazes and rubies."

An Evasive Answer.

"John," said a clergyman to his factotum, "I shall be very busy this afternoon, and if any one calls I do not wish to be disturbed."

"All right, sir. Will I tell them you're not in?"

"No, John. That would be a lie."

"An what'll I say, yer reverence?"

"Oh, just put them off with an evasive answer."

At supper time John was asked if any one had called.

"Yes, there did," he said.

"And what did you tell him?" asked the clergyman.

"I gave him an evasive answer."

"How was that?" queried his reverence.

"He asked me was yer reverence in, an I sez to him, sez I, 'Was your grandmother a hoot owl?' "—London Answers.

Coughs.

Every person who coughs should not alarm himself with the idea that he is in a bad way. Experience has convinced us of a fact that there are two distinct kinds of coughs—one proceeding from an affection of the lungs and air tubes, as in a cold, the other proceeding from effervescence in the stomach. The lungs cough is a symptom which all know to require attention, lest serious consequences ensue. The stomach cough is a much more simple matter and may easily be got quit of. It is caused by the food and drink which are put into the stomach effervescing and producing an irritation. A knowledge of this fact ought to lead persons so affected to ponder a little on the nature of their ailment and the tone of their digestive powers.—New York Ledger.

DROPPED DEAD.

Captain Nelson Hodgins Expires Suddenly at Deseronto.

Captain Nelson Hodgins, one of the best known men in Prince Edward County, dropped dead on board his sail yacht in Deseronto harbor yesterday. Together with a companion, he was putting a mast in the yacht and while pulling on the rope, he suddenly fell down and expired. Heart failure, from which he had suffered for some years, was the cause.

Capt. Hodgins resided at South Bay, ten miles from Picton. He was about 58 years of age, and for many years had resided on the Bay and on Lake Ontario. He formerly owned several vessels on the Bay, but of late years had retired and devoted himself to raising fast horses. He leaves a wife and a grown-up family.

Cheap Underwear.

The Oak Hall have just received two cases of underwear to sell at 25cts. each or 50cts. a suit that is a wonder. A plain brown and brown and white stripe. This line of suits is sold by other houses as a bargain at 75cts. Investigate and see if we are right.

An Untidy Place.

Guests at the Quinte cannot be favorably impressed with the city, as they look out of its beautiful dining room. There is probably no more untidy spot in the centre of the city than that which they have to look at. The sweepings of the several offices in the vicinity all seem to go on the street, and weeds of various varieties are permitted to grow in luxuriance. Could not the throwing of paper and ashes on the street be prohibited? And could not the embankment on the railway track be sodded?

From Many Distant Points.

Among the arrivals at Ontario Business College this week are the following from distant points: Miss Minnie Darrell, Bermuda, West Indies; Clarence Parker, Bridgetown, Nova Scotia; Wm. H. Armstrong and Theo. Sparks, Ottawa.

An Ontario Farmer Rescued by Paine's Celery Compound.

WELLS & RICHARDSON Co.,
GENTLEMEN:—It is with very great pleasure that I testify to the value of your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. For nearly two years I suffered from indigestion and kidney and liver troubles. After trying several medicines that did not effect a cure, I decided to try your compound. Before using it I was so low in health that I could not rest or sleep. I could not lie in bed owing to pain in my back, and it was only by resting on my elbows and knees that I was enabled to obtain a slight degree of ease. Before I had fully taken one bottle of your medicine I began to improve. I have now taken in all fourteen bottles with grand results. I am a farmer and am now working every day. I am living witness to the worth of Paine's Celery Compound. Yours sincerely,
G. J. SMYE,

The Bowling Tournament.

At Niagara yesterday the final match in the association series was played and was a very close struggle between the Belleville and Toronto Victoria rinks. Veterans were at the helm in both cases. Mr. C. Lavis skipping for Belleville and Mr. John Bain for the Victorias. The result was a victory for the Victorias by a single shot—15 to 14. The Belleville men take home with them four pairs of the latest importation of extra quality bowls, and look like winning a championship pretty soon.

Biggar and LaRoche were in the semi-finals for the doubles. In the singles W. H. Biggar was in the third round, to play to-day. LaRoche was beaten by 15 to 14 in that round.

Re Rolling Mills.

To the Editor of the INTELLIGENCER.

SIR,—The by-law to be submitted to the electors of the city herein on the 30th day of this month starts out with the assertion "that it is expedient to pass this by-law by the electors of the said municipality."

After reading the by-law and the agreement I have no hesitation in saying that, however expedient it may seem to the Council to pass the by-law, I believe it is not in the interests of the electors to vote in favor of it for the following, among other reasons:

(A) The amount of bonus, $35,000, is too large an amount for the city to give Mr. Mitchell or any other rolling mills "bonus hunters," for the considerations mentioned in the agreement.

(B) Because the conditions of the agreement are more favorable to Mr. Mitchell than to the ratepayers; and are subject to a different meaning or legal interpretation. For example, take the 4th clause, which says "the contractor shall before the payment of the said bonus remove the plant of the Thames Iron Works and rebuild and complete the same in running order on the site herein described as herein provided and executed and delivered to the Corporation a good and sufficient bond for fifty thousand dollars with good and sufficient surety or sureties to the satisfaction of the Finance Committee of the City Council of the Corporation, conditioned for the performance on his part of this contract for the first term of five years from the payment of the said bonus as hereinbefore provided and to secure the Corporation, the repayment of the said bonus (meaning the $25,000) on a reconveyance of the said site, together with all the buildings, plant, machinery and appliances used in connection therewith for the manufacture of iron which may be placed, erected and constructed therein, in the event of failure of the contractor to perform any of the provisions of this agreement on his part within the term of five years."

The only legal interpretation that I can place upon the above conditions is that Mr. Mitchell has the option of either to pay the $25,000 if he fails to do as he has agreed to do in the five years or to reconvey to the City the buildings, plant, &c, without the payment of one dollar.

(C). The 8th clause says that after the payment of the bonus, &c, for the first five years he is to insure the buildings, &c, to an amount sufficient to provide against all loss which the same might sustain by fire. And in case same are destroyed or damaged by fire and the contractor does not within one month commence to rebuild and repair and complete the same within all reasonable dispatch, he shall assign and transfer the said policy or policies of insurance to the said Corporation free from all lien charges or incumbrances against the same."

Now suppose a fire does take place and destroys or partially destroys the building any time within the five years and the insurance is say $10,000 or more and Mr. Mitchell decides not to repair or rebuild, all he is to do is to assign the policies over to the City. He has the $30,000 and the City has the rest. This may appear that I want to say a harsh thing against Mr. Mitchell. I say this, I am merely pointing out that the conditions are such as to warrant my conclusions as to what can and may happen, and therefore the by-law should be voted down.

I am of the opinion that the by-law has not received a legal first reading by the Council, as the regular meeting refused to allow the first reading or the suspension of the rules and the Council adjourned and it was at the adjourned meeting that the alleged first reading took place, not withstanding it did not get even a two-thirds vote. Of course this was the same meeting as the regular meeting that had refused the first reading.

Yours truly,
W. JEFFERS DIAMOND.

Young Sailors

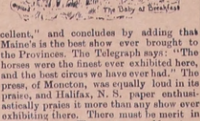

It is the intention of some of the sailing fraternity (who are under 16 years of age) to hold a regatta, on a small scale, about the end of this month. If those who are interested will communicate with Fred Wallbridge, or Harry Lee, the entries could be arranged and a good programme provided. Belleville has a number of very clever boy sailors, who can handle small craft to perfection. They ought to be encouraged.

THE CIRCUS COMING.

Some Extracts From Canadian Papers on Its Excellence.

In view of the coming engagement in this city, on Thursday, Sept. 1st, of the big circus, Walter L. Main Consolidated shows, a few of the comments from the press of the cities where the circus has already exhibited this season are submitted.

The St. John, N.B., papers of Saturday, June 9th, comment as follows:—The Sun says: "The street parade was fine, the attendants courteous, menagerie clean, and finest ever seen, tragedy work and riding undoubtedly best ever witnessed here; clowns good, and specialties excellent," and concludes by adding that Maine's is the best show ever brought to the Provinces. The Telegraph says: "The horses were the finest ever exhibited here, and the best circus we have ever had." The press, of Moncton, was equally loud in its praise, and Halifax, N. S. paper enthusiastically praises it more than any show ever exhibiting there. There must be merit in this big show. The papers would not so universally commend it otherwise. It comes to Belleville on September 1st.

BELLEVILLE ROAD CLUB.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Local Cyclists Last Night.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the Belleville Road Club was held at Wensley's last night. Mr. Herb. Fish was elected to the vacant position of Secretary. Three new members were received into the Club. A committee was appointed to look up suitable premises for a club room.

Arrangements were concluded for the relay race with the Britannia Bicycle Club, of Deseronto, to be held next Wednesday. The race starts at 3:30 p.m., sharp. R. Boyd will bear the packet from Trenton to Belleville, with C. Good and A. Rodbourne as pacemakers; Russel Chown from Belleville to Shannonville with Bert Bowers and J. Wrightmeyer; Fred McDavitt from Shannonville to Marysville, with Fred Armstrong and W. Lynn; W. Taylor from Marysville to Napanee, with A. Andrews and F. Latta; E. Streets from Napanee to Marysville, returning with E. Belair and A. Taylor.

The time keepers will be: At Trenton, W. Carnew; Belleville, H. Parker Thomas and Chas. J. Bowell; Shannonville, V. Wensley; Marysville, Herb. Fish; Napanee, F. Foster. Mr. A. I. Bird was chosen as Judge.

Another meeting of the Club is called for Monday night. It is to be hoped that every member will do his utmost to make the race a success and that every Belleville cyclist not already a member of the Club, will join at the first opportunity.

House and Contents Destroyed by Fire in Sidney.

A house occupied by John Huffman and owned by Henry Rowe in Sidney was discovered to be on fire about 10:30 last night. The alarm was sounded here, but the brigade could not go beyond the city limits.

The brick house, which was known as the Gillett homestead, was totally destroyed with the major portion of the contents. The origin of the fire is unknown. It started in the woodshed in the rear of the house. Mr. Rowe's loss was $1,000, with $600 insurance; Mr. Huffman's loss about $500, no insurance.

POLICE COURT.

The Famous Dispute Over Two Augers Again Before the Court.

Chas. Goodrich, a tramp, was arrested by Officer Morton at Zwick's Island yesterday. Magistrate Flint fined him $10 or 30 days, with a chance to leave town.

One Dalton charged Mrs. Herbert Foster with using abusive language. The Magistrate found that she had not used the language charged, but she had used other expressions, which brought her under the operation of the by-law. A fine of $1 and costs was imposed. W. Carnew for the defence.

John Barry, charged with stealing two augers from Stephen Ward, again appeared in court to-day. After the counsel had addressed the court, Mr. Flint gave judgment that the evidence proved that Barry had simply borrowed the articles, intending to restore them, and therefore, honorably discharged him. E. Guss Porter and W. Carnew for the prosecution. W. B. Northrup and J. F. Wills for the defence.

BY 480.

The By-Law Carried by a Sweeping Majority.

The Ward-grabbers received a crushing defeat yesterday, Ald. Denmark's by-law being carried by a majority of 480 out of a total vote of 720. Foster Ward, the smallest Ward in the city, was the only one in which the opponents held the innovators in check; Ketcheson, the banner Ward, giving the log-rollers a black eye, the vote being practically unanimous in favor of the change. The following are the complete returns:

Wards.	For.	Against.
Bleecker	27	13
Coleman	70	6
Baldwin	94	16
Samson	91	8
Murney, No. 7	91	7
No. 8	45	6
Foster	23	22
Ketcheson	176	2
	600	120
Majority for	480

As no fixed proportion of the available or polled vote is required, the by-law now goes to the Council for its second and third readings. The Aldermen should remember that if they do not pass the by-law within a certain time, any ratepayer may ask for an injunction compelling them to pass it, and they then become liable to a heavy fine or six months' imprisonment. Next year's Council will be exactly half the size of the present one, eleven members, whereas now we have 22, including the Mayor.

WILL "PROHIBITION PROHIBIT?"

Such was the query put by the Premier when discussing the question of the plebiscite in the House of Commons, during the last session of Parliament, so every piece of information upon this subject, will be of interest to both parties. The New York Evening Post, in commenting upon the results that followed the passage of a prohibitory law in Norway, gives the following gloomy account of its effects upon the people:

"The people of Norway long ago became alarmed at the spread of spirit-drinking, and, after trying the Gothenburg system, which purified the pot-houses, eighteen towns resolved to prohibit the sale of spirits altogether. They did prohibit it, closing every spirit-shop, with the result that drunkenness immediately and decidedly increased. Not only was a strong kind of port wine drunk in quantities, but illicit stills were set up in most back kitchens, and the people drank the raw, fresh spirits with lamentable results. Even the children were found intoxicated, and the arrests for drunkenness increased from thirty to eighty per cent. Prohibition, in fact, totally failed, as it might have been expected to fail in the circumstances. The only community in which prohibition can be enforced successfully is a community in which nobody wants to drink liquor. The Norwegians, or a good many of them, do want to drink, and will do so, in spite of the law, if they cannot manage it lawfully."

The Portland (Maine) Argus of Tuesday, Aug. 9, contains the following editorial paragraph:

"A vote on prohibition is to be taken in the Dominion of Canada September 29. The result is said to be in doubt, but it wouldn't be if the people of Canada could study for themselves the working of the prohibitory law in Maine."

Evidence as to the failure of the Maine prohibitory law to prohibit is furnished in ... of the ... Argus, of the ... issue from which the above opinion is taken. The police Court record of the previous day in Portland shows that eight out of eleven persons before the court were convicted of drunkenness and fined or sent to gaol. We quote as follows:

PORTLAND MUNICIPAL COURT.

Judge Robinson, presiding.

Monday—Patrick Conley. Intoxication; fined $3, and costs.

... F. Folan. Obscene words; fined ... and costs.

... F. Nolan. Intoxication; fined $5 ... costs.

... A. McDonald. Intoxication; fined ... costs.

John P. Fitzgerald. Intoxication; fined ... and costs.

Herbert H. Graffam, otherwise called ... Herbert H. Griffin. Intoxication; 30 days ...

... Travers. Intoxication; fined $3 ... costs.

Patrick Mulkern. Intoxication; 90 days ... county gaol.

Joseph J. Presley. Intoxication; fined $5 ... costs.

William G. Chanler. Search and seizure; fined $100 and costs. Appealed.

William W. Morgan. Larceny; nolle prossed.

It is said by the plebiscite party in this country that prohibition would work such a moral miracle, the habits of the people would be so changed by it, that the gaols would soon be empty, and the police officials could almost be dispensed with. They argue that these agencies are maintained and necessitated in Canada because the sale of liquor in Canada is not prohibited. But the article is used in seemingly total ignorance of the actual working of "prohibition," in the State where the law has long been on the statute book. The law in Maine, which has been in force for fifty years, is said by local papers to be practically of no effect. The sale of liquor goes on without publicity, but almost without restraint. The expense of the police force is not lessened, but rather increased by the effort to check the drunkenness resulting from the ease with which liquor is obtained. ... the case in Maine ... counds take the ... being of less ... expense. The ... nness and de... those countries where ... es and beers are generally con...

The answer to these facts is that the law is not rigidly enforced in the prohibitory states, otherwise the result would be different. In this lies the gist of the whole affair, which no doubt led the Premier to ask: "Will prohibition prohibit." If a prohibitory law would be enforced, thousands ... for it who are now lukewarm ... Our officials do not en... of the present license ... do any better if adminis... prohibitory law?

"BY A LARGE MAJORITY."

The electors of Belleville have decided, by five to one of those who polled their votes, to abolish the Ward system and reduce the number of Aldermen from twenty-one to ten.

Had a full vote been recorded the majority would have been much larger.

The reasons for this sweeping majority in favor of a change are too well known to require further reference, and the people are to be congratulated on the result.

A MIGHTY ARMAMENT.

Importance of the Increase of the U. S. Navy as Regards the Far East—Hay's Appointment.

London, Aug. 20.—The morning papers comment upon the proposed immense increase in the American navy.

The Standard says: "Such a fleet operating from Manila as a base would be able to exercise considerable influence upon the progress of events in Chinese waters, and added to the English-China squadron and the Japanese navy would make a mighty armament indeed." The Standard suggests that this consideration may give Russia a pause.

The Daily Mail says: "The new programme is startling in its immensity. The American navy jumps to fourth place among the world's fleets. It will not long remain fourth, nor will it be long before the United States will have a policy in China."

Of Far-Reaching Importance.

Berlin, Aug. 20.—The Hamburgische correspondent regards the appointment of Col. Hay to the post of Secretary of State of the United States as of far-reaching importance, as indicating the solidarity of the Anglo-American understanding and co-operation in far Eastern affairs.

Advised to Go Home.

Washington, Aug. 20.—There have been conferences between Estrada Palma and other representatives of the Cubans with officials of the United States Government relative to the Cubans, and what would be done with them. Mr. Palma was advised that the United States would not consider the question of compensation of the Cuban troops. He was told that the best thing the Cubans could do was to advise the men in arms to disband, retire to their homes and engage in peaceful pursuits. The Junta has sent emissaries who will try to persuade the Cuban leaders that resistance to United States authority would result only in further distress in Cuba.

DEATH OF EX-SHERIFF GIBBONS.

He Was Formerly Representative of South Huron in the Legislature.

Goderich, Aug. 20.—Ex-Sheriff Robert Gibbons passed away last evening at the ripe age of 87 years. His name occupies a prominent place in the political and municipal history of Huron county. He was of Scotch origin, having been born in Glasgow, Dec. 24, 1811. In 1832 he emigrated to Canada and on May 16, in that year, he arrived at Goderich, then a village of less than 250 inhabitants. He served as Mayor of Goderich, and was for many years reeve and warden of the county. Mr. Gibbons was elected to represent South Huron in the first Parliament of Ontario, and four years later, in 1871, was re-elected to the Legislature, each time as a Liberal. After serving two terms of the second Parliament he resigned his seat to accept the shrievalty of Huron county, which office he acceptably filled until about a year ago, when he found that his advancing age incapacitated him from the active duties of his office.

SPEAKER SAVES GOVERNMENT

He Ruled Against Mr. Whitney's Point of Order.

It Challenged the Right of Eight Constable Members to Vote on the Constable Bill Under Rules 16 and 114 a—An Anxious Moment or Two for Messrs. Hardy and Ross—The Supplementary Estimates Brought Down.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Old Dan the ram did duty again in the Legislature yesterday. Mr. T. D. Hodgins, East Middlesex, rose to a question of privilege in connection with Hon. J. E. Davis' statement thereanent the day before. He had not charged the Government with paying an exorbitant price for the ram, and he had not said the animal was imported. The public accounts of 1886 would show that Mr. John Glennie had sold the Government the ram under the head of "stock" for $150.

Hon. J. E. Davis said he had not accused Mr. Hodgins, but the Opposition organ, of making the charges. The purchase referred to by him under the head of "stock" had been from Hampshire Down ewes in lamb, and he did not know whether they were worth the price of the ram or not. He afterward brought down the invoice of the transaction with Mr. Brown.

The Constables' Bill.

Mr. Carscallen, rising to talk on the constable bill, said the Government had tried to disguise the issue and throw dust in the people's eyes. At some length he considered Mr. Ross' authority, Cooley, to show the Minister that a distinction should be made between retrospective legislation, which was generally permissible, and ex post facto laws like the one on hand. He said the Government could not point to a single precedent in the annals of history, or of Parliament, for their bill. Taking up the various sections, he took exception most strongly to No. 2, which provided that in case the appellant's counsel decided to make the constable votes a ground for protesting the election, an order postponing the trial until after the decision of the Court of Appeal had been given must be issued. This clause, he said, simply gagged justice. Then there was section 13, which practically said that if a scrutiny proved the Liberal to be elected well and good, but if the court adjudged the seat to be Conservative, there should be a new election. In conclusion he moved, seconded by Mr. Colquhoun, "That this bill be not now read a third time, but that it be read this day six months hence."

Mr. Garrow (West Huron) held that it was only right that if constable ballots were not counted, a new election alone could put both candidates fairly on the basis as before March 1. He for one refused to sit in any House where he could not sit with honor.

Mr. Foy (South Toronto) cited many precedents and continued the discussion over them. He denied the Attorney-General's contention that the receipt of public money for public services did not vitiate a vote.

The Speaker rose at 6 p.m.

Mr. Foy resumed at 8.10. He said that there was a difference between constables appointed under the Ontario and Dominion Acts. Mr. Edgar acknowledges that the appointing of these gives the Government assistance. How much more is it so in Ontario. There was also a difference between constables from necessity and those appointed to gain a vote. They should all be of the former class and not as in one sub-division he knew of with six votes and one constable. He believed the whole question soluble by the ordinary methods of legislation.

W. C. Moscrip (South Perth), after regretting the tone of the Opposition toward the Government on the standing of the judiciary, said there were no men on either side who wished to do anything wrong. It was merely a difference of opinion. He reiterated that the law of 1897 was a precedent. He wished to see the question dealt with on a broad basis, and not as a technical issue.

Dr. Pyne said he considered it a privilege to enter a protest against legislation of a character designed to secure two or three members their seats. The Attorney-General had stated that constables had the right to vote, though the judges had no right, because they never had the right. He said the judges could have petitioned for a vote. "Did the constables ever petition?" asked Dr. Pyne. He considered that the bill was almost bordering on the revolutionary stage. It was almost a family compact scheme, of which the result was known. After reference to the events which foreshadowed the revolution of 1688, the speaker claimed that at least four of the Government supporters had no rights to seats in the House. He closed by saying the Government will find that they have saddled themselves with a question that will in the end down them.

Mr. Charlton of South Norfolk said that he would still have a majority of 15, striking out the constables' votes. "I," said Mr. Charlton, "do not like to attend a funeral before there is a death. It appears to me this Government was never in a more healthy state. It will pass this bill, and Parliament will adjourn, but it will meet again, and the eight seats disputed will be occupied, the two Ministers will be here with seats, and everything will be lovely."

Mr. Kidd of Carleton next spoke for half an hour.

Government Majority Again.

It was then 10.20 o'clock. No other member rising, Mr. Speaker put the amendment of the Hamilton members for the six months' hoist to the second reading. The result was a vote of 47 to 41 against the amendment, making a majority for the Government of six.

The division on the amendment was as follows:

Yeas—Whitney, Marter, Matheson, Foy, Miscampbell, Crawford, Carscallen, Colquhoun, Reid (Addington), Little, Carnegie, Powell, Fallis, Reid (Durham W.), Lucas, Wardell, Pyne, Kidd, Brower, Barr, Hoyle, Beatty (Leeds), Morrison, White, Thompson, Duff, Gallagher, Dempsey, Fox, Lackner, Kribs, McLaughlin, McDonald, Joynt, Tucker, Hodgins, Jessop, Macdiarmid, Calder, Boyd, Allen—41.

Nays—Hardy, Ross, Harcourt, Davies, Harty, Stratton, Conmee, McKay, Ferguson, McKee, Carpenter, Caldwell, Auld, Richardson, Mutrie, Farwell, Lees, Charlton, Bowman, German, Garrow, Pattullo, Lumsden, Smith, Dickenson, Pardo, Barber, Douglas, Russell, Burt, Brown, Moscrip, Blezard, Loughrin, Taylor, Bridgland, Graham, Clarke, Pettyplece, Pardee, Holmes, Guibord, Hislop, Aylesworth, Beatty (Parry Sound), Truax, Hill—47.

Pairs—Ellber and Campbell, Jameson and Malcolm.

Challenged Eight Members' Votes.

On the question, "Shall the bill be recorded as carried on the same division?" Mr. Whitney was immediately on his feet to say, "No; not yet." Before the bill was put he wished to rise to a point of order. His point was that the members for East Lambton, South Norfolk, West York, Nipissing, Lennox, Muskoka, West Huron and South Perth were excluded by rules 16 and 114 a., from the right to vote on the bill.

Rule 16 says: "No member is entitled to vote upon any question in which he has a direct pecuniary interest, and the vote of any member so interested shall be disallowed."

Rule 114, A., says: "If anything shall come in question touching the return or election of any member, he is to withdraw during the time the matter is in debate, and all members returned upon double returns are to withdraw until their returns are determined."

Mr. Whitney said he thought the last rule quoted was conclusive, and, to prove that it concerned the eight members mentioned, he produced petitions against their election, based on the ground that the settlement of the constable vote question was still pending. If the facts set out in the petition did not also show that the sitting members were directly interested pecuniarily, then he could not conceive of a case in which rule 16 could be applied. He anticipated the probable citation of a precedent against his contention in a previous bill, relating to assessments, were then affected, but that was a public bill, and their votes were, therefore, permissible. The present bill could not be urged as a public one, since it effected only a few individuals. He said, in conclusion, that it might be well to wait until Mr. Speaker had had opportunity to weigh the question thoroughly.

The Anxiety of Hardy and Ross.

Mr. Whitney sat down and matters were felt to be in a decidedly acute position. Mr. Hardy realized that his Government must rise or fall by the Speaker's decision and he restlessly poised himself in a half-erect position, awaiting the Speaker's verdict, while the Minister of Education searched his desk for matter to refute the point raised.

Speaker Saves the Government.

The tension, however, was relieved in less time than it takes to tell it by the Speaker, who decided that the Opposition leader's proposition was out of order, and he did not need "to wait till to-morrow or any other day to give a decision."

"I find," said the Speaker, "that the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery has informed the House of the return of the members. It is also to my knowledge that they have taken the oath of office, and are, therefore, entitled to vote." He preferred basing his contention on British rather than Canadian House of Commons practices. He quoted from May, an English authority, to the effect that no question of the kind could be raised excepting by the placing in his hands of a substantive motion, of which due notice should be given. He was certainly of the opinion that the pecuniary interest of members was not such as should prevent them from voting.

When the Speaker sat down the Ministerialists offered up hearty thanksgiving for their escape, in the shape of applause.

In reply to Mr. Whitney, the Attorney-General intimated that the House would not meet again until Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

$425,000 Supplementary Estimates.

Then the members deferentially rose in their places to receive a message from the Crown. The Provincial Secretary read it, as follows: "The Lieut.-Governor transmits the estimates of certain sums required for the services of the province until the estimates for 1899 are finally passed and recommends them to the Legislative Assembly."

The amount asked is as follows:

Civil Government	$ 60,000
Legislation	85,000
Public institutions mentioned	150,000
Education	40,000
Administration of justice	50,000
Miscellaneous	40,000
Total	$425,000

Mr. Harcourt said that the amounts were the same as other years, and they will be passed upon next week. The Constable bill goes into committee of the House Monday night.

The House adjourned at 11 o'clock.

The Doherty Organ Co. Debentures.

Mr. Garrow, seconded by Mr. Pattullo, asked the grace of the House to introduce a bill confirming a bylaw passed unanimously by the town of Clinton bonusing the Doherty Organ Company, by the issue of $25,000 in debentures. He assured Mr. Whitney that the new factory, having been built and being actually in working order, it would be imperative that the bill should go through before next session. The money was needed.

Mr. Garrow's special committee, after the somewhat reluctant sanction of both leaders, was appointed to go into the matter, and the second reading will come up Monday.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several med cal herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

A DEATHBED CONFESSION.

Dying Woman Says Her Husband Fired His Employer's Barns.

Bolton, Ont., Aug. 20.—Last summer the barn and crops of Mr. Isaac Bowes, Albion township, were destroyed by fire and several of his cattle were poisoned about the same time. The guilty party was not detected. This week a young woman, a daughter of John Bowes of Albion, who was married some few years ago to a man named Charles Spofford, has confessed that her husband fired the barn and poisoned the cattle. Mrs. Spofford's husband was working for Isaac Bowes at the time. He afterward rented a farm, but threw it up this summer, deserting his wife, and his address is not now known. Mrs. Spofford is seriously ill and not expected to recover, hence the confession. She has kept silent until now because of threats made by her husband against her life.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

Rome Again Agitated Because of a Reported Relapse.

Rome, Aug. 20.—Rumors are in circulation that the Pope has suffered a further relapse. Dr. Lapponi, His Holiness' physician, denies the report, but anxiety prevails.

The Leahy Family Jonahed.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—Calamity still overhangs the Leahy family. About nine months ago Patrick Leahy and four children were burned to death in their home here. A short time afterward a fifth child died from burns received in the fire. A month ago Mrs. Leahy also died, leaving two children behind her, and yesterday morning one of the remaining children expired. A boy six years of age alone remains of a family of nine.

Shot Through the Lung.

Athens, Ont., Aug. 20.—Charles Crane and Henry McLaughlin, both aged about 16, were hunting in a wood near the village, when, by accident, the gun in the hands of Crane, went off, the charge striking McLaughlin. The bullet entered the left breast, passing through the left lung. The doctors' operation failed to locate the bullet and small hopes are entertained of his recovery.

A Child Killed.

Stouffville, Aug. 20.—Last night Mr. Dorley of Ringwood and his little daughter, Zella, while driving home, were thrown out of their buggy in crossing a stream. The child was killed.

Killed in the Grand Trunk Yard.

Windsor, Aug. 20.—At 3.30 yesterday morning William E. Jeffery, a switchman, was run over and fatally injured in the Grand Trunk yard here. He fell in front of two moving cars while preparing to make a coupling, and both passed over him, mangling him badly.

Election Protests.

Toronto, Aug. 20.—At Osgoode Hall yesterday two more election trials were postponed, which makes seven so far. Mr. R. E. Gagen appeared for the petitioner, Mr. William Bognes of Listowel, and obtained an order from Chief Justice Osler postponing the trial of the North Perth election case indefinitely. The Chief Justice also heard the application of Mr. R. A. Grant to postpone the North Hastings case, and the learned Justice thought a postponement would be advisable while the constable vote was a live issue in the Legislature. The seven postponements that have thus far taken place are: East Elgin, West Elgin, South Perth, Centre Simcoe, Halton, North Hastings and North Perth.

Canadian Medical Association.

Quebec, Aug. 20.—The members of the Canadian Medical Association are to hold the next annual convention in Toronto. The association elected its officers for the current year. Dr. Irving H. Cameron of Toronto was elected president; Dr. F. N. G. Starr of Toronto, general secretary, and Dr. C. R. Dickson, Toronto, provicial secretary for Ontario.

The report on inter-provincial registration was adopted. A special committee will have charge of the legislation required.

Humor of the Egyptians.

A German savant describes a comic papyrus, unique of its kind. The artist painted burlesque scenes in which cats and rats conduct themselves in a human fashion, quite in the Louis Wain manner, and the manners of cats are attributed to rats, and inversely. In the first scene, a rat, attired as a grand dame, is served by a cat that is clothed as a slave and is presenting a mirror to the mistress. In the next scene a rat has the traits of a young Egyptian dandy, and an obsequious cat, having shaved him, places on his head a huge peruke. In the third sketch, a cat cradles in her arms a young rat in the manner of a nurse.

THE ROMAN CHURCH IN CUBA

Separated From the State When "Old Glory" Went Up.

Cardinal Gibbons Will Probably Exercise Authority in the Meantime Until a Cardinal Is Appointed for the West Indies—Subject to U. S. Laws—Priesthood Will Be Loyal—Archbishop Ireland's Ideas Voiced.

New York, Aug. 20.—Archbishop Ireland is described in a telegram to the Press from Washington as having made a brief call on the Secretary of War yesterday. His mission was of a private nature, in which he said the public had no interest.

Asked by the correspondent concerning the status of the Catholic Church in Cuba and Porto Rico, now that they were under the control of the United States Government, he made the following statement:

Subject to U. S. Laws.

"The moment the Stars and Stripes were raised over the conquered islands the Catholic dioceses became subject to the laws of the United States, as did the dioceses of every other religious denomination in the islands. The Catholic churches in Cuba and Porto Rico will, as usual, be under the immediate ecclesiastical control of the Archbishops and Bishops, as was the case before the war began. It is possible that in time a Cardinal may be established in one of the islands, the same as here. In the meanwhile, it is also probable that the Cardinal Archbishop of Baltimore will be asked to extend much the same jurisdiction over the church in the islands as he now exercises over the church in the United States.

"Much, doubtless, will have to be done by the Catholic Church authorities to repair the present shattered condition of ecclesiastical affairs in the islands. There is much poverty existing among the people of the islands, and now that the church is separated from the State, which was Spain, whatever is done to place the several Catholic dioceses on a firm financial footing necessarily will come from the pockets of Catholics throughout the world.

Priesthood Will Be Loyal.

"I have no fear that the priesthood of the islands, whether Spanish or Cuban, will not be loyal to the new sovereignty established in their country. It is the policy of the Catholic Church—a policy almost as old as the church itself—to support the existing Government. This being true, it follows that the priesthood in Cuba and Porto Rico, no matter how strong their love may be for Spain, will obey with unflinching firmness the law of the church.

"As Catholics we shall ask no special favors for the church in the islands. We shall go on building up the spiritual interests of the church there, as we have in the United States, and as we have everywhere on the habitable globe. The history of the Catholic Church demonstrates to a mathematical certainty that it can care for itself. All it asks is a fair field and no special favors."

JOHNSONS IN A NET.

The Case Against Detroit Counterfeiters Is Complete—Women to Go Free—Mrs. Johnson a Paralytic.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 20.—The United States officers and local detectives have given up further search for additional evidence against the Johnson counterfeiting gang. It is claimed that enough has been secured to establish a good case against them. There is no specific case against Mrs. Georgiana Baylis, sister of the Johnson brothers, who was arrested on Wednesday, and it is believed she, as well as Mrs. Johnson, will soon be released from custody.

The Mother to Go Free.

Mrs. Agnes Johnson, the mother, who is a helpless paralytic, will not be arrested. Mr. Webb says so emphatically. Although she is as guilty as her daughter, as some of the counterfeit money was found in the bureau drawers in her bedroom, the Government will not prosecute an invalid of her age. The Government detectives appear to believe that the mother is now in Port Huron. Mr. Webb says she is there. The fact of the matter is that she is now living with a relative—highly respectable—on Ash street, in this city. Capt. McDonnell knows where to find her, so do some of his men.

HUME CAN'T ACCEPT.

Premier Semlin's Cabinet Troubles—Martin Looks Like the Choice.

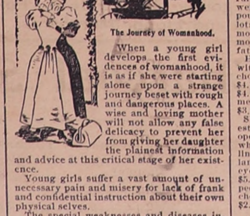

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 20.—The completion of Premier Semlin's Cabinet is not yet. The next selection is expected to be that of Minister of Mines, for which the choice lies between the two Kootenay members, J. F. Hume of Nelson riding and James Martin of Rossland, but in an interview last night Mr. Hume declared with positiveness that his business prevents his acceptance of a seat in the new Cabinet, inferentially admitting that he had been offered the portfolio.

Mr. Martin now looks the probable choice.

RAILWAY DEAL.

Rumored Purchase of London & Port Stanley by L.E. & D.R.R.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 20.—It is rumored that the Lake Erie & Detroit Railway people have purchased the London & Port Stanley Railway. The L.E. & D. Railway has had the road leased for a number of years, but the directors

The Journey of Womanhood.

When a young girl develops the first evidences of womanhood, it is as if she were starting alone upon a strange journey beset with rough and dangerous places. A wise and loving mother will not allow any false delicacy to prevent her from giving her daughter the plainest information and advice at this critical stage of her existence.

Young girls suffer a vast amount of unnecessary pain and misery for lack of frank and confidential instruction about their own physical selves.

The special weaknesses and diseases incident to woman's organic development are completely and permanently remedied by the "Favorite Prescription" prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

More than 90,000 cases of obstinate female difficulties have been absolutely cured by this wonderful "Prescription." It heals, strengthens and completely rejuvenates the tissues and nerve-centers of the feminine organism. It is the only medicine devised for this special purpose by a regularly graduated experienced physician. It is the one authorized preparation which may be positively relied upon to cure.

Mothers and daughters may consult Dr. Pierce by letter without charge and in the most absolute confidence. Their letters will be answered not by any mere nurse, but by an educated skilled physician. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser will be sent free if 31 one-cent stamps are inclosed to defray the cost of customs and mailing only.

Miss Edith Cain, of Clinton, Allegheny Co., Pa., writes: "I take pleasure in expressing my faith in your 'Favorite Prescription.' After two years of suffering I began taking Dr. Pierce's medicine and now I am entirely cured. I had been troubled with female weakness for some time and also with a troublesome drain on the system, but now I am happy and well. I will cheerfully recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all invalid ladies."

dently thought that it would be better to purchase it outright, as large docks had been built at Port Stanley recently for the transfer of coal cars from Ohio, and should another road secure this branch, it would cut off the Walker road. E. C. Walker, Dr. King, W. Woollatt and Henry Lye, officials of the road, have gone to Toronto to close the deal.

WHEAT CHEAPER.

And This Despite the Expected Decrease in the Visible Supply—Small Farmers' Deliveries—The Prices.

Friday Evening, Aug. 19.

Farmers' deliveries of new wheat continue very small, and next Monday's statistics are expected to show a decrease for the current week of over 1,000,000 bushels in the visible supply in Canada and the United States. Nevertheless, with the prospects of very large shipments to market later in the season, the market exhibits weakness. On the Chicago board to-day the August delivery receded 1⅛c, and the September and December options 1¼c and 1c, respectively. The close was at about bottom quotations.

On the Liverpool board to-day spot wheat declined ½d to 1d per cental, while the September and December future deliveries advanced ⅝d and ¼d per cental, respectively. Paris futures closed 5 centimes lower to 15 centimes higher for the day.

Toronto St. Lawrence Market.

Receipts of farm produce were large to-day—3100 bushels of grain, 30 loads of hay, with seasonable fruit and vegetables in abundance.

Wheat firmer, 500 bushels selling as follows: White 74c to 75c, red at 74c to 77c, goose 61c to 61½c per bushel.

One load of rye sold at 40c per bushel.

Barley steady; 200 bushels sold at 39c to 40c.

Oats easier; 2200 bushels sold at 28c to 31c.

Peas steady, 150 bushels selling at 55c to 60c.

Dressed hogs sold at $6 to $6.50 per cwt.

Hay steady at $7 to $9 per ton for 30 loads.

Straw, $7 per ton.

Potatoes plentiful, selling at 45c to 60c per bushel by the load.

Apples plentiful, selling at $1 to $1.50 per barrel, the latter price being paid for very choice early Duchess variety; per basket, 15c to 20c.

Butter sold at 18c to 21c per lb., according to quality.

Eggs easy at 11c to 14c per doz.

Poultry—Chickens sold at 45c to 65c, and ducks at 50c to 75c per pair.

Toronto Live Stock.

The run of live stock at the Cattle Market to-day was large—81 carloads, composed of 760 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 3678 hogs and 50 calves.

In the export class the supply was equal to the demand. Trade slow at $4.12 to $4.60 per cwt. for choice shippers, the bulk going at $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt.

Loads of good butchers and exporters, mixed, sold at $4 to $4.20.

Choice picked lots of butchers' cattle sold at $4.15 to $4.25; loads of good, $3.85 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.80; common, $3.12½ to $3.37½; inferior, $3 to $3.15.

There were about 40 milk cows, many of which were of poor quality. Prices were easier at $25 to $40 each.

Calves sold at $3 to $6 each and $4.50 to $4.75 per cwt., live weight.

Sheep—Deliveries large; prices fairly steady. Ewes sold at $3.25 to $3.40, and bucks $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt.

Spring lambs were plentiful. Prices a shade easier at $3 to $4 each, or $4.50 to $4.75 per cwt.

Hogs came forward in large numbers, which caused the market to break, prices going lower to $5.75 to $5.85 for best selections of choice hogs, 150 to 200 lbs., unfed and unwatered, off cars; light fats, $5.40 to $5.50; heavy fats, $4.75 to $5.

One single-deck of 77 unculled hogs, unfed and unwatered, off cars, sold at $5.65 per cwt.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—Hogs—Estimated receipts to-day, 20,000; left over, 6000; fairly active; best steady, others weak; light, $3.50 to $3.90; mixed, $3.55 to $3.92½; heavy, $3.50 to $3.95; roughs, $3.50 to $3.65.

Cattle—Receipts, 2500. Steady to strong. Beeves, $4.30 to $5.65; cows and heifers, $2 to $4.80; Texas steers, $3.25 to $4.30; western, $3.75 to $4.70; stockers and feeders, $3.40 to $4.80.

Cheese Markets.

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—Ottawa Cheese Board went other points one better to-day, and cheese sold higher than at any place in the county. Some white sold as high as 8⅛c and colored at 8¼c. This, however, was only for a couple of choice factories. The offering included 1113 white and 272 colored. Warrington got 444 white and 172 colored, paying 7⅞c for 85 white to 8 1-10c, 8c being the ruling price. Warrington paid 8 1-10c and 8 3-10c for colored. Lovell & Christmas got 471 white and 50 colored from 7⅞c to 8c for white and 8⅛c for the colored lot. The Ottawa Cold Storage Company bought one lot of 50 colored for 8¼c.

Brighton, Ont., Aug. 19.—Ten factories put on Brighton Cheese Board to-day, 665 cheese—435 July, 230 August; 340 July and August sold at 7 15-16c to Whitton and McGrath; 60 July sold at 7⅞c. Buyers present: Whitton, McGrath and Bird. Board meets Aug. 26, at 1.30 p.m.

Perth, Ont., Aug. 19.—Business was dull at the Cheese Market here to-day. Only 600 boxes of white cheese were offered, of which 150 were sold to Warrington and the remaining 400 between Hodgson Bros. and Alexander. Most of it was August make. Ruling price was 7⅞c.

Kemptville, Ont., Aug. 19.—In the absence of President Patten, who is confined to his bed through illness, Vice-President E. Scott acted as auctioneer. The offering consisted of 913 cheese, 50 of which were white, August make. Nearly all sold at 8⅛c. Buyers: Bissel, Howe and Webster.

South Finch, Ont., Aug. 19.—At the regular meeting of the South Finch Cheese Board the following buyers were present: J R Weir Pruner, Birdsell, Allison. Number of August cheese boarded, 1110; 708 colored, balance white; 8¼c offered for colored, onl y40 sold; 8c offerede for white; balance likely to be sold after board.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, Aug. 19.—Cattle—Receipts light. Market rule fairly steady for the few good stockers and feeding cattle on sale, and all of these kind were sold. Two loads Canada stockers sold at $4.05 late Thursday, a shade lower than those at the opening of the week.

Veals and Calves—Receipts light; market ruled with an active demand, and prices were stronger for good grades by ¼c per pound, and all were sold out early. Top lots good veals sold at $6.50 to $6.75; common to good, $5 to $6.25; a few light common lots, $4.50 to $4.75; sour milk and good fat fed calves, $3.25 to $4.50, as to quality.

Hogs—Supply fairly liberal. Market ruled with a fairly active demand. Good to choice grades were in fair demand. Yorkers, $4.15 to $4.17; fair to good light Yorkers, $4.10 to $4.15; mixed packers, $4.10 to $4.15; medium and heavy, $4.15; roughs, $3.35 to $3.75; stags, $2.75 to $3.25; pigs, $2.75 to $4.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts liberal—heaviest Friday for several weeks past. Market opened decidedly slow and lower for lambs, while sheep were about steady, but yearlings were also 10c to 15c lower. Spring lambs, ewes and wethers, $6 to $6.35; buckeyes, fair, $5.40 to $5.90; culls, $4.25 to $5.25; yearlings, $4.25 to $5.15; native clipped sheep, wethers, $4.75 to $4.90; fair to choice mixed sheep, $4.40 to $4.70; ewes, $2.75 to $4.25.

British Markets.

Liverpool, Aug. 19.—No. 1 Nor. spring, 6s 10½d; red winter, 6s 3d; No. 1 Cal., 6s 6d to 6s 6½d; corn, 3s 2d; peas, 5s 0½d; pork, 51s 3d; lard, 26s 6d; tallow, 19s 6d; bacon, heavy, l.c., 30s; light, 29s 6d; short cut, 30s 0d; cheese, white, 37s 6d; colored, 38s 6d.

Liverpool—Close—Spot wheat steady at 6s 6d for No. 1 Cal., 6s 2d for Walla, 6s 2½d for red winter, 6s 10½d for No. 1 Nor. and 6s 1d for Indian. Futures steady at 5s 10d for Sept. and 5s 4¼d for Dec. Maize steady at 3s 2d for spot. Futures, 3s 2⅜d for Sept. and 3s 2¾d for Oct. Flour, 22s 0d.

TRIAL OF ANDRE RIOPELLE.

Interesting Legal Point Raised by Defence Counsel.

Mr. Foran Contends That a Verdict of Accidental Death Having Been Returned, That Verdict Stands as Law and Cannot Be Altered Except by a Higher Court—The Objection Overruled—A Jew Peddler Wanted.

Ottawa, Aug. 20.—The preliminary examination of Andre and Louis Riopelle on the charge of complicity in the murder of Leon Boyer of Eardley is progressing in the Hull Court House. The deep interest manifested in the case is shown by the constantly increasing attendance, the court room, outside of the bar enclosure, being crowded at each session.

It is agreed that already sufficient testimony has been adduced to warrant the commitment of Andre Riopelle for trial in a higher court, on the serious indictment against him. But the most damaging evidence in the possession of the prosecution remains to follow.

The testimony of the physicians who conducted the autopsy on the body of Boyer will be to the effect that the man was murdered. The testimony so far has been wholly against Andre Riopelle, but the assiduity displayed by officers of the Crown has not been fruitless in so far as connecting Louis Riopelle with the occurrences on the eventful night of August 5.

Andre Riopelle follows the proceedings with an attitude of sulky indifference. He speaks to no one, not even to the counsel by whom he is so ably defended.

High Constable Groulx testified that the prisoner had made a statement to him of the circumstances attending Boyer's death which he had afterward satisfied himself to have been impossible. The defence took the objection that as the jury had brought in a verdict of accidental death the Crown could not bring in evidence to prove murder. This was refuted by the Crown, and the court rose before giving judgment.

H. A. Goyette, who is conducting the case for the Crown, said yesterday that the Crown were endeavoring to locate a witness who, it is alleged, was an eyewitness of Boyer's last hours. This witness is a Jew peddler, and is said to have told persons in the vicinity of Quoin that he saw the men fighting in the road at the place where the body was found.

SCORE OF WOMEN

Who Want to Marry the Brave Hero of Dargai.

In Great Britain the man of the moment—among the women—is Piper Findlater, of the Gordon Highlanders. He is the hero of Dargai, the man who cheered his comrades with the skirl of the Scottish bagpipes while the Indian bullets whistled round him, and the blood steamed from his shattered ankles. A score of women who have never seen him—scarcely heard of the piper, are now offering him their hands, and, in many cases, their fortunes. And all because of his bravery.

They have nothing to gain in Piper Finlater but a poor cripple, who is by no means rich. And, apart from his wealthy admirers, there are hundreds of women who would work from daylight till sunset to keep a home for such a husband.

The latest offer to Piper Findlater comes from a lady well known in Indian society. In addition to offering her hand she proposes to place her income of $25,000 a year at the piper's disposal.

The largest clock in the world is that in Westminster abbey. It was set up on May 30, 1859.

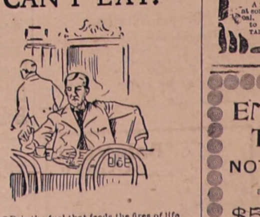

The first portable clock was made in 1580. Originally clock wheels were three feet in diameter.

America practically supplies the whole world with clocks, nearly every civilized country importing them.

Railroad clocks are usually provided with a compensating arrangement of the jar to which they are exposed.

Previous to the setting up of a clock at Hampton court, England, in 1540, no English clock went accurately.

CAN'T EAT.

FOOD is the fuel that feeds the fires of life. Digestion is the process that turns the fuel into energy. Few possess perfect digestion. If your digestion is imperfect, if you cannot eat what you like without discomfort, if you cannot eat when you ought to eat, the time has come when you should take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Hunger is the best Sauce. Take these Pills and get hungry. You may eat what you want if you take Dr. Ward's Pills.

WHAT THEIR MERITS ARE:

My system was entirely rejuvenated by the use of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I consider them a marvellous strength and nerve builder for dyspepsia. I was so sick and miserable that I seemed to have no life or energy left in me. I suffered so at times that I thought death would be better for me. I had tried Doctors and different kinds of medicines, but all failed to do me any good. I am in every way now a well woman, and have been for months. Before using these Pills I was so sick that I could not keep anything in my stomach. I was under the opinion that dyspepsia could not be cured, but now I am satisfied it can be cured, for I am able to eat like any healthy woman and feel better in every way. They have built me up also,—I now weigh several pounds more than I ever did before. In conclusion, I would advise every woman afflicted with poor digestion to give Dr. Ward's Pills a trial.

WANTED—Bright men and women, who are not too proud to work, and would like to make some money during the next three months in telling the wonderful story of the life of Mr. Gladstone to their neighbors. $3.00 a day easily made, some make three times that sum. No risk, no experience, no capital necessary. Write quickly for particulars.
BRADLEY-GARRETSON COMPANY, Limited, Toronto.

AGENTS—"The Story of Mr. Gladstone's Life" is of the greatest man of the ages, and embraces the history of the nineteenth century, the most wonderful century since time began. It has the solidity of fact and the fascination of fiction, and is told in eloquent simplicity. Better send for your outfit before you sleep and be first in the field. Capital unnecessary. Big wages paid, for the book sells to everybody.
BRADLEY-GARRETSON COMPANY, Limited, Toronto.

AGENTS—The only Canadian "Life of Gladstone" is by Castell Hopkins, Hon. G. W. Ross, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. A lasting monument to the great man and to Canadian literature. Beware of American catchpenny books handled by Canadian Houses. Our book has been in preparation for years. Handsomely bound. Profusely illustrated. Big commission. Prospectus free to canvasser. Freight paid; books on time. With this book you can down them all.

UNABLE TO WALK.

A Distressing Malady Cured by the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

(From the Hartland, N. B., Advertiser.)

Right in our own village is reported another of the remarkable cures that make Dr Williams' Pink Pills so popular throughout the land. The case is that of Mrs. E. W. Millar. The Advertiser interviewed her husband, who was glad to relate the circumstances for publication, that others might read and have a remedy put into their hands as it were. "For five years," said Mr. Millar, my wife was unable to walk without aid. One physician diagnosed her case as coming from a spinal affection. Other doctors called the malady nervous prostration. Whatever the trouble was she was weak and nervous. Her limbs had no strength and could not support her body. There was also a terrible weakness in her back. Three months ago she could not walk, but as a last resort, after trying many medicines, she began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Improvement was noted in a few days, and a few weeks had done wonders in restoring her health. To-day she can walk without assistance. You can imagine her delight as well as my own. We owe her recovery to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I recommend them for any case of nervous weakness or general debility."

Mr. Millar is part owner and manager of one of our lumber mills and is well known throughout the county.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Synod of Canada.

The eighteenth meeting of the Synod of the Anglican Church in Canada will commence in Montreal on the 4th of September. The Rev. Canon Burke is the only delegate from this city. Major J. E. Halliwell, B.A., of Stirling, is the only lay delegate from this County.

FRAUD UNMASKED AND EXPOSED.

For some years the ladies of Canada have suffered much loss and inconvenience from use of deceptive home dyes put up to look like the popular Diamond Dyes. These imitation package dyes were sold at very low prices to retail merchants, who in turn made immense profits on them when sold to women who were unfortunately influenced to buy them.

These imitations of Diamond Dyes were never sold more than once to any woman. They possessed no foundation qualities or good points to make them valuable or popular. They were made of the cheapest ingredients, the colors were dead, muddy and unsightly, and they ruined all materials they came in contact with. These common dyes are now so despised and shunned that storekeepers are glad to sell them at half price to be rid of them.

The Diamonds Dyes are still marching on to new victories, and have always maintained their position by true merit alone. Beware of the imitation and cheap dyes that are still pushed on the unsuspecting by some dealers. If a storekeeper values your trade he will recommend you to use the Diamond Dyes.

MILLIONS SHOT AWAY

TWO BATTERIES FIRE $6,000,000 AT EACH OTHER IN AN HOUR.

One Broadside Cost $10,000—Money Is No Object During a Modern Encounter —A Couple of Gatling Guns Would Fire Off $9,000 in Fifteen Minutes.

Some idea of the enormous cost of war at the present day may be had by figuring on a fictitious regular engagement between two big battleships like the Oregon and the Pelayo. Outside the damage and the total loss of valuable property, the cost of ammunition used runs up amazingly fast. It is almost like burning money. Fancy paying $1,000 over time a shot is fired from a rapid-firing gun. There are a good number of warships in the United States navy that have nearly half a dozen guns that swallow $1,000 worth of ammunition at a single gulp, not to speak of the numberless little fellows that eat up from $200 to $700 worth every shot.

One broadside from the battleship Oregon, with every gun belching fire and shell, would cost at least $10,000 simply for the ammunition and for the moment. Figure on the destruction of property made by such a broadside, and the total runs up more rapidly.

A battle between these two giants of the sea would quickly destroy at least $5,000,000 worth of property in one hour. Each ship cost the same. The loss of either would mean a loss of $3,670,000. It is probable that the other would be damaged half its value, or $1,835,000. These two incidents of a naval battle would mean a total destruction of $5,505,000.

In one hour each of the big guns would be discharged about 20 times. That is the average number. Each time the 16 big rifles of the Oregon were discharged it would cost the Government $12,000. In the course of 60 minutes they would belch forth $240,000 worth of shot and shell. Four of her guns cost $600 each every time they are discharged, four of them $1,000 each, and eight of them $700 each.

Besides these she carries two Gatling guns. Their capacity is 1,200 shots a minute. To operate each gun $300 worth of cartridges must be provided every minute. It is not probable that they would be fired for more than fifteen minutes, but even that brief time would mean an expense of $4,500 for each gun, or $9,000 for both.

That would bring the total expense of an hour's engagement up to $249,000, or $4,150 a minute, or a little more than $69 a second.

To operate the Pelayo would cost a trifle of $30,000 less than this total. She carries seventeen big guns. A single discharge of all of them would cost $10,500. One of her guns costs $650 a shot, twelve of them $500 each, two of them $800 each, two of them $900 each. Besides these she carries four Gatling guns. To fire them fifteen minutes would cost $18,000.

The total cost of the engagement to the Pelayo would be $219,000, an average of $3,650 a minute, or $60 a second, with a few pennies to spare.

Therefore, supposing that one ship would be wholly wrecked and the other badly disabled, the total cost of this one battle between the United States Government and that of Spain, counting $468,000 worth of ammunition, would be dangerously near $6,000,000.

If the Oregon were destroyed the fight would cost $3,919,000. If she were only disabled she would escape with a loss of $2,084,000. The destruction of the Pelayo would mean a loss to Spain of $3,889,000. If she were only disabled the expense to the Spaniards would be $2,054,000.

He Didn't Get the Wheel.

Many are the stories told by speakers at public dinners at the expense of each other, after the fashion of Judge Howland's story of how R. H. Stoddard opened a tomato can so explosively that his wife thought he was opening it with prayer! A similarly veracious story is told of John Wanamaker. He is reported to have observed, as he entered his store one morning, three boys admiring a bicycle in the window. With native goodness of heart he turned to them and asked them if they would like a wheel. On their answering "yes," he said: "I will give a wheel to the boy who will give the best answer to this question: 'Whom do you love best?'" Instantly one of the boys cried out, "John Wanamaker." "Oh, no!" he replied, "you never saw me before; you cannot love me best." He then turned to the second: "Whom do you love best?" The insinuating answer came, "My father and mother." "Excellent," said Mr. Wanamaker; "it is an admirable answer; I think you will get the wheel." Then to the third: "Whom do you love best?" "Jesus Christ," said the boy. "Ah! that is the best answer of all; the bicycle is yours. I am glad to see you beginning the Christian life so young. What is your name and where do you live?" "Moses Isaacs, Chatham street," replied the boy; but he lost the wheel.—The Independent.

CONCERNING CLOCKS.

Repeating clocks were invented by Barlow about 1676.

There was a striking clock in Westminster abbey in 1638.

The invention of the escapement is ascribed to Gerbert in 1000 A. D.

The magnetic clock was invented by Dr. Locke of Cincinnati in 1847-8.

Toothed wheels were first applied to clocks by Ctesibius about 140 B. C.

It is said that Richard Harris and the younger Galilei constructed the first pendulum.

AN AWFUL TRAGEDY.

A Young Woman Fatally Shot by Her Sister

The Murderess was Insane--She Killed her Sister Because She was About to be Married.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Newmarket, Aug. 22.—An awful tragedy was enacted here this morning about 7 o'clock, when Minnie Sexton deliberately put four thirty-two calibre bullets into the body of her older sister, Susie Sexton, killing her instantly.

The girls were orphans and lived together.

The dead girl was about 35 years old and was to have been married shortly.

Minnie, who was of unsound mind and had been incarcerated in an asylum, was violently opposed to her sister marrying and had been heard to declare that she would never allow her to do so. Minnie is now in charge of the police.

New Fall Clothing.

We are very busy at the Oak Hall hustling new fall goods into stock. At the time of writing, we have twenty three large cases of clothing in the basement demanding our attention. These goods will all be put in stock this week. This lot will total over eight thousand dollars and comprise suits, overcoats and ulsters in boys', youths' and men's.

PETTY BURGLARY.

Mr. A. G. Vermilyea's Entered Last Night.

While Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Vermilyea were at church last night a thief entered their store and residence on Bridge st. West. Entrance was secured through a back window into the shop. The housebreaker left the contents of the shop untouched and went upstairs to the living apartments. Mrs. Vermilyea's boudoir was entered, her gold watch and other jewellery were lying on a dresser but nothing was taken. A purse and contents, however, the property of Miss Ada Ward, who is visiting at Mr. Vermilyea's, was taken from her room. There is no clue to the miscreant but strong suspicions are entertained.

Ald. Doyle Discusses the Bonus By-Law.

To the Editor of the INTELLIGENCER.

SIR,—I wish to say this in addition to what ex-Mayor Diamond has said in your paper concerning the rolling mills contract: The fifth clause should be specially noticed where it reads "in the event of the contract, or not fulfilling his contract at any time during the first five years he shall either repay to the corporation the full amount of the said fifty thousand dollars or forthwith reconvey, assign, transfer and make over to the said corporation the said site, buildings, machinery, &c., of the said rolling mills." Now your readers can judge for themselves the meaning of this clause. I would also like to draw attention to a clause in the by-law providing the sum of $4,246.83 each year during the next twenty years, which will mean to the taxpayers $1.10 on every thousand dollars assessment over and above all other taxes, besides other probable current expenses, such as fire protection, &c. Now what is the ONE thing that is required for this immense expenditure? There is no provision made as to the value of the plant or building to be erected or the number of men to be employed or permanency of the works, &c. These are a few suggestions to be considered by the voters who are qualified to decide the question on Tuesday, 29th of this month.

The Mayor has to appoint scrutineers, &c, to-morrow, the 23rd inst., at noon, in the City Hall. All those who are interested should attend.

Yours, &c.,
JOHN DOYLE.

Boys' School Clothing.

Somehow or other that boy of yours creeps into our minds oftener than we intend. Possibly the anticipation of future business. Rates of Travel and $1 Berths

The Toronto World published an editorial on cheap railway travel and $1 sleeping berths. It says: "The war has been of long standing, and the cut less than one cent a mile; that the railways will find it difficult to ever get back to the three cent rate. It also advocates cheaper sleeping accommodation for those who cannot pay $2. It also advises "Mr. Hays and Sir William Van Horne to hitch their waggon to a Star," their star to be the dollar berths. The World is right; cheaper rates and cheaper sleeping for the purpose of running are greatly in demand, but how about the Press Association rate? These gentlemen thought they were getting a concession when given a two cent rate. At their next meeting will they ask for a one cent per mile privilege?

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids! The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Accident at Corbyville.

THE BANK CASE.

Interesting Items and Opinions--Letter from John Roach--From Saturday Night--Brer Smiff on Daly.

The following letter will be of interest just now, in view of the great agitation about the Napanee bank robbery:

CALICO BORATE DEPOSIT.
PACIFIC COAST BORAX CO.,
San Francisco Office,
101 Sansome Street,
Marion, Cal., Aug. 14, 1898

Editor Toronto World:

Dear Sir,—Will you be kind enough to let me know who put that article in paper, using my name. You must have fine reporters. Every person that knows me surely cannot believe everything that they see in the World. I was stopping at 166 Wood street, with Mrs. Coleman, and had not been out of that house a night for weeks. Mrs. Coleman read the news to me; first I knew anything of the affair. My name is John Roach. My father lives two miles east of Deseronto. This is the part I want to know, who put that in your paper? Please enlighten me in the matter. Yours truly, John Roach, Dagitt, San Bernardino Co., Cal.

P. S.—May be back in a couple of weeks.

[Mr. Rosch's indignation is just. He simply has the misfortune to bear the same name as a Toronto crook, many years younger than himself, who has said to have been concerned in the Napanee bank robbery, and with whom a would-be enterprising local blunderer mixed him up.—ED. INTELLIGENCER.]

At Napanee on Wednesday Mr. E. Guss Porter, counsel for Mr. W. H. Ponton, in making his argument before Magistrate Daly, read extracts from Thirty Years a Detective, by Allan Pinkerton, the book from which Saturday Night made several quotations a couple of weeks ago. Mr. B. B. Osler objected that the book was not admissible, and the Magistrate declared that he did not think the contents of the book relevant to the case. It may be remarked, however, that Pinkerton, in describing the methods of bank burglars, shows that such robberies are committed without the assistance of bank clerks at all, and that the expert is superior to the need of inside assistance. Magistrate Daly said that he did not think that it "would be right to introduce an editorial of the Globe or the Saturday Night, or quotations from the book in question." Surely it would be right enough that in trying such a case the court should be fully informed as to the habits and methods of bank robbers, and fully posted in the history and details of parallel cases.—Saturday Night.

Magistrate Daly did well to decline trying the Napanee robbery case. His remarks in giving his decision show him to be about as fit for trying such a case as a back-country Reeve would be to try an involved Chancery suit. Magistrate Daly may be fitted to try common drunks at 50c a head, and that is his full limit.—Bobcaygeon Independent.

Bail Not Fixed Yet.

Contrary to expectation, Mr. W. H. Ponton's counsel did not go to Napanee to-day. The Napanee authorities have written to the Attorney-General, in regard to the amount of the bail to be asked for in Ponton's case, but no reply has so far been received. In the meantime, while all these red tape formalities are being gone through, a young man, against whom not one tittle of reliable evidence has been produced, lies in his cell awaiting the pleasure of the august heads of the Attorney-General's department.

An Unique Craft.

The auxiliary yacht Loma, owned by Mr. Forsythe, of Rochester, well-known here, is in port. The peculiar construction of the Loma has attracted considerable attention from local yachtsmen. She is fitted out with sails and in all respects resembles a sailing craft, but under her stern deck is a gas engine, which is called into requisition during a calm. Mr. Forsythe, who is camping at Nigger Island, is very proud of his handsome and unique pleasure craft.

Just in Time.

A Kingston young lady, who was camping with some Belleville friends at Oak Hill Pond had a narrow escape from drowning on Saturday last. In company with four other young ladies she was in bathing, when she got beyond her depth and began to sink. Fortunately, a Belleville young man heard her screams and arrived on the scene just in time to save the young lady from a watery grave.

Grass Fire.

At 2.50 yesterday afternoon the alarm was sounded and the Brigade turned out. It proved to be a grass fire in W. N. Ponton's vacant lot, behind the Marchmont home, and as it was outside the city limits the Brigade could offer no assistance. The neighbors turned out, together with the Institute employees, and saved the fences. A lot of good pasture was destroyed.

Impure blood is an enemy to health, and may lead to serious disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla conquers this enemy and averts danger.

MAIN'S CIRCUS NEXT WEEK.

Main's circus will erect its tents here on Thursday, Sept. 1st.

The Associated Press despatches of the 19th July, 1898, announced—and they are authentic—that the Walter L. Main show, was going to move to Canada and make permanent head-quarters there.

Regarding the show's magnitude, it is as large as any on the Western Hemisphere to-day. In merit it is probably better than any we have seen in years. This may possibly be attributed to Mr. Main's ambition to actually excel all previous shows, with a view towards establishing a trade mark in Canada that will not be obliterated by any future circus. While the menagerie department is not the very biggest on earth, it comprises over twenty five dens and has in one feature alone a greater novelty in the baby elephant than any circus in the world to-day

CHURCH CHIMES.

Yesterday's Services--Special Music.

Rev. A. McDonald, of Napanee, preached in St. Andrew's at both services yesterday. There being no service in the Johnst. Church, the congregation united with St. Andrew's.

At the Tabernacle, Rev. A. Martin preached in the morning and Rev. John Ferguson in the evening. The services were held in the school room.

Rev. V. H. Cowsert, B.A., occupied the pulpit of the Baptist church at both services yesterday. At the morning service Mr. Frank Eaton sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," (Ambrose) a composition which showed his magnificent voice to great advantage.

At Bridge st. Rev. E. R. Doxsee, B.A., B.D., and Rev. A. Martin preached. The music was a leading feature of both services. In the morning the choir rendered the anthem "O Come Let Us Worship," Miss Ida Morris taking the solo part. In the evening Miss Dora L. McMurtry, soprano soloist of Jarvis st. Baptist church, Toronto, sang "Show Me Thy Ways, O Lord." Miss McMurtry, who is one of Toronto's most popular soloists, possesses a voice of rare sweetness and compass and her selection last night was rendered in a manner above criticism. Mr. Frank Eaton, choir leader of the First Presbyterian Church, Morristown, N. J., rendered "It is Enough," from Mendelssohn's great oratorio, "Elijah." Mr. Eaton's voice has greatly improved during the past year and seems to be under better control. His solo last night did not show his voice to best advantage, but sufficient to give ample justification for the verdict which the critics of New York have pronounced upon it.

Yesterday morning in the Reformed Episcopal Church the Rev. J. Simpson Trotter's text was, John 17; 15.16, from which he showed it is more important for the disciples of Christ to be kept from evil than to be taken out of the world. In the afternoon he conducted service in the hospital. In the evening an earnest sermon was preached in the above church by the Rev. G. Worrell of Philadelphia, U. S.

SEPT. 1st

Will be a very important day to the young people of our city.

It means the end of the pleasant holidays, the beginning of a term of hard work to those who wish to succeed. The little tot will start to school for the first time, others will go into a higher class, the result of their past hard labor, while all will be endowed with a desire to do their "very best."

But to do this, they should have the "very best" supplies obtainable. As is a carpenter can do a more perfect job with first class tools, so the best books seem to call forth the pupil's fullest efforts. We carry the latest and most complete lines in the city of

THE $55,000 BY-LAW.

WHAT WE GIVE WHAT WE GET —WHAT SECURITY THAT WE GET IT?

A by-law asking the taxpayers of the city to vote for the granting of a bonus of $50,000 in aid of the establishment of rolling mills in Belleville, and $5,000 to cover expenses in connection therewith, is now before them, and should receive the careful and thoughtful consideration of every elector before casting his vote for or against the proposition.

Belleville, the by-law informs us, has now a debt hanging over its head of $447,163.68, to which it is proposed to add an additional $55,000, making a total indebtedness, if the by-law receive the assent of the taxpayers, of $502,163.68.

To meet this additional indebtedness of $55,000, we shall for the next twenty years, have to raise by direct taxation $4,246.83 annually; being, we understand, about 1½ mills in the dollar additional to the levy now made to meet current requirements.

Will the establishment of these works bring to our city an additional tax paying population sufficient to meet this extra levy upon the already over-taxed property holders of the city? There being no provision in the by-law providing for the employment of any number of men, we are left entirely in the dark as to the probable addition to our population. It may be great; if so, all will be well; if small, all will be wrong, and all loss and no gain.

What, it is often asked, have we to show for the present large indebtedness, and what are we to receive in return for the additional $55,000, which it is proposed to make to that indebtedness? This is the question we propose to consider.

After reading the by-law carefully and critically, no one can come to any other conclusion than, that it is a case on the part of the contractor of "heads, I win, tails you lose."

What is it we propose to give—what to receive therefor, and the terms and conditions upon which this gift is to be made by the city, and accepted by the contractor? are points not to be overlooked.

The by-law occupies over three columns of a newspaper; we shall therefore, necessarily, have to confine ourselves to a consideration of those portions essential to a proper understanding of its provisions.

The city is to give to Mr. Mitchell, a bonus of $50,000 cash,—to pay $3,000 in duties upon machinery to be imported into Canada from the United States, to expend $2,000 in procuring land for a site, etc., upon which the works are to be erected; to provide two water hydrants as a protection against fire; and freedom from taxation (except school tax) for a period of ten years, from the payment of the bonus of $50,000, which is to be made on the completion of the works. What the amount of this exemption from taxation will be, it is impossible to compute, until the value of the works are ascertained.

Placing the works, site, etc, at a figure much below that which the promoters of the bonus by-law place upon them, say $100,000, at the present rate of taxation, the yearly indirect contribution, in this respect, would not be less than $2,000, which for ten years would be an additional sum in the way of bonus of $20,000. This calculation is but problematical, as doubts exist as to the actual value of the prosperity, for reasons which will hereafter appear. The annual charge for the two hydrants, must be added, making in all a bonus of from $75,000 to $80,000.

Upon what conditions are these sums to be given, and what do we receive therefor?

We are to have erected in Belleville, Iron and Steel Works capable of turning out 5,000 tons of iron and steel per annum, with a "single run," or "10,000 with a double run." It must be borne in mind, however, that there is no provision in the by-law that either of these quantities shall be manufactured, annually. The conditions of the by-law upon this point will be fulfilled if but 100 tons are produced per annum, provided the works are kept running for nine months in each year; except under certain conditions, which conditions, when considered, show that Mr. Mitchell, the contractor, knew well how to protect himself under any and all circumstances, for he reserves the right, without incurring any penalties, of stopping the manufacture of iron and steel "on account "of unusual business depression, or such "changes in the fiscal policy of Canada "as shall seriously affect the trade "of Canada." Who is to be the judge of an "unusual business depression," or that a "change in the fiscal policy of Canada will seriously affect the trade?" None other than Mr. Mitchell himself. If he finds the market overstocked, as sometimes it is, with articles he manufactures, and that it is unprofitable to continue operating his works, or that this state of affairs has been brought about by a "change in the fiscal policy of the country, all he has to do, is to so declare, and shut down the works, as he has done in Norwich, Conn., from which place the unused machinery is to be imported into Canada.

True, there is a limit under the circumstances to the time the works may be closed without incurring penalties; namely, one year, while under ordinary circumstances manufacturing operations must be carried on for nine months in each year for the first five years after the bonus has been paid. Should this not be done, then the contractor is to refund to the city the full amount of the $50,000 or transfer to the city the site, buildings, plant, etc., of the entire establishment as a penalty for not fulfilling this condition of the contract. This provision does not apply, however, to the stoppage of the works for one year in case of "unusual business depression," or a "change in the fiscal policy of Canada," which might prove prejudicial to the business, there being a special proviso that in such cases the contractor is relieved from any such penalty.

This provision upon its face would, to the casual reader, appear to be a fair and ample protection, but upon reflection it will be found to be one of the most objectionable in the whole bargain. Had the stipulation been the repayment of the full amount of bonus in case of a failure to continue manufacturing operations for nine months in each year, with ample security that such would be paid, then it could have been understood; but to give the option of handing over the site, works, etc., to the city in lieu of the $50,000 bonus, in the case of the industry not paying, is, to any thinking mind having any business knowledge, so one-sided as to create a smile of derision.

What is the reason for the removal to Belleville of the old rolling mills machinery of the "Thames Iron Works," of Norwood, Connecticut? Is it not that it has become valueless on account of the "unusual business depression" in the iron and steel trade in the United States, against the occurrence of which in Canada, the contractor has carefully protected himself in the bargain which he has made with the City Council, of Belleville.

What would that property be worth, if transferred to the city of Norwich, under such circumstances? Not more than the value of old iron. Machinery for which there is no use, has no other value. What, therefore would be the value of the works to Belleville, in case of failure to make them pay by the contractor, and a transfer and assignment of them made to the corporation? Would we not be in the position of the man who won an elephant, and knew not what to do with him. Having the works, machinery, etc, of a rolling mill as an asset, which enterprise had proved a failure, for such would be the case if ever transferred to the city, would indeed be a white elephant upon our hands. Could the works be sold? Would any one undertake an enterprise which had proved disastrous financially to a man whose life's work had been the manufacture of iron and steel? Probaby some one, when the "business depression" had passed away or the "fiscal policy of Canada had become stable in character," could be found to take the risk of repairing and operating the machinery; provided always, that another good and sufficient bonus was paid to him, so as to prevent loss in any contingency, as in the present case.

What, under such circumstances, would be the intrinsic value of this machinery, if transferred and assigned to the city? The by-law informs us that $3,000 is to be paid in duties upon the machinery, etc., which is to be imported. This sum represents goods of the value of $12,000 only, which at 25% the rate of duty imposed upon all machinery, is just $3,000. So that we should have the splendid inheritance of a property at a cost of $55,000. Value of machinery $12,000, site and expenses $5,000, and the building. Value problematical. Not a very promising out ook.

An apparent saving clause in the by-law provides for the commencement of and construction of the works within a certain limit of time, and the keeping of them in operation for nine months in each year for five years, otherwise forfeiture of the $50,000 or the whole of the works. This, upon first sight, as we have already stated, looks like ample protection to the city; but what is there in this by-law to prevent the contractor from proceeding under its provisions, to the erection of the works, the placing of the machinery in the mills, commencing operations, receive the $50.000, run the mill for a short time, and then allow it to remain idle for nine months, incur the penalty, surrender the whole establishment to the City Fathers, pockets the bonus of $50,000, and walk off?

We do not desire to be understood as even insinuating that such would be done, but we do say that it could be done under the provisions of this by-law, and therefore should have been provided against. It is said in reply to this defect in the by-law, that the gentlemen with whom the city is dealing, is of too honorable a character to be guilty of any such sharp practice. His reputable standing in the community in which he lives, is, we believe, beyond a doubt. That he is a keen business man, and knows what he is doing, is proved by the bargain he has made; but in this as in other matters affecting public interest, and public money, every possible safeguard should be provided against failure, and nothing left to conjecture or to presumed responsibility and honesty of those with whom public corporations are dealing. The parties with whom dealings are had to-day, may pass away to-morrow, and those who follow them may not be so honest or reputable, hence, protection at every point is necessary.

Another clause provides for what is to be done after the first five years of the operation of the works, should they be kept running for that length of time. The contractor is not to dismantle or remove the plant, etc., from Belleville, or in any way diminish the value of the works, or their capacity for producing iron and steel. If he does, what then? The works are to be assigned to the city, and one half of the bonus, $25,000 (if it can be got) refunded, so that should anything occur to justify the stoppage of work, owing to "business depression," a "change in the fiscal policy of Canada," on any other cause, such for example as a change of ownership, all that has to be done is to say to the city, take these useless works and the $25,000, and make the best of them, that is if the owner at the time be solvent. Does any one believe, that under such circumstances, one dollar in money would ever be repaid? There may be some such credulous people, but few will believe it.

No one will doubt, after studying the conditions of this bonus by-law, Mr. Mitchell's keen eye to business. Knowing that a "depression in business" may occur at any time, he protects himself against it. Having no confidence in the stability of the "fiscal policy" of Canada, not knowing at what moment free trade may triumph, or such a lowering of duty as to ruin his business may take place, he provides against penalties in either case, should he cease to operate his works, unless at a loss. In this he is wise and gives evidence of trade foresight and knowledge, commendable in all business men.

What of Belleville? Is the keen business ability and astuteness of Mr. Mitchell any reason why we should make with him a bargain through which any ordinary teamster could drive a "coach and four" without even scratching the paint on a wheel?

The business might be ruined from either of the causes to which we have alluded; Mr. Mitchell would be safe, and Belleville would have the useless plant of a defunct industry upon its hands at a cost of $55,000 to the tax payers.

There are many other weak points in this by-law, but this article has attained to such a length that we leave them for future consideration. Looking at the whole scheme, we repeat that it is one of "heads I win, tails you lose," and that Mr. Mitchell is both head and tail.

THE MANILA CAPITULATION.

The Terms Show That Spaniards Retire With War Honors.

The United States Government Assumes Control of the Situation—All Questions Relating to the Repatriation of the Officers and Men of the Spanish Forces Shall Be Referred to Washington—The Question of Arms and Evacuation.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Gen. Merritt's cablegram gives the terms of capitulation. It shows that the Spanish, by express terms, surrendered the city and defences of Manila and its suburbs, together with the Spanish forces stationed therein. The Spanish are permitted to retire with the honors of war.

Terms of Capitulation.

Following are the terms of the capitulation:

The undersigned having been appointed a commission to determine the details of the capitulation of the city and defences of Manila and its suburbs and the Spanish forces stationed therein, in accordance with agreement entered into the previous day by Major-General Wesley Merritt, U.S.A., American Commissioner in Chief in the Philippines, and His Excellency Don Fermin Jardenes, Acting General in Chief of the Spanish Army in the Philippines, have agreed upon the following:

1. The Spanish troops, European and native, capitulate with the city and defences, with all honors of war, depositing their arms in the places designated by the authorities of the United States, remaining in the quarters designated and under the orders of their officers and subject to the control of the aforesaid U. S. authorities until the conclusion of a treaty of peace between the two belligerent nations. All persons included in the capitulation remain at liberty, the officers remaining in their respective homes, which shall be respected as long as they observe the regulations prescribed for their Government and the laws in force.

2. Officers shall retain their side arms, horses and private property. All public horses and public property of all kinds shall be turned over to staff officers designated by the United States.

3. Complete returns in duplicate of men by organizations and full lists of public property and stores shall be rendered to the United States within ten days from this date.

4. All questions relating to the repatriation of the officers and men of the Spanish forces and of their families and of the expenses which said repatriation may occasion shall be referred to the Government of the United States at Washington. Spanish families may leave Manila at any time convenient to them. The return of the arms surrendered by the Spanish forces shall take place when they evacuate the city, and when the American army enters.

5. Officers and men included in the capitulation shall be supplied by the United States according to their rank, with rations and necessary aid as though they were prisoners of war, until the conclusion of a treaty of peace between the United States and Spain. All the funds in the Spanish treasury and all other public funds shall be turned over to the authorities of the United States.

6.—This city, its inhabitants, its churches and religious worship, its educational establishments and its private property of all description are placed under the special safeguard of the faith and honor of the American army.

THE SAME OLD GAME.

Uncle Sam Still Playing Hog When He Comes to Canadians.

Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 22.—United States Immigrant Inspector Petit is preventing Canadian laborers from coming to this country and working during the harvest, intending afterward to return to their former homes. Saturday he turned back 26 men who had tickets purchased over the Grand Trunk to North Dakota points, refusing them entrance on the ground that they were violating the alien labor law.

Ran Past the Semaphore.

Ingersoll, Ont., Aug. 22.—A collision took place in the yards of the Grand Trunk Railway at this place Saturday evening, between express train No. 5, going west, and a through freight special, loaded with Chicago meat. The freight engine is a complete wreck and the passenger engine is partially wrecked. Several cars of meat were ditched. The fireman of the passenger engine was slightly injured, scratched about the head. Traffic was delayed six hours. The wreck was caused by the passenger train passing a semaphore while full against it. Many of the passengers were shaken up, but no one was hurt.

Fisherman's Boy Drowned.

Port Stanley, Aug. 22.—Mr. Bruce Howe, fisherman of Port Bruce, took his 4-year-old son fishing Saturday down to Lake Erie. About 6 o'clock Mr. Howe told the boy to go home. He started, and in stepping from one pile to another fell in and was drowned. The boy was not missed for an hour afterward, when the father went home. A search was instituted and the body recovered.

Was It an Accident?

St. Thomas, Aug. 22.—The body of George Bennett, who mysteriously disappeared last Tuesday night, was found in the Port Stanley harbor Saturday morning. It is supposed he either stumbled and fell overboard, or met with foul play while the Str. Flora, on which he was night watchman, was tied up at the port.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

OVATION TO SAMPSON.

The Heroes of Santiago Now in New York—Cheered by the Masses—An Indescribable Din.

New York, Aug. 22.—The reception given to Admiral Sampson's squadron by the people of Greater New York on Saturday was a magnificent one, and was participated in by hundreds of thousands of wildly enthusiastic citizens. There was very little friction in the carrying out of the programme and no delay. At Tomokinsville the Mayor and committee embarked on the flagship New York, where the Mayor read an address tendering congratulations and the freedom of the city, and Admiral Sampson duly replied. The welcome ceremonies were short but impressive.

Then came the event of the day. The battleships, at 10.10 a.m., began to slowly move up the bay. The salvo of cannon and the cheers of the people and the toots of thousands of whistles made an indescribable din. Soon the monster pageant was in line. First came Admiral Sampson's flagship, New York, then Rear-Admiral Schley's flagship, Brooklyn, then the Massachusetts, the Oregon, the Iowa, the Indiana and the Texas, and after them came a moving mass of all sizes and descriptions of craft with flags waving and people cheering. As Governor's Island was passed there was a tremendous report from the guns that did so much execution at Santiago. The people on the shore and afloat fairly went wild. They yelled and screamed, waved flags and jumped up and down in patriotic fervor.

And so it was all the way to Grant's tomb, where there was a final demonstration of patriotism, such as New York has never witnessed before.

Senator Fairbanks Has Arrived—Canadian Delegates Had a Little Caucus on Saturday.

Quebec, Aug. 22.—Senator C. Fairbanks, one of the United States Commissioners, accompanied by Mrs. Fairbanks and a party of friends, is at the Chateau Frontenac since Saturday.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir R. J. Cartwright, Sir Louis Davies and John Charlton, M.P., the Canadian representatives on the International Conference, after having visited the Parliament Buildings, held a private conference in Sir R. J. Cartwright's room at the Frontenac Saturday morning.

Mr. T. V. Powderly, U. S. Commissioner-General of Immigration, is in Quebec to attend the International Conference. He is registered at the Frontenac.

TWO SERIOUS BICYCLE ACCIDENTS.

An Ottawa Barber and a Manotick Farmer Probably Fatally Injured.

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—There were two bicycle accidents on Saturday, which will probably prove fatal. William E. Charbonneau, a barber, while wheeling, collided with a milkman's rig. He had his chest bone broken into five pieces, the vessels and arteries of his chest ruptured, and the veins about his heart severely injured. He is now lying between life and death at his residence.

Peter Cavanagh, a farmer from Manotick, while rushing to catch a street car, was run into by Alfred Templeton, a bicyclist. Cavanagh was thrown to the asphalt pavement and he is now in a precarious condition, suffering from concussion of the brain.

The Thin Edge of the Wedge.

Detroit, Aug. 22.—Hon. D. M. Dickinson, who is now in New York, will appear before the joint commission of Great Britain and the United States, which begins its sittings in Quebec to-morrow. It is understood here that his mission is to lay before the commission certain papers which he has prepared praying for a modification of the Rush Bagot treaty, so as to allow lake ship builders to build vessels of war for the United States Government, and for other Governments, if they so desire.

A Ten-Year-Old Somnambulist.

Kingston, Aug. 22.—Mabel Pollitt, the 10 year-old daughter of Frances Pollitt, arose from her bed and while in a somnambulistic condition walked to a window on the second floor, falling a distance of twenty feet. She alighted upon a canvas tent, which partly broke her fall. Her parents heard the fall, and upon investigation found their daughter in an unconscious condition. She is fortunately not seriously injured.

Killed by an Ice Wagon.

Point Edward, Aug. 22.—About 3.30 p.m. Saturday a boy about 7 years of age named Kee, son of Engineer Kee of the G.T.R., at Point Edward, was run over by an ice wagon and instantly killed.

IS IT TO BE PEACE OR WAR?

The Great Question Between England and Russia.

A Decision Likely This Week—Spanish-American War, If Is Said, Upset the Plans of Russia—It Placed Uncle Sam and John Bull on Friendly Terms—Sir Herbert Kitchener's Advance on Khartoum—Cable News.

London, Aug. 22.—The New York Post's correspondent telegraphs to his paper the following: We may expect next week to hear that England and Russia have come to a decision as to their future relations, but the nature of the decision, peace or war, to-day hangs in the balance.

I hear on excellent authority that Lord Salisbury has at last decided that, since China does not object to dismemberment, it is idle for England to attempt to save her from that fate. Lord Salisbury falls back, therefore, on spheres of influence, carefully delimited. If Russia refuses to bind herself to remain within the limits agreed upon, she must take the consequences.

British Fleet Ready.

The British fleet is ready at this moment for all eventualities. Officers on leave have been warned to hold themselves ready to rejoin their ships on summons.

In the meantime Salisbury is awaiting Russia's decision, but Russia has not yet made up her mind.

Men who are in a position to know what is afoot are confident that Russia will climb down and accept Salisbury's terms, basing their confidence on their expert knowledge that Russia will not be ready for a conflict for three years at least.

Upset Russia's Plans.

A well-known Englishman, long resident of St. Petersburg, says that the Spanish-American war, coming so soon and unexpectedly after the Chinese-Japanese war, has upset Russia's plans in the far East entirely. The advent of a nascent great power at Manila on friendly terms with England has created consternation among the military advisers of the Czar, who urge European intervention, and hope that the disputes between Spanish and American delegates to the Paris Peace Conference will yet afford an opportunity for it. Men who know Sagasta well say that he reckons upon this, and that Austrian influence, against Count Goluchowski's urgent advice, is prompting him to this course.

The Advance on Khartoum.

London, Aug. 22.—Sir Herbert Kitchener's advance on Khartoum is conducted with clockwork. Khalifa has withdrawn from his entrenchments at Shabluka Cataract, but the War Office here is confident that he will fight at Omdurman. The country is rising behind him and he dare not now retreat.

WOMEN IN POLITICS.

American Wives of English Statesmen Fight for Their Husbands.

London, Aug. 22.—Women are playing a prominent part in the election contest at Southport, near Liverpool, for the Parliamentary seat vacated by George N. Curzon on his appointment to the Viceroyship of India.

Mrs. Curzon has been through several campaigns in the district, and now another American woman is electioneering there. She is Lady Naylor-Leyland, who was Jennie Chamberlain of Cleveland before her marriage.

Lord Skelmersdale is also assisted by his wife, who got into the field first and was making a decided hit with the voters until Lady Leyland hastened to her husband's side to vanquish her rival by her superior beauty, wit and charm; for she is counted the best hostess in England.

Both ladies attended meetings Saturday night.

BISMARCK'S WILL.

The Old Chancellor Left a Good Deal More Than First Reported.

Berlin, Aug. 22.—A Dantzig paper publishes an outline of Prince Bismarck's will. The paper asserts that the estate amounts to 20,000,000 marks, although it was sworn at 3,000,000.

Count William Bismarck inherits the Pomeranian estate, with the exception of Reinfeld, which Prince Herbert Bismarck gets. Prince Herbert also receives the valuables deposited in the Hielshrodes Bank, estimated at 1,000,000 marks, for which he pays Count William 800 marks. Countess Von Rantzau receives 900,000 marks, and each of Count William's three daughters gets 100,000 marks.

THE PACIFIC CABLE.

Australian Premiers Met and Decided That They Would Chip In.

Sydney, N.S.W., Aug. 22.—Right Hon. Sir Hugh Muir Nelson, Premier of Queensland; Right Hon. Sir George H. Reid, Premier of New South Wales, and Right Hon. Sir George Turner, Premier of Victoria, met in conference on Saturday, and discussed the plans for a Pacific cable. They decided to make the definite offer that if Great Britain and Canada, collectively, would guarantee five-ninths of the cost of laying the new cable, they would recommend to their respective Legislatures to contribute one-ninth each, asking New Zealand to contribute the remaining one-ninth.

The Pope Held a Reception.

Rome, Aug. 22.—The Pope yesterday held a reception in honor of his saint's day. Many prelates, nobles and representatives of Catholic associations were in attendance. His Holiness appeared to be in good health and spirits, and in spite of the length of the reception, which lasted an hour and a half, showed no signs of fatigue. He was the recipient of a large number of gifts.

Is the Rate War Nearly Over?

London, Aug. 22.—The London Financial Times, in its editorial column, considers that the heavy purchases of Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific stock by Montrealers seem to indicate that the rate war is settled, or at least points to a settlement of the trouble in the near future.

Her Majesty Will Honor Them.

London, Aug. 22.—The London correspondent of the Aberdeen Journal says that Hon. William Mulock, Postmaster-General of Canada, will be knighted, and that Mr. J. Hamilton Heston, M.P., so well known as an advocate of penny postage, will be made a peer.

England Wants an Explanation.

Madrid, Aug. 22.—In the course of an interview had last night with a member of the Cabinet by a representative of the Associated Press, the Minister said England had presented a note to Spain, asking for explanations on the subject of fortifications being erected by Spain near Gibraltar, which, the note declares, are unjustified, in view of the good relations existing between the two countries.

To Exhibit the Princess Chimay.

London, Aug. 22.—Alfred Aarons, the theatrical manager of New York, is now negotiating with the Princess Chimay for an American engagement. Manager Aarons offers $2,500 a week ago, Mme. Rigo is holding out for $500 a day. Manager Aarons has determined to take her to New York even at her own terms.

Lord Mayor Not Coming.

London, Aug. 22.—The contemplated visit to the United States and Canada of the Lord Mayor of London, Lieut.-Col. Horatio David Davies, which had already been postponed, is finally abandoned owing to the continued illness of the Lady Mayoress.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The New Ministers Gazetted and the Premier Receives a Deputation—Pacific Coast Briefs.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 22.—The appointments are gazetted of Hon. Messrs. Semlin, Cotton and Martin, as Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works, Minister of Finance and Agriculture, and Attorney-General respectively, also of Hon. R. E. McKechnie, M.D., as a member of the Executive Council. Mr. Cotton has also been appointed acting Minister of Mines until further notice, while Mr. Joseph Martin is acting Provincial Secretary and will attend to all matters arising under the Public Schools Act till further orders.

The Cabinet Completed.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 22. — It is officially announced by the News-Advertiser of Saturday morning that the swearing in of J. H. Hume, M.P.P., as Provincial Secretary, completes the arrangement of the different portfolios in the new Cabinet. Hon. Mr. Hume represents Kootenay in the Ministry.

Deputations Already.

Already the new Government has had its experience of deputations. A deputation appointed by the Victoria Board of Trade waited upon Hon. Mr. Semlin, the Premier, and urged upon him the importance of appointing a British Columbia representative at the Quebec Conference. The Government had the subject under consideration, but was not yet prepared to give any definite answer. Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper is talked of as the British Columbia representative.

Pacific Coast Briefs.

Messrs. W. McKenzie and D. D. Mann, the well known railway contractors, arrived in Vancouver on Friday by the Pacific express. It is understood that Mr. McKenzie is here on railway matters.

The salmon canners will finally decide on Tuesday whether or no they will ask the Dominion Minister of Fisheries to grant an extension of the sockeye salmon season.

With regard to the pack, the latest available information is that the 43 canneries on the Fraser have less than 200,000 cases. An estimate of the Columbia River salmon pack up to Aug. 10 places the amount up to 375,000 cases.

Though the fish outlook is bad on the coast other industries appear to be enjoying an unusually good season. The fruit prospects are very good, and home-grown apples, plums etc., are being placed on the market in good shape and quantity. The Lytton & Yukon Transportation Company has passed into the hands of a receiver. It was this company that was given the contract by the Dominion Government for the transportation of supplies to the Klondike.

The steamer Manuens has been libelled at the suit of Mr. Cook, who claims $7,000 for breach of contract and expenses, caused, he alleges, by the failure of the owners of the vessel to land him at Dawson.

All the Hands Were Discharged.

Chatham, Aug. 22.—When the Erie & Huron Railway directorate met the old Board resigned and were succeeded by the directors of the Lake Erie & Detroit River Railway Company. This finally consummated the purchasing deal of the Erie & H. Railway by the Walker road. All the heads of departments of the Erie & Huron have been dispensed with. The Lake Erie officials at Walkerville have assumed the control. The agents being instructed to report direct to Walkerville instead of Chatham as heretofore.

Brings Forth a Story.

BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50c. per box. A booklet on all diseases of the blood can be obtained free by addressing Dr. Ward & Co., 71 Victoria Street, Toronto. Book of information free.

MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

Another Reported Concession to the Roman Catholics--May Use Their Own Religious Exercises in the Schools.

We commend the following special to the Montreal Star to the consideration of those who howled against the Remedial Bill of the Bowell Administration, on the ground that it conceded too much to the Roman Catholics.

Already the Laurier-Tarte Administration have given greater concessions than were proposed by the Remedial Bill, and that more will ere long be given is beyond question.

Greenway silently acquiesces; Mulvay, M.P.P., ex-Orahge Grand Master, of Winnipeg, thunders no longer; and all the "watch dogs" are numb—too well fed, doubtless, to care what goes on.

Are all the other men who were seemingly honest in their opinions hypnotized?

OTTAWA, August 19.—A rumor is in circulation that the recent Liberal conference at Rat Portage was to arrange a fur ther settlement of the Manitoba school question. Notwithstanding the Premier's boast that a final settlement of the differences between the minority in Manitoba and the educational authorities had been reached, the Roman Catholic hierarchy pressed for more of the promised concessions.

The nature of these is now shown to be a change in the formula of enquiry sent out by the Educational Department to all Catholic teachers throughout Manitoba. Originally these teachers were required to certify that the trustees of the school have directed that the religious exercises prescribed by the advisory board be used in the said school, and that none other have been used. Either that or they must certify that the trustees had not directed the use of any religious exercises and that accordingly none had been used in the school.

The concession granted is the striking out of these two clauses, so that Catholic teachers are not required, in order to secure their provircial school grant, to certify that none other than the regulation religious exercises have been used by them.

In other words, it means that the Manitoba Government has conceded to the Roman Catholics of Manitoba the right to use in their schools such religious exercises prescribed by the church and still participate in the provincial school grant.

BOWLING ON THE GREEN.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Aug. 20.—The most successful bowling tournament ever held under the auspices of the Association closed here to-day. The doubles championship was won by the Belleville team. This match brought on a sensational finish, E. H. Larcohe playing the last bowl of the tournament and at the same time winning the match. Their opponents of the Canada Club were one shot up and one end to play, when Larcohe, with his last bowl, moved the kittie, getting the two winning shots.

In the singles W. H. Biggar was beaten in the finals by G. R. Hargraft, 15 to 14. Belleville took a lot of prizes, namely 1st in the doubles, 2nd in the singles and 2nd in the Association.

A Whole Countryside Indignant.

Newmarket, Aug. 22.—Owing to the license having been cut off, because the town had only too many hotels for the population, the North America Hotel was practically shut up on Saturday, and the streets were crowded with farmers' horses and wagons which could not get accommodation elsewhere. A great deal of indignation was expressed against the license commissioners, the inspector and the Government—and both parties apparently joined in it. More serious allegations are made against the inspector than the commissioners, who are said practically to register his will.

Shot in the Body.

Hamilton, Aug. 22.—Arthur, the 7-year-old son of Mr. Charles Raymond, reporter on the Herald, this city, was shot in the stomach Sunday morning at Mr. Raymond's farm near Guelph. The boy was flourishing a revolver, when it went off and the bullet lodged in his body. Mr. Raymond happened to be visiting his family at the time. It is feared the shooting will end fatally.

British Steamer Went Down.

Falmouth, England, Aug. 22.—The British steamer Toledo, Capt. Wishart, which sailed from Galveston on July 20 for Rotterdam, struck on Grim Rock, Scilly Islands, Saturday night in a dense fog, and foundered almost immediately in 25 fathoms of water. There was just time to launch a boat, and all were saved, many clad in their night clothes.

FEARFUL RAILWAY ACCIDENT

Five Known to Have Been Killed and a Number Injured.

The Disaster Was on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Road—Rear Cars of a Passenger Train Telescoped—A List of the Ascertained Killed and Injured—One Report Places the Number of Victims at Forty.

Canton, Mass., Aug. 22.—Word was received at 7.30 last night of a fearful railroad accident at Sharon, on the New York, New Haven & Hartford road, and an urgent request was made for physicians and undertakers' wagons. All the physicians in town, as well as three undertakers and their wagons, were immediately despatched to the scene of the accident, followed by a large crowd of sightseers. The surrounding country has been thoroughly aroused and a large quantity of sheets, bedding and rude hospital supplies were despatched from this town to Sharon, which is about four miles. The details of the accident are not as yet known, but from meagre reports which have been received, it is believed to have been one of the worst that has ever occurred in this State. Among the dead are:

The Dead.

C. T. Rowe, Weymouth House, Booth Bay, Me; Mrs. J. Fitzpatrick and child of 215 Huntington avenue, Boston; a woman believed to be Mrs. Washburn of Westerly, R. I.; Mrs. Bristol of Winthrop, Mass., (husband injured); Mr. Waters of Somerville, identified from receipt found in pocket.

The Injured.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitcomb of the Castle Square Hotel, Boston, badly injured; James Fitzpatrick, son of Mrs. Fitzpatrick, who was killed, badly injured; C. H. Bristol of Winthrop; A. C. Frye of Revere; M. Crockett of Washington street, Somerville; Mrs. Barnard of 454 East Third street, South Boston; Another child of Mrs. Fitzpatrick (besides James Fitzpatrick).

Telescoped the Rear Cars.

Sharon, Mass., Aug. 22.—In the dark hour and ten minutes that little headway appears to be made in clearing away the wreckage to determine the loss of life and limb.

The accident is now explained as follows: The first section of a train from Mansfield, called the Mansfield local, was due to arrive here at 7.15. It got in 13 minutes late, and the train stopped when the New Bedford train came in on time and crashed into the rear of the local, telescoping the rear cars.

Number of Victims 40.

Taunton, Mass., Aug. 22.—A message was sent to the railway office here yesterday of the frightful railroad accident at Sharon. The list of dead was placed at three, and the injured at 18. A later telephone message from a survivor of the wreck places the list of victims at 40 or over.

The running of the trains yesterday is explained as follows: The train which leaves Taunton at 6.26 runs to Mansfield, where it is generally met by the train which leaves Providence at 6.08. This latter train usually takes up the two rear cars of the Taunton train. Owing to the heavy travel yesterday, it is said that the Providence train was run in two sections. At Sharon, according to the reports received here, the second section ran into and telescoped the first section, the engine plunging through the rear cars. There is great anxiety here, as many Taunton people are known to have been on the train, but it is almost impossible to get particulars from the railroad officials.

A FIERCE STORM.

Lightning Struck Three Places in Markham, and Dr. Trowle Is Prostrated—C.P.R. Washout Near Locust Hill.

Markham, Ont., Aug. 22.—One of the fiercest and most peculiar electric storms seen here in years passed over this town yesterday. Only once in eight weeks has rain fallen here, and everything was parched. At about 4.30 yesterday the storm broke in all its fury and for five hours the rain came down in torrents, accompanied at times with hail as big as robin's eggs. The observatory of Mrs. Burk's residence was struck and badly shattered; the chimney of Mrs. Thomas' house, 40 rods away, was also struck. The residence of Dr. E. T. Trowle was struck, lightning entering the house and prostrating the Doctor, who is still under a physician's care. Three transformers in the town's electric light system were burnt out and last night the town was in darkness.

A large fire is seen burning about two miles to the west. The bridge to the south of the village was swept away with the flood, and Milne's bridge over the Rouge River is in danger.

Washout Reported Near Locust Hill.

Toronto Junction, Aug. 22.—A washout occurred between Locust Hill and Agincourt, the result of the downpour of rain yesterday afternoon. A request was received here for an engineer to go out and bring up Engineer Foley's train, as he was unable to do it. Whether he was injured by accident or took sick on his journey could not be learned. No damage is reported and it was expected that the track would be repaired in three hours.

Altogether five and one-quarter inches of rain fell.

BANK MANAGER MISSING.

Business Affairs in Good Shape and Home Relations Happy—Have New York Thugs Got Him?

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—An afternoon paper says that W. H. Pambrum, manager of the Bank of Hochelaga in this town, has disappeared, leaving no trace of his whereabouts. He arrived in New York from England on June 4 and forwarded his baggage, which arrived all right, but he himself did not arrive at the time expected by letter. It is understood that the disappearance is entirely inexplicable, as there was nothing whatever to warrant it. His business affairs are in good shape, and his home relations most happy. He carried a large amount of insurance on his life, but no action can be taken until something definite is learned of what happened to him. In the meantime his wife and family are suffering the most intense suspense on account of having no trace of him.

The Crow's Nest Pass Victims.

R. C. Clute, Q.C., the commissioner appointed to enquire into the cause of the death of Macdonald and Fraser in the Crow's Nest, reached Banff on Monday evening and held a sitting on Tuesday, when the evidence of Dr. Tunstall of Vancouver was taken.

THE POIRIER MURDER TRIAL

Commences To-Day—True Bill Rendered by Grand Jurors.

Campbellton, N. B., Aug. 22.—Supreme Court of Bonaventure is sitting at New Carlisle, and the case of Theodule Poirier of St. Alexis is being tried on a charge of murder. On April 1 last Theodule Poirier of St. Alexis de Metapedia, County of Bonaventure, stabbed and killed Jerome Martin about 10 o'clock at night. In a dispute between the two, young Martin struck Poirier and in return Poirier stabbed him in the neck, severing an artery. Death was almost instantaneous. Poirier is about 20 years old. A true bill was rendered by the grand jurors. The trial will begin to-day.

PONTON A FREE MAN.

His Bail Accepted and He Was Released at Noon.

(Special to the INTELLIGENCER.)

Napanee, August 23.—Barrister Porter, accompanied by James Cummins and Thos. McGinnis, of Belleville, came here this forenoon, and the latter two gentlemen gave bail for W. H. H. Ponton to the extent of $5,000 each, and Ponton's bail being accepted for $10,000, he was released at noon to-day by Magistrate Daly.

"Billy" Is Home.

W. H. Ponton arrived from Napanee on the afternoon train and talked to the INTELLIGENCER at the Public Library. He looks a little pale and thin, but declares that he feels first rate. He seems quite cheerful and is confident of a triumphant acquittal at the November court. A number of his friends called upon him and warmly congratulated him upon his release from custody. The meeting between mother and son was most touching.

Just before Mr. Ponton left Napanee, Magistrate Daly received a telegram from Toronto to the effect that $5,000 would be quite sufficient for the bonds, but they had already became responsible for $10,000.

Earlier Than Usual.

Our New Fall Stock is arriving earlier than usual. We shall have by far the most complete shoe stock in the history of Belleville when all is in. The Slater Boots for Men and Bell's, King's, McPherson's and a few styles in American Boots for Ladies, besides endless varieties for Boys and Girls.—HAINES & LOCKETT.

THE BONUS BY-LAW.

Scrutineers To Be Appointed Wednesday Evening.

His Worship Mayor Johnson appeared at the City Hall at noon to-day to swear in scrutineers for the approaching vote on the bonus by-law. A more handful of electors were present, but among them were Ald. Doyle, Ald. Panter, ex-Ald. Petrie and ex-Mayor Wallbridge, all strong opponents of the by-law.

The Mayor asked for nominations for scrutineers, for or against the by-law for the different polling-places, and the antis put in several names. With the exception of Mr. H. H. Leavens, who will act as scrutineer for the antis in Foster Ward, they were not present and therefore could not make the declaration.

Ald. Doyle thought that there was a misconception as to the purpose of to-day's meeting. If it had been generally known that the scrutineers were to make the declaration to-day, the antis would have had several suitable persons present. The Mayor said he wished to proceed in this matter legally and fairly and he therefore decided to adjourn the meeting until Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, when he will receive nominations for scrutineers for the remaining polling-places.

Ex-Ald. Petrie thanked the Mayor for his fairness and the meeting adjourned.

Boys' School Clothing.

Somehow or other that boy of yours creeps into our minds oftener than we intend. Possibly the anticipation of future business. Anyway, the gatherings for his wearing are the brightest thoughts in our store. Small wonder we turn to them so often. Is he fixed for school? Three cases of stylish Fall Suits just opened.—QUICK & ROBERTSON.

Saw the Trowel.

When in Belleville recently the Editor of the News saw the silver trowel presented to Mr. Wm. Johnston on the occasion of his laying the corner stone of St. Bede's church, Montague, about twelve years ago. Mr. Johnson was then the Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge, and was invited down to lay the corner stone. The trowel is a very handsome one, suitably inscribed, and Mr. Johnson treasures it in connection with one of the pleasantest incidents during the time he was Grand Master. He asked after a number of those who were prominent in connection with the ceremony, and hopes some day to again visit the locality.—Smith's Falls News.

Boys' School Suits.

The Oak Hall are looking after the interests of the little boys as usual this fall. We have just placed in stock a large quantity of boys' two and three-piece suits, among the lot those celebrated Halifax suits. Two-piece suits $2.50, three-piece suits $3.50, the two pieces run 22 to 28 and the three pieces 28 to 33. We furnish either single or double breasted.

Massassaga Park, August 24th.

The Cyclone.

The Marmora Herald describes the cloud to have been funnel shaped and about forty rods wide. When first seen it was coming from a south-westerly direction and was accompanied by thunder, lightning and rain. Its tumultuous roar simply terrified the people. The cloud took a winding course and swept everything in its path.

AN ERRONEOUS REPORT.

It is Wholly Untrue that Bail Cannot be Obtained for Ponton.

The following special from Napanee appeared to-day in the Mail and Empire:

Napanee, Aug. 22.—Bail is not yet forthcoming for W. H. Ponton, the young man committed for trial in connection with the Napanee bank robbery. The friends of the prisoner are making strenuous efforts to have the amount of the bail, $10,000, reduced, but Magistrate Daley has so far not consented to do so. It is probable that the seriousness of the charge will make it imperative to keep the bail at that figure whether Ponton is able to secure bondsmen or not.

That the first paragraph above quoted is absolutely false and without foundation is proved by the fact that Mr. E. G. Porter and Col. Ponton went to Napanee to-day with Messrs. James Cummins and Thomas McGinnis, to offer bail for Mr. W. H. H. Ponton, and secured his release.

We are credibly informed that substantial men, here and in Napanee, have offered bail to the amount of over $100,000 for Mr. Ponton's release.

THE LEAGUES.

"The Scriptural Aspect of the Prohibition Question."

There was a good attendance at Bridge st. League last night. Mr. Wm. Johnson occupied the chair and in his opening remarks gave a synopsis of the report of Rev. A. C. Crews for the quadrennium, as published in the INTELLIGENCER. Mr. and Miss Holton sang a duet in very acceptable style. Rev. Dr. Galbraith delivered an address on the "Scriptural Aspect, of the Prohibition Question." He began with the broad statement that there is no passage in the Holy Scriptures, which if correctly appounded, either directly or indirectly sanctions the use of intoxicants, but on the other hand that the Scriptures, from beginning to end, are strongly opposed to the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. He referred to passages frequently quoted by the antis as sanctioning the use of intoxicants, but claimed that they were all based upon misinterpretations or slipshod translations.

At Holloway St. E. L. last evening Rev. Mr. Watch, pastor, Rev. Mr. Wilson, of the Y.M.C.A., gave very practical talks on the topic of the evening. "The Duty of Cheerfulness."

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. The Board of Education.

What effect will the doing away with Ward representation in the City Council have on the Board of Education? Will the Ward system still apply to the election of Public School Trustees? or, will the whole city elect a number of Trustees? if so, what number? are questions asked by a number of citizens.

From our reading of "The Public School Act, 1896," it does not appear that the Legislature has made any provision for cities electing Trustees in any other way than by wards. Section 55 reads: "For every Ward into which any urban municipality is divided there shall be two School Trustees," etc. Section 56 reads: "In every incorporated village not divided into Wards, there shall be six Trustees," etc. So that the principle of cumulative voting is permitted in incorporated villages, but denied to cities.

Capt. Ryan Dead.

Captain William Ryan, who was pilot on board the Cambria, on her unlucky trip to Colchester, died at the general hospital, Kingston, on Sunday evening from the effects of an apoplectic stroke.

Capt. Ryan was an Irishman by birth, but spent most of his life in this country. He was seventy four years of age and was for nearly fifty years a sailor on the St. Lawrence river and on the lakes. He was one of the oldest pilots in the country and pursued his occupation until afflicted with the stroke. A large family survives him.

The... Main CIRCUS
CAPTURES MONTREAL

The various cages of animals, the gaily caparisoned steeds and their expert riders and the hundred and one moveable attractions that comprise the Walter L. Main circus, passed through the principal streets this morning, to the enjoyment of the large crowds of people that lined them to see the procession.

This afternoon the tents on the corner of Atwater avenue and St. Catherine streets were packed and a better pleased audience never sat through a circus performance on an intensely hot day. It was over a hundred in the shade, yet the show had that vast audience demonstrating its delight before the third act was on.

The press of Canada has made no misstatement in pronouncing the Walter Main show the best ever in this country. The Menagerie is large too and clean, has a great special feature in Dewey the baby elephant, and the whole aggregation is conducted with dignity and making its success an honor.—Montreal Star, Monday, July 25th, 1898.

Mines and Minerals.

Assayer Wells has received the case purchased by the City Council in which will be placed a display of specimens of the economic minerals of the County of Hastings. Mr. Wells has already secured some very fine specimens and will have his display in order in a very short time. Each specimen will be labelled with a ticket stating the name of the mine, the market value, the assay value, the locality and description of the property. No one interested in the development of our northern country should fail to examine these specimens.

The Relay Race.

The Road Club met last night and completed all the arrangements for Wednesday's race. All that is now necessary to make the race a success is good roads and good weather. The two contesting clubs will each contribute half the cost of a a challenge cup, which will go to the winners of the present race. The holders, however, must accept any challenge received from the other team after one month has elapsed after the present race.

Will be a very important day to the young people of our city.

It means the end of the pleasant holidays, the beginning of a term of hard work to those who wish to succeed. The little tot will start to school for the first time, others will go into a higher class, the result of their past hard labor, while all will be endued with a desire to do their "very best."

But to do this, they should have the "very best" supplies obtainable. As a carpenter can do a more perfect job with first class tools, so the best books seem to call forth the pupil's loftier efforts. We carry the latest and most complete lines in the city of

THE EIGHTH CLAUSE OF THE BONUS BY-LAW.

Mr. Diamond, in a letter published in our last Saturday's issue, calls attention to the 8th clause in the agreement between the Corporation of Belleville and Mr. Mitchell, which provides for the transfer of the policies of insurance upon the Rolling Mills Works, under certain conditions.

This clause, like many others in the agreement, is so loosely drawn as to be easily evaded. It first provides for the keeping of the works insured, in such a sum as will cover any loss, in case of fire; and then adds a sentence or two, which no doubt were intended as a safe guard to the city; to the effect that, if the contractor, in the event of a fire and the destruction of the works, does not commence the reconstruction of "the works within one month, "he shall assign and transfer the said "policy or policies of insurance to the said "Corporation, free from all lien, "charges or encumbrances against the "same." Well may Mr. Diamond ask what safeguard is this to the city? A fire might occur—an adjustment of the claim—and the amount covering the loss be paid to the insurer within one month, who might then decline to proceed with the repairing or rebuilding of the works, quietly saying these works have not, in the past, if such were the case, proved remunerative, and with an unusual depression in our line of business in view, I prefer to comply with the terms of the contract, and transfer and assign the policies free of incumbrance to the city. Of what use or good would they be? There is no provision, mark, for the handing over of the insurance money, nor is there any clause which gives the city a lien on the sum payable under the insurance. There is nothing to prevent the insurer from pocketing the money, particularly if the insurance companies were prompt in their payment before a month expired, as is often the case by insurance companies, as an evidence of their solvency and promptness in the transaction of their business, and as an advertisement.

Whether the payment was promptly made or not, there is nothing in the by-law which gives to the city a lien upon the insurance money. If so, we fail to find it. The only possible safeguard in such a case would be to have the insurance effected in such a manner as to enable the city, in case of a loss by fire, to draw the amount of the sum insured, and pay it out as the work of repairing or rebuilding progressed. It may be said such was the intention. If so, it should have been so provided in the bond. We have been told that it is the intention of the contractor to erect a brick building with a steel roof. If so, why was it not so stipulated? The electors are asked to give $55,000 in aid of the works. If they do so it should be upon a certainty, and not upon "intentions."

Is there a man who is supporting this by-law, who would purchase a piece of property, costing $1,000, much less $50,000, who would accept a deed if his lawyer told him the title was defective, but that the gentleman with whom he was dealing was a highly honorable and honest man, and intended to perfect it. The answer would be, "Well, I doubt not his honesty, and just so soon as you tell me the title is good, I will pay the money." Let the electors, in donating the $50,000, act upon the same principle, and they will not have to express regrets when too late, as they have had to do in the past, after hastily voting bonuses, from which little or no benefit resulted.

"HUGH JOHN."

The Hamilton HERALD takes exception to our remarks in re Hon. Hugh John Macdonald's resignation of the Presidency of the Manitoba Club, in order as we learn to avoid presiding at the banquet given to Lord Aberdeen, when in Winnipeg, and says: "It is a sample of the old, narrow, "bitter party-spirit which wickedly "suggests that political opponents should "be personal enemies." No, dear Herald, it is nothing of the kind. It is simply approval of fidelity to one's Leader. The disagreement between the Governor-General and Sir Charles Tupper and his Cabinet, became personal, as well as political. The colleagues of Sir Charles sustained their chief and should be true to him. We do not say the quarrel was justifiable, even under the circumstances, but it exists, and until reconciliation takes place all are in the same position, and should act together, unless, indeed, any one of them has changed his views upon the question at issue. If so, then he should state the fact.

BONUSES.

What has been the experience of Belleville in the way of granting bonuses?

Many will remember the promise of Messrs. Pardee and Lloyd of what they were going to do on the completion, in aid of which they were seeking bonus, of the North Hastings Railway. Mr. Pardee was represented as a millionaire, and so he was, at the time he connected himself with the Hastings Railway enterprise. Bonuses were voted, corporations became involved in debt, and Mr. Pardee before the road was completed, was, "on account of business depression" in iron and steel, such as is referred to in the $55,000 bonus by-law, compelled to suspend for a time all outside operations. The promises were never fulfilled. Who suffered? The corporations which had involved themselves in debt, a fact too well known by the taxpayers in Belleville. Will they repeat the folly of the past?

ONTARIO WILL BE HEARD.

Province Will Fight the Protest of Yankee Lumbermen.

The Attorney-General Says He Will Maintain at the Quebec Conference the Right of the Province to Enact Its Own Timber Laws—The Deficit for 1898-9 Will Be Greatly Increased—The Speaker's Ruling.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—In reply to Mr. Whitney, in the Legislature yesterday, the Premier said that the second half of this session of the House might be called by proclamation, which course gives the Government the option of a year. In the interim the bye-elections will be disposed of and things political in the province will be put upon a more certain basis. To provide for any contingencies that might arise, the rules of the House respecting the time for the reception of petitions, for the introduction of private bills and for the reception of reports of committees, are, by resolution, to count from the first day of the re-assembled or adjourned session. Thus when the members retire to their homes upon this occasion the House will not be prorogued.

Speaker's Friday Night Ruling.

Mr. Whitney said that while he had no desire to question the justice of the Speaker's decision on Friday night, the English House of Commons precedent for it did not require the substantive motion until after the division, when the votes of the eight members could be challenged.

The Attorney-General said he had been ready with facts to refute the point raised, but as the Speaker was prepared also he had not submitted them. He argued that as the question was a matter of public policy the precedents sustained the votes of members unchallenged.

New Legislation Introduced.

The Attorney-General introduced a couple of amending bills, one to rescind legislation which prevented city clerks from posting up voters' lists before the Court of Revision had passed upon the assessment, and the other to correct certain clerical and typographical errors discovered since the revision of the statutes.

This Year's Deficit $651,000.

Then the House passed in committee, with Mr. Stratton in the chair, all the estimates brought down Friday night, with the exception of the $60,000 asked for "civil government," which, by Mr. Whitney's request, was allowed to stand.

Mr. Matheson said there was no statement as to how much of this was to tide the province over the year 1898, and how much was intended to provide funds for 1899. This was a loose way of presenting the interim budget. The additional $425,000 would make the total estimated expenditure for 1898 to be $3,944,760, while the Government's estimate of total receipts was but $3,293,879. This left a round deficit of $651,000. In the face of this the Government should either cut down expenses or put on taxation. They had scarcely made ends meet last year in spite of an excess of $700,000 in Crown lands and timber sales.

Provincial Treasurer Harcourt remarked that estimates so brought down were never known to be challenged, as a search of British or Canadian Parliamentary journals would show. It was always known as a vote of credit, and the very fact of its being presented in the rough bulk forbade the estimates being challenged. They were not brought down to cover 1898 expenses at all, but only for forty days of 1899. It was but a repetition of what had been going on for the past seven or eight years without objection.

Mr. Whitney—I hope the Government will give us an unwritten promise that they won't say on the stump that we didn't challenge this vote.

Mr. Kribbs objected because the estimates were not printed.

The Conservative whip stunned Mr. Hardy by asking whether if Messrs. Gibson and Dryden were still in the Cabinet without seats next year part of the vote would go to pay their salaries.

The Premier advised him to put his question on paper.

To Have Counsel at Quebec.

Questions on the order paper elicited some interesting facts connecting the timber question with the Quebec Conference.

The Attorney-General. in reply to questions by Mr. Whitney, said that his Government had received intimation that American lumbermen holding timber limits in Ontario had presented to the United States Government objections to the Act of last session respecting the manufacture of pine out on the Crown domain. These representations had been forwarded to the Imperial and Canadian Governments. The correspondence had been transmitted to the Provincial Government by the Federal Government for an answer, but not for publicity at present. Despatches answering the complaints had been forwarded to the Federal Government on behalf of the province, in which the contention of the American lumbermen was opposed throughout. The Government understood that certain American lumbermen had retained counsel to appear on their behalf before the Quebec Conference with reference to the complaints against the new Ontario Timber Act.

Watch Lumber Interests at Quebec.

Mr. Whitney moved for a return of copies of all correspondence between the Ontario and Federal Governments relating to the complaints of the American Government, and their reported intention to have eminent counsel voicing their protests before the Quebec Conference. In moving it the Opposition leader spoke of the vast importance infinitely enhanced by what was to transpire before the International Commission. He called upon the Premier to see to it that the Government would be adequately represented at Quebec to answer the arguments of the Yankee lumbermen.

Mr. Hardy said he would be unable to bring down the correspondence, since secrecy had been enjoined from Ottawa. He had asked to be allowed to give it publicity, but the Federal authorities had not conceded the point. The petition of Don M. Dickinson of Lansing, Mich., and a fellow-lumberman of Detroit, called upon the Dominion Government to consent to disallow the late Ontario timber legislation at the Quebec Conference. The Attorney-General stated that he had taken the ground that such disallowance would be ultra vires of Federal power, in that the British North America Act placed the Crown lands and timber thereon within the jurisdiction of the provinces exclusively. The lumbermen were taking the ground that their rights were being confiscated, while he contended that he was acting solely in pursuance of conditions imposed and in accordance with terms of sale. But, above all, he held that his Government alone had the right to say as to what would be their timber policy. The provincial interests would be safeguarded and its case presented before the conference.

In reply to Mr. Miscampbell Mr. Hardy said 200,000,000 feet of lumber in logs would be the outside figure of logs taken to the U.S. before the time the Act of last session came into force.

The order was then discharged.

The Price of Binder Twine.

On the motion for a return of copies of correspondence between contractors and the Government relating to the manufacture of binder twine at the Central Prison,

Messrs. Barr (Dufferin) and Hoyle (N. Ontario) said the increase in price was due to the inactivity of the Government in repairing the prison since the fire.

Hon. Mr. Davis said the increase was due to the war.

Mr. Kidd (Carleton) said there was a rumor in his riding that the Government had sold twine to its contractor friends at 3 or 4 cents while they retailed it to the farmers at 14 cents.

The return will be brought down.

The motion of Mr. Duff (W. Simcoe) for a return of copies of all correspondence between the County Council of Simcoe and any member of the Government with relation to the injurious effects of the barberry shrub or hedge on grain crops, was also agreed to.

HOMESICK AND DISGUSTED.

American Troops Don't Want to Remain at Manila.

New York, Aug. 23.—The World's special cable from Manila says: The American troops are homesick and disgusted. They hope the Philippine Islands are not to be retained by the United States.

Aguinaldo is in an ugly mood. The insurgents would have pillaged Manila and confiscated the property there had they not been stopped from doing so by the Americans. They are kept under surveillance.

The natives control the water supply of Manila, and refuse to allow the water to run except for a few hours each day.

Business is booming in Manila. The whole number of prisoners taken proves to be 13,000.

The Beginning of the End.

Philadelphia, Aug. 23.—Notices have been posted at the Frankford arsenal to the effect that the services of all the extra men who were put to work since the outbreak of the war will be dispensed with on Sept. 1. About 700 persons are effected by the order. The reduction in force will reduce the daily output from 150,000 to 40,000.

Policy of Resistance Urged.

Madrid, Aug. 23.—The Opposition parties, supported by the press and public opinion, are urging the Government to resist the American pretensions in the Philippines. The belief is general that Germany, Russia and France will oppose America's annexing any considerable portion of the archipelago.

Spanish Ships May Enter.

Washington, Aug. 23.—The Secretary of the Treasury has decided that, under existing conditions, there is no reason why Spanish ships should not enter, load and clear to ports in the United States. Collectors of customs were instructed to this effect yesterday.

Perhaps It's Yellow Jack.

Bridgeport, Conn., Aug. 23.—Admiral Schley is confined to his summer home in Westport by illness, and no one except his attendants is allowed to see him, or have any conversation with him. The illness is of pronounced fever, the character of which is not yet known.

Sampson at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 23.—Admiral Sampson arrived here yesterday and reported at the Navy Department at 4 o'clock. Soon afterward he went to the White House, accompanied by Acting-Secretary Allen.

Perfect Order at Manila.

Manila, Aug. 23.—Perfect order has been maintained in Manila under American control. The city is quiet and seems almost to have resumed its normal business and social activity.

Brooke Will Be Boss.

Ponce, Porto Rico, Aug. 23.—Major-General Miles has decided to leave with his staff for Washington. He will turn over his command to General Brooke, who is expected to reach here to-day for a conference.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Evidence for the Prosecution in the Boyer Murder Case All In.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—Mr. Patrick J. Holmes, who has been crippled for five years, and who returned from Ste. Anne de Beaupre Saturday partially cured, intends giving a public talk on his experience at the Shrine.

Boyer Murder Case.

The final evidence for the prosecution in the case of Andre Riopelle, charged with complicity in the death of Leon Boyer, was given yesterday.

Mr. Foran, Q.C., one of the lawyers for the defence, says that they intend to call about five witnesses. Part of their evidence will go to contradict that given by Drs. Fontaine and Paquet. The rest will be from parties who saw the deceased and the prisoner, Andre Riopelle, driving along the Eardley road on the night of the tragedy in the position Riopelle has all along said they were in. That is that Riopelle was asleep in the bottom of the wagon, while Leon Boyer was driving. Dr. Church of Aylmer gave evidence for the defence. He said that he examined body of deceased a few hours after death and that Boyer's death was accidental. There was no evidence on the body of violence. An adjournment was made until to-day.

Runaway and Perhaps Death.

Forest, Ont., Aug. 23.—As Thomas Stogdell of Plympton Township crossed the G.T.R. track on Main street Sunday on his way to church, his horses were frightened by a train and ran away. He and his wife, son and three daughters were thrown out. All were more or less injured. Mr. Stogdell was badly cut about the head, his shoulder was much bruised and he was generally shaken up. His son Albin, about 15 years old, is injured about the head and internally. He had not, after 24 hours, recovered consciousness, and his recovery is doubtful.

THIS MAY BE ALL RIGHT,

But at First Blush It Looks Like a Premature Suggestion.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 23.—A committee of the Maritime Board of Trade was appointed at the Truro meeting to present a memorial to Sir Louis H. Davies for his use as Canadian Commissioner at the Quebec Conference.

The committee authorized Sir Louis—in their behalf—to offer to the United States the free use of Canadian inshore fisheries by American fishermen on the same terms enjoyed by Canadians. This privilege is to be given in exchange for access to Porto Rico and Cuba, for Canadian products, and the same customs tariff as is imposed on United States products.

A committee of the Halifax Board of Trade is understood to have made similar representations to Sir Louis.

The Johnson Women Released.

Detroit, Aug. 23.—To get possession of the famous Windom plates United States secret officers found it necessary to enter into a deal with the noted Johnson family of counterfeiters, whereby one of them was given absolute liberty and another released on nominal bail. Mrs. Kate Johnson, wife of David H. Johnson, the noted counterfeiter, was discharged from custody by United States Court Commissioner Graves to-day and will not be prosecuted. Mrs. Frank L. Baylis, her sister-in-law, was released on $200 bail.

The plates were not found in Detroit, but were secreted in Canada.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. The cause is generally disordered stomach, and a cure can be effected by using Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, containing Mandrake and Dandelion. Mr. Finlay Wark, Lysander, P.Q., writes: "I find Parmelee's Pills a first class article for Billious Headache.

The proprietors of Parmelee's Pills are constant receving letters similar to the following, which explains itself. Mr. John A. Beam, Waterloo, Ont., writes: "I never used any medicine that can equal Parmelee's Pills for dyspepsia or Liver and Kidney Complaints. The relief experienced after using them was wonderful." As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

WHEAT LOWER.

Chicago Went Down Because of Increasing Northwest Receipts—Decrease in the Visible Supply—The Prices.

Monday Evening, Aug. 22.

Liverpool's wheat market to-day responded to Saturday's fall in prices at Chicago, the September option declining 1⅞d per cental, and the December option ¾d. Spot wheat went off ½d there.

These low cables and increasing receipts of new spring wheat in the Northwest kept Chicago wheat weak all day, and in the face of a decrease of over a million bushels in the American visible supply, futures receded ⅝c to ⅞c. At the close September and December options were both about half a cent below Saturday's final figures.

Visible and Afloat.

As compared with a week ago, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States has decreased 1,047,000 bushels, that of corn has increased 16,000 bushels, and that of oats has decreased 171 000 bushels.

To recapitulate, the visible supply of wheat in Canada and the United States, together with that afloat to Europe, is 24,010,000 bushels, against 25,217,000 bushels a week ago and 25,529,000 bushels a year ago.

Receipts, as is usual on Monday, were not so heavy, 1100 bushels of grain and 30 loads of hay.

Wheat easier, 500 bushels selling as follows: White 72c to 73½c, red 72c to 73c, goose 61c, and one load of red fife spring wheat at 72c per bushel.

Oats easier, 600 bushels selling at 27c to 30c.

Straw—One load sold at $7.50 per ton.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, Aug. 22.—There were about 650 head of butchers' cattle, 50 calves and 500 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were present in large numbers, but trade was slow and sales were few in the early part of the day, and prices had a downward tendency all round. Prime beeves sold up to 4¾c per lb., but they were better than usual. Pretty good cattle sold at from 3½c to 4¼c, and the common stock from 2¼c to 3½c per lb. There were about 100 bulls among the offerings to-day, and they were a rather bad-looking lot and sell at from 2c to 3c per lb. Good calves sold at from $6 to $12 each, and the common veals at from $2.50 to $5 each. Good sheep bring from 3¼c to 3½c per lb. Lambs sell at about 4½c per lb. A few good late were sold at 4¾c per lb. Fat hogs sell at from 5c to nearly 5½c per lb.

Cheese Markets.

Utica, N.Y., Aug. 22.—At the Utica Board of Trade to-day the following sales of cheese were made: 454 boxes large white at 6¾c, 5090 boxes large white and colored at 7c, 65 boxes small white at 7⅝c, 47 boxes small colored at 7⅝c, 564 boxes small colored at 7¾c, 160 boxes small colored at 8c, 270 boxes small skims at 6½c, 837 boxes consigned; 81 packages creamery butter at 18c to 18½c; 65 cases prints at 20c to 21c. Cheese market steady.

Little Falls sales were made as follows: 60 boxes large colored at 7c, 660 boxes large colored at 7¼c, 40 boxes white at 6¾c, 236 boxes white at 7c, 620 boxes small colored at 7c, 5060 boxes small white and colored at 7¼c; 41 packages dairy butter at 16c to 17½c.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, Aug. 22.—Cattle—Receipts, 255 loads, including 55 loads Canadian stockers, the heaviest run of cattle since April. The market opened slow for all grades, but the supply of handy butchers' steers and fat butchers' cattle of all kinds was very scarce, and prices for these kinds were firmer. Heavy cattle were slow. Good to choice shipping steers, $5.15 to $5.25; good fat medium steers, $5.10 to $5.15; coarse, rough steers, $4.25 to $4.65; green steers, $4.25 to $4.65; choice to smooth fat heifers, $4.70 to $5; fair to good mixed butchers' stock, $3.75 to $4.40; fair to good butchers' cows, $3.75 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 166 cars; fairly active demand at about steady last week's closing prices for good corn-fed grades. Good Yorkers, $4.10 to $4.15; light do., $4.05 to $4.07; mixed packers, $4.10 to $4.12; medium weights, $4.10 to $4.12; heavy hogs, $4.10 to $4.15; roughs, $3.85 to $3.65; stags, $2.75 to $3; pigs, $2.75 to $3.80.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 80 cars. The market for lambs was exceedingly slow. Prices were a full 75c to $1 lower than a week ago, and full that on common to fair grades. Sheep were in moderately light supply and about steady. Spring lambs, choice to extra ewes and wethers, $5.65 to $6.25; buckeyes, fair, $5.25 to $5.65; culls, $4.25 to $5; common to choice yearlings, $4.25 to $5. Native clipped sheep, choice to selected wethers, $4.75 to $4.90; fair to choice mixed sheep, $4.40 to $4.70; culls and common ewe sheep, $2.75 to $4.25.

British Markets.

Liverpool—Close—Spot wheat dull at 6s 5½d for No. 1 Cal., 6s 1¼d for Walla, 6s 2d for red winter, 6s 10d for No. 1 Northern and 6s 1d for Indian; futures easy at 5s 7⅜d for Sept. and 5s 3⅛d for Dec. Maize quiet at 3s 1¼d for spot; futures 3s 1d for Sept. and 3s 1⅝d for Oct. Flour 22s 6d.

MINNIE SEXTON'S CRIME.

A Newmarket Girl Shot and Killed Her Sister.

The Shocking Tragedy the Deed of a Demented Girl—She Was Opposed to Her Sister Marrying, and, Crazed by Jealousy, Shot Her Sister Four Times—The First Shot Produced Death Instantly—Laughed at the Deed.

Newmarket, Ont., Aug. 23.—An awful tragedy was enacted here yesterday morning about 7 o'clock, when Minnie Sexton deliberately put four 32-calibre bullets into the body of her elder sister, Susie Sexton, killing her instantly. The girls were orphans, and lived together. Susie was at the wash tub at the time, while Minnie was preparing toast for breakfast.

George Partridge was passing the house when the shots were fired, but hearing joyous laughter from the house, thought that the sisters were amusing themselves. Minnie dressed herself and went to Barrister Widdifield and told him what she had done. Mr. Widdifield at once started for the house, accompanied by the girl. On his arrival he found that the girl's story was only too true. Susie Sexton was lying on the floor dead.

Minnie was at one time incarcerated in an asylum for the insane, and it had been noticed for some time past that she was acting rather queerly. No particular attention was paid to the fact, however, as the girl was believed to be harmless. The dead woman was about 35 years old, and was to have been married shortly. Minnie, however, was violently opposed to her sister marrying, and had been heard to declare that she would never allow her to do so. Minnie is now in charge of the police.

LATER DETAILS OF THE TRAGEDY.

Appears as if the Murderess Was Crazed by Jealousy.

Newmarket, Aug. 23.—"I could not help it; I was compelled to do it by some impulse," remarked the murderess calmly, as she told some of the neighbors of the dreadful tragedy.

While the two girls were engaged in their household avocations, Minnie suddenly left the kitchen and ran upstairs, where she secured a revolver that was kept in the house. Returning to the kitchen, she placed the revolver close to her sister's back and pulled the trigger. Susan fell back on the floor, when Minnie deliberately fired three shots into her breast, killing her instantly. After the deed was committed, she placed the revolver on the kitchen table, walked composedly to the office of Mr. W. T. Widdifield, barrister, and told what she had done. She laughed while explaining how she shot her sister, and did not in any way seem to realize the terrible position in which she was placed.

The Love of the Sisters.

It is said that the love of the two girls for each other was touching, they being very seldom apart if they could help it. Minnie, who committed the murder, was in particular passionately fond of her sister, and would hardly let her out of her sight, following her when she went anywhere. Minnie, however, was known not to be strong mentally, and about three years ago was placed in the Toronto Asylum for the Insane, where she remained for three months. She was discharged as cured, and while she had never since shown any signs of violence, still it was noticed that at times her mind appeared to be wandering. The jealousy of her sister that rankled in her mind until it ended in murder was noticed, however, whenever Susan had company at the house. Minnie objected to this and it was the cause of many a hot quarrel between the two. Minnie would always run out of the house whenever Susan had company, and, more recently, a report that Susan was to be married aroused Minnie's jealous passions, and she was heard to declare that she would never allow her to do so.

Left $10,000 Each.

When the late Mr. Sexton died he left the two girls $10,000 each, and there was a mutual arrangement that whoever died first should leave the money to the other. It is reported that Minnie brooded over the idea that this money would go out of the family in case her sister died, and that this may have led her to commit the crime.

The sisters are daughters of J. B. Sexton, an old and well-known resident of Newmarket, who for many years carried on the business of jewelry. He died September 25, 1896, leaving a will dated December 2, 1892. There were two Mrs. Sextons; the first died many years ago, and the second seven or eight years since. There is a boy in the family, named Fred Sexton, but he is not named in the will.

County Constable Savage arrested the sister who fired the shots and has her under close surveillance.

An Inquest To-Day.

An inquest will be held to day at 10 o'clock before Coroner Scott. Mr. Raney of the County Crown Attorney's office will conduct it for the Crown.

Both Bad Marksmen.

Arnprior, Aug. 23.—Robert Havey, liveryman, was told by a burglar who had entered his bedroom with pointed revolver to be silent and give up his money. Havey quickly reached for his revolver and fired at the burglar. The shot missed its mark, but the burglar retreated. He came back again, when Havey fired two more shots, and the burglar fired one in return, but neither Havey nor the burglar were hit.

"YES OR NO."

When a young woman answers "yes" to the impetuous wooing of an honorable and ambitious young man, it depends largely upon her health whether she will be a happy or an unhappy wife. A young wife who suffers from weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine is sure to fail of happy wifehood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription imparts health, strength, virility and elasticity to the womanly organism. It fits for healthy wifehood and capable motherhood. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration, soothes pain and invigorates and vitalizes. It banishes the nausea and complaints of the expectant period and makes the little one's arrival easy and almost painless. It insures baby's health and a bountiful supply of nourishment. Thousands of homes that for years had only needed the added tie of a baby to make them happy now resound with the laughter of happy, healthy childhood, as a result of the use of this remedy. Over 90,000 women have testified to its marvelous results in writing.

This wonderful medicine is the discovery of an eminent and skillful specialist, Dr. R. V. Pierce, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. By writing to Dr. Pierce, ailing women can secure the free advice of a specialist who has treated more women than any other physician in the world, and avoid the disgusting examinations and local treatment insisted upon by obscure doctors. The 'Favorite Prescription' is sold by all good medicine dealers.

Send thirty-one one-cent stamps, to cover cost of customs and mailing only, for a paper-covered copy of Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Cloth binding fifty stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PREPARING FOR THE CONFERENCE.

May Be Some Public Sittings, But in General It Will Be Private.

Quebec, Aug. 23.—Nothing is yet known as to whether the proceedings of the conference will be public or held behind closed doors. Probably most of the negotiations will be private, but it is possible that there may be some public sittings on the conference.

The festivities in connection with the conference open on Wednesday evening, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier will entertain the delegates to dinner at the Garrison Club.

Sir James Winter, Premier of Newfoundland, will arrive in Quebec at noon Wednesday, and he has arranged with Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Dominion Premier, that nothing positive shall be done until his arrival.

The American delegates in Quebec so far are Senator Fairbanks, Gen. J. W. Foster, Hon. Mr. Kasson and Hon. N. Dingley. The two others, Senator Grey and Hon. Jefferson Coolidge, were expected here yesterday.

Lord Herschell will have Mr. Charles Russell, son of the Chief Justice of England, as his secretary.

WARSHIPS EN ROUTE TO HALIFAX.

Rich Find of White Sapphire on the Labrador Coast.

Halifax, Aug. 22.—Warships Talbot and Pallas, and torpedo boat destroyers Quail and Sparrow Hawk, are on route from Bermuda to Halifax. The Talbot and Pallas will accompany the battleship Renown to Quebec, leaving her on Sept. 18. The Renown will not go to Montreal as announced.

Lieut. Dumble, R.E., and six sappers will leave by the I.C.R. Friday or Saturday for Toronto, where they give exhibitions of submarine mining at the big fair.

A big find of valuable mineral deposit is reported from Labrador Coast. Two men named MacBain of the city, with Rev. Mr. Clay, in the schooner Cambridge, discovered a bed of white sapphire, which is largely used for manufacturing purposes. It is scarce and is worth a lot of money. In appearance it resembles mica, and is easily broken.

Yesterday afternoon Sir Rivers Wilson and party, and Hon. Mr. Tarte were entertained by the Board of Trade to a harbor excursion.

A WINNIPEG SUICIDE.

Bookkeeper A. T. Low Made Away With Himself While Despondent.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 23.—A. T. Low, an accountant, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head at his boarding house yesterday. Low was about 45 years of age. About 8 o'clock the unfortunate man was found lying on his bed in a pool of blood insensible, but not dead. The bullet had entered his right temple. He was removed to the General Hospital, but he died at that institution shortly after his arrival. He was very despondent, and continually complaining of the ill-luck which pursued him. Low came to this country from Australia about 15 years ago with the intention of farming. His family are still in Australia.

Captain Swinford, father of H. Swinford, general passenger agent of the N. P. R., died yesterday, aged 75 years.

GRAND TRUNK WILL KICK.

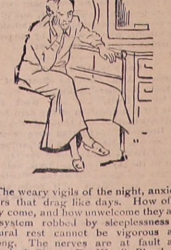

Want to Know Why Their Travelers Were Stopped.

Ottawa, Aug. 23.—A number of Canadian farm laborers going to North Dakota have been returned at Port Huron by the United States officer because they had an agreement with the Grand Trunk Railway Co., that if they returned by November they would get back for $18. They were going to work harvesting. They have applied to the Dominion Government for compensation, as their case was not one within the terms of alien labor law. The matter has been put in the hands of the company's solicitors at Port Huron and Chicago, and will be investigated.

Saved Others, But Drowned Himself.

Warkworth, Ont., Aug. 23.—George Yule, aged 25, and three others were playing with a boat in Mr. McClary's pond, two miles from here, Sunday, and accidentally upset it. They all went into the water. Yule, being the only one that could swim, got his friends safely upon the bottom of the boat and then sank and did not rise. His body was recovered about two hours afterward.

Can't Sleep.

The weary vigils of the night, anxious hours that drag like days. How often they come, and how unwelcome they are. A system robbed by sleeplessness of natural rest cannot be vigorous and strong. The nerves are at fault and must be built up. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are the remedy that cured

MISS EMMA TEMPLE.

HERE IS WHAT SHE SAYS!

At last, after eight months of physical weakness and nervous prostration, caused by over exertion and want of rest,—during which time I suffered greatly on account of the shattered condition of my nerves, and for which I was unable to find any relief, I have found a medicine (Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills) that in three months made my nerves strong, removed all nervous troubles, built up my physical system and made me strong and well. They removed despondency, and in consequence of taking your valuable Pills I look forward to the future hopefully. I have to thank your great cure for nervousness and bodily weakness for my present good health and strength.

Yours truly,
Signed, EMMA TEMPLE, Hastings, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

Toronto's Great Exhibition

Admittedly the Most Varied, attractive and Comprehensive Annual Fair in the World.

On Tuesday next, the 29th inst., Canada's Great Exposition and Industrial Fair opens at Toronto. It is no idle boast to say that the arrangements made for this year guarantee that the Exhibition will be easily the best ever held. Owing to the war, amusement matters have been very quiet in the United States. As a consequence the management have been able to secure special features that otherwise could not have been obtained. Nor is that all, for the exhibits are of a great deal better quality and more varied than usual. For the first time manufacturing establishments of both France and Great Britain are sending over collections of goods especially made for this purpose, included in [illegible] being several recent scientific invent[illegible] [illegible] a revolutionary nature. It would [illegible] [illegible]ions of possible here to enumerate the [illegible] be im[illegible] attractions that will be wonderful they will include the famo[illegible] offered, but that have created a t[illegible] us diving elks, throughout America, [illegible]emendous furore greatest state of per[illegible] as samples of the training has been [illegible]ection to which animal and her four ma[illegible] brought; Mlle. The first will be an exhibition of real warfare, and will be conducted by the Royal Engineers, of Halifax, and the Dominion Artillery, of Kingston, and will comprise the blowing up of ships, the storming of forts with shot and shell from quick-firing and Maxim machine guns, Red Cross hospital work, and so on. At night the great spectacle presented will include the blockade, bombardment, and surrender of Santiago, the sinking of the Merrimac, the captive balloon, and the destruction of Cervera's fleet, concluding with a joyful celebration of victory. There will also be horse races and horse jumping contests every day, and one day of bicycle races. An exhibit of horseless carriages will be another feature of interest, while the bands of music will number a score, including three or four from the United States. The usual dog show will be held, but the value and number of prizes exceeds previous years by several hundred dollars, the amount involved being $2,800. On the whole there is more to be seen at Toronto for less money than at any fair in America, and such an opportunity as the present, when rates prevail on the railways that may never be so low in another year, should not be missed.

Another Cut in Steamboat War Rates.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 21.—The steamboat war at this point enters upon another breaking record this week. For three weeks the rate has been 25 cents for the afternoon island routes and 50 cents for the voyage to Ogdensburg or Brockville and return. This week the Folger system have made a cut, giving the island ramble for 15 cents and free street car service and 25 cents to Brockville and Ogdensburg. The R. and O. Company will meet the cut.

A Great Rheumatic Remedy.

Mr. H. E. West, Water st., Vancouver, writes: I had been suffering from a very painful attack of rheumatism in my right shoulder, and could not attempt to raise my arm, so great was the pain. Griffiths' Menthol Liniment was applied, and in less than four hours the pain entirely left it, and I could use my arm freely. It is truly a wonderful remedy.

EXPEDITION TO THE SOUDAN

Metemmeh Is Now a Veritable City of Desolation.

The British Force on the March Into the Interior of Africa—The Sirdar and the Troops Now Within Fifty Miles of Khartoum—The Stronghold of the Dervishes May Fall Into Kitchener's Hands Within a Month.

Atbara, Aug. 23.—The transport column of the Soudan expedition, which left Camp Atbara on Aug. 16, marching along the left bank of the Nile to an advanced post at Nasri Island, arrived at Metemmeh on Sunday last. Metemmeh itself, a town of 5,000 houses, is now a city of desolation, its houses in ruins, its alleys blocked with skeletons and its courtyards putrid with corpses. The few natives seen are disposed to be friendly.

The Sirdar, having already reconnoitered the river to Shabluka, evacuated by the Dervishes a fortnight ago, within 50 miles of Khartoum, found the passage easy for the gunboats. A full advance is expected to begin shortly and it is not unlikely that Khartoum will be captured by the middle of September. The heat is trying, but the expedition is in good condition. Practically the whole force is now encamped at Wadhemid, 55 miles from Khartoum. The Sirdar has arrived there.

BRITAIN INTERESTED.

London Times, Standard and Sunday News Hope the Conference Will Be a Success.

London, Aug. 23.—The Times this morning, referring editorially to the approaching International Conference at Quebec, says:

"It is possible that future historians will mark Aug. 23, 1898, as a date of considerable importance in the chronicle of the relations between Great Britain and the United States. It may be hoped that the Quebec Conference will clear a number of irritating difficulties, and view the impending peace negotiations and the prospect of a better understanding between England and the United States as extremely important.

"The conference has an imposing list of subjects to deal with, and if any real business is to be done there must be a very active tendency to conciliation among the commissioners.

"We may be sure the United States will do their utmost to make the conference a success."

The Standard publishes a similar editorial. It declares that anything bringing Canada and the United States into closer and more amicable relations is a gain for both England and the United States.

The Sunday News says: "It is a happy augury that the conference meets in the capital of old French Canada, which city years ago was the seat of the conference that led to the federation of British North America. To-day's gathering may be the first step in a reunion movement before which even the making of the Dominion would pale into insignificance."

HAY'S RECALL.

Britain and the United States Will Act Together as Regards Trade in the Far East.

London, Aug. 23.—The Manchester Guardian says: We understand that United States Ambassador Hay's recall to Washington to accept the post of Secretary of State is due to his special fitness to carry out a policy in regard to which negotiations have been proceeding for some time between Washington and London, and upon which a substantial agreement has been reached, whereby the two countries will act together in the far East, or wherever American and British interests are identical.

There is no intention of binding the nations in an alliance. Each is to be free to pursue its own destinies in its own way, but the Governments will act together diplomatically where their common interests are concerned.

Collision in the Channel.

Hamburg, Aug. 23.—The pearl fishing steamer Hamburg collided with the English schooner Catherine in the Channel during the prevalence of a dense fog on Sunday. All of the Catherine's crew except the helmsman and eight men were drowned. One member of the crew of the Hamburg was killed in the collision.

The Pope on Bismarck's Death.

Rome, Aug. 23.—The Pope, upon hearing of Prince Bismarck's death, is credited with saying: "It is strange that my poor little body shows more resisting power than that of the giant of this century."

Personal Estate of Dr. Herz.

London, Aug. 23.—The personal estate of the late Dr. Cornelius Herz, who, it was charged, was implicated in the Panama Canal scandal, has been sworn to be £20.

WOODSTOCK TAKEN IN.

R. L. Middleton Has, It Is Alleged, Done the Town Up.

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 23.—The Brantford & Woodstock Railway, on which a large number of surveyors have been employed since early in July, has suddenly collapsed. It was supposed the Canadian Pacific was behind this road, but it turns out that it was simply an idea of R. L. Middleton, who is said to be Bigamist McDonald, who married Maggie Thomas here a year ago while his wife was still living. It is alleged that the purpose of the railway was simply to swindle storekeepers and to get sums of money from contractors and others. Middleton gave a grand reception to the prominent citizens of Woodstock on Tuesday last, and it was there he was recognized as McDonald of Indianapolis, who is wanted by the police. A warrant is out for his arrest.

Unity in Herd Books.

Toronto, Aug. 23.—The efforts of the Shorthorn Breeders' Association have at last borne fruit, and last week their efforts for a unification of the herd books of this association and those of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association were crowned with success. Mr. Charles E. Gardner of Prince Edward Island, the custodian and editor of the Ayrshire herd book, sold out his right and good will to the Shorthorn Breeders' Association. All registrations for the Dominion will henceforth be made in Toronto.

The Government Not "In It."

Toronto, Aug. 23.—At Osgoode Hall yesterday judgment was given by the Divisional Court dismissing the appeal against the judgment of Judge McDougall in the suit over the succession duties payable to the Crown by the estate of the late G. R. Renfrew. By this decision the Government cannot collect.

A Boy With a Vicious Temper.

Beachburg, Ont., Aug. 23.—Willie Taugher, aged 18, Sunday night stabbed James A. Beach in four places with a jack-knife. Beach is in a critical condition. Taugher was arrested and sent to Pembroke to await his trial.

Another Powder Mill Explosion.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 23.—A tremendous explosion at the plant of the Chattanooga Powder Company at Ooltewah Station, 18 miles from the city, killed two men and wounded seriously, if not fatally, six others.

Stopped, Has It?

It was such a good watch. I never had it cleaned in five years. That is the remark we hear every day. Is it any wonder watches go to pieces? A watch is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and to give satisfaction and wear a lifetime should be cleaned every eighteen months. Has yours been attended to? If not, bring it in. PICTON'S DEMONSTRATION

Belleville Brethren have an Enjoyable Trip on the Skylark.

When the Skylark left the harbor yesterday morning, bound for Picton, she had on board as jolly a party as she has ever carried. It consisted of about forty members of the A. O. U. W., together with Mr. D. M. Waters, Ald. Falkiner and others of their friends. The trip down was a most enjoyable one, in spite of a slight shower, and those who had never been aboard the Skylark before were loud in their praise of her beauty and comfort and of the princely hospitality of our ever popular M. P.

Picton was crowded with visitors from all the bay ports, and for their accomodation ample provision had been made. A procession was formed at 1:30, over 30 lodges, from the Picton, Kingston and Durham districts being in line, and marched to the park. W. M. Alford and Bro. W. P. Hudson, ex M. P. P., represented Belleville lodge in the procession. Stirring address were delivered by Grand Foreman Cornet of Gananoque, Grand Organizer Unitt, of Toronto, and others. The Belleville party reached home at 7:30 in the evening.

Boys' School Clothing.

Somehow or other that boy of yours creeps into our minds oftener than we intend. Possibly the anticipation of future business. Anyway, the gatherings for his wearing are the brightest thoughts in our store. Small wonder we turn to them so often. Is he fixed for school? Three cases of stylish Fall Suits just opened.—QUICK & ROBERTSON.

DEEPLY REGRETTED

Last Tribute paid to the Late John F. Tannahill.

The funeral of the late Mr. John Flemington Tannahill took place this afternoon and the large attendance proved the general respect in which the deceased was held and the profound regret at his demise. Rev. T. J. Thompson, M.A., of the John st. Church, conducted the services;

The following is a list of the floral offerings: cross from the family; wreath from the employees of the Bank of Montreal; wreath from the crew of the yacht Kismet; wreath from the Y.P.S.C.E. of the John st. Presbyterian Church; wreath from the W.C.A.; pillows from Mrs. T. Lazier, Mrs. Kelso, Mrs. Ritchie; anchor from Dr. Gibson; cross from Mrs. Murray; wreath from Miss Robertson, Mrs. U. E. Thompson, Mrs. Roy, Mrs. May; bouquets from Mrs. McAnnany, D. B. Robertson, Mrs. R. E. Lazier, Mrs. Benjamin, Mrs. McDonald, Miss Stewart, Miss Eppes, Miss Wallbridge, Miss M. Smart, Mrs. Job Lingham, Misses Ponton, J. Parker, Mrs. Farley, Miss Pitceathly.

The bearers were F. S. Wallbridge, E. Burrell, F. S. Foster, H. Thompson, J. S. McKeown, Peter Forin.

Earlier Than Usual.

Our New Fall Stock is arriving earlier than usual. We shall have by far the most complete shoe stock in the history of Belleville when all is in. The Slater Boots for Men and Bell's, King's, McPherson's and a few styles in American Boots for Ladies, besides endless varieties for Boys and Girls.—HAINES & LOCKETT.

BAD FALL.

Charlie McKeown Meets With an Accident.

While engaged in a friendly scuffle with a companion last evening on Front street, Charlie McKeown, son of Mr. John McKeown, lost his footing and fell, the back of his head coming in violent contact with the stone pavement. He was rendered unconscious. Dr. McKeown was summoned and he had Charlie taken home, where he now lies in a critical condition. He did not regain semi-consciousness until about ten hours after the accident but he is now resting a little easier and it is hoped that the worst is over.

Charlie is a student at the O. B. C. and very popular both with his fellow-students and with the citizens. It is to be hoped that he will soon be around again.

Snow Storms

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&w6w

Terrific Storm.

A terrific storm struck here at an early hour this morning. Rain fell in torrents and the lightning was almost continuous for over an hour.

It is Not Necessary

To be troubled longer with those painful and annoying corns. Dr. Russell's Corn Cure has removed hundreds of corns for your friends, and will do the same for you. You bathe the feet in warm water for three days, night and morning, and apply Dr. Russell's Corn Cure as directed; at the end of that time the corn can be lifted out with the point of a knife without the least pain. Try it. 25 cents. All druggists.

TOMMY ATKINS ON THE RAMPAGE.

He is Making an Exhibition of Himself in Halifax.

Halifax, Aug. 23.—Never in the history of this garrison have the military authorities had so much trouble with a regiment as with the First Battalion of the Leinster, which came here from Dublin when the Second Battalion of the same regiment was suddenly ordered to Jamaica at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war.

The regiment is made up almost exclusively of mere boys who apparently cannot be controlled. It became necessary some days ago to send to England for new Sergeants, those in the regiment being found incapable of performing their duties.

Last night two soldiers from the main guard at the Queen's Wharf abandoned their posts and with the butts of their rifles broke into an adjoining liquor store, carrying off what they could find. The night previous the pickets arrested two soldiers for interfering with the Salvation Army. Four of their friends then tried to break them out of the barracks. They tackled the guard with pokers, but were repulsed at the point of the bayonet. Two of the culprits were captured and quickly sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

Another incident a day or two ago was the throwing of a man out of a window in the Wellington Barracks, by which he was severely injured. The soldiers refused to turn out the lights in the barracks when ordered to do so. Last week twenty-eight soldiers from the Leinster Regiment were sentenced by court-martial to various terms of imprisonment on Melville Island.

Fall and Winter Overcoats.

The Oak Hall have now in stock all the new lines of fall and winter overcoats. You ought to see the assortment and quantity. There is no clothing house in Canada that can show you a larger or more complete line. All prices, $5 to $15, single and double breasted beavers, kerseys, cheviots, worsteds, montiacs. All the new and nobby colors.

KHALIFA'S MINE BLEW UP

He Had Intended to Destroy a British Ship with It—Many Dervishes Killed.

Wady Hamed Camp, fifty-three miles north of Omdurman, Aug. 22.—Native spies have brought to the Anglo-Egyptian camp here details of an attempt on the part of the Khalifa, the Mahdi's successor and leader of the dervishes, to blow up British steamers ascending the Nile. On Friday last he placed a huge box of explosives in a boat that was put in charge of a Tunisian prisoner who was chained to the boat. The boat was then towed to Korori by the steamer Ismailia. When the party reached this point the Tunisian was instructed to sink the mine in the fairway, where any British vessel passing would be certain to hit it.

While the prisoner was sinking the mine it exploded shattering the small boat and blowing the Ismailia to pieces. Many of the Dervishes were killed.

The advancing expedition found the once important city of Metemneh a squalid ruin. The country for a mile around was strewn with the bones of oxen, goats, camels and donkeys. A gallows was also found, with human jaw bones thick around it. The forts were merely mud emplacements. The town was permeated with a sickly stench of fat and blood, and dilapidation prevailed everywhere.

A few double storied houses were standing, but their walls were crumbling, the gateways wire choked, and the roofs had collapsed. It is expected that the defences of Omdurman will be found in an equally ruinous condition.

POLICE COURT.

The Maracles in Court Again—For Stealing a Watch.

George Sullivan, was arrested last night, for drunkenness. He was ordered to get out of the city.

Mrs. Terrill charged James Marlowe with throwing stones at her on Sunday evening last. Enlarged until Saturday.

Daniel Maracle charged Abraham W. Maracle with appropriating some live stock. Both parties are Indians from the Reserve. Enlarged until Monday.

J. Clarke, arrested on Monday night for appropriating a watch, the property of Samuel Walley. He was found guilty, but was allowed to go on suspended sentence.

BIGAMIST RELEASED.

There were Extenuating Circumstances

Frank Shortts, sentenced to two years in the penitentiary, for bigamy by Magistrate Cleak, of Bancroft, is to be released. Shortts' first wife, whose character was not of the best, deserted him about seven years ago and he received word that she was dead. Acting on the presumption that he was now free to marry again, he did so. His first wife turned up and he was indicted for bigamy.

Mr. F. J. M. Anderson, County Crown Attorney, interested himself on behalf of the unfortunate man, with the result that he to-day received notification from the Department of Justice that Shortts was to be released at once.

Walter L. Main's Biggest and Best Shows Coming.

Rivalry among showman the past ten years—that is rivalry among the good ones,—has been the means of almost ruining the beauty and real merit of their enterprises, owing to the all-absorbing scheme to present big shows to the public. To such an extreme has this been carried that merit has almost forced into secondary place for magnitude, with, however, one exception, to use an advertising line, the one in question may be most fitly described as The Main Show. Main in name, Main in size, Main in newness, and, above all Main in features. As old-timers will remember, Main never advertised a single feature he did not present, and the same rigid rule adhered to now is going to give us in the engagement in this city seven features alone, each worth the price of admission, not to mention the enormous menagerie exhibit and the circus performance in addition, the latter presenting 67 distinct acts, but none conflicting. The seven features are foremost, the only baby elephant on earth of its size, little Admiral Dewey, only ten days old, 32 inches high, and weighing but 250 pounds; the most daring and thrilling arenic lion, tiger, panther and elephant act on earth; the greatest acrobats living (the Eddy family); the grandest flying aerial act ever attempted (the family "Wernts," of Berlin); the only Crandall, riding clown; Toney Lowande, the most graceful equestrians' and William Wallace, the now champion bareback rider of all countries. Taking out these eight leave yet 59 additional numbers on the program, so the press say generally, that has never been equaled in the circus world heretofore. Main's motto is: Merit first, money last, and from all accounts he is making "merit" make the money. These enormous big shows will exhib it in this city on Thursday Sept. 1st.

SEPT. 1st

Will be a very important day to the young people of our city.

It means the end of the pleasant holidays, the beginning of a term of hard work to those who wish to succeed. The little tot will start to school for the first time, others will go into a higher class, the result of their past hard labor, while all will be endued with a desire to do their "very best."

But to do this, they should have the "very best" supplies obtainable. As a carpenter can do a more perfect job with first class tools, so the best books seem to call forth the pupil's loftier efforts. We carry the latest and most complete lines in the city of

Wonderful Asthma Recoveries

Clarke's Kola Compound Officially Tested by the British Columbia Government, at the home for Incurables, Kamloops, B. C., the Medical Superintendent Pronounced Loug-standing Cases Cured.

Many temporary relief asthma remedies have, during the past few years, been placed before the public, but until the introduction to the medical profession of Clarke's Kola Compound, nothing has been found to have any effect on preventing future attacks. The Medical Superintendent for the Home for Incurables in Kamloops, B. C., has had probably the best chance in Canada to thoroughly test this wonderful remedy for asthma. He reports that on the three cases of asthma where Clarke's Kola Compound has been tried, in not a single instance did it fail to cure, and on one particular case a lady had been confined to her bed most of the time for nearly a year previous to taking this remedy, and less than three bottles have completely cured her. Over one year has now passed, and there has not been the slightest indication of asthma returning. Three bottles of Clarke's Kola Compound are guaranteed to cure any case of asthma. Over 500 cases have already been cured in Canada alone by this remedy. Sold by all druggists. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. Address the Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 121 Church street Toronto, or Vancouver, B. C., sole Canadian agents.

If you are troubled with asthma try Clarke's Kola Compound; it cures. All druggists refund the money if it fails to cure.—Sold by R. Templeton & Co.

ROLLING MILLS.

"VALUABLE CITIZEN'S OPINION."

A city contemporary publishes what purports to be an "interview with a citizen whose opinion" it says, "is of value." If the name of the interviewed were given, the reader would be better able to judge of one holding such strong views upon the bonus question. He should not hesitate to give his name, so as to enable the electors to form an opinion of the value of his statements.

This gentleman tells the interviewer that he "sees the proposal in no other light than that of a perfectly business like one," and then enters into a glowing description of the benefits which Belleville is to derive from the granting of the bonus of $50,000. Among other things he says, Mr. Mitchell "is prepared to give "satisfactory security that he will run the "business for five years with a complement "of fifty five men, who will work not less "than nine months in the year," and then triumphantly asks, as if that statement were a clincher to all objections, "What better assurance do we want than that?" If any such assurance were given, why was it not so stated in a clause of the by-law? If we understand it aright, this is just what Mr. Mitchell refused to do. Neither 55 nor 10 men would he consent to be bound to employ. If he were willing to give satisfactory security that 55 men would be continuously employed for nine months, why in the name of common sense was it not so provided in the bargain into which he entered with the corporation? Verbal promises of the kind are not worth the breath that utters them.

Next this "practical citizen," "whose opinion is of value," tells the interviewer that "Mr. Mitchell enters into an agreement "to conduct the mills to their full capacity "for a certain time;" and then as a knock-down argument, he adds: "He cannot do "so without providing for it in the way I "have indicated." If this "practical citizen" knows no more of the results which will flow from the establishment of rolling mills in Belleville than he does of the "agreement" into which Mr. Mitchell has entered with the City, the picture he draws is not worth a moment's consideration. Mr. Mitchell has entered into no such agreement. All that he is bound to do is to put in a plant capable of turning out 5,000 tons of iron and steel per annum with "one run," and "10,000 with a double run," but he is not bound in any way to turn out that quantity of iron or steel, nor to "conduct the mills to their full capacity."

This "citizen" also says "the value of a "fully equipped rolling mill such as I take "this to be, should be not less than $46-"000." Very well, then, what kind of a rolling mill is Belleville to have? The plant to be imported is valued at $12,000 by, we understand, a customs expert who was sent to Norwich Conn., for the express purpose of examining and placing a value for duty upon this very plant. Upon his report, the by-law provides $3,000 to pay duty which represents just $12,000. This "citizen" is proving too much. Either the customs is to be jewed, if we get "a fully equipped rolling mill" whose machinery is worth $46,000, out of $8,500, the duty upon $46,000 being just $11,500, while we provide only $3,000 to pay duty upon machinery of a value of $12,000. How is it?

This "citizen" had better read the by-law and study the question before putting his foot in it again.

Rolling Mills if run successfully would, beyond doubt, be a benefit to the city, but there is nothing in the by-law to bind Mr. Mitchell to anything, that he has not left a loop hole through which to escape.

Just such glowing statements were made when the city involved itself in debt to the tune of $150,000 for the Grand Junction enterprise, and $25,000 for Grand Trunk workshop extension. Have they been realized? If so it were well for some "practical citizen" to point out in what way.

This "practical citizen" would do well to read the agreement carefully before again giving publicity to his opinions; or his utterances will not be considered of much "value" by those who have read them.

Too much importance is often attached to what such men say, who "talk through their mouth," without knowing what they are saying, unless in cases where deception in intended.

WHY?

There is an important point in connection with the granting of a bonus of $50,000 in aid of the rolling mills scheme which requires explanation. We are informed by a merchant in the city that Mr. Mitchell, while here, stated distinctly, after examining hardware stocks in the stores, and ascertaining prices and quantities imported, that he was so satisfied with the prospect that all he would ask of the city would be a free site, freedom from taxation for a number of years, and the payment of whatever duties might be imposed upon the machinery, which would have to be imported from Norwich, Conn. What caused the change?

ATTORNEY-GENERAL WILL GO HIMSELF.

To Act as Counsel for The Province at Quebec Conference.

London Normal School Site Chosen—The Constable Bill Rushed Through Committee—Some Minor Amendments—The Attorney-General's "Men of Straw" Bill Postponed to a More Convenient Season—The House Will Adjourn Thursday.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—The Legislature will conclude business to all intents and purposes to-day. The Lieut.-Governor will give his formal assent to-morrow to the legislation passed, after which adjournment will take place.

Premier Hardy may go to Quebec to appear before the Quebec conference, where he will in person uphold the rights of the province to legislate as it pleases respecting the timber on the Crown domain. His going, though almost certain, is somewhat contingent on his health. Mr. Hardy may, however, associate other counsel with him. It has not yet been decided just who will go.

London Normal School Site

The Govenument has chosen the Mackenzie lot of 4 1-10 acres in London South for a site for the new Normal School. The price paid was $7500, and tenders for the erection of the school building will be called for immediately.

The Clinton Loan By-Law.

Mr. Garrow (West Huron) presented the report of his special committee, appointed to examine into the bill to confirm a bylaw of the town of Clinton, granting $25,000 to the Doherty Organ Company. He moved its second reading and explained that the grant was a loan and not a bonus, and the bill was allowed to pass the second stage.

That Printing Contract.

Mr. Whitney asked what truth was in the rumor that the printing contract was upon such specifications as made it a bonanza to Warwick Bros. & Rutter, who secured the last one, and would the new contract be a similar one.

Provincial Treasurer Harcourt said he was surprised that the Opposition leader should take up the time of the House with such sea-serpent fiction. The new contract should be more advantageous than the preceding one, and he vouchsafed that it would be. As to whether exorbitant prices had been paid only expert evidence could say, but he advised the other side not to place too much credence in newspaper inaccuracies about contractors getting rich. There was one thing he could say, and that was that in the past thirty years each successive contract had been awarded on much more favorable terms than the preceding one. Taking it altogether, the last five-year contract to Warwick Bros. & Rutter had been 60 per cent. more favorable than the one awarded in 1868 to Hunter, Rose & Co. Of course, he admitted, trade conditions had altered in the Government's favor. Compared with the contract of 1878, the last one was 40 per cent. more advantageous as regards binding, while the press work only cost one-quarter as much. The last contract was 36 per cent. cheaper in composition, 25 per cent. in press work, and 70 per cent. in binding. The Government had four and a half months to act before the present contract expired, and would advertise for tenders. He pledged also that the lowest tender, if it were that of a responsible man, with a plant capable of doing the work well, and with sound sureties, would be accepted. There would be every publicity about it, so that every firm wishing to acquire wealth suddenly would have its opportunity.

It's the Extras That Count.

Col. Matheson said he allowed that the press work and the binding, etc., might be getting cheaper, but held that the plum for the contractor was in the extras on the binding. This was a swindle on the province. In voluming the Revised Statutes, for instance, the contractor got 3c extra on each section of 16 pages, for every copy. Instead of getting about $1.275 he got about $5,000, because the book was about a quarter of an inch thicker. If Mr. Hardy had not ruled that the Revised Statutes were not included in the printing contract, the work would have cost $75,000 instead of the $20,000 they did cost.

The Attorney-General and the Treasurer said they considered this last a point in their own favor. The former told how he had taken exceeding pains to ascertain if he was paying too much for this contract. He had consulted a city expert, along with one employed by the then Conservative Government at Ottawa, and both had agreed that the cost was reasonable.

Why the Supply Vote Was Asked.

When the House was asked in supply, with Mr. Stratton in the chair, to pass the remaining supplementary of $60,000 for civil government, Mr. Kribbs (Waterloo) asked, as a new member, what way the money was to be expended.

Mr. Harcourt advised the questioner to look up the last volume of the public accounts.

Mr. Kribbs asked to be supplied with one.

The Treasurer explained that the grant of $60,000 was for the first two months of next year. He did not think it would necessarily be spent; perhaps only $50,000 would be needed. The Forestry Department and Bureau of Mines each required additional expenditure in order to keep up the policy of development of resources.

Mr. Whitney said he had understood that the supplementaries were for 40 days of next year, where the House was now informed that it was for two months. He hoped it was not the intention to have this contingent fund in order to delay calling the session till late in the spring.

Mr. Harcourt said that such was not the intention and that the two months was counted from the first of the year. The last vote covered up till Jan. 20, to which 40 days had been added, making the two months.

Kribbs Kicks About Curt Answer.

Mr. Kribbs said: "If we are not allowed to ask questions, what are we here for? I didn't ask that the expenditure be curtailed. I merely asked what it was for. The next time I ask a question I want a civil answer." (Laughter and applause.)

Mr. McLaughlin (Stormont) reiterated this sentiment.

Will Make Ends Meet.

Mr. Harcourt explained that this was only the first part of the 1899 session, and that, as was customary at the beginning of all sessions, a vote of credit was being asked to cover expenses until the regular supply bill was put through later in the session. The $651,000 deficit he ascribed to be one of Col. Matheson's crude imaginings. He promised that he would be probably $652,000 out, just like he was in former years, and that after meeting all expenses the Government would have a little nest-egg left over. To Mr. Kribbs he denied any intention of incivility, calling upon the old members to bear out his statement that transgressions of the amenities of debate had always been foreign to him. He courted the freest enquiry into the finances of the province.

Col. Matheson said he had deficits of $400,000 in 1894, of $358,000 in 1895 and of $446,000 in 1896, and had only made ends meet in 1897, in anticipation of the elections, by extraordinary sales of timber limits.

The supplies were then concurred in.

Constable Bill First Amendment.

The remainder of the afternoon was taken up in consideration in committee of the constable bill. Section 1 was amended to permit of the appearance of three, instead of two, counsel to present either side of the question, when the right of constables to vote was being argued before the Court of Appeal.

THE EVENING SESSION.

In the evening the consideration of the bill by sections was continued.

In the preamble, which says: "And whereas electors so acting have always exercised the right to vote, and such right has always been heretofore acquiesced in," Mr. Whitney objected that legally it was not acquiesced in. The amendment finally read: "Has not hitherto been questioned in proceedings."

Mr. Graham of Brockville wished a clause added that the sending of newspapers and other campaign literature should not be regarded as illegal acts. This the Attorney General considered a good suggestion.

The Attorney-General introduced a clause that those holding fishery licenses should be considered on the same plane as those holding timber licenses, as regards eligibility to be elected to the House.

In questions slated for the opinion of the Court of Appeal, question 1 was amended, technically reading, Ontario Election Act, changed to "or any other act."

The bill, as amended, will be read a third time to-day.

A Suggested Amendment.

Mr. Barr (Dufferin) recalled to Mr. Hardy's mind his promise to bring in legislation to prevent "men of straw" petitioning against the return of members. The Attorney-General intimated that the matter was too important to be merely ingrafted on the bill in hand and added that he proposed bringing in a special bill to cover such matters.

Mr. Whitney, while agreeing that some such act was necessary, did not desire to see wealth made a qualification and the poor man shut out from the right to petition.

The Premier, while concurring in this suggestion, held that it would be a misfortune to have a man's goods and chattels and in fact his all placed at stake by the action of some wretched adventurer, who had nothing at stake and therefore no costs to lose.

The Attorney-General introduced another bill amending the Municipal Act to enable urban municipalities to spend money outside of such municipalities in purchasing lands to construct embankments or make other protections against spring floods. At present many towns had suffered from floods because they were not permitted to spend money in protections outside of their corporation limits. Messrs. Whitney and Carscallen cordially consented and the bill was read a first and second time.

O.A.C. RIFLE MATCHES.

The Attendance This Year Is Very Satisfactory—First Day's Firing.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—The Ontario Rifle Association began its annual meet at the Long Branch ranges yesterday. Firing began at eight o'clock in the morning, and the last bullet will find its billet somewhere about sunset on Friday night.

The attendance this year is quite gratifying to the officers of the association. There are 300 entries, thereby more than last year, and even the Maritime Provinces and the great Northwest are represented among the visiting riflemen.

British Columbia sends a team from the Fifth Royal Canadian Artillery, Nova Scotia a team from the 78th Battalion, and Manitoba a team from the 90th Battalion. There are also firing parties from the 1st Prince of Wales Royal Fusiliers, Montreal, and the 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec.

Ontario, of course, is numerously represented and nearly all the crack shots are in attendance. Among the famous marksmen present are: Sergt. Armstrong, Capt. C. L. Mitchell, Lieut. John Ogg, Capt. Crow, Sergt. Drysdale, Sergt. Broadhurst, Capt. Sutherland, Capt. Dover, Lieut. Blair, Surgeon-Major Ross, Capt. King, Lieut. Ross and Color-Sergt. Michell.

The Canadian Company's match was fired, the first prize being won by Pte. N. Rickman, 77th, with a score of 47; the Gilmour match, first prize to Pte. W. J. Armand, 43rd, with a score of 36; and the team competition resulted as follows:

1st—77th, Wentworth, $30.......... 248
2nd—Royal Grenadiers, $25........ 243
3rd—48th Highlanders, $20......... 240
4th—39th, Norfolk, $15............ 235

THE FUTURITY STAKES.

Wm. Hendrie's Martimas Wins the Great Race at Sheepshead Bay.

New York, Aug. 24.—Fifteen thousand people witnessed William Hendrie's Martimas, at the long odds of 40 to 1, win the great Futurity Stakes at Sheepshead Bay yesterday, High Degree coming in second, while the public choices were nowhere. The day was excessively hot. The delay at the post was the longest on record in this country, even beating Pettingill's Chicago Derby, which was an hour and thirty minutes, Rey El Santa Anita then upsetting all calculations and winning just as an outsider did on this occasion.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

MINNIE SEXTON IS TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER.

Coroner's Jury Found That She Shot Her Sister.

The Idea of Killing Was Almost Uppermost In Her Mind; Indeed, During the Church Service on the Recital of the Commandment "Thou Shalt Not Kill" the Repetition of the Words Seemed to Accentuate the Longing—Committed for Trial.

Newmarket, Ont., Aug. 24.—The inquest upon the body of Susan Saxton, who was shot and killed by her sister, Minnie, yesterday morning, was opened in the Town Hall yesterday at 10.30 o'clock by Coroner Scott. Mr. H. W. Maw, from the Crown Attorney's office, conducted the case for the Crown. High Constable Jones was also present. The jury went to view the body of the murdered girl, County Councillor T. J. Woodcock being foreman.

After viewing the body at the house of the terrible crime, the jury returned to the hall, when the more serious business of the day began. At this time the prisoner, Miss Minnie Saxton, came into the hall in custody of Chief Anderson, and was accompanied by her half-brother, Mr. Fred Saxton, and female attendant, Nurse Playter. The prisoner was neatly attired in black, and wore a stylish sailor hat. She looked very pale and subdued. She had passed a comfortable night and eaten a hearty breakfast at the house of her friend, Mrs. Martin.

Constable Savage Testifies.

The first witness called was Constable Savage, who, being sworn, said he had visited and saw the body at a quarter to eight. He showed the revolver, which he explained had one unexploded cartridge in it still. The revolver was of the British Bulldog pattern, of 38 calibre.

Mr. W. C. Widdifield, barrister, being the next witness called, stated that Miss Minnie Saxton, the prisoner, came to his house in great distress, and, seizing him by his arms, said: "Susie is dead." Witness objected to say all she had said to him on the grounds of being her legal adviser.

At the suggestion of the court, Mr. Widdifield further stated that Minnie said to him that "I have shot Susie, and shot her dead."

Witness said: I went to the scene of the murder, and called Susie three times, and got no answer, and then went in and found her lying on the floor dead, but did not think she had been dead very long.

Notified the Coroner.

After finding things in this state I notified the coroner, Dr. Scott. The prisoner said to witness that she did not care for getting her sister married. Witness further said she (Minnie) would always submit to what he would advise when talking on matters of business.

Mrs. Rebecca Greensides, a servant of Mr. Widdifield's, said that Miss Saxton rushed frantically to their house. She (Minnie) said: "I have killed Susie and could not help it." Prisoner repeated the words several times in an agitated manner. She seemed frightened more than nervous when she first came to the house. Witness said she always seemed to be all right when she had seen her.

Mr. Partridge Heard the Shots.

Mr. George Partridge told of the shots which he heard. He was in doubt, on cross-examination, whether or not the loud laughter was not caused by the parrot in the house, and thought it might have been the bird that made the unearthly laugh.

Mr. James Noller told of the appearance of the kitchen and the body when he came up to the house at 7.45. He said he would always conduct his business matters with the deceased girl.

Dr. Campbell's Evidence.

Dr. D. M. Campbell, who conducted the post mortem, read his report, giving the positions of the various wounds and described the organs of the body. He found the body in a normal condition with the exception that one lung was slightly congested. The Doctor produced three of the bullets. One of them had passed through the heart. The first shot, the one that struck the spine, would cause paralysis of the lower parts, and anyone of the shots would be sufficient alone to cause death.

At this stage the court adjourned for luncheon.

Mrs. Martin on the Stand.

On resuming at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Martin, a particular friend of the prisoner's, went on the stand. She said: I first saw the prisoner at Mr. Widdifield's residence on the morning of the tragedy, about 8.20, upon her request to see me. She was lying on the lounge, and, on entering the room, she greeted me heartily, calling me by name. Had a short talk with her, and she told me that she had shot her sister Susie.

Mrs. Martin stated further that the prisoner had told her that she was impelled by some outside power to the temptation to take her sister's life. She said because her sister wanted to get married was the principal cause of her action; they had had some words on Saturday night about that, but both girls got up in the morning in good spirits and began their domestic duties as usual. She said there were no cross words used between them that morning. Again she had said, in spite of herself, the subject of killing her sister was always uppermost in her mind, and for that reason she had purloined her sister's revolver in secret and had used it that morning. She also said at Sunday evening's service the Ten Commandments had been recited in church, and when the commandment was read, "Thou shalt not kill," she felt more resolved than ever to commit the fatal deed.

The witness repeated the prisoner's detailed account of the shooting, and added to the known part the fact that before firing the first shot she had put the milk can on the front steps.

The Verdict.

This finished the case for the Crown. Then the jury were charged and went out. After an absence of about 10 minutes they returned with the following verdict: "We find that the said Susan Saxton came to her death on the 22nd August, inst., through wounds by a revolver in the hands of Minnie Saxton."

Committed for Trial.

A magistrate's court was then held immediately after. The court was composed of: Mayor Cane, Messrs. J. J. Pearson and T. J. Robertson, who assumed the bench. The prisoner then stood up on the charge of murder, and in a trembling tone pleaded not guilty. The depositions taken at the inquest were taken as evidence.

The prisoner was asked if she had anything to say, and, being duly warned, she had nothing to say. After going over the evidence, the magistrates committed the prisoner to trial for murder. She was taken to Toronto on the evening train to await the November Assizes, when full enquiry will be made into the case.

Susie's Remains Buried.

The remains of the victim were interred in the Newmarket Cemetery privately about 5 yesterday afternoon.

QUEBEC CONFERENCE.

The International Gathering Met and Organized, and, After Welcoming Addresses, Adjourned Till Thursday.

Quebec, Que., Aug. 24.—The much-talked of international conference for the settling of all questions in dispute between Canada and the United States met yesterday in the Legislative Council Chamber here and organized, after receiving an address of welcome from Mayor Parent and the City Council. Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, Solicitor-General, Hon. F. Marchand, Hon. Mr. Deschenes, and Messrs. Roy and Robitaille, M.L.A.'s, were also present when the civic address was read.

Senator Fairbanks' Response.

Senator Fairbanks, in replying to the address, said: The American Commissioners, in whose behalf I have the honor to speak, are deeply sensible of the high tribute of an address from the historic city of Quebec, and we take pleasure in expressing to you our gratitude therefor. It is a source of immeasurable gratification to us, and to our countrymen that the narrow traditional prejudices which so long divided us have disappeared. Recent events, which sharply enlisted the attention of the world, have served to emphasize our kinship and to increase the bonds of affection which should exist between the two great English-speaking nations. We indulge the hope that the joint high commission which you have so honored with your cordial welcome may by its deliberation still further promote that feeling of amity and good-will which we desire should ever continue between the Kingdom of Great Britain and the Republic of the United States.

Lord Herschell's Expressions.

After Senator Fairbanks, Lord Herschell replied on behalf of the British commissioners. He expressed his appreciation of the honor, and said he was sure that the British commissioners were not behind their American friends in hearty wishes that the conference about to begin would result in cementing the friendship and an everlasting union between the two English countries.

Notes.

At the suggestion of the United States delegates, Lord Herschell was chosen as president of the conference.

Mr. Cartwright, private secretary to Lord Herschell; Mr. Chandler Anderson and Mr. Bourassa, M. P., are to act as joint secretaries of the conference.

The sittings of the commission will be secret.

After the organization had been completed, an adjournment was made till Thursday morning.

MR. CURZON'S DEPARTURE.

New Viceroy for India Will Leave in December—A New Daughter.

London, Aug. 24.—Mr. George Cruson, the Viceroy designate of India, will start for Calcutta with Mrs. Curzon in December to relieve Lord Elgin, the retiring Viceroy, at the beginning of next year. In the meantime, Mr. Curzon will rest and recuperate his health, now somewhat delicate, a fact that is regarded as the chief drawback to his appointment. Mrs. George N. Curzon was accouched of a daughter at the Priory, Reigate, yesterday.

BLANKETING YUKON FUEL.

The Klondike Nugget Has a Big Kick Against the Administration of the Gold Country.

C. P. R. Press Despatch.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 23.—The Klondike Nugget, just to hand, contains particulars of a scandal in the administration of the Yukon.

It says: "Suddenly and without bids is given out a most peculiar contract or permit, which practically blankets every available stick of fuel on the Yukon, from Dawson to Fort Selkirk. Every stick of drift wood is given to Messrs. Goldsmith & Co., together with every stick of dry wood on shore or on the islands. The contracts are of an ambiguous nature, but all agree, outside of a few berth owners, they are to have the exclusive sale of all wood this winter. They are to pay the Government 50c per cord royalty and they sub-let permission to cut wood on condition of payment of 50 per cent. on the wood cut, which, as their price is $20 per cord, means a royalty of that amount, which has to be paid the monopolists by the consumers."

RHODES IS ON TOP.

He and His Colleague, Representing the Progressive Party, Elected by Large Majorities.

Capetown, South Africa, Aug. 23.—In the Cape Colony Assembly general elections now in progress Cecil Rhodes and Mr. Oates, candidates of the Progressive party, opposed to the Afrikanderbund, which is largely representative of President Kruger's interest in South Africa, have been elected by an overwhelming majority in Little Namaqualand, a maritime district in the northwest of the colony.

Big Storm at Paris.

Paris, Ont., Aug. 24.—The most severe electrical storm of some years passed over here about 4 o'clock yesterday, accompanied by high winds and some hail. The tower of the Arlington Hotel was struck by lightning and considerably damaged. Several trees were also struck and others uprooted by the wind, but beyond this not much damage was done.

The men who do daring deeds in battle, are men whose arteries pulsate with the rich, red, vital blood of health. The same is true of the men who win success in the battles of work and business. When a man's liver is sluggish, his digestion impaired, and his stomach weak, his blood soon gets thin and impure. The blood is the stream of life. If it is impure every vital organ in the body is improperly nourished and becomes weak and diseased and fails to perform its proper functions in the economy of life. The victim suffers from loss of appetite and sleep, wind, pain, fulness and swelling of the stomach after meals, bad taste in the mouth, foul breath, imaginary lump of food in the throat, headaches, giddiness, drowsiness, heavy head and costiveness.

All of these conditions and their causes are promptly cured by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It brings back the keen edge of appetite, makes the digestion perfect and the liver active. It makes rich, red, pure blood, filled with the life-giving elements of the food that build healthy tissues, firm flesh, strong muscles and vibrant nerve fibers. It invigorates and vitalizes the whole body, and imparts mental power and elasticity. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, strengthens weak lungs, stops bleeding from lungs, spitting of blood, obstinate lingering coughs and kindred ailments.

Costiveness, constipation and torpidity of the liver are surely, speedily and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. They stimulate and strengthen the jaded organs until a regular habit is formed and may then be discontinued without a return of the trouble. They stimulate, invigorate and regulate the stomach, liver and bowels. Medicine stores sell them, and have no other pills that "are just as good."

A step ahead of others in quality—but never ahead in price—every purchase proves it.

NEWMARKET ELOPEMENT.

Mr. Charles Codling Is After Fred Haddleton With a Warrant.

Newmarket, Aug. 24.—Mr. Charles Codling, a farmer of Goodwood, has sworn out a warrant here for the arrest of Fred. Haddleton, who has eloped with Mrs. Codling, and rumor says is living in Toronto. It appears that for some time past Haddleton had been living chiefly on the proceeds of his wife's industry as a domestic servant in Toronto, while he was paying attentions to Mrs. Codling. His wife becoming tired of that arrangement, ceased her contributions to his support, and he finally left these parts along with his neighbor's wife. There are no children in either family.

LIGHTNING CAUSES FIRES.

Barns Burned at Georgetown—Great Loss at Thamesford.

Georgetown, Ont., Aug. 24.—(Special.)—A fierce thunderstorm, accompanied by a deluge of rain, swept over this town at 1 a.m. The lightning flashes were incessant and several buildings were struck. James Kennedy's two barns are now on fire, and will be totally destroyed, despite the efforts of both fire brigades.

Great Loss at Thamsford.

Thamesford, Ont., Aug. 23.—About 8 o'clock to-night, during a terrific electric storm, the big flour and saw mills of Joseph Cawthorpe of this place were burned to the ground; also the cooper shop belonging to James McKay. The residences of George Hamilton, James McKay and Oliver's Hotel narrowly escaped destruction. The loss will be fully fifty thousand dollars. Insurance unknown at present.

A Severe Electrical Storm.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Early this morning an electrical storm, accompanied by heavy rain, which fell in torrents, caught many pedestrians unawares. The fire brigade was called to a building on Pape-avenue, which was struck by the lightning, but no damage was done. The electric lights were nearly all out, and the city was in darkness. The motor in the Central Press, in The World building, blew out and the machine operators had a scare. Several other places were reported to have been damaged, but no serious results happened.

The telegraph companies had a general disorganization to contend with on both sides of the line.

Quadruple Hanging at Dawson.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 24.—The Klondike held at Dawson City for the murder of William G. Meeehan have been found guilty and sentenced by Judge McGuire to hang at Dawson on Nov. 1.

WHEAT RALLY.

The Rise Was Owing to the Great Cash Demand for Both Foreign and Domestic Requirements.

Tuesday Evening, Aug. 23.

Wheat futures rallied again in Chicago to-day, and at the close this month's delivery stood 1½c per bush. higher than yesterday's final figures, and the September and December options had gained ¾c and ⅝c respectively for the session. The market had been over-sold yesterday, and the good foreign and domestic demand, together with light receipts, gave prices a higher tendency.

On the Liverpool board to-day spot wheat declined ½d to 3d per cental, the extreme loss being in red winter. As for futures, the Sept. delivery fell off ½d, while the December delivery firmed up to the extent of ½d per cental. Paris futures closed 10 to 30 centimes down.

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Signed, ANNIE E. GAUNTLEY, King Street, Berlin, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

MIDDLETON UNDER ARREST.

Police Capture Him While He Entertains Citizens.

Promotor of the Woodstock-Brantford Railway in the Toils—Said to Be the Man Who Swindled a Toronto Motelkeeper Out of $22,000—Had a Fruit Farming Scheme—A Provincial Detective Put on the Case.

Woodstock, Aug. 24.—Middleton, alias McDonald, the projector of the Brantford & Woodstock Railroad, gave a grand reception to the residents of Burford Village and vicinity Monday evening, and at its conclusion was arrested and taken to Woodstock jail, charged with fraud. He was before Police Magistrate Field at 10.45 yesterday morning and was remanded for eight days, but, owing to other accusations, such as bigamy, which are pending, bail was refused.

Charged With Bigamy, Too.

A charge of bigamy will be laid against Middleton and some sensational evidence may be looked for. Additional proof is to hand that he is McDonald, who married Maggie Thomas, but still his right name is Middleton. In Toronto Maggie Thomas was known as Mrs. Middleton. Seven or eight years ago the prisoner, who had called himself "Lancelot Mydleton," was time-keeper down east on the C.P.R. under Foreman Murphy of Woodstock. A Toronto contractor recognized him yesterday from a photograph. It is said that Middleton served two years in Auburn Penitentiary for forgery committed at Niagara Falls. If he is the same man he had some shady exploits in Indianapolis.

No Less Than Four Wives Reported.

The Crown think they will have good grounds for their prosecution of Middleton on the bigamy charge. Last night Crown Attorney Ball said there was an additional wife in Clinton, which makes four in all—Miss Thomas of Woodstock, Miss Smith of Sarnia, a Toronto lady, thought to be a Miss Langmuir—but the authorities will neither affirm nor deny this—and a young lady in Clinton, Ont.

Middleton is in the same cell Birchall occupied, and is evidently afraid that some one will come to identify him, for when a visitor looked into the cell last evening he held a book up right in front of his face. In conversation with a guard yesterday, he admitted that the photos of McDonald, being shown around town, were those of himself, and said they were not McDonald at all, and that he knew nothing of the man. He said that he was only married to one woman, but maintained that he had a right to live with as many other women as he liked.

Auburn Prison Heard From.

Yesterday the police received a communication from the Auburn Penitentiary, enclosing a photo of Launcelot Middleton, alias A. McDonald, with a full description of the man. The subject of the photo was in 1808 sentenced to three years in the State prison for forgery. There is no doubt whatever that the photo is that of the man now in Woodstock jail. Middleton was also in trouble in Richmond, Va., and Indianapolis. Communications have been received by the police from both places, but the authorities are for some reason very reticent, and beyond saying that the communications are the man's record, they maintain silence.

It Was a Huge Fake.

That the Brantford and Woodstock Railway was a huge fake and a most daring piece of swindling is established by an interview last night with Mr. John R. McKay of Hamilton. Mr. McKay was Middleton's private secretary, and one of his victims. He is a young man, but has had considerable railway experience. He left a responsible position with the T., H. & B. to take the alleged situation on the B. & W. One of the first instructions Middleton gave Mr. McKay was that he was to open no letters. He also said the C.P.R. was providing money for the building of the road. All the secretary's work Mr. McKay had to do was to reply to letters from contractors and applications for positions. Of the latter some 300 were to come round on Sept. 15 and get work. Mr. Mackay's wages were soon increased from $80 to $125 a month, but he had to give $20,000 bonds. Middleton said he would give $10,000 security himself, and Mackay was to supply the other $10,000. Mr. Mackay formed a poor opinion of Middleton as an engineer, but as the work seemed to be going on all right, he did not get suspicious. Middleton never paid one dollar to any of his 53 employes, who have worked for nothing. In fact the surveyors are still working, but where they hope to get their money is a mystery.

The Burford Blow-Out.

On Monday night after Middleton had heard there was a warrant out for his arrest, he went to Burford, where he and his surveyors were giving an at home. Middleton shipped the wife who was living with him to Hamilton. At the at hame the Burfordites had not heard of the warrant for his arrest, and he denied any rumors that might be afloat. Those present sang, "For he's a jolly good fellow" when the party was dispersing about an hour before Middleton's arrest.

Mr. Bland a Victim.

Mr. E. M. Bland, son of Canon Bland of Hamilton, was in town last night. He is one of Middleton's victims. Mr. Bland was one of the surveyors on the Crow's Nest Road and says he never heard of Middleton in the Northwest, although the latter claims he had played a prominent part in building the road. Middleton told Mr. Mackay that he got the charter for building the B. & W. Road from Robert Henry and others of Brantford, but he could never show it.

Employes Unpaid.

Brantford, Ont., Aug. 24.—The all-absorbing topic is Middleton's Woodstock and Brantford Railway. There seem to be board bills and numerous other bills unpaid. Forty young men employed as engineers, assistant engineers, chainmen, photographers, and others connected with the survey, have not been paid for six weeks.

IN TORONTO.

Middleton Supposed to Have Figured There Ten Years Ago.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—From the description of Middleton or McDonald given in the morning papers the local Detective Department believe that he is the man who some ten years ago, under the name of Dent, defrauded Matt Evans, the well-known hotel proprietor, out of $22,000, as well as relieving a barber named Shker of $6000. The man Dent had a mammoth fruit farming scheme in the Northwest, which, after the Toronto men's money was invested, turned out to be a myth. On the fraud being discovered Dent skipped out, but returned three years later, when he was arrested. He was arraigned and admitted to bail, but escaped to the States again before the date of his next appearance in court.

Will Send A Government Detective.

Mr. A. Pattullo yesterday morning waited upon the Attorney-General to ask that the Government take steps to bring to justice the parties who have been exploiting what is believed to be a bogus railway project for connecting Woodstock and Brantford. The Attorney-General promised to send a Provincial detective to make inquiries.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Miss Buck, of Kingston, is the guest of Mrs. Bamforth at the Parsonage.

Mrs. Edwards with little daughter, of Arnprior, are visiting her mother, Mrs. Macdonald.

Mrs. Bamforth gives an "At Home" at the parsonage this evening for the benefit of the W.F.M.A.

Miss Edith McLean, of Brockville, and Miss Edith Thompson, of Detroit, are guests at Mr. C. G. Thompson's.

The Ice Cream Garden Party held on the lawn of Mrs. David Thorn was a decided success. The sum realized was $30, which is to be utilised in repairing the church.

Picnics to the Sand Banks are very popular. Miss Orser and Miss Macdonald entertained a number of friends there recently and the annual Leavens picnic was held the same week.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Bell, of Chicago, spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. S. Huff and other friends. Mr. Bell was pastor on this circuit twenty years ago. He occupied this pulpit on Sabbath, Aug. 14. He was listened to with very much pleasure by a few old friends and a host of new ones.

A GOOD APPOINTMENT.

W. S. Morden, B.A., L.L.B., Solicitor for Amelisburg.

At a meeting of the Municipal Council of Amelisburg held at the Town Hall yesterday, Mr. W. S. Morden, B.A., LL.B., of the legal firm of Clute, Williams & Morden, of this city, was appointed solicitor for the township. Mr. Morden is one of our most promising legal minds and we predict for him a successful future, and his selection by the Corporation of Amelisburg will no doubt be generally approved of and will reflect much credit upon Mr. Morden's ability and is a compliment to the firm of which he is a member. We congratulate both parties upon the appointment.

CIRCUS DAY.

Threatening Appearance of the Weather Spoiled Massassaga's Day.

The early morning rain and the threatening appearance of the weather all day, prevented a large attendence at Massassaga's celebration. The Merritt and Annie Lake each made several trips, but were not crowded an any of them.

The leading attraction was the balloon ascension by Prof. Cuyler, which took place at four o'clock. He went up a considerable distance and the parachute alighted in the branches of a tree when descending. From there he reached the ground in safety. The balloon dropped into the bay and was picked up by the Annie Lake. W. Bensley gave an exhibition of tight-rope walking.

The yacht Skylark and a large number of smaller craft visited the dock there during the afternoon. The majority of the pleasure-seekers returned to the city early in the evening well pleased with their outing and regretting that circumstances prevented a better attendence.

Hunting and Fishing Coats.

The Oak Hall have all the correct things in men's short coats for hunting and fishing. We have just received our new coats, leather with corduroy lining, English whip cord, kersey lined, and waterproof duck wool lined. These coats run in price $5 to $8. We will be pleased to introduce them to you.

WEDDING IN THURLOW.

Miss Edna Sills Becomes Mrs. Walter Barrager.

Yesterday evening at eight o'clock at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. R. Phillips, in Thurlow, Mr. Walter Barrager, of North Yakima Wash., formerly of Belleville, and brother of Mr. Geo. Barrager of this city, was married to Miss Edna Sills, daughter of Mr. W. H. Sills. Mr. W. Sills acted as groomsman and Miss Wilson, of Wolcott N. Y., as bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Anderson, of Plainfield in the presence of about 60 guests. The young couple have next week for Washington State, where they will reside. The best wishes of many friends go with them.

Only three more scrutineers, all on behalf of the antis, were sworn in by His Worship last night. Mr. P. O'Hara will act in Coleman Ward, Mr. W. Jeffers Diamond in Ketcheson Ward, and Mr. J. L. Tickell in Baldwin Ward. Mr. H. H. Leavens for Samson Ward was sworn in on Wednesday. The Mayor will receive nominations for scrutineers in the remaining Wards at the close of Friday evening's public meeting.

Among the ratepayers present last evening were John G. Frost, President of the Board of Trade; ex-Mayor Wallbridge, ex-Mayor Diamond, ex-Ald. Petrie, Ald. Grills, Ald. Panter, Ald. Finnegan, City Solicitor Masson, F. Davy Diamond, S. Symons and Chas. G. Row.

Snow Storms

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids! The boats leave Kingston daily, stopping for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and of cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. FIRST HALF SESSION ENDED.

The Lieutenant-Governor Assents to the Six Bills Passed.

Five W..e Read a Third Time Without Opposition, But Mr. Whitney and His Followers Put Up Four Amendments Against the Third Reading of the Constable Bill, Only to Have Them Knocked Down by the Six Majority.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—The Fisheries bill, the bill respecting the early posting of voters' lists, the bill to correct clerical and typographical errors in the Revised Statutes of 1897, and the bill amending the Municipal Act, by permitting towns to erect protections against floods outside their limits, were all read a third time without opposition when the Legislature met yesterday afternoon.

The Constable Bill.

Hon. Mr. Hardy resolved the House back into committee of the whole to make certain amendments to the Constable bill. Section No. 5, which provides that the receipt of public money for public election services should not invalidate a vote, was then clothed in more satisfactory phraseology.

Mr. Marter made a proposition that a clause be added to provide for the opening of polling booths at 8 a.m., instead of 9 a.m., and for the closing at 7 p.m. instead of 5 p.m. The member for North Toronto urged the reason that it would particularly benefit business men.

Mr. Hardy said this was a controversial subject, involving too much to be introduced at so late a stage, and the suggestion was not adopted.

First of Four Amendments.

The committee rose, and the Attorney-General moved the third reading of the bill.

Mr. Carscallen moved in amendment that the bill be referred back to committee of the whole, with instructions to strike out section 13 thereof.

Mr. Carscallen said it was a most pernicious thing to provide that if a member be unseated by the disqualification of the constable vote, the other candidate shall not be entitled to the seat, but a new election shall be called. The bill was a political bill for political purposes, and one which would create a bad precedent. By it members were placed in the humiliating position of voting themselves into seats. The clause was a contravention of the vested rights of litigants in court; the bill was one framed to interrupt the course of justice. It was an ex post facto law in the interests of the dominant party. Mr. Hardy's own confession that it was to save the Government from a political hole clearly indicated that this was but the beginning of the downfall of the Government.

Hardy's Colors Nailed.

The Attorney-General said that the position he had maintained from the beginning, namely, that the constables had a right to vote, was, when it was taken into consideration that this right had not been questioned for 50 years, a complete answer to the contentions of the Opposition. "We nail our colors thus to the mast." Was there ever a question more absurd than that the seats of members returned by a majority vote of the electors should be protested after that election by the disqualification of voters whose qualifications had never before been questioned? The section objected to by the amendment was simply tentative. It would not go into effect at all unless the courts should go contrary to practice and declare the constable votes of March 1 to be illegal. He quoted from statute law by Wilberforce to the effect that where statutes are silent on one point usage should give the interpretation. The statutes were silent as to a position on the constable vote and therefore the statement could not be more appreciable anywhere than to the case in hand. The statement that the Government was running away from the courts he designated as monstrous in view of the fact that they were referring the matter to a full court and one of last resort. The cry that they were voting themselves into power was equally unfounded. There was not a line in the bill which gave a member a chance to vote himself into a seat. It provided on the other hand that if the basis of voting were altered from what it was before March 1, a new election should be held on the new basis. There was and had been for many years another Opposition cry—"let us get to the people." It had been shouted ad nauseam. The people had got sick of it. Yet now the Opposition were rejecting opportunities to get to the people.

Whitney's Final and Best Effort.

Mr. Whitney said he sympathized with the Premier for being compelled to take a course which he knew to be out of tune with the ideas which prevailed at the end of the 19th century. He challenged him to go to the courts and prove the rights of constables to vote. Instead of doing so he proposed to take away from British subjects rights which they had to-day. The question was not whether the constables had a right to vote, but whether statutes giving men certain rights should be annulled by retrospective legislation. It was a proposition which would not be tolerated in any other legislature in the world. The usual procedure was that when men were disqualified at an election, and a candidate was thereby unseated, the other candidate got the seat. This right was taken away by the bill now proposed. Bluster would not take away the iniquity of the proposition. They had begun their career in the province by driving the late ex-Premier Sanfield Macdonald from power without a majority at their backs. Yet they threw the charge at the Opposition that they were attempting such tactics now. The Government was ignoring the trial judges and over-stepping them to plead before the Court of Appeal.

Same Old Division.

The question was put on the amendment, resulting in the standard majority of six for the Government. The vote was exactly on previous lines, with the exception that Messrs. Loughrin (Nipissing), Guibord (Russell), and McKee (North Essex), Liberals, were paired with Messrs. Lucas (Centre Grey), Beatty (Leeds) and Jamieson (South Grey), Conservatives. Mr. Beatty (Parry Sound) again voted Government, and Mr. Tucker (Patron) Opposition.

Mr. Foy in amendment now proposed to refer back the bill to committee, with instructions to strike out section 2, which provides that petitioners must give undertakings not to bring up the question of the right of constables to vote before the trial judges or otherwise be forced to wait the judgment of the Court of Appeal before the trial could be proceeded with.

Mr. Foy said this clause meant that the pistol was held to the litigant's head, holding him up and forcing him to draw back from a struggle for his rights.

This amendment was "Lost on the same division."

Mr. Whitney moved another amendment to the effect that a section be added to the bill to provide that none of the provisions of the bill should apply to pending litigation, and he particularly enumerated the cases of the eight constable members with the petitioners against their election.

A division was insisted upon this time, and the amendment was lost, the vote being the same as on the first amendment.

A fourth and final amendment was offered by Mr. Marter. It was to the same effect practically as his leader's, and it went down in the same old way.

On the third reading of the bill being put, the Opposition did not vote as a last protest against the bill.

The third reading was then carried.

His Honor Dismisses Members.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Oliver Mowat, arrived, preceded by his aides, shortly after 7 o'clock, and, after the clerk had announced that he had assented to the six bills passed, the session adjourned.

God Save the Queen sung heartily by both sides closed the first half of the first session of the Ninth Legislature of the Province of Ontario.

Phenomenal Shooting on the Second Day of the Ontario Rifle Association Matches—A Marker Hurt.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Phenomenal shooting marked the second day of the O.R.A. meet, notwithstanding the threatening weather. The air was delightfully cool and the wind, which was light, blew right across the ranges.

The sensation of the afternoon was the sudden rise of the danger signal at target No. 2 in the 600-yard range shooting of the Toronto Corporation match. Firing was immediately discontinued along the line, and Surgeon Ross and a number of officers rushed to the spot. Stunned behind the target, with his face covered with blood, was Marker T. Walker of the 12th Battalion. The wound, on the top of his head, was bandaged, and Secretary Cartwright will give him the bullet as a watch-charm. A wall three feet above his head furnished frontal protection, and the ball inflicted its injury by rebounding.

At 3 o'clock, when the news of Colonel Gzowski's death reached the camp, the flag was lowered half-mast.

The Corporation of the City of Toronto match, the crack contest of the day, was shot off by 132 competitors. The number of rounds were seven at 500 yards and 10 at 600. It is here that the finest shooting of the whole series was made.

The first prize, $25 and gold medal, was won by Col.-Sgt. Robson, 7th, with a score of 84, and the second, $25, Capt. A. Elliott, Y.R., with a score of 83.

The first prize in the Gordon, a seven rounds match at a range of 600 yards was won by Capt. A. Elliott, Y.R., with a score of 35.

The team prizes, where the first prize is the Toronto Ladies' Challenge Cup, valued at $150, was won by the Q.O.R., score 388, with the 48th and Grenadiers second and third, with respective scores of 384 and 381. The other teams were 13th Battalion, Hamilton, 379; 77th Battalion, Wentworth, 379; Royal Grenadiers (2), 376; 7th Battalion, London, 376; Victoria County, R.A., 373; Q.O.R. (2), 370; 8th Rifles, Quebec, 368; 78th Battalion, N.S., 367; 30th, Guelph, 366.

THE HIGH COMMISSION.

Caucus Held by the Canadian Delegates—Hon. Mr. Dingley and Sir James Winter Have Arrived.

Quebec, Aug. 25.—The Canadian portion of the High Commission held a caucus yesterday morning in the Chateau Frontenac to discuss matters, while the Americans devoted their time to making themselves acquainted with the city.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier entertained the commissioners last night at the Garrison Club.

Hon. Mr. Dingley arrived last night.

Sir J. F. Winter, the Newfoundland member of the International Commission, arrived at the Chateau Frontenac yesterday afternoon. He is accompanied by Mr. P. T. McGrath, editor of the St. John's Evening Herald, as secretary.

There is talk of an adjournment for two weeks in order that Mr. Dingley may take part in the electoral campaign in his state.

Senator Fairbanks promises that the Canadians will be met half way in the matter of concessions.

MINNIE SEXTON IN TORONTO.

She Will Get Good Food at the Jail While Awaiting Trial.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Minnie Sexton, the Newmarket woman who has been committed for trial for the murder of her sister, has been brought to the city and placed in Castle Green over the Don to await her trial. She was accompanied by Inspector Anderson of Newmarket and her legal adviser, Mr. W. C. Widdifield. The latter arranged with the authorities at the jail to have her meals brought to her, so that she will get good fare. She will be comparatively isolated during her confinement here. She does not realize it is the jail, but thinks it is the asylum.

Mr. Farrell of Forest Nominated.

Sarnia, Ont., Aug. 25.—The Liberal-Conservative party of West Lambton held a convention here yesterday in the Town Hall to nominate a candidate to contest the bye-election in this riding. Mr. John Farrell of Forest was the unanimous choice. The nominee, Mr. James Clancy and others made addresses.

COAL MINERS ON STRIKE.

Negro Workmen From Alabama Have Been Put in Their Places.

Pana, Ill., Aug. 25.—Sheriff Coburn assembled 125 deputies yesterday, and gave them instructions to arm themselves and meet a number of negroes expected to arrive from Alabama to work here in the coal mines. During the day a special train arrived from Birmingham, Alabama, with 200 negroes. The train was rushed through the city to the Springside coal mine, where the negroes were unloaded under the guard of the deputy sheriffs. Several hundred miners were at the Union Depot to meet the negroes, but were unable to do so. The strike leaders have requested Governor Tanner to take action regarding the mining inefficiency of the negroes, and he has answered that he will send State mine inspectors to examine the men.

A NEW TRIPLE ALLIANCE

To Counteract the Anglo-German Influence at Morocco.

It Is Announced That a Treaty of Alliance Has Been Signed by Spain, France and Russia—Patriotic Spaniards Regard the Suggestion With Much Favor—Will France Render Effective Assistance?

London, Aug. 25.—The Madrid correspondent of the Times says: One paper here declares boldly on the authority of an anonymous French diplomatist, that owing to M. Hanotaux's exertions a treaty of alliance has been signed by Spain, France and Russia, with the object of counteracting the Anglo-German influence in Morocco. Other papers mention the matter, but without affirming that the treaty has been actually signed.

The idea of a permanent rapprochement between France and Spain is certainly in the air, and may in time assume considerable practical importance. It had its origin in France's role in the peace negotiations and reports of friction with England over Spain's military activity in the neighborhood of Gibraltar.

Many patriotic Spaniards, who apprehend further sacrifices during the forthcoming peace negotiations, regard the suggestion of a French alliance with much favor, especially as French help would be very useful, also in the great work of financial and economic reorganization which Spain must undertake directly peace is concluded.

At the same time it must be noted that the protocol, signed under French auspices, has produced a great deal of popular dissatisfaction because, while making the loss of the Antilles irrevocable, it may also result in the loss of the Philippines.

It remains to be seen whether France will render effective assistance.

CURZON'S SEAT LOST.

The Liberals Have Captured the Southport Division of Lancashire by a Majority of 272.

London, Aug. 25.—The election for the seat in the House of Commons for the Southport Division of Lancashire, S.W., made vacant by the acceptance of Mr. George N. Curzon of the Viceroyalty of India, was held yesterday and resulted in the return of Sir Herbert Naylor-Leyland (Liberal), by a majority of 272 votes over his Conservative opponent, Lord Skelmersdale. The polling was: Sir Herbert Naylor-Leyland, Liberal, 5,100; Lord Skelmersdale, Conservative, 4,828. Liberal majority 272.

At the last election for the seat, Mr. Curzon, in the Conservative interest, was returned by a majority of 764.

FAMINE IN RUSSIA.

In a Large Section of the Country the Crops Have Failed.

London, Aug. 24.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says great uneasiness is felt over the repetition of last years' failure of the harvest. In several districts of the Province of Kazan, and largely in the provinces of Samara, Sarttoff, Simbirsk, Viatka and Perm, the crops are almost worthless. Even the landed gentry are beginning to ask the Government for relief, and the prospect of a famine is most grave.

The Ministers of the Interior and of Finance are sending out agents to make enquiries and to purchase corn. The Zemstovs are bestirring themselves to meet the situation. It is reported that in some districts the peasantry are breaking into the communial granaries and helping themselves.

Belfast, Aug. 25.—The typhoid epidemic here is growing rapidly. Six hundred cases have been reported in three weeks, and every hospital is filled to overflowing.

SUCCESSFUL IN LONDON.

The Atlantic & Lake Superior Railway Scheme Meets With Complete Success—Big Passenger Rate War.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—The promoters of the Atlantic & Lake Superior Railway scheme have met with complete success in the London market, and three-fourths of the entire issue, amounting to several million dollars, has been already underwritten. The immediate intentions of the company will be confined to completing the line of railway from Sorel, on the south shore, to Point Levis, and extending the road already built to New Carlisle, to Paspebiac and Port Daniel. When the company had been informed of Mr. C. N. Armstrong's success in London, Mr. James Shanley, C.E., began at once the construction of deep water terminal facilities at Paspebiac, a port at the mouth of the Baie des Chaleurs, which the promoters of the Atlantic & Lake Superior contend will be open all the year round, and will thus contribute to the solution of the winter port question within the old provinces of Canada. The operations of the company are not, however, confined to the railway scheme, for word has been received here from London to the effect that steamers have been chartered to go on the route between Paspebiac and a British port, the service to be inaugurated some time in October.

A gentleman interested in the company states that the boats in question will have a speed of 17 knots per hour.

It was stated yesterday that the entire Canadian and American railroad world will be upset in the near future by a passenger rate war of big proportions, between Chicago and all eastern cities right to the Atlantic seaboard. The rates seem bound to be out as they have never been known before.

Englishmen Are Wary.

London, Aug. 25.—The Financial Times, in an editorial headed "Canadian Wild Cat," says that three times within a short period attempts have been made to foist upon the English public bonds of the Atlantic & Lake Superior Railway. It is doubtful, the Financial Times continues, whether those efforts will be successful, as underwriters are usually shy of enterprises that have become flyblown, and which frequently have gone the rounds without result.

Bye-Election in Queen's, P.E.I.

Col. Strathy Reinstated.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—A special Militia Gazette issued yesterday afternoon reinstates Lieut. Col. J. A. L. Strathy of the 5th Royal Scots and transfers him to the reserve of officers.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

One Moment, Ladies. No Chest Pressure.

Every lady knows the great discomfort—the positive distress—occasioned by chest pressure, of a faultily cut, an ill-fitting corset.

Height of corset has much to do with this, but the trouble has its origin mainly at the waist line. No corset, faulty at that point, can possibly be comfortable. Perfect cut, fit, freedom and comfort are assured to wearers of the celebrated tailor-cut, hand sewed French corsets, the peerless

LIGHTNING'S HAVOC.

A Large Number of Barns and Season's Crops Destroyed—A $20,000 Fire at Elmira.

Waterford, Ont., Aug. 25.—The early morning thunderstorm yesterday was the heaviest known in this section for years. No less than four fires were reported around the village. A large barn, with sheds, etc., belonging to Alex. Mosscar, who lives about half a mile from town, was destroyed. Loss $3,600; insured for $1,100.

A barn and contents belonging to Samuel Walmsley, about four miles from the village, were also burned. Mr. Cicero Carter's barns at Rockford were burned. Loss $1,600; insured, $500.

At Howe Island.

Kingston, Ont.—During the thunderstorm yesterday the barn of Joseph Welsh, Howe Island, was struck by lightning, and went up in smoke. The loss is $1,200; no insurance.

At Cobourg.

Cobourg, Ont.—Lightning struck the stable of Undertaker Geo. M. Stephens. The building, with its contents of two horses, two wagons and one sleigh, was destroyed. Loss about $1,800; contents insured $1,200; barn, $200.

At Uxbridge.

Uxbridge, Ont.—Lightning struck the smokestack at Beal Bros. tannery, completely destroying it and knocking it down, part of it crashing through the engine house in its fall. Damage probably $500.

At Elmira.

Elmira, Ont.—Christmann's stable was struck by lightning, and his hotel and stables, Zillax's hotel and stables and Hahn's dwelling-house were burned to the ground. Zillax's loss is over $10,000; insured, $3,700; Christmann's loss, $6,000; insured, $2,300. Hahn's loss is about $1,000; no insurance.

Near Breslau.

Hespeler, Ont.—Jacob Zeller's barn, near Breslau, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground, along with the stock and this season's crops. This is the third time a barn on this site within thirteen years has been destroyed by lightning. The last one was one of the finest buildings of its class in Canada.

At Syracuse.

Syracuse, N.Y.—The hurricane blew the roofs off four factories, and the roof of the Church of the Assumption and the statute of Virgin Mary was blown off and lodged in the cellar. An Italian laborer named Tony Metrone was struck by a falling electric light wire and killed. Several other men were injured.

THE NEW CHIEF JUSTICE.

Justice McColl Appointed Chief Justice and Judge in Admiralty of B. C.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—Justice McColl of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, has been appointed Chief Justice of the Court and Judge in Admiralty, in succession to late Chief Justice Davie.

Chief Justice Angus John McColl was called to the Ontario bar in 1879 and after practising at Brussels and Goderich he removed to Winnipeg, where he became a member of the firm of Dain, Blanchard & McColl. In 1883 he removed to British Columbia, taking up his residence in New Westminster. He was elected a bencher of the Law Society, and in 1892 was created a Q.C. by the Earl of Derby. At the time of his appointment as Judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, Oct. 13, 1896, he was looked upon as the leader of the bar in British Columbia in active practice.

MANITOBA WHEAT CROP.

Average Yield Expected to Be Over 17 Bushels to the Acre—4,000 Laborers From Ontario.

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—The Government crop bulletin for August 15, just issued, indicates one of the largest crops in the history of the province, bordering closely on the great crop of 1895. The total wheat yield will be about 25,913,155 bushels, averaging 17.41 bushels per acre, as against 21,000,000 last year. Oats, 18,029,944 bushels, average 35.03 bushels per acre, as against 12,500,000 in 1897. Barley, 4,611,314 bushels, average 29.17 bushels, as against 3,000,000 last year. Flax and rye show greatly increased yield, as follows: Flax, 350,000 bushels, average 14 bushels. Rye, 70,950 bushels, average 25 bushels. Peas, 35,000 bushels, a slight decrease.

The total grain crop is estimated at 50,000,000 bushels. Prairie hay averages 1.4 tons per acre, and cultivated hay 1.8 tons; 144,905 acres of new breaking and 268,880 fallowing done in the year.

Four thousand laborers have arrived from Ontario to harvest the crop.

SIR CASIMIR GZOWSKI DEAD

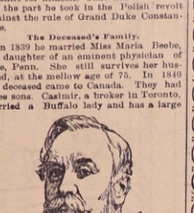

Well-Known Aide-de-Camp to the Queen Died at Dawn.

The Deceased Gentleman Was Exiled From Poland for His Part in the Revolt Against Grand Duke Constantine's Rule—His Engineering Work in Canada and His Interest in the Canadian Militia.

Toronto, Aug. 25.—Col. Sir Casimir Gzowski died yesterday morning at "The Hall," his residence on Bathurst street, in his 86th year. The deceased was one of those exiled Polish officers who in 1833 were sent to New York on board an Austrian frigate, given $40 and told to shift for himself. That was his reward for the part he took in the Polish revolt against the rule of Grand Duke Constantine.

The Deceased's Family.

In 1839 he married Miss Maria Beebe, the daughter of an eminent physician of Erie, Penn. She still survives her husband, at the mellow age of 76. In 1840 the deceased came to Canada. They had three sons. Casimir, a broker in Toronto, married a Buffalo lady and has a large family. Alexander was an officer in the English army, married and died. John died at Brockville when he was a clerk in a bank, aged 18. There were three daughters in the deceased's family. Helen married Col. Turner, R.A., and is a widow. Charlotte, deceased, married Capt. Northey, 60th Rifles, who was killed in the Zulu War. Maria married Gen. Sandham, and lives at Folkestone in England.

Sketch of His Career.

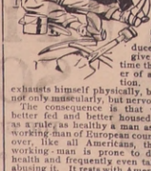

The late Col. Sir Casimir S. Gzowski was one of the most notable figures on Toronto streets. Tall and erect, he was a particularly handsome man, and attracted attention wherever he appeared. He was an engineer of worldwide reputation, and had been the designer of many of the most notable construction works in the Dominion of Canada, among the many monumens's of his ability being the International Bridge over the Niagara River. He was a man of great culture, and was a universal favorite both among his social and his business acquaintances and friends.

Sir Casimir was a son of Count Stanislaus Gzowski, a member of an ancient and noble Polish family, and an officer in the Russian Imperial Guard. He was born in St. Petersburg in 1813, his parents being at that time residents of the Russian capital. He was, as is usual with all young Russian nobles, destined for a military career, and at the age of nine entered the Military Engineering College at Kronmits, where he remained until 1830. He there evinced a strong liking for engineering, and, on his graduation, received a commission in that branch of the service. When the Polish revolution against the rule of Constantine took place young Gzowski threw up all his prospects in the army of the Russian Emperor, and took his place in the ranks of his fellow-patriots. He was present at the Polish triumph in Warsaw, and bore a worthy part in the engagements which followed, being several times wounded, and having on more than one occasion narrow escapes from the hands of the Russian forces. When the final catastrophe occurred at the battle of Boremul, General Dwernecki to whose division Casimir Gzowski was attached, surrendered, and the officers were imprisoned in the fortifications for several months, being afterward exiled to the United States. The rank and file were allowed to depart.

Casimir Gzowski landed in New York in 1833, and there he found himself at a considerable disadvantage on account of his ignorance of the English language, which he heard spoken for the first time by the harbor pilot. He was, however, endowed with an indomitable will, and he set himself to the study of the English tongue with the same resolution which has characterized him throughout his career. Being an excellent linguist, and having a thorough knowledge of French, Italian and German, he gave lessons for several months, after which he went to Pittsfield, Mass., where he entered a law office. During his days as a student he applied himself to the study of the English language, and in 1837 he was admitted to the bar. He went to Pennsylvania, where, as a necessary preliminary to admission to the Supreme Court, he took the oath of allegiance. He had, however, little inclination for the study of law, and in 1841 he came to Toronto, where, through the influence of Sir Charles Bagot, he obtained a position in the Crown Lands Department, where he once more resumed his favorite profession of engineering.

During the succeeding six years Mr. Gzowski occupied this position, and at the end of that time he became chief engineer of the St. Lawrence & Atlantic Railway Company, leaving that position to form a partnership with the late Sir A. T. Galt, the late Hon Luther H. Holton, and Sir David Macpherson, for the purpose of railway construction. The firm had the contract for the building of the Grand Trunk Railway between Toronto and Sarnia, besides many other important works.

Sir Casimir Gzowski always took a deep interest in military affairs. He was the first president of the Dominion Rifle Association, and was instrumental in sending the first Canadian team to Wimbledon. He was made a Lieutenant-Colonel in 1872, and in 1879 was appointed A.D.C. to her Majesty. In 1890 the honor of knighthood was conferred upon him in recognition of his many services. He never entered public life, but he was none the less esteemed by his countless friends and admirers, not only in Toronto, but throughout the entire Dominion.

The American working man, while he works shorter hours, works harder than the working man of any other nation. He works not only with his hands but with his head. He is an intelligent worker and produces more in a given length of time than the worker of any other nation. He not only exhausts himself physically, but mentally; not only muscularly, but nervously.

The consequence is that while he is better fed and better housed, he is not, as a rule, as healthy a man as his brother working-man of European countries. Moreover, like all Americans, the American working-man is prone to disregard his health and frequently even takes pride in abusing it. It rests with American wives to protect their husbands in this respect. A little watchfulness on the part of the wife will frequently save her husband from a long spell of ill-health and possibly from some fatal illness. When a man feels "out of sorts" it is because his digestion is disordered or his liver is torpid. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will promptly correct these disorders. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It restores the appetite, makes digestion perfect and the liver active. It purifies the blood and tones the nerves. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption, bronchitis, asthma, weak lungs, lingering cough, spitting of blood and disease of the throat and nasal cavities. Thousands have told the story of its wonderful merits in letters to Dr. Pierce. It may be had at any medicine dealer's.

"Your 'Golden Medical Discovery' cured me of a severe case of poisoning of the blood," writes Mrs. Sella Ricca, of Coast, Santa Cruz Co., Cal. "That was two years ago, and I have not had a sick or sore of any kind since."

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. Dealers in medicines sell them.

WHEAT LOWER.

The Larger Northwest Receipts Have This Effect in Chicago, While Liverpool Futures Are Easier.

Wednesday Evening, Aug. 24.

The lower Liverpool cables and the larger receipts in the Northwest caused the Chicago wheat markets to rule heavy to-day. The September option at one time advanced sharply, but the close was near the low point of the day, the month's delivery showing a loss of ½c, next month's ¾c and December ⅝c per bushel. At the decline New York took some 40 loads for export.

On the Liverpool board to-day September wheat declined ¼d and the December option ½d per cental.

A Canadian Kidnapped.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—Mr. Thomas Meagher, a British subject, was a few days ago kidnapped by an American official under circumstances which will bear investigation. Meagher is the proprietor of a steam launch and he got into American waters near the club house at Marshland, Henry Avery, U.S. Deputy Collector, ordered him into port, but he disregarded the order and went home near the village of Port Lambton. Here he was followed and arrested on Canadian soil by the official, and taken to the Marshland hotel across the river and handcuffed to a bed. Here he was vilely insulted by the officer. The attention of the Government has been called to the outrage

HAS THERE BEEN A DISASTER?

Ten Miles of Fire Island Beach Covered With Wreckage.

Fire Island, L.I., Aug. 25.—The beach here, for about ten miles, is covered with wreckage, consisting of parts of trunks, chairs, bedding and wire mattresses. There are no marks on them, but it is thought to be the same wreckage the steamer Algoa reported yesterday, and may be from off some of the United States transport vessels. Life saving stations east of here have no reports of wreckage on shore.

Didn't Fool the Banks.

Woodstock, Aug. 25.—Middleton's motives are hard to understand. How he expected to make money out of his scheme cannot be explained. He didn't secure any discounts from the banks here.

Detective Greer arrived in town to-night.

The Sentinel-Review says: Middleton, the alleged engineer, and McDonald, the alleged swindler and bigamist, are one and the same. Mrs. E. O. Thomas came to see her son-in-law last night, and offered to settle the bill for which he is being held, but the Crown would not consent, and the disappointed lady went back to Hamilton at 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

The Riopelle Murder Case.

Ottawa, Aug. 25.—In the case against Andra Riopelle for murdering L. Bover, Crown Attorney Gogeate addressed the court on the case for the Crown. Mr. McDougall, for the defence, made a very strong appeal for Riopelle. The case is closed and Magistrate Champagne said he would give his decision on Friday.

PEOPLE GETTING OLD.

As age advances, vitality retreats. Old people find themselves subject to dyspepsia and lacking in strength. They lose interest in the active affairs of life, and may either become chronic complainers, burdening their friends, or they may, by using Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills be made bright, cheery, happy and healthy, as witness the following interesting example. The words of those who have lived many years carry wisdom with them. Why not profit by them?

WISE WORDS.

Nothing does a right-thinking man more good than helping his neighbors, especially the sick and weary. In recommending Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and helping to bring them before the public, I feel that I am truly helping my neighbors. Both my wife and myself have used these pills and derived great benefit from them. We are getting along in years, and like many others feel the need of a tonic and strengthening medicine. My blood was thin and impoverished, and my wife was miserable with general debility, brought on by dyspepsia. We used many kinds of medicine, but nothing did so much good as the Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

Yours very truly,
Signed, MR. & MRS. CLARK, Victoria St., Glencoe, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 3 boxes for $1.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto.

THE $55,000 CONTRACT.

OPINION OF JOHN BELL, ESQ.

John Bell, Esq., Solicitor of the Grand Trunk Company, being in the city the other day, from his summer residence, Wellington, was asked by Sir Mackenzie Bowell his opinion of the provisions of the contract into which the City had entered with Mr. Mitchell, of Norwich, Conn., for the establishment of rolling mills in Belleville. His reply was that he had not seen the by-law, and therefore was not in a position to express an opinion or to say whether he would vote for or against it. He was then informed it he'd been published, together with the full text of the contract, and that a copy would be sent to him, as he was leaving that afternoon. Upon the receipt of which, after reading, he replied, he would give his views, which are contained in the following paragraphs, which we have taken the liberty of numbering:—

Wellington, Aug. 21, 1898.

My Dear Sir Mackenzie,—I have just read over a copy of the City By-Law respecting the proposed rolling mills you sent me. With your permission I will tell you what I think of it:

The city agrees:

1. To pay the contractor $50,000 cash.

2. To pay the duty on the plant to be brought in.

3. The city agrees to purchase and convey by a good title the lands described in section 10 of the agreement and to convey the same free to the contractor, the city also in a certain case to convey by lease the city lands mentioned in his same 10th clause.

4. The city exempts the works, lands, buildings, plant and machinery and stock from taxation to the extent set out in section 12 of the agreement.

5. The corporation also to provide the fire protection mentioned in section 14 of the agreement.

6. There is no estimate of what the who'e cost to the city shall or may amount to.

7. There is not any person named on behalf of the corporation to see the work is done and to whose satisfaction it shall be done, before the money over the grants stipulated for; this seems to have all been left with the contractor.

8. The agreement stipulates that the contractor shall import and remove to Belleville all the plant and machinery of the Thames Iron Works of Norwich, consisting of the machinery mentioned in section one of the agreement. We to pay the duty on this.

9. The contractor agrees to erect suitable buildings for said plant and machinery upon the site stipulated for. These will be built in a substantial manner. Before being placed, if the plant, shall be thoroughly overhauled, repaired, &c. This clearly permits that overhauling and repairs are necessary and required.

10. Who is to say what these repairs and overhaulings shall be, or to whose satisfaction shall they be done? Clearly as it now stands the contractor is to be the judge.

11. Where is the specification to be worked up to? The city have nothing to say on this subject.

12. We have no information that I have seen, as to when this machinery was built, or where?

13. How long was it in use, and where?

14. How long has it been idle?

15. On what class of work was it last employed and by whom?

16. We know the extent of the manufacture of iron and steel in the several departments of that trade in the United States. How is it if this is an up to date plant, that employment could not be had in the United States? One would have supposed that the place of the largest demand was the place to look for the largest return from its use!

17. The fact of its standing idle tells against it. No business man would buy on the terms proposed without more information than we now have.

18. The works are to be carried on by the contractor, subject to the terms of the contract; he can stop the works, or go on, as he considers most to his own advantage.

19. He can and will decide what he will manufacture. Whether there is in his business an "unusual business depression," whether the "fiscal policy of Canada" in case of change, in his opinion, will warrant his stopping. He can also stop until he covers the ground which will enable him to either repay the corporation the full amount of the $50,000 or convey, assign, and make over to the corporation, the said site together with all buildings, works, plant and machinery, etc., free from incumbrances, and thus end the matter, he keeping the $50,000 cash, and the city having the works etc., in other words, the city will make all this outlay and have the works on hand, such as they may be, to do as they pleased with them.

20. Perhaps a committee of the corporation could run the work successfully.

21. "In my opinion the agreement puts the City in the power of the contractor, who without committing any breach of the letter of the contract can, further on, hand over the site and works and keep the fifty thousand. It is concluded and against the City wholly."

22. If a man makes a plain agreement, which, those who are dealing with him can understand, no one can call him dishonest if he acts in his own interest to the full extent of his bargain.

23 The whole transaction is simple. A sale of this plant—whatever it is worth—whether good or bad. No matter its age or quality, the price he will get is $50,000.

24. I, for one will vote against this deal.

Yours truly,
JOHN BELL.

This opinion, coming from a gentleman of the extended experience of Mr. Bell in the drafting and examining of contracts, dealing with great and small transactions, will be of immense advantage to those who have not his experience, in forming an opinion upon the merits and demerits of the contract between the City and Mr. Mitchell.

THE PAPAL ENCYCLICAL.

The latest papal encyclical, which was given to the press a few days ago, derives more than ordinary interest from the fact that it is probably the last epistle which the present venerable occupant of the pontifical chair will ever address to his faithful people. It is interesting to study the public utterances of one who from the ancient throne of the Vatican has looked forth for over fifty years upon the battlefield of international politics and who now stands with one foot in the grave, soon to pass over to the great unknown.

The encyclical is devoted mainly to a rehearsal of the wrongs which he alleges the Church has endured at the hands of the Italian Government, particularly during the past few months. After the May bread riots the Radini Administration ordered the suppression of over 1600 Catholic associations on suspicion that they were being manipulated by propagandists, who under the religious cloak, were actively engaged in fomenting the insurrection. Twenty-eight clerical newspapers and many socialistic clubs were closed for the same reason. His Holiness claims that the suspicion was unfounded and that this is only one of the many malicious acts of spoliation and persecution on the part of the civil government.

The paragraph of most interest to the disinterested reader, is where Pope Leo defines the duties of the Italian clergy. Their duty, he declares, is not to interfere in political struggles, but to work for the moral improvement of the people, to endeavor to render them obedient to the Church and its Head, to relieve them from the perils of socialism and anarchy, and, while inculcating respect for the principle of authority, to solace their indigence by works of Christian charity. It is to be hoped that the pontifical hint will be taken by the Canadian clergy, both Catholic and Protestant, and that the campaigning parson will cease to be a feature of our political campaigns.

A clergyman, who uses his pulpit as a platform from which to deliver political stump speeches, and who uses pastoral visitation as a cloak for political canvassing, can never retain the respect of an Anglo-Saxon people. We have had too many of this class of gentry in Canada during the past few years, and it is time that they were brought to understand that their conduct is, to say the least, anomalistic, and that their duty is to follow the example of their Master and keep clear of political quarrels. There is plenty of room for all their energies in the field of Christian activity, without descending to the political arena to stir up religious jealousies and prejudices. There are at present two clergymen sitting in the Federal House of Commons, and they have proved to be rather below than above the level of the average politician, both being partisans of the blindest type, one of them being particularly distinguished for the malignancy with which he has pursued the Chinese and Japanese emigrants, who attempt to land upon our shores. If this latter gentleman were devoting his energies to sending the gospel to and instructing these poor celestials, he would be doing a great deal better service for the cause of religion than he is in legislating for the country.

PUBLIC MEETING.

The Mayor has, upon requisition, called a public meeting to be held in the City Hall to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the Rolling Mills By-law. This will give an opportunity to those who desire to air their opinions upon the subject, though the provisions of the by-law are sufficiently clear to be understood.

A leading contemporary, in calling attention to the action of the Mayor, in connection with the calling of this meeting, impliedly, and, in our opinion, improperly, censures His Worship for not calling it before. It says: "Some weeks have passed since it was promised, and the citizens were beginning to think the Mayor had himself lost all confidence in the scheme he so strongly advocated. He has allowed the meeting to go until almost the last day. It was not the duty of the Mayor, nor could he properly have called this meeting, upon his own individual responsibility. The law provides for the manner in which public meetings shall be called by the heads of municipalities, and the moment the law was complied with, he did his duty and gave notice of the meeting. If any delay has occurred, it is the fault of the electors themselves, who should have moved in the matter sooner."

THE WAY IT IS DONE.

The Montreal Gazette of the 22nd August says:—

"The Witness publishes an interview with a Salvation Army Adjutant, who has been in the Klondike, containing some remarkable statements, for which possibly the interviewer is more responsible than the adjutant. He is reported as saying that the climate of Dawson City is similar to that of Montreal, the mosquitoes "would not be noticed," and that, in the course of time, "Dawson City will become a favorite summer resort." This is so contradictory to all previous descriptions of the Klondike, including that of Mr. Ogilvie, that it seems worth noting. In the Adjutant's opinion the 25 miles from Dyea to Henderson over Chilkoot Pass "can be walked nicely in a day." But the Adjutant (or the interviewer) not only contradicts all previous explorers; he also contradicts himself. He says the Senate inflicted incalculable and irreparable loss on Canada by rejecting the Mackenzie-Mann Railway bill, and in the same paragraph he says, with reference to the route by which the projected railway turned a very important portion: "The Stickeen route was the one taken by the soldiers, who left Ontario about four months ago, and they had not reached Dawson when the Adjutant left there. It is a bad route, entailing hard packing and many dangers."

A very fair specimen of Grit "interviewing." The interviewer forgot what lies he had told, before closing his article, and blundered upon the truth just at the close.

For Stealing Fruit.

For some time past the owners of orchards in different parts of the city have been complaining of the depredations of boys, who have been stealing fruit and at the same time doing a great deal of damage to the fruit trees. The police have investigated the comp'aints and as a result they have some of the worst of the marauders rounded up and they will appear in Court to-morrow.

The Boys' Regatta

Things look very promising for the Juvenile sailors. There was a meeting of those interested in the Boys' Regatta last evening at Victoria Island Park for the purpose of deciding the course for the races. It was decided to have a triangle shaped out from Victoria Island Park to Cow Island, from Cow Island to the Bay Bridge and thence back to the island. This course can be readily viewed from the Island Park. Everything is arranged and the boys are confident of a first-class regatta.

His 80th Birthday.

The following item referring to a former pastor of Bridge st. Church, clipped from the Smith's Falls News, will be of interest to many of our readers: Yesterday, Aug. 23rd was the 80th birthday of Rev. H. F. Bland, and we doubt if there is another man of his age anywhere with so clear an intellect, so bright a face, more active, or so erect, and we might add with a brighter hope of Heaven. The News joins Mr. Bland's many friends in wishing him many returns of the day.

At the City Mission.

The Bellevelle Council R. T. of T., held a prohibition rally at the City Mission Hall last evening. The attendance was large. Addresses were delivered by Mr. J. T. Burns and Mr. C. F. McTavish. Mr. Sanford read a paper on the "Evils of Intemperance." Master Willie Garrett sang and Miss Embury furnished some instrumental music.

Suicide at Frankford.

A despatch to the Toronto Globe from Frankford states that Reuben Moran of this place on Tuesday night about 11:30 p. m., after placing an iron weight around his neck, threw himself into the millpond. The body was found at 5 p. m., to-day. Insanity was the cause of the suicide.

A Clever Lad.

Master John Thompson, of Picton is in the city visiting his uncle Mr. Wm. Tennent. He must be a clever student for he is the possessor of a third class non-professional certificate and yet is only thirteen years of age. He is a sturdy, manly fellow and a credit to the county in which he was born.

A Good Haul.

Burglars entered the store of Z. P. Lazare at St. Remi, Que., yesterday. They blew open the safe with dynamite and carried off $5000 in cash and notes. The explosion awakened the whole village but the burglars escaped.

PROHIBITION UNION.

Plans for the Campaign Discussed Last Night.

The Prohibition Union of the city held a very enthusiastic and practical meeting in the Royal Templars' Hall last evening, Dr. Galbraith in the chair. Short and interesting addresses full of suggestions for the furtherance of the prohibition campaign were delivered by the Rev. Messrs. Watch and Wallace. Attention was also called to the fact that we lack statistics of our own city. General statistics fail to interest us, but we should be aroused to action when we consider that in our midst there are about 26 saloons and bars. These probably average $10 per day, or $94,900 per year; or if this average is too great, take one-half and we have about $50,000 spent in liquor, which would annually be used in useful commodities.

The Literature Committee reported that their work was being systematically attended to. The Ward Committee reported and it was found that some of them, particularly Baldwin Ward, in charge of Mr. W. H. Gordon, ere thoroughly organized for effective work. Committees were appointed to arrange for public meetings throughout the city and outlying districts. Other important matters in campaign work were satisfactorily arranged, and the meeting adjourned.

HE WILL BE MISSED.

Rev. J. Simpson Trotter About to Leave Belleville.

The Rev. J. Simpson Trotter, for many years rector of Emmanuel Reformed Episcopal Church, in this city, is, we regret to hear, about to sever his connection with that congregation. Rev. Mr. Trotter, during his residence in Belleville, has, by unvarying amiability and sterling character, endeared himself not only to the members of his congregation, but to all, who were fortunate enough to know him, and his departure will be universally regretted.

The INTELLIGENCER, while joining in the many expressions of good will to Rev. Mr. Trotter, hopes that Belleville's loss may be his gain.

How the Canadians Beat Them at Cricket.

The contingent of crack Canadian cricketers contested the second match of their tour on the New Jersey Oval at Bergen Point Wednesday afternoon, their opponents being the New Jersey Athletic Club's eleven. The result was a draw, rather unsatisfactory for the Jerseymen, who were deprived of a probable victory because there was insufficient time for the visitors to complete their inning. The scores:

Snow Storms

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids? The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&w5w

Wedded at Toronto.

On Thursday afternoon Miss Grace Moore, daughter of John T. Moore of Moore Park Toronto, was united in marriage to Mr. George Locke, a son of Rev. J. H. Locke of Eglinton, formerly of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Sutherland. Owing to the illness of the bride's brother the wedding was private, only the relatives of the contracting parties being present. Mr. Locke is a member of the Harvard College staff.

Mary Heath, a woman about 30 years of age, married a Chinese laundryman at Toronto yesterday. A curtain ring was used at the ceremony. The name of the groom is Wong Love Sing.

T. R. HUNGERFORD DEAD.

A Popular Young Man Dead After a Year's Illness.

Thomas Robert Hungerford, third son of Alderman W. A. Hungerford, passed peacefully away at the family residence last night, aged 20 years and 8 days. Mr. Hungerford was born in Strathroy, but spent most of his life in this city. Three years ago he accepted a position in the Molsons Bank at Trenton and it was in that town that he contracted the fatal disease, about one year ago. Shortly afterwards he was moved to the Woodstock branch, where he spent several months. Upon his return to Trenton he became much worse and was removed to his home here about twelve weeks ago. Since that time his strength gradually failed until the end came quietly and peacefully.

Mr. Hungerford was one af the most popular young men who ever lived in the city. Genial and kindly in his manner, a good comrade and a true friend, he never failed to win the affection of those with whom he came in contact. He was fond of sport, particularly yachting and spent a great part of his time on the water. He was a member of the first surpliced choir of St. Thomas Church, to which congregation he was attached. The many who knew and loved him in Belleville and elsewhere will sympathize deeply with his family in their sore affliction. The funeral will take place on Sunday atfernoon at three o'clock.

DIED SUDDENLY.

Mrs. Daniel McCann Passed Away This Morning.

At 1 30 this morning at her residence, Pinnacle st., Maggie, beloved wife of Daniel McCann, and daughter of Mr. Jas. Boyle, passed quietly away. Mrs. McCann was taken ill about eight weeks ago, but had so far recovered as to be able to attend to her household duties and to go to market. Last night, however, she was taken suddenly worse and passed away, the result of heart trouble.

Mrs. McCann was thirty-eight years of age. Her husband and one son, aged four years, remain to mourn the loss of a faithful wife and loving mother. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2:30.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

Will Hold a Fair of Their Own if Necessary in 1899.

At a meeting of the Belleville Horticultural Society held on Tuesday evening the Secretary reported that the Manager of the Bay of Quinte Agricultural Society had notified him that their Society had decided to hold no fall show.

After full consideration it was decided that owing to the fact that the above decision having just been arrived at, it was too late for the Belleville Horticultural Society to prepare for a successful show this year. It was further decided that the Board would decide at its January meeting to announce the holding of a show at a date fixed so that the members would not have to wait the action of the Agricultural Society for 1899.

It was further decided to give next year seeds and bulbs with a membership of the Fruit Growers Association, to all members for the year 1899 who pay $1.00 membership fee.

The Board also had under consideration the question of a prize to the best kept and best flower beds of the city schools and to ask the School Boards to co-operate in the matter.

Boys' School Clothing.

Somehow or other that boy of yours creeps into our minds oftener than we intend. Possibly the anticipation of future business. Anyway, the gatherings for his wearing are the brightest thoughts in our store. Small wonder we turn to them so often. Is he fixed for school? Three cases of stylish Fall Suits just opened.—QUICK & ROBERTSON.

New Healing Agent.

In the September number of the Journal of Suggestive Therapeutics is the announcement of a new cure for the Morphine and Alcohol Habits, which is held to be recently discovered, and superior to anything at present known. A series of articles upon "How to Hypnotize," by the editor, is begun in this number. Dr. Geo. C. Pitzer writes upon his method of Healing at a distance; but the views there presented are criticised by the editor as being unscientific, undemonstrable and unsound. The effect of the whole number is to throw hypnotism into the back ground while advancing the value of suggestion as a healing agent.

Journalism in Jerusalem.

The suggestion of a daily paper in Palestine comes with something of a shock, but has been made in all seriousness by Mr. Yehouda, a Russian gentleman, through a Turkish subject, who lives in Jerusalem and owns a paper published twice a week in the Holy City. He is now in London for a short time, and says there is quite a demand for journals in this part of the world and he has a complete belief that the times are ripe for a daily paper. The subject most eagerly discussed in Palestine is agriculture and the interest arises from the growth and development of the agricultural colonies.

KITCHENER AT WADY HAMED

There Will Probably Be Hot News From Egypt Shortly.

British Expedition, 20,000 Strong, Ready to Advance Against the Dervishes—The Khalifa, With a Great Army of 70,000 Warriors, Intends to Give Battle—The March on Omdurman to Begin at Once—Cable News.

Wady Hamed, Egypt, Aug. 24, via London, Aug. 26.—The whole Anglo-Egyptian expedition has arrived here, and the advance is now commencing to El Hajir, where final concentration will be made for the march on Omdurman, forty miles distant, which will occupy two days, if the Khalifa decides to await attack at Omdurman, as now appears likely. Refugees are arriving daily from Omdurman. They all agree that the Khalifa means to fight. They report that he has 70,000 men. The attack is expected to occur Sept. 1. The English camp of 20,000 men, extending three miles, with the white gunboats and an immense fleet of native boats, presents a picturesque and animated sight.

A parade was held yesterday of the entire force which is operating against the dervishes. The sight was a magnificent one. The fighting force numbers over 20,000 men and the line was over 4,000 yards long. The artillery and camel corps occupied the centre of the line. The British troops were on the left and the Egyptians on the right.

A Brilliant Achievement.

General Sir Herbert Kitchener's achievement so far is a brilliant operation. Some weeks ago he announced his intention to concentrate his forces at Wady Hamed on Aug. 22. He arrived there to-day. Wady Hamed is a village 40 miles above Metemmeh, and between 50 and 60 miles from Omdurman. It is at the foot of the long sixth cataract, the head of which is at Shabluka. Considering the difficulties of moving 24,000 men and the impediments over the desert, and along the Nile under a blazing sun, the achievement is proof of the splendid organization of the expedition, and augurs well for the final overthrow of the Khalifa's power.

Major-General Archibald Hunter commands the Egyptian forces, which comprise two-thirds of the expedition, and which critics agree now form capital fighting material. Major-General William Forbes Gatacre commands the British forces.

TRAIN RUNS THROUGH FIRE.

An Engineer Makes a Perilous Dash for Safety Through a Blazing Forest.

Paris, Aug. 26.—Great forest fires are raging in the southwestern part of France between Bordeaux and the Spanish frontier. An excursion train returning from Sebastian to Bordeaux last night suddenly ran into a forest on fire on both sides of the track. The engineer stopped and reversed his engine just in time to save the lives of all the passengers. Later the train finally ventured to start and as before it was amid a furious fire. The carriages became so hot that the woodwork cracked, and the passengers were almost suffocated by the tempest of fire outside the windows. It was fully as dangerous now to retreat as to go on, so Engineer Lopez and his stoker, Duerto, drove ahead under full steam. The passengers were in paroxysms of panic. Some of them fainted through fright, while others yelled at the top of their voices. The sleepers under the rails were burning and the roofs of the carriages were crackling.

The train dashed along at a tremendous rate of speed and was soon out of danger. Then the passengers became hysterical, and laughed and cried, but were soon calmed.

LORD BERESFORD HAS STARTED.

Will Go to China to Look After British Interests There.

London, Aug. 26.—Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Conservative member of Parliament for the city of York, who was recently commissioned by the Associated Chambers of Commerce on a special mission to China, started on his eastern journey yesterday.

Lord Beresford goes to investigate the prospects of commerce and to report particularly as to the exact extent to which the Chinese Government will guarantee the safety of British capital already invested and of contemplated investments. He will probably be absent several months.

MR. CURZON WANTED A BOY,

And Is Not Particularly Enthusiastic Over the New Daughter.

New York, Aug. 26.—The World announces that Mrs. Curzon and the new ..ghter are doing well.

.. Curzon's elder daughter, who is now two .. a half years old, the baby girl just .. is said to resemble her mother.

When the announcement was made last evening that the .. addition to the Curzon family was .. another daughter there was disappointment in the neighborhood.

Curzon himself was not .. overjoyed as he would have been had an .. been born to him. He only sent news of the event to his nearest relatives.

Did He Murder His Wife?

Paris, Aug. 26.—Ernest Joseph Possel, the German who had been trying to collect a claim of £10,000 upon a life insurance policy issued to his late wife, an Englishwoman, by the Urbaine Insurance Company, which had resisted payment on the ground that he had thrown her off a cliff near Florence, Italy, committed suicide last evening at the Durand Restaurant, in the Place de la Madelaine.

Uncle Sam Must See It Through.

London, Aug. 26.—The Times yesterday morning says editorially: "If half the Cuban stories are true, it is no wonder that the Americans are disgusted with the insurgents' conduct. The insurgent leaders make a grave mistake if they imagine their conduct will go unpunished. It may be a troublesome business, but America having put her hands to the plow will not turn back."

SIXTEEN LIVES WERE LOST.

Atlantic Steamer at Full Speed Runs Down a Fishing Boat.

Captain of the Norge Makes a Rather Weak Statement of How the Ocean Tragedy Occurred—Awful Hole in the Sailer's Side—Captain of La Coquette Tells the Story From the Point of View of the Schooner.

New York, Aug. 26.—The Thingvalla Line steamer Norge sank the French fishing schooner La Coquette of Bayonne, France, on Saturday last, Aug. 20, on the Grand Banks. The captain of the schooner and eight seamen were saved, sixteen men went down with the unfortunate vessel.

The Norge sailed from Stettin Aug. 3. The weather was generally fine to the Banks of Newfoundland, when it became foggy, with patches of clear weather. On Saturday, Aug. 20, between 3 and 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the weather was foggy, but not so thick as to necessitate reduction of speed.

Story of the Collision.

Captain C. B. Knudsen of the Norge, when questioned at the Barge Office, said: "I saw at a glance that a collision was unavoidable. The Norge must run into the schooner or suffer the fate of La Bourgogne by being run into by the schooner. As the Norge had a large number of passengers on board, I preferred to take the chance, so I ordered the Norge to go at full speed. We ran into the bow of the schooner, and tore a hole three feet wide. As the sea was choppy, and the Norge rose and fell with the swell the hole in the schooner was made larger.

"Three of the men from the schooner clambered up on the Norge by means of the anchor chains. There were six or seven men floundering around in the water. Our second officer, Nicholson, lowered a boat and picked up the men, nine in all. The other sixteen men could be seen struggling in the choppy sea. The suction caused by the settling of the schooner drew them under. They could not be saved. The accident was unavoidable."

The lost vessel was the French fishing schooner La Coquette of Bayonne, which carried a crew of 25 men in all.

Those saved from the La Coquette are: Captain Louis Berre, Henri Ruelian, Victor Cherelle, Jose Lacquec, Joseph Defever, Leon Outin, Samuel Broquel, Jean Baptiste Lemenant and Eugene Guillette.

The captain and the crew saved were taken to the French Consul's office, where an official report of the collision will be made by Captain Louis Berre.

The anchor of the La Coquette made a mark on the bow of the Thingvalla liner on the starboard side.

At the office of the French Consul, the following names of the lost were given: Lemenant, Gannon, Allain, Lepron, Monsinet, Graffet, Curntin, Halmgont, Lescot, Morgnet, Gerard, Guenata, De Croix, Manguri, Baurel and Bonpere. All were fishermen.

Captain of La Coquette's Statement.

The report of Capt. Berre to the French Consul states that when the collision occurred, although there was a heavy fog prevailing, the men were all on deck fishing. Suddenly the Norge appeared, coming toward them head on for their side. It was impossible to do anything to get out of the way. The Norge, which was going at a speed of from 8 to 10 knots an hour, hit La Coquette in the side. Her aftermast fell towards the wheel. There were 16 men in that part of the vessel and the rigging, sails and mast pinned the men down so that it was inevitable death for them, as the vessel began to sink. The wheel was smashed by the fallen mast and the vessel was wholly lost control of.

The Norge cut La Coquette clean in half. The steamer backed as quickly as possible and her crew lowered boats and went to the rescue of the men in the water. It was impossible to save the 16 men who perished.

The La Coquette was of 105 tons burden. She sailed from Bayonne in May for Miquelon to fish off the Grand Banks. She made several trips to Miquelon to ..ut .. loads of fish and was to have re..ained off the banks to the end of the season, which would have been in about six weeks. Her crew was shipped at St. Servan.

The French Consul has notified the French Government and the authorities of the town of Bayonne of the loss of the vessel.

OUR POLITICAL MILITIA.

The Inside Facts in the Reinstatement of Lieut.-Col. Strathy.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Considerable comment is being made in militia circles over the re-instatement of Lieut.-Col. Strathy, and the order issued yesterday is attributed to Major-General Hutton as his first act. As all militia orders have to go through council, and there has been no council since Friday, at which date the new general had not arrived, it is evident that he had nothing to do with it. It is, however, well known that Major-General Gascoigne positively refused to accede to the request of certain Ministers and consent to the reinstatement of that officer, and one of his last assurances before leaving was to the effect that he had done so. Notwithstanding this the order-in-council sanctioning the militia order states that it is with the consent of the late general officer commanding. It is believed that the active steps towards the action of yesterday were taken during the time Col. Lake was acting as locum tenens G.O.C. It will be Major-General Hutton's introduction to the influence of politics on the militia.

Walked Into Kingston Slip.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 26.—Miles Sinnott, cabman, was drowned last night at the Yacht Club house. He left the house by a wrong exit, stumbled into a slip and was drowned in a standing position. His son, with him, missed his father, left the cab and soon made the discovery. Life was extinct then. Deceased was 48 years of age.

Protests Postponed.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The election trials in the ridings of North Grey, South Grey, West York and Nipissing were postponed indefinitely yesterday.

WHEAT LOWER.

Liverpool Cables Went Down a Notch—Chicago Options Declined and Then Rallied—Prices.

Thursday Evening, Aug. 25.

On the Liverpool board to-day wheat ruled weak, and at the close spot red winter was quoted down to 5s 9d. Futures also declined sharply, the September delivery losing 1⅛d per cental for the day, and the December option ½d.

The Chicago market opened weak this morning on Liverpool advices to the above effect, and the rather large receipts in the Northwest, also exerted a bearish influence. This month's delivery dropped 1¼c per bushel, next month's ⅝c and the December option ½c below yesterday's close. Later, however, the strength of the Continental markets, the continued good domestic and foreign demand, and a consideration of the shortness of existing stocks combined to bring about a rally. The market closed strong with the September option ⅝c, and the December delivery ¼c per bushel above yesterday's final figures.

Toronto St. Lawrence Market.

Wheat easier; 1150 bushels sold as follows: White 70c to 70½c, red 70c to 70½c, goose 60c to 60½c per bushel.

Barley firmer; 350 bushels sold at 40c to 42½c.

Oats steady, 1200 bushels sold at 28c to 30c.

Peas steady; 150 bushels sold at 58c to 60c.

Hay plentiful, 40 loads new selling at $7 to $9 per ton.

Straw firmer, three loads selling at $7 to $8 per ton.

Dressed hogs scarce; prices unchanged at $6.25 to $6.50.

Toronto Live Stock.

Receipts of live stock at the Cattle Market to-day were fair—52 carloads, composed of 750 cattle, 1200 sheep and lambs, 50 calves and 1500 hogs.

Spring lambs sold at $2.75 to $3.50 each or $4 to $4.25 per cwt.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Hogs—Estimated receipts to-day 25,000; left over 3000; market rather slow, 5c to 10c lower; light, $3.60 to $4.05; mixed, $3.60 to $4.05; heavy, $3.50 to $4.05; rough, $3.50 to $3.70.

Cattle—Receipts 1000; best steady, others weak to 10c lower; beeves, $4.15 to $5.60; cows and heifers, $2 to $4.80; Texas steers, $3.25 to $4.30; westerns, $3.70 to $4.75; stockers and feeders $3.20 to $4.60.

Montreal Live Stock.

Montreal, Aug. 25.—There were about 900 head of butchers' cattle, 75 calves, 1500 sheep and lambs and 80 store hogs and small pigs offered for sale at the East End Abattoir to-day. The butchers were out in full force, but they were in no haste to buy, and as the supplies of cattle were greatly in excess of the demand, there was a general decline in prices: the decline being over ¼c per lb. in the prices of common to good stock. Prime beeves sold at from 4¼c to 4½c per lb., but none of them were of eating quality; pretty good cattle sold at from 3¼c to 4c and the common stock at from 2¼c to 3c per lb. There were over 100 hard-looking bulls on the market to-day; but four of them were sold during the early part of the day. It is probable that a large number of the common and inferior cattle will have to be held over for another market. Good calves are still in demand, at pretty high rates, at from $5.50 to $10 each, common veals being from $2.50 to $4.50 each. Shippers are paying from 3¼c to 3½c per lb. for good large sheep; good lambs sold at from $3.25 to $4 each. There were 600 rather lean lambs brought up from the vicinity of Quebec. These sold at from $2 to $2.75 each. Fat hogs sell at from 5c to 5½c per lb.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, Aug. 25.—Cattle—Receipts were 18 cars, all consigned through. The market was regarded as steady for good handy steers and fat butchers' cattle.

Hogs—Receipts were 3800 head of sale stock. The market opened strong, weakened about noon and rallied before the close for good Yorkers, but was weak for other grades. Yorkers ranged from $4.20 to $4.25, a few early at $4.30; common and grassy, $4.15; mixed packers, $4.15 to $4.20; mediums and heavy, $4.15 to $4.20, a few early at $4.25; choice heavy, $4.20. Pigs, $3.90 to $4.05; roughs, $3.50 to $3.70; a few choice, $3.75 to $3.80; stags, $2.75 to $3.25. The market closed firm for Yorkers, with a number of decks, mostly of the heavier kind, but also some Yorkers unsold that arrived late.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts were 1600 head of fresh and 100 head that held over. The market was slow for common and bucky lambs, but full strong for good ewe and wether lots. Sheep steady and firm. Sales of best lambs at $5.85 to $6.05; fair to good, $4.85 to $5.75; culls and common, $3.50 to $4.75; good mixed sheep, $4.25 to $4.60; culls to fair, $3.25 to $4.15; common culls, $2 to $3; yearlings, $4.75 to $5; market closed dull, with several lots of common lambs unsold.

Cheese Markets.

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 25.—At the cheese board this afternoon 49 factories offered 1193 white and 2062 colored August cheese; 7 15-16c offered for white and 8 1-16c for colored. No sales.

Kingston, Aug. 25.—At the cheese board today 839 colored and 816 white boxes boarded. Sales, 600 August make at 7⅞c to 8⅛c.

British Markets.

Liverpool, Aug. 25.—No. 1 North. spring, 6s 10d; red winter, 6s 2d; No. 1 Cal., 6s 4d to 6s 5d; corn, 3s 1⅝d; peas, 5s 0d; pork, 51s 3d; lard, 29s 3d; tallow, 19s 6d; bacon, heavy, l.c., 30s; light, 29s 6d; short cut, 29s 6d; cheese, white, 37s 6d; colored, 38s.

Liverpool—Close—Spot wheat dull, with red winter at 5s 9d; futures quiet at 5s 5½d for Sept and 5s 2½d for Dec. Maize steady at 3s 0¾d for spot; futures, 3s 0¾d for Sept. and 3s 1⅜d for Oct. Flour, 21s 6d.

The Pope on the School Question.

Milwaukee, Aug. 26.—Five bishops attended the German Roman Catholic societies' convention here. One of them delivered an admonition that came from Rome direct. The utterances were made by Bishop Messmer, who had just returned from his pilgrimage to Rome. He spoke concerning the school question. The words of the Pope, as delivered to Bishop Messmer and repeated by him, were that it was to be regretted that so many Catholics were sending their children to the public schools in place of the parochial schools.

A Vancouver Park Keeper Missing.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 26.—Notification has been given to the police that R. J. Johnston, assistant keeper of Stanley Park, has been missing since Aug. 15, and his whereabouts are unknown, apparently, to anyone. Johnston is a native of Collingwood, Ont., and is about 40 or 45 years of age.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

WHAT EVOLUTION IS.

REV. DR. TALMAGE CHARACTERIZES IT AS INFIDELITY.

DIVINE ORIGIN OF MANKIND.

He Deals With the Scientific Absurdities That Run Counter to the Divine Account, and Says They Amount to an Attempt to Galvanize an Old Hindoo Belief Into Life.

Washington, April 21.—Rev. Dr. Talmage on Sunday morning preached from the text, I. Timothy vi, 20, "O Timothy, keep that which is committed to thy trust, avoiding oppositions of science falsely, so called!" He said:

There is no contest between genuine science and revelation. The same God who by the hand of prophet wrote on parchment, by the hand of the storm wrote on the rock. The best telescopes and microscopes and electric batteries and philosophical apparatus belong to Christian universities. Who gave us magnetic telegraphy? Professor Morse, a Christian. Who swung the lightnings under the sea, cabling the continents together? Cyrus W. Field, the Christian. Who discovered the anaesthetical properties of chloroform, doing more for the relief of human pain than any man that ever lived, driving back nine-tenths of the horrors of surgery? James Y. Simpson of Edinburgh, as eminent for piety as for science, on weekdays in the university lecturing on profoundest scientific subjects and on Sabbaths preaching the gospel of Jesus Christ to the masses of Edinburgh. I saw the universities of that city draped in mourning for his death, and I heard his eulogy pronounced by the destitute populations of the Cowgate. Science and revelation are the bass and soprano of the same tune. The whole world will yet acknowledge the complete harmony, but between what my text describes as science, falsely so called, and revelation there is an uncompromising war, and one or the other must go under.

At the present time the air is filled with social and platform and pulpit talk about evolution, and it is high time that the people who have not time to make investigation for themselves understand that evolution, in the first place, is up and down, out and out infidelity; in the second place, it is contrary to the facts of science and, in the third place, that it is brutalizing in its tendencies. I do not argue that this is a genuine book, I do not say that the Bible is worthy of any kind of credence—those are subjects for other Sabbaths—but I want you to understand that Thomas Paine and Hume and Voltaire no more thoroughly disbelieved the Holy Scriptures than do all the leading scientists who believe in evolution. And when I say scientists of course I do not mean literary men or theologians who in essay or in sermon and without giving their life to scientific investigation look at the subject on this side or that. By scientists I mean those who have a specialty in that direction and who through zoological garden and aquarium and astronomical observatory give their life to the study of the physical earth, its plants and its animals and the regions beyond so far as optical instruments have explored them.

I put upon the witness stand living and dead the leading evolutionists—Ernst Heckel, John Stuart Mill, Huxley, Tyndall, Darwin, Spencer. On the witness stand, ye men of science, living and dead, answer these questions: Do you believe the Holy Scriptures? No. And so they say all. Do you believe the Bible story of Adam and Eve in the garden of Eden? No. And so they say all. Do you believe the miracles of the Old and New Testaments? No. And so they say all. Do you believe that Jesus Christ died to save the nations? No. And so they say all. Do you believe in the regenerating power of the Holy Ghost? No. And so they say all. Do you believe that human supplication directed heavenward ever makes any difference? No. And so they say all.

Herbert Spencer, in the only address he made in this country, in his very first sentence ascribes his physical ailments to fate, and the authorized report of that address begins the word fate with a big "F." Professor Heckel, in the very first page of his two great volumes, sneers at the Bible as a so-called revelation. Tyndall in his famous prayer test, defied the whole of Christendom to show that human supplication made any difference in the result of things. John Stuart Mill wrote elaborately against Christianity, and to show that his rejection of it was complete ordered this epitaph for his tombstone, "Most Unhappy." Huxley said that at the first reading of Darwin's book he was convinced of the fact that teleology had received its death blow at the hand of Mr. Darwin. All the leading scientists who believe in evolution, without one exception the world over, are infidel. I say nothing against infidelity, mind you. I only wish to define the belief and the meaning of the rejection.

Now, I put opposite to each other, to show that evolution is infidelity, the Bible account of how the human race started and the evolutionist account of how the human race started. Bible account: "God said let us make man in his own image. God created man in his own image, male and female created he them." He breathed into him the breath of life, the whole story setting forth the idea that it was not a perfect kangaroo or a perfect orang outang, but a perfect man. That is the Bible account. The evolutionist account: Away back in the ages there were four or five primal germs or seminal spores from which all the living creatures have been evolved. Go away back, and there you will find a vegetable stuff that might be called a mushroom. This mushroom by innate force develops a tadpole, the tadpole by innate force develops a polliwog, the polliwog develops a fish, the fish by natural force develops into a reptile, the reptile develops into a quadruped, the quadruped develops into a baboon, the baboon develops into a man.

Darwin says that the human hand is only a fish's fin developed. He says that the human lungs are only a swim bladder, showing that we once floated or were amphibious. He says the human ear could once have been moved by force of will just as a horse lifts its ear at a frightful object. He says the human race were originally webfooted. From primal germ to tadpole, from tadpole to fish, from fish to reptile, from reptile to wolf, from wolf to chimpanzee and from chimpanzee to man. Now, if anybody says that the Bible account of the starting of the human race and the evolutionist account of the starting of the human race are the same accounts, he makes an appalling misrepresentation.

Prefer, if you will, Darwin's "Origin of the Species" to the book of Genesis, but know you are an infidel. As for myself, as Herbert Spencer was not present at the creation and the Lord Almighty was present, I prefer to take the divine account as to what really occurred on that occasion. To show that this evolution is only an attempt to eject God and to postpone him, and to put him clear out of reach I ask a question or two. The baboon made the man, and the wolf made the baboon, and the reptile made the quadruped, and the fish made the reptile, and the tadpole made the fish, and the primal germ made the tadpole. Who made the primal germ? Most of the evolutionists say, "We don't know." Others say it made itself. Others say it was spontaneous generation. There is not one of them who will fairly and openly and frankly and emphatically say, "God made it."

The nearest to a direct answer is that made by Herbert Spencer in which he says it was made by the great "unknowable mystery." But here comes Huxley with a cup of protoplasm to explain the thing. This protoplasm, he says, is primal life giving quality with which the race away back in the ages was started. With his protoplasm he proposes to explain everything. Dear Mr. Huxley, who made the protoplasm?

To show you that evolution is infidel I place the Bible account of how the brute creation was started opposite to the evolutionist's account of the way the brute creation was started. Bible account: You know the Bible tells how that the birds were made at one time, and the cattle made at another time, and the fish made at another time, and that each brought forth after its kind. Evolutionist's account: From four or five primal germs or seminal spores all the living creatures evolved. Hundreds of thousands of species of insects, of reptiles, of beasts, of fish, from four germs—a statement flatly contradicting not only the Bible, but the very A B C of science. A species never develops into anything but its own species. In all the ages and in all the world there has never been an exception to it. The shark never comes of a whale, nor the pigeon of a vulture, nor the butterfly of a wasp. Species never cross over. If there be an attempt at it, it is hybrid, and the hybrid is always sterile and has no descendants.

These men of science tell us that 100,000 species came from four when the law all through the universe is that, starting in one species, it keeps on in that species, and there would be only four now if there had been four at starting. If I should say to you that the world is flat, and that a circle and a square are the same, and that twice two make 15, I would come just as near the truth as when these evolutionists tell you that 100,000 species came from four. Evolution would have been left out of question with its theory flatly contradicting all observations and all science had not its authors and their disciples been so set on ejecting God from the universe and destroying the Bible that they will go to any length, though it lead them into idiotic absurdity. You see what the Bible teaches in regard to it, I have shown you also what evolution teaches in regard to it.

Agassiz says that he found in a reef of Florida the remains of insects 30,000 years old—not 3,000 but 30,000 years old—and that they were just like the insects now. There has been no change. All the facts of ornithology and zoology and ichthyology and conchology but an echo of Genesis first and twenty-first, "Every winged fowl after his kind." Every creature after its kind. When common observation and science corroborate the Bible, I will stultify myself by surrendering to the elaborated guesses of evolutionists.

To show that evolution is infidel I place also the Bible account of how worlds were made opposite the evolutionist's account of how worlds were made. Bible account: God made two great lights—the one to rule the day, the other to rule the night; he made the stars also. Evolutionist account: Away back in the ages there was a fire mist or star dust, and this fire mist cooled off into granite, and then this granite by earthquake and by storm and by light was shaped into mountains and valleys and seas, and so what was originally fire mist became what we call the earth.

Who made the fire mist? Who set the fire mist to worldmaking? Who cooled off the fire mist into granite? You have pushed God some 60,000,000 or 70,000,000 miles from the earth, but he is too near yet for the health of evolution. For a great while the evolutionists boasted that they had found the very stuff out of which this world and all worlds were made. They lifted the telescope and they saw it, the very material out of which worlds made themselves. Nebula of simple gas. They laughed in triumph because they had found the factory where the worlds were manufactured, and there was no God anywhere around the factory. But in an unlucky hour for infidel evolutionists the spectroscopes of Fraunhofer and Kirchoff were invented, by which they saw into that nebula and found it was not a simple gas, but was a compound, and hence had to be supplied from some other source, and that implied a God, and away went their theory, shattered into everlasting demolition.

Agassiz says: "The manner in which the evolution theory in zoology is treated would lead those who are not special zoologists to suppose that observations have been made by which it can be inferred that there is in nature such a thing as change among organized beings actually taking place. There is no such thing on record. It is shifting the ground of observation from one field of observation to another to make this statement, and when the assertions go so far as to exclude from the domain of science those who will not be dragged into this mire of mere assertion then it is time to protest." With equal vehemence against the doctrine of evolution Hugh Miller, Farraday, Brewster, Dana, Dawson and hundreds of scientists in this country and other countries have made protest.

There is one tenet of evolution which it is demanded we adopt—that which Darwin calls 'natural selection' and that which Wallace calls the "survival of the fittest." By this they mean that the human race and the brute creation are all the time improving because the weak die and the strong live. Those who do not die survive because they are the fittest. They say the breed of sheep and cattle and dogs and men is all the time improving, naturally improving. No need of God or any Bible or any religion, but just natural progress.

You see, the race started with "spontaneous generation," and then it goes right on until Darwin can take us up with his "natural selection" and Wallace with his "survival of the fittest," and so we go right on up forever. Beautiful! But do the fittest survive? Garfield dead in September; Guiteau surviving until the following June. "Survival of the fittest?" Ah, no! The martyrs, religious and political, dying for their principles, their bloody persecutors living on to old age. "Survival of the fittest?" Five hundred thousand brave northern men marching out to meet 500,000 brave southern men and die on the battlefield for a principle. Hundreds of thousands of them went down into the grave trenches. We staid at home in comfortable quarters. Did they die because they were not as fit to live as we who survived? Ah, no, not the "survival of the fittest!" Ellsworth and Nathaniel Lyon falling on the northern side; Albert Sidney Johnston and Stonewall Jackson falling on the southern side. Did they fall because they were not as fit to live as the soldiers and the generals who came back in safety? No! Bitten with the frosts of the second death be the tongue that dares utter it! It is not the "survival of the fittest."

How has it been in the families of the world? How was it with the child physically the strongest, intellectually the brightest, in disposition the kindest? Did that child die because it was not as fit to live as those of your family that survived? Not "the survival of the fittest." In all communities some of the noblest, grandest men dying in youth or in midlife, while some of the meanest and most contemptible live on to old age. Not "the survival of the fittest."

But to show you that this doctrine is antagonistic to the Bible and to common sense I have only to prove to you that there has been no natural progress. Vast improvements from another source, but mind you, no natural progress. Where is the fine horse in any of our parks whose picture of eye and mane and nostril and neck and haunches is worthy of being compared to Job's picture of a horse as he thousands of years ago heard it paw and neigh and champ its bit for the battle? Pigeons of to-day not so wise as the carrier pigeons of 500 years ago—pigeons that carried the mails from army to army and from city to city, one of them flung into the sky at Rome or Venice landing without ship or rail train in London. Look at the great animals that walked the earth in olden times—animals compared with which in size our elephant is a cat—monsters of olden times that swam the deep, compared with which our whale is a minnow. Conies have learned nothing about climbing, and the hounds nothing about hunting, and the ostrich nothing about hatching, and the condor nothing about flying, and the owl nothing about musical cadences for 6,000 years. Not a particle of progress.

And as to the human race, so far as mere natural progress is concerned, once there were men 10 feet high; now the average is about 5 feet 6 inches. It started with men living 200, 400, 800, 900 years, and now 30 years is more than the average of human life. Mighty progress we have made, haven't we? I went into the cathedral at York, England, and the best artists in England had just been painting a window in that cathedral, and right beside it was a window painted 400 years ago, and there is not a man on earth but would say that the modern painting of the window by the best artists of England is not worthy of being compared with the painting of 400 years ago right beside it. Vast improvement, as I shall show you in a minute or two, but no natural evolution.

Look at China, where evolution has had full swing for thousands of years uninterrupted by anything except here and there a mission station with this defunct book, the Bible, but through the most of the realm not interfered with. What has evolution done for China? Christian civilization goes in and builds a railroad; they tear it up. For 1,000 years the Chinese nation, where it is not invaded by the gospel, has not made one-five-hundred-millionth part of an inch of advancement. They worship the same gods of red paint. Just as always they drown the female children as a nuisance. Just as always they eat with chopsticks. So in India, so in Arabia, so in Turkey, so everywhere where the gospel has not made an invasion.

I tell you, my friends, that natural evolution is not upward, but it is always downward. Hear Christ's account of it. Fifteenth Matthew and nineteenth verse, "Out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies." That is what Christ said of evolution. Give natural evolution full swing in our world and it will evolve into two hemispheres of crime, two hemispheres of penitentiary, two hemispheres of lazaretto, two hemispheres of brothel. New York Tombs, Moyamensing prison, Philadelphia Seven Dials, London and Cowgate, Edinburgh, only festering carbuncles on the face and neck of natural evolution. See what the Bible says about the heart and then what evolution says about the heart. Evolution says, "Better and better gets the heart by natural improvement." The Bible says: "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked. Who can know it?" When you can evolve fragrance from malodor, and can evolve an oratorio from a buzzsaw, and can evolve fall pippins from a basket of decayed crab apples, then you can by natural evolution from the human heart develop goodness. Ah, my friends, natural evolution is always downward; it is never upward.

What is remarkable about this thing is it is all the time developing its honesty. In our day it is ascribing this evolution to Herbert Spencer and Charles Darwin. It is a dishonesty. Evolution was known and advocated hundreds of years before these gentlemen began to be evolved. The Phoenicians thousands of years ago declared that the human race wabbled out of the mud. Democritus, who lived 460 years before Christ—remember that—knew this doctrine of evolution when he said: "Everything is composed of atoms, or infinitely small elements, each with a definite quality, form and movement, whose inevitable union and separation shape all different things and forms, laws and efforts, and dissolve them again for new combinations. The gods themselves and the human mind originated from such atoms. There are no casualties. Everything is necessary and determined by the nature of the atoms which have certain mutual affinities, attractions and repulsions." Anoximander centuries ago declared that the human race started at the place where the sea saturated the earth. Lucretius developed long centuries ago, in his poems, the doctrine of evolution.

It is an old heathen corpse set up in a morgue. Charles Darwin and Herbert Spencer have tried to galvanize it. They drag this old putrefaction of 3,000 years around the earth, boasting that it is their originality, and so wonderful is the infatuation that at the Delmonico dinner given in honor of Herbert Spencer some 15 years ago there were those who ascribed to him this great originality of evolution. There the banqueters sat around the table in honor of Herbert Spencer, chewing beef and turkey and roast pig, which, according to their doctrine of evolution, made them eating their own relations! Slicing up their own cousins! Driving a carving fork into their beloved kindred! Dashing worcestershire sauce, bedaubing mustard over their uncles and aunts! And while Herbert Spencer read a patronizing lecture to Americans the banqueters sat around the table with their hands up, saying. "Dear me, it is the voice of a god and not of a man!"

There is only one thing worse than English snobbery, and that is American snobbery. I like democracy and I like aristocracy, but there is one kind of ocracy in this country that excites my contempt, and that is what Charles Kingsley, after he had witnessed it himself, called snobocracy. Now, I say it is a gigantic dishonesty when they ascribe this old heathen doctrine of evolution to any modern gentleman!

I am not a pessimist, but an optimist. I do not believe everything is going to destruction. I believe everything is going on to redemption. But it will not be through the infidel doctrine of evolution, but through our glorious Christianity which has effected all the good that has ever been wrought and which is yet to reconstruct all the nations.

What is that in the offing? A ship gone on the rocks at Cape Hatteras. The hulk is breaking up, crew and passengers are drowning. The storm is in full blast and the barometer is still sinking. What does that ship want? Development. Develop her broken masts. Develop her broken rudder. Develop her drowning crew. Develop her freezing passengers. Develop the whole ship. That is all it wants. Development. Oh, I make a mistake. What that ship wants is a lifeboat from the shore. Leap into it, you men of the life station! Pull away to the wreck! Steady there! Bring the women and children first to the shore! Now the stout men! Wrap them up in flannels, and between their chattering teeth you can pour restoration.

Well, my friends, our world is on the rocks. God launched it well enough, but through mispilotage and the storms of 6,000 years it has gone into the breakers. What does this old ship of a world want? Development? There is enough old evolution in the hulk to evolve another mast and another rudder and to evolve all the passengers and [illegible] the ship out of the breakers. Development? Ah, no, my friends, what this old shipwreck of a world wants is a lifeboat from the shore. And it is coming. Cheer, my lads, cheer! It is coming from the shining shore of heaven, taking the crests of ten waves with one sweep of the shining paddles. Christ is in the lifeboat. Many wounds on hands and feet and side and brow, showing he has been long engaged in the work of rescue, but yet mighty to save—to save one, to save all, to save forever. My Lord and my God, get us into the lifeboat. Away with your rotten, deceptive, infidel and blasphemous evolution and give us the Bible, salvation through Jesus Christ our Lord!

Salvation! Let the echo fly
The spacious earth around,
While all the armies of the sky
Conspire to raise the sound.

Few men understand women. When a woman is weak, sickly, nervous, fretful, irritable and despondent, the average husband imagines that she is simply out of temper. An average husband will probably simply go out and leave her alone for awhile, "to have it out with herself." A bad husband is liable to go off and get drunk. The fact is that the poor wife is suffering from illness of a description that breaks a woman down sooner than anything else. Her back is weak and aches. Her "sides stitch." She has pains and a dragging sensation in the abdomen. Her appetite is touchy and she suffers from nausea. She has sick headaches, giddiness, dizziness, cold chills, flushings of heat, shortness of breath, palpitation, disturbed sleep, frightful dreams, irregularities and nervous and trembling sensations. Her pain-racked nerves are a continual torture.
A woman in this condition is suffering from weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs concerned in wifehood and motherhood. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes these organs strong and well. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It has transformed thousands of sickly, nervous, petulant, childless and unhappy women into happy, healthy, helpful, amiable wives and mothers. It banishes the discomforts of the period of prospective maternity and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. Good medicine dealers sell it and an honest druggist does not try to urge upon you an inferior substitute for a little extra profit.
Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a 1008-page home doctor-book, paper-covered, sent for 31 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, or French cloth binding 50 stamps. Address Dr. R.V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.

THE MEAGHER CASE.

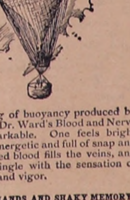

Affidavits in Preparation Concerning His High-Handed Abduction.

Ottawa, Aug. 26.—Affidavits are in course of preparation to subtantiate the story of the high-handed action of United States Deputy Collector of Customs Avery in arresting Thomas Meagher, a British subject, and forcibly abducting him from Canadian territory. If the facts are found to be as they are represented the course of procedure will be for the Attorney-General of Ontario to apply to the Dominion Government for the extradition of Avery, that he may be put on trial for the crime of abduction.

A Buffalo Boy Drowned.

Aylmer, Ont., Aug. 26. — At Port Bruce, eight miles south of here, last evening, Wesley Bradley, the 13-year-old son of Capt. J. Bradley of Buffalo, N.Y., lost his life. He was bathing and got beyond his depth.

Walking on Air.

The feeling of buoyancy produced by the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills is remarkable. One feels bright and active, energetic and full of snap and vim. Rich red blood fills the veins, and the nerves tingle with the sensation of youthful life and vigor.

TREMBLING HANDS AND SHAKY MEMORY.
A HAMILTON MAN'S EXPERIENCE WITH A NEW MEDICINE.

DEAR SIRS,—
I have spent half a fortune in doctors' bills, all to no avail. These Pills seemed to reach the seat of disease at once, and they also seemed to possess a remarkable influence over me. The violent palpitation of the heart, the trembling of the hands, the loss of masculine vigor, the frightful dreams, the loss of memory and general collapse of the entire system, have yielded to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Great were the results from the use of four boxes of these Pills. I am enjoying the very best of health. I fully believe they are able to do for others as much as they have done for me. Before using them I was a miserable wreck. To-day I am a well man.
Yours truly,
THOS. FLYNN, 51 Elgin St., Hamilton, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

Grave of the Hundred Head.

Rudyard Kipling.

There's a widow in sleepy Chester
Who weeps for her only son;
There's a grave on the Pabeng River,
A grave that the Burmahs shun,
And [illegible] Subadar Prag Tewarri
Who tells how the work was done.

A Snider squibbed in the jungle—
Somebody laughed and fled,
And the men of the First Shikaris
Picked up their Subaltern dead,
With a big blue mark in his forehead
And the back blown out of his head.

They buried the boy by the river,
A blanket over his face—
They wept for their dead lieutenant,
The man of an alien race—
They made a samadh in his honor,
A mark for his resting place,

For they swore by the holy water,
They swore by the salt they ate,
That the soul of Lieutenant Eshmitt Sahib
Should go to his God in state;
With fifty file of Burmans
To open Heaven's gate.

The men of the First Shikaris
Marched till the break of day,
Till they came to the rebel village,
The village of Pabengmay—
A jingal covered the clearing
Calthrops hampered the way.

Subadar Prag Tewarri
Bidding them load with ball,
Halted a dozen rifles
Under the village wall;
Sent out a flanking party
With Jemadar Hira Lal.

The men of First Shikaris
Shouted and smote and slew,
Turning the grinning jingal
On to the howling crew,
The Jamadar's flanking party
Butchered the folk who flew.

[illegible] was the morn of slaughter,
[illegible]s the list of slain,

—"There's no one more in favor of the "open door" policy than one Mr. Paré, of Napanee Ontario.—London News.

—Belleville has followed the example of Peterboro' and voted to abolish the ward system and to reduce the number of Aldermen. If prohibition should carry it would abolish a good deal more in Belleville.—London News.

—If you like Grit chic read the following from the Galt Reformer: "Take the whole of the Provincial Opposition and with the exception of Mr. Whitney and possibly one other, you will fail to find men capable of holding portfolios." Oh!

—The United States war Revenue Act will in all probability yield about $130,000,000 to $140,000,000. As the war is expected to cost about $150,000,000, the first year of war revenue will very nearly pay for the cost of the war.

—The Boston Herald, announces that it cares nothing about sealing but wants reciprocity. Certainly it is longing for the realization of Sir Richard Cartwright's Boston prediction that under Reciprocity Canada would soon become a Northern State of the Union.

—Mr. Goldwin Smith has expressed the fear that Canadian interests will be sacrificed to Imperial. Out upon such treasonable utterances. That which is Canadian and that which is Canadian's Imperial, Canada is an integral part of the Empire, and will remain so, long after Goldwin Smith has ceased to utter veiled treason, and advocate annexation.

—The beauty of the United States war tax is that other nations are laid under tribute for them. The other day merchants in London, Ontario, importing certain lines of goods from the States were notified that on and after a specified date the amount of the war duty would be added to their invoice. Don't buy United States goods if you object to assist in paying their war debt.

— Mr. Dan McGillicuddy, editor of the Goderich Signal Liberal paper, whose attacks on Mr. M. C. Cameron, M. P., afforded the public much amusement, has been awarded a $60,000 dredging contract in Goderich harbor. Mr. McGillicuddy is not a dredger, and is not known to own a dredge. He is a Grit editor in luck. He drove M. C. Cameron out of the county, because he gave the post office to his son-in-law, and is now placated with a $60,000 dredging contract. Happy McGillicuddy Tarte was in Goderich not long ago.

—If the Liberal Government were to carry out its ante-election promises and cut down or remove altogether, the duties that we have to pay on manufactures not natural to the country, such as cottons; and place an export duty on those raw materials of which we have a monopoly, this country would go ahead with leaps and bounds. Our people would get what they have to buy at the lowest price, and they would get the full value of what nature has given them to sell. Our mines, our forests, our fisheries and our farms would be benefitted, while those unnatural industries, that the Liberal papers used to picture as sucklings, and the Liberal leaders were wont to make fun of as infant manufactures, would no doubt die the death that awaits them when a Liberal administration gets into office, if one ever does. This is not a joke, it is a fact painfully evident to every Liberal in Canada. Laurier and his ministers are no more Liberals than the N.P. Conservatives are Liberals.—Events.

UNION JACK AND OLD GLORY.

The Wind Entwines Them, and It is Considered a Prophecy of the Future.

The Stars and Stripes and the British flag hanging side by side from the fourth-story window of the Postal Telegraph building, at Broadway and Murray street, attracted attention from thousands yesterday. The flags reached to the top of the main street entrance.

At one time the breeze caught both flags and for a few minutes they were entwined together closely, which caused an old man in a cable car to remark to the passenger next to him:

"That's getting close enough together, isn't it? I'll probably never live to see it, but those two flags and the two countries will be just as closely united some future day."—New York Sun (formerly Anglophobe).

Outlines of a Face.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Anna, Ill., July 23.—On the evening of Friday, July 8th, George Laird shot Wagter Lynch in front of Lynch's residence. Lynch was taken into his house and laid upon his bed, where after suffering for three days, he died. The blood flowing from Lynch's wound stained the sheet upon which he was lying in several places. After the sheet was washed one of the blotches of blood disclosed perfectly the features of the slayer, Laird. The picture on the sheet, executed in the blood of the victim, has been viewed by hundreds of citizens, and nearly all agree that it is a striking likeness of Laird. I have never seen Laird, but the blotch of blood of the sheet referred to certainly does present the outlines of the face, curly hair, eyes, nose, mouth mustache and chin of a man.

THEY SAT FOR FOUR HOURS.

The Quebec Conference Delegates Feeling Each Other.

They Are Endeavoring to Find Points of Agreement and the Lines of Demarcation—When Found They Will Make Notes Out, and Likely Adjourn to Digest Plans for Reaching an Agreement Thereupon—Interest in England.

Quebec, Aug. 26.—Everything was quiet about the Parliament Buildings yesterday and it would have hardly been thought that so important a body as the International Commission was deliberating there upon questions of the greatest national moment. Yet it has been in session since 11 a.m., and with the exception of a short intermission at 1 p.m. for luncheon in the building, continued to sit until 4 o'clock. All the members of the commission were present. The last new arrival was Sir James Winter, Premier of Newfoundland, who took his seat on the presentation of his credentials.

Will Feel Each Other, Then Adjourn.

For a few days the commissioners will be engaged in endeavoring to learn the points on which they agree, and where the line of demarcation commences. Having got this far an adjournment will then be agreed upon for three or four weeks, so that each side may consider the other's position. Then they will come together again, and endeavor to reconcile their divergent views. It is thought that by adopting this course far greater progress will be made than if the commission sits here from day to day. Incidentally, the adjournment will give an opportunity to the three American commissioners who are in Congress to take part in their State elections.

B. C. Sealers Representative.

J. N. Cox of Victoria, B.C., is expected here in a few days to represent the interests of the sealers at Quebec during the Conference.

INTEREST IN ENGLAND.

Canada Has Gone Too Far to Yield Up British Preferential Tariff.

Montreal, Aug. 26.—The Star's London cable says: Keen interest is excited in Government circles here by yesterday's telegrams, stating that the United States delegates will refuse to proceed with the Quebec Conference unless Canada foregoes the British preferential tariff. The opinion is firmly expressed that whatever be the penalty, Canada has gone too far on the pro-British lines to yield on this vital point.

On the other hand, there is no secret here of the fact that early in the career of the Laurier Ministry, the majority of the Ministers were quite prepared, and plainly said so, to admit the United States to equal preferential treatment with Great Britain, if a satisfactory reciprocity policy was obtainable. The idea here is that this intention has been lately cancelled by the rebuffs received from Washington.

Some Don't Want Free Canals.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—A committee of the Board of Trade met yesterday to consider the proposition submitted to them for the abolition of all tolls, both on freight and tonnage, in vessels passing through the Welland Canal. The members of the Board of Trade are by no means unanimous on the question of abolishing the tolls on the Welland Canal. There are some interests, and not a few, said to be opposed to the scheme.

Will the Senate Upset Things?

London, Aug. 26.—The Graphic yesterday expresses the fear that, even if the Quebec conference arrives at an agreement on the difficult problems before it, the American Senate will upset its work unless American public opinion asserts itself.

WHERE IS THE CHILD?

Strange Action of a Man and a Woman at the Humber River.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The County Crown Attorney has received advice of what the residents of the Humber think portends a serious crime which they allege was committed up the Humber River a couple of evenings ago. A man and a woman, accompanied by a little two-year-old child, arrived at the Humber, and, immediately hiring a boat from Captain Maw's boathouse, rowed up the river in the darkness. After an hour or so they returned, but without the child, and with a broken paddle. They then left the boathouse very hurriedly, as though fearing to meet anyone. The county police are investigating.

THE TAIT-BRASSEY.

The Most Important Match of the Ontario Rifle Association's Annual Meet Shot—Other Matches.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The greatest prize of the Ontario Rifle Association's meet is open to active militia of Canada and H. M. Army and Navy of the active force, who have retired retaining rank. The Tait Cup, valued at $250, is presented by Sir Peter Tait of London, England. The Brassey Cup, value $125, was presented by the late Thomas Brassey, father of the present Lord Brassey. The ranges are 200, 500 and 600 yards. Forty-eight dollars and the Tait Cup was won by the team of the Royal Grenadiers, and $20 and the Brassey Cup by the team of H. Co. Royal Grenadiers. Sergt.-Major J. Ross of the 77th made the first possible and won $20 in this match.

The Mulock Aggregate.

Named after W. Mulock, M.P., is open to the active militia of Canada and H. M. Army and Navy officers of the active force who have retired retaining rank. The Elkington Cup, value $125, presented by Messrs. Elkington & Co. of London, has to be won three times before becoming the property of the winner. $15, the Elkington Medal, and N.R.A. silver medal were won by J. McVittie, 48th, 316.

$10 and Governor-General's silver medal were won by Capt. T. Mitchell, Y.R., 311.

$10 and Governor-General's bronze medal—by Capt. A. Elliott, Y.R., 310.

$8 and D.R.A. silver medal—by Lieut. W. L. Ross, 13th, 308.

$7 and D.R.A. bronze medal—by Color-Sergt. Meadows, Q.O.R., 307.

Capt. J. Crean, 9th F.B., won $7 and the revolver match.

Sergt. Swaine, 14th P.W.R., won the first and $20 in the Toronto Railway match.

The O.R.A. held its semi-annual meeting in the Pavilion after luncheon, with Major J. J. Mason in the chair.

A feeling reference was made by the chairman to the death of Col. Sir Casimir Gzowski.

A number of committees were appointed.

Among the distinguished officers present were Lieut.-Col. Otter, Lieut.-Col. Buchan, Lieut.-Col. Alymer and Lieut.-Col. Cosby.

The meet closes to-day.

Vast Possibilities.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 26.—At the convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science yesterday Dr. Wilfrid Nelson, F.R.G.S., of New York, read an interesting paper on "Nicaragua and the Proposed Canal." Dr. Nelson held that America has vast possibilities within reach, by which the United States and Canada would be at least 12 days nearer the east than England and Europe. He counted the probability of the vast cost in money and lives in such an undertaking in the tropics, but urged [illegible]

MAPLE LEAFS REDIVIVUS.

Guelph and Woodstock Pioneer Ball Players to Take the Field Again.

Guelph, Aug. 26.—Alex. Fuller of Woodstock recently took in hand the arrangement of a game of baseball between the Old Maple Leafs of Guelph, and their old opponents, the Young Canadians of Woodstock. He challenged the old Guelph boys, and the latter met and agreed to accept the challenge. The following are the men selected to play: William Sunley, p; James Nichol, c; Charles Maddock, 1b; John Colson, 2b; R. Howard, 3b; William Hewer, ss; John Goldie, lf; Harry Steele, rf; K. Maclean, cf; William Dyson and Robert Mitchell spare men. Mr. E. Moore, London, an old time umpire, will be requested to umpire the game. The team will be almost identical with the team that won the rosewood bat and championship back in the early 70's. The two teams are the pioneers of the province in the baseball line, and it is proposed to play home and home games.

THE MIDDLETON CASES.

The Prisoner Is Confident That He Will Pull Out All Right.

Woodstock, Aug. 26.—New developments are looked for in the Middleton case to-day. It is safe to say that Middleton will be charged with bigamy, and it is to be inferred from what the authorities say that Maggie Thomas' marriage will not figure conspicuously in the proceedings, as the Crown authorities think that abundant evidence is to be obtained from the marriages of Lillian Monro of Toronto, and Sally Smith of Sarnia. It was announced last night that Maggie McDonald, nee Thomas, with her baby, is here with the intention of paying a visit to her husband.

More charges of obtaining money under false pretences will likely be laid against Middleton to-day, and instructions from Ottawa to proceed in the case from the Capital were almost sure.

Middleton is chafing over his confinement in jail, but says he will pull out all right.

No one in Woodstock doubts that McDonald, the swindler, and Middleton, the railway fakir, are the same person. Orders on the Brantford & Woodstock Railway can be bought very cheap here.

FORTIFICATIONS AT ESQUIMALT.

Examined by the Inspector of British Naval Stations in the Pacific.

Victoria, B.C., Aug. 26.—Considerable excitement is created here by the publication of the fact that Captain Edward Collister, inspector of British naval stations in the Pacific, paid a hurried visit to Esquimalt dock yard. He refused to be interviewed, but it has leaked out that the object of his visit was in regard to a projected increase in the fortifications at Esquimalt, with more than double the present capacity. Capt. Collister has also said that an island in the Pacific, near Honolulu is to be seized by Britain for a coaling station. Considerable work is already being done at Esquimalt, and it is known that the department is obtaining much more ground area by purchase from present offers.

Supplies for the Yukon Delayed.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 26.—The receiver of the Boston & Alaska Transportation Company, which company had the contract for transporting the Government military and police supplies to the Yukon, has prepared a statement of the affairs of the company.

Receiver Carroll said that he thought the business affairs of the company would be straightened out in from sixty to ninety days. The delay at St. Michael has caused delay in delivering the Dominion Government supplies and, therefore, the company has not yet received payment from the Canadian authorities.

Attempted to Commit Suicide.

Hamilton, Aug. 26.—George Bevis, the 17-year-old son of William Bevis, attempted to take his own life by means of strychnine yesterday afternoon. Bevis had been employed as delivery boy for Grafton & Co., but on account of being found short in his accounts he was discharged. The disgrace was keenly felt by the boy, although his father had undertaken to return the money, and he made up his mind to commit suicide. Dr. Baugh responded and brought the boy out of the shadowy valley.

The Supreme Foresters.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—For the next week the I.O.F. will have the freedom of this city. At the Temple building Mayor Shaw welcomed the delegates on behalf of the city. The Supreme Chief replied for the Order, in which he gave a short sketch of its growth and present standing. After reports were received from other officers, the Supreme Court adjourned. In the evening the city treated the delegates to a moonlight on the lake.

Tapped the Water Pipes.

Stouffville, Ont., Aug. 26.—Mr. Foote, farmer who lives on the 9th concession of Whitchurch, was last evening fined $5 and costs or 20 days by Magistrates Dougherty and Johnston for illegally tapping the pipes of the Stouffville waterworks system. He will appeal.

Barn Struck by Lightning.

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 26.—During a thunderstorm yesterday lightning struck the barns of John McDougall, near Eamers' Corners, and they were burned down. The entire season's crop was also destroyed. Barns insured for $875.

The London & Port Stanley Railway.

Toronto, Aug. 26.—The statement that the London & Port Stanley Railroad has been purchased by the owners of the Lake Erie & Detroit River Railway is not correct. An official of the latter road yesterday gave an explanation of how the story originated. The Port Stanley Road has been under lease to the L. E. & D. R. for about six years, the lease being for a term of 21 years, and the Walkers, the owners of the L. E. & D. R., have thus the management of the Port Stanley Road. The latter is under the ownership of a joint stock company, of which the City of London has the controlling interest. It has not been sold nor has any change been made in the management.

They Ate Ice Cream and Died.

Middletown, N.Y., Aug. 26.—Three deaths have so far resulted from the eating of poisonous ice cream at Greenfield. The ice cream was flavored with lemon extract purchased from a traveling salesman a few days ago. A score of others are sick, and more fatalities are expected.

Is This Spy a Canadian?

Peterboro, Aug. 26.—Mr. John Lang, M.P., is interesting himself in the case of the man Elmhirst, who is said to be arrested in the United States and is to be court-martialed as a Spanish spy, as it is feared that there is little doubt but that Elmhirst is the son of Mr. Philip Elmhirst of Otonabee. Mr. Lang is communicating with Ottawa to have the authorities there make enquiries into the case with a view to interfering in the young man's behalf.

Big Price for Apple Orchard.

Kingston, Aug. 26.—Ira Chadsey, Wellington, the owner of the "Orchard of Eden," has sold his apple crop for $3,000 and with no deductions for commissions. The next day the buyers were offered $300 advance for their bargain. They refused the offer, wanting $4,000 for the fruit. The price is considered large, though it is understood that apples are scarce.

SHALL WE OR SHALL WE NOT?

The Bonus Question Thoroughly Discussed.

Able Speeches Pro and Con—The Feeling of the Meeting with the Antis—Ald. Starling's Bitter Speech—The Mayor's Great Effort—Will Mr. Mitchell Give Better Terms?

Although the defeat of the by-law to grant aid to Frank A. Mitchell for the purpose of establishing rolling mills in this city is regarded as a certainty, the ratepayers manifested their desire to hear the matter thoroughly discussed by turning out in large numbers to attend the public meeting called by Mayor Johnson for that purpose. The City Hall was comfortably filled by a representative audience. The speeches were all of a high order. The destructive criticism of ex-Mayor Wallbridge, ex-Mayor Diamond, ex-Mayor Tickell, Mr. Thomas Ritchie and others was most effective and seemed to please the audience. Able speeches in defence of the by-law were delivered by Ald. Bogart, Ald. Falkiner, Mr. Henry Pringle and others. The Mayor's closing address in favor of the by-law was one of the most logical, perspicuous and eloquent appeals ever heard in this city, and His Worship sustained his reputation as one of the finest platform speakers upon financial topics in the Dominion of Canada.

Upon the platform with His Worship were the following gentlemen: Aldermen Petty, Bogart, Denmark, Wallace, Falkiner, Chisholm, Grills, Panter, Ashley; John G. Frost, President of the Board of Trade; ex-Mayor Tickell; ex-Mayor Wallbridge; ex-Mayor Diamond; ex-Ald Petrie; ex-Ald. Alford; ex-Ald. Taylor; ex-Ald. Collins; ex-Ald Gordon; Thos. Ritchie; D. V. Sinclair.

The Mayor in opening expressed his pleasure at seeing such a large audience present on the occasion, which he reminded them was one of the most important in the history of the city. He hoped there would be a full, free and intelligent discussion and that a spirit of fair play would prevail. He read a letter he had received from S. S. Lazier, who was unable to be present, in which the writer expressed himself as very strongly in favor of the by-law on the grounds of the splendid reputation which the Mitchells bears and of the importance of securing manufacturing industries and thus building up the credit of the city.

On motion of ex-Mayor Tickell, it was decided that the speakers be limited to fifteen minutes each and that those opposing and those supporting the by-law should speak alternately.

Ald. Bogart was the first speaker. He gave a history of the negotiations with Mr. Mitchell, in the course of which he stated that Mr. Mitchell first asked for $70,000 bonus, but finally offered to compromise at $50,000. Everything possible had been done to get the best bargain possible for the city; they would willingly have secured further concessions, but Mr. Mitchell would accept nothing less. He pointed out that in case of fire the city could notify the insurance companies not to pay insurance and that there was no danger of Mitchell pocketing the insurance, in case the works were burned, and leaving the city in the hole. The fact that Mr. Mitchell was giving his bond for $50,000, that the contract would be faithfully carried out on his part was dwelt upon. Belleville had been trying for years to induce industries to locate here, she needed them, this was the first good offer we had received and we should accept it. If the rolling mills came other industries would follow them here. (applause).

Ex-Mayor Wallbridge, who was next called upon, desired first to ask the Mayor if Mr. Mitchell had either verbally, or by writing asked him to withdraw the by-law.

The Mayor said that a party had informed him just an hour before that Mr. Mitchell, if he thought that the feeling of the people was manifestedly against the by-law, would not humiliate himself by allowing it to go the people.

Ex-Mayor Wallbridge said the reason he asked was because of the fact that in conversation with Mr. W. P. Hudson, ex-M.P.P., to-day, Thos. Lazier stated that he was authorized to withdraw the by-law if there was no chance of it being accepted, and asked if it would not be better to withdraw it and submit other and better terms for the city?

The Mayor said that Mr Lazier was his informant; that he had no direct communication on the subject from Frank Mitchell and that he had heard nothing of a proposal to offer better terms.

Ex-Mayor Wallbridge, proceeding, said that in his opinion the bargain was all right on the part of Mr. Mitchell, but all wrong on the side of the city. There would be no fair return to the city for the large sum it was proposed to give. Suppose they employ 40 men on an average at an average rate of $1.50 per day, running nine months in the year it would only amount to $14,500 per year for five years, which was the length of time they were bound to operate the works. The extra profits to the merchants of the city by reason of this employment of men would probable not amount to over $3,000 per year. Several clauses of the agreement were very objectionable, particularly the fifth, which gave Mitchell the option of turning over his second hand plant to the city. The amount was excessive in comparison to what other cities were paying for larger industries, Lachine being instanced. If Mitchell were given a bonus of $25,000, payable in yearly installments he would not oppose it. (prolonged applause.)

Ald Starling was called upon but deferred his remarks until later in the evening.

Ex-Mayor Tickell followed in opposition to the by-law. He deprecated any discussion as to Mr. Mitchell's character on financial standing—that was not disputed—they should discuss the agreement and it only. Mr. Mitchell had said to him in T. S. Carman's office, "I'm not looking for a bonus, I'm looking for a location." He had also stated to Mr. Lewis, the hardware man, that he did not ask for any bonus. But after the civic deputation visited Norwich "a change came o'er the spirit of his dreams." Mitchell gave no adequate security to the city, the fifth section giving him a loop hole to escape. Suppose he did employ 50 men, we have a factory to-day in the city employing over that number,—W. W. Chown's. We wouldn't notice 50 men in the city. He read a letter from a Hamilton gentleman stating that plenty of American rolling mill plants could be bought at ½c a lb. $10,000 would be a reasonable bonus for Belleville to give. Mr. Mitchell proposed to bring here a second hand plant, which had failed to prove profitable at Norwich, try his luck here, and if unsuccessful hand us over the plant.

During ex-Mayor Tickell's excellent address it became apparent that the sentiment of the audience was overwhelmingly against the by-law every point made by the anti-bonus speakers being loudly applauded.

Ex-Mayor Diamond followed with a vigorous speech in opposition to the project. He dissected clauses four, five and eight of the agreement and pointed out that they were framed altogether in Mr. Mitchell's interest. Several years ago Belleville was in negotiation with a company which offered to come for $20,000 and to employ 150 men. He condemned the agreement in toto as being one into which no level-headed bussiness man would enter.

John G. Frost, President of the Board of Trade, made a strong plea for the passage of the by-law. He thought it was a good bargain for both parties and several of the city's leading lawyers had declared that the risk was fairly distributed. It would cost Mr. Mitchell $65,000 to set up his works here, so he was evidently no bonus-hunter.

Mr. Thos. Ritchie, being called upon, spoke strongly against the by-law. If the Customs Department had agreed to estimate the duty upon the plant on the basis that the value was $12,000, when, if the deputation were to be believed, it was worth more, then the Customs Department deserved censure, and he hoped that in such an event Sir Mackenzie Bowell would make it hot for them. He believed the proposal to give $55,000 to an industry which would only employ 40 men was preposterous. He desired to do all he could for the working man, but he thought that the passage of the by-law would eventually mean loss to the city.

Henry Pringle made a moderate speech in favor of the by-law. He did not like some clauses of the agreement, but felt that heroic measures were necessary. He would rather spend ten years in good, hard work than hang around and rust around and rot around for 20 years. Something or Belleville's future would be a dark one.

Ald. Wallace spoke briefly. He thought that ex-Mayor Tickell was mistaken in regard to Mitchell saying he did not wish a bonus.

Ex-Ald. Taylor opposed the by-law in a strong speech, in which he pointed out that Peterboro had secured a ten times larger industry by a bonus of the same amount.

Ald. Starling then followed in a speech, abounding in personalities. He first turned upon ex-Mayor Wallbridge, claimed that he had displayed incompetency as chairman of the Fire Committee, that he had allowed a quarry to be seized for taxes etc. etc. Ex-Ald. Diamond was then assailed, but that gentleman proved to be able to take care of himself and he had the audience with him. Ald. Starling wound up with a fling at Mr. John Bell.

Ex-Ald. Alford supported the by-law, something must be done for Belleville. He thought however, that the by-law should be adjourned and an effort should be made to induce Mr. Mitchell to make a better offer.

Ald. Falkiner gave a history of the early part of the negotiations, when through his instrumentality Mr. Mitchell came to the city. He made an eloquent appeal for the passage of the by-law, on the ground of the benefit it would be the city.

Col. W. N. Ponton read the report of the Cook-Thompson mine for June, showing that 1,475,000 lbs. of iron ore had been shipped to Hamilton to the smelting works, which were in intimate connection with the rolling mills. All this would come to Belleville owing to the difference in the freight, if we had the mills.

The Mayor then delivered an address, full of logic and eloquence. He referred to the natural and artificial beauties of Belleville, and pointed out that wealth and population were needed to make it prosperous. Now, when the North West was being opened up, was the time for the establishment of industries, and now was the time for Belleville to decide whether she was going to be in it. He gave a succinct review of the negotiations, particularly the trip to Norwich, dwelling upon the enterprise of the Mitchells and the capital they commanded. Pointed out that the favorable trade conditions was the reason for them being desirous of coming to Canada. Pointed out that it only meant an additional 17 mills to our taxation or only 55c per year on an assessment of $500. He thought that other industries would follow the rolling mills and that the American capital which the Mitchells command would flow in here and would go to develop our north country.

At the conclusion of the Mayor's address Ald. Falkiner moved, seconded by ex-Ald. Campion and supported by Mr. D. V. Sinclair, that the Mayor be asked to postpone the by-law until four weeks from Tuesday next and that in the meantime a committee be appointed to negotiate with Mr. Mitchell, to try and secure better terms.—Carried unanimously.

The Mayor did not think Mr. Mitchell would make another offer, but would communicate with him, If Mr. Mitchell refuses to discuss any other proposal, the by-law will be submitted on Tuesday, August 30th. If he agrees to enter into further negotiations, the vote will be postponed.

Two Crowded Audiences Entertained.

Admiral Dewey Receiving Visitors--The Baby Lions--Some of the Features of the Big Show.

(Toronto Globe.)

Toronto turned out in force for the Walter L. Main show yesterday afternoon and evening at the old baseball grounds. Both performances were exceedingly well attended, the big tent having all it could seat comfortably, and all were highly satisfied with the show that was given. "Admiral Dewey," the baby elephant, was of course the chief attraction, and he proved a very self-possessed young thing, bearing his honors unblushingly. He is attening strictly to his education and is affably ready to accommodate candies or peanuts whose owners desire to part with them. He is also vigorously learning the old backward and forward swaying motion which the big beasts exhibit when chained up for the delight of the public. It is impressive to see the shoulders of a ten foot elephant rocking backwards and forwards over one's head, and it is instructive to watch a diminutive toy elephant busily utilizing an off moment to perfect the motion. There is also a family of lion cubs, three little beasts who are very much cat and who converse with their mother in tones uncommonly suggestive of the unnecessary midnight tom. The said mother is firm in her assertion of parental authority and appears to have established good discipline in her four-wheeled home. The rest of the menagerie is decidedly fair and proved as attractive as of old to the crowd, which thronged to watch internal dissensions make the monkey cage unhappy, to observe the ostriches try to eat buttons off spectaters'clothing, to experience a fearfull joy in seeing the baboon clutch lovingly at the casual small boy and to listen half apprehensively to the bad language the lions used to each other when feeding time came. The strong point of the circus apart from its quadruped kindergarton is the main show. The triple performance is undoubtedly exceedingly well done. The acts are good and are put very well. A good deal of praise may be given to the clown contingent, which is composed of fifteen very clever performers and a lady clown. Their burlesque of Sousa's band was exceedingly good. The menagerie participates of course, "Bruntus," the riding lion; "Canandaigua," the riding pony, and "Columbia" and "Lizzie," the performing elephants, winning plaudits. The riding was good, among the esquestrans being Joseph Berris, Wm. Walton, Tony Lowrande, James McElory, Wm. Henchey H. Driscoll, Francis St. John, Robert Abrams, Josie Lowande, Goldie Miller, Mrs. Burk, Maud Heyward, Amy Picard and Mme. Wrentz. The usual acrobatic feats were put on, special mention being due the Eddy and Wrentz families. The Delameads' scientific boxing was also good. The races, which brought the performance to a conclusion, were well arranged and smartly run off and proved very taking.

Boys' School Clothing.

Somehow or other that boy of yours creeps into our minds oftener than we intend. Possibly the anticipation of future business. Anyway, the gatherings for his wearing are the brightest thoughts in our store. Small wonder we turn to them so often. Is he fixed for school? BY MOONLIGHT.

The Merritt Carries a Good Crowd to Deseronto Last Night.

Despite the fact that it was a trifle chilly, the moonlight excursion to Deseronto held in aid of the Holloway st. Parsonage fund, was very well attended. First class music was provided by the combined orchestras of the Tabernacle Sunday School and Mr. O'Flynn's Bible class. When Deseronto was reached the excursionists had the pleasure of listening to the Deseronto band, who were giving an open air concert. The only regrettable feature of the excursion was the presence of bicycle thieves, three bicycles being robbed of their handle bars and other accessories.

STOLE AT THE FIRE.

A Madoc Man Committed on the Charge of Looting Stores.

Two or three prominent gentlemen, of Madoc, this week notified County Crown Attorney Anderson that they suspected there had been a large amount of stealing of goods during the fire. Mr. Anderson sent Constable Johnson out to investigate. Arriving on the scene that officer interviewed a number of the merchants and also High Constable Huff, with the result that he swore out information against Jos. Jackson before A. F. Wood, J.P.

It was brought out in evidence that he was caught carrying away five overcoats, a blanket and a pair of boots. The party who discovered him forced him to return them to the store on Elgin st., from which he had taken them. Two ladies happening to go into the store found a man trying on a pair of boots. They had a courage to order him out and took charge of the premises until some men came. Jackson was committed for trial and was brought to the gaol here last night.

GRATEFUL VICTORIA PARENTS.

At 52 Princess-avenue, Victoria, B. C., there is a home much happier than it has been for years. The eldest child Johnnie, has been a constant sufferer from asthma almost since his birth, and the grateful parents are almost pleased to tell the story of their child's long despaired of recovery. Mr. James Kirkland, the father, writes as follows: Our boy, who is just nine years of age, has been troubled with asthma almost since his birth, which has been continually growing worse in spite of all the medical attendance we could procure. Our doctor bills have been large every year, neither my wife nor myself have had a full night's sleep for the last two years of his trouble, on account of having had to poultice him to keep him from choking. At last we heard of a neighbor who had been cured by Dr. Clarke's Kola Compound, and resolved to try it, with the result that to-day our child is completely cured, not having had an attack since taking the second bottle, almost a year ago. He has grown very fast since and is altogether a very different looking boy. We feel very grateful to Dr. Clarke for this wonderful remedy, as it has saved our child's life." Certified correct by Messrs. Hall and Co., druggists, Victoria, B. C. Clarke's Kola Compound is the only positive and permanent cure for asthma in all stages. Three bottles absolutely guaranteed to cure. Sold by all druggists. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. BLANCO'S FAREWELL TO CUBA

Proclamation Advises Spaniards to Appeal to Uncle Sam.

The Cubans, He Says, Will Soon Repent, and When They Encounter Difficulties in Government They Will Go to the Spaniards for Help—Meanwhile the United States Will Protect the Lives of Spaniards—Spent $111,000,000.

Havana, Aug. 27.—General Blanco has issued the following proclamation to the people of Havana:

"We have been vanquished and, without consideration of our birthplace, will be to-morrow as strangers in this country and as emigrants to this portion of the earth, which, until to-day and probably a few weeks more, is part of our Spanish fatherland.

"As strangers and as the vanquished, I counsel you, the people of Cuba, whose hearts are Spanish and who deeply feel the disgrace of their country, not to dispute any of the benefits which the triumph gives to the victors.

"It is our obligation now to be quiet; not to take any part in the different manifestations of a local political nature and even to decline participation in such affairs, even if the right of franchise be offered us.

"But you have one duty, which should be a duty of love; that is to undertake the task of reconstruction of all your interests, and it is your duty also to ask for, even appeal, if it becomes necessary from your position as the vanquished, to the victorious for a guarantee of your personal safety and the protection of your proper interests.

Will Be Protected by the U. S.

"If you do as I counsel you the United States will take care of your lives and your interests. My mission here soon will be finished, as will the sovereignty of Spain, and anyone who feels that with honor to himself he may call himself a Spaniard, will have to register his name at the Spanish consulate, which will be established in this city.

"I am convinced that there will be no further disputes between the Cubans and the Spaniards in this island, for it is my belief that as soon as the Cubans begin to govern here they will find out how useful are the Spaniards to them, and finally will concede to them the place they deserve in the government of the island. Your compatriot,

"RAMON BLANCO."

Shafter Goes Home.

Santiago de Cuba, Aug. 27.—General Shafter and his staff sailed yesterday afternoon on the United States transport Mexico. His departure was not marked by special incident. On arriving at Montauk Point he will go with Major Miley to Washington to meet President McKinley and Secretary Alger, afterwards proceeding to San Francisco.

IT FORCED THE WAR.

States Rushed With Childish Precipitancy Into It.

Ashfield, Ind., Aug. 27.—At the twentieth dinner in aid of Sanderson Academy here last evening, Prof. Charles Elliott Norton of Harvard University, said in speaking of the war with Spain:

"Flinging common sense and moral principle alike to the winds, under the influence of historical emotion, without decent deliberation, without due preparation, the representatives of the people rushed with childish precipitancy into war, and, what is worse, forced war upon a weak nation which, whatever it had done to provoke it, showed itself finally ready to make every reasonable effort to avert it, and to meet every legitimate demand of the United States."

SPENT $111,000,000.

This Is the Cost of the War to the Spanish People.

Rioting at Manila.

Manila, Aug. 27.—There has been a very serious clash at Cavite between United States soldiers and the insurgents, the rioting resulting in the killing of one soldier and the serious wounding of another. George Hudson, a member of the Utah battery, got into a dispute with a native shopkeeper. Fearing trouble, he fired his revolver in the air to attract the attention of some of his fellow-soldiers. A great crowd of natives ran to the scene of the disturbance and at once began firing their revolvers, killing Hudson and seriously wounding Corporal William Anderson of the same battery, who had hurried to the assistance of Hudson. The disaffection is spreading to the outlying districts.

Open Door to the Lakes.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—The Transportation Committee of the Board of Trade has determined to ask the directory to name a committee of three to confer with the Boards of Trade at Minneapolis, Duluth, Milwaukee and other northwestern points, for concerted action before the Anglo-American convention at Quebec, to secure the abolition of Welland canal tolls. It is expected a strong delegation will be sent to Quebec to work for "an open door" to the lakes.

9-HOUR WORK DAY.

The United Typothetae of America Decides Against It for the Present—A Committee Appointed.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 27.—After struggling through three long executive sessions, during which the nine-hour day was the subject of warm debate, the United Typothetae of America yesterday disposed of the question for the present at least by the passage of the following resolution:

"Whereas, the question of establishing a nine-hour work day in the printing business was brought to the attention of the convention by commissioners appointed by the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union and the International Typographical Union, and, whereas, this convention has given the question careful and earnest deliberation in all its bearings, therefore, be it

"Resolved, by the United Typothetae of America that this body does not deem it practicable at the present time to recommend its members any change in the hours of labor which constitute a day's work.

"Resolved, that a committee of five be appointed by the convention to whom shall be referred the question what measure, if any, can be adopted by the employing printers which will make a shorter work day practicable without endangering undue loss upon the employers, and that this committee be authorized to confer with the representatives of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union and International Typographical Union and such other similar organizations as it may deem proper."

EXHIBIT FROM GUELPH.

Ontario Agricultural College to Be Represented at the Fair.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—For some time past the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph has not been represented at the Toronto Exhibition. This year, however, the authorities of the institution have decided to send down a conquering host of exhibits. Dr Mills, president of the college, has written to Mr. Hodgson, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, that he will send three or four men to the Fair to take charge of the exhibits. One of the features of the display will be a miniature dairying plant in operation.

Walked in His Sleep.

St. Thomas, Aug. 27.—Mr. Lee Smith, a drover, in charge of fifteen cars of cattle en route, via M.C.R. to Buffalo, had a most miraculous escape from death. Mr. Smith who, by the way, is a somnambulist, was sleeping in the caboose, and when the train was a mile this side of Mull he got up and walked out of the door of the way car. The train was running at a rate of 35 miles an hour at the time. Strange to say Mr. Smith escaped injury, excepting that his hands were slightly cut and scratched. The fall awakened him, and he walked down the track to Ridgetown and took a train for St. Thomas. In the meantime the section men had been called out and made a careful but unsuccessful search of the tracks for the corpse.

A Boarding Mistress Gets Even.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Back in the spring two young men, who gave their names as Woodbridge, "did up" Mrs. Griffiths, a Division street boarding mistress. Now she has "done" them up to the Queen's taste in return. They applied for board at her new house on Simcoe street and she had them arrested. They turned out to be Fred. and Charles Ranney, sons of Dr. Ranney of Georgetown, and Magistrate Kingsford sent them to the Central Prison for six months. They will appeal.

Are We to Put Up With Slow Boats?

Montreal, Aug. 27.—The news of the Dominion Government's dickering with the Allan or Dominion Lines, or both, for a 17 knot service between Canada and Britain, is confirmed. The negotiations are certainly going ahead on the basis of $250,000 per annum, and it looks as if Canada would have to put up with slow boats for years to come.

The Premier's Brother Dead,

Montreal, Aug. 27.—News has just been received here of the death at Sir Wilfrid Laurier's residence at Arthabaskaville, of Dr. Ubald Laurier, the Premier's brother. He has been ill for some time, and only recently returned from a trip to California taken for his health.

WHEAT STRONGER.

This Is Owing to the Persistent Assertions That Western Farmers Will Hold for a Raise—Prices.

Friday Evening, Aug. 26.

Strong cash markets, firm cables from Liverpool and Paris and persistent assertions that western farmers will hold their wheat for higher prices continued to strengthen the Chicago wheat market this morning, and this and next month's deliveries of wheat rose about 1c per bushel above yesterday's close. The market broke late on heavy selling by a big St. Louis dealer. At the close the September and December options were ¼c to ⅜c respectively below the previous final figures.

Liverpool markets firmed up to the extent of ⅛d per cental to-day. Parisian markets were much stronger. Wheat advanced 10 to 65 centimes and flour 40 centimes to over 2 francs. The big gain was in this month's deliveries.

SIR CASIMIR AT REST.

Remains Interred in the Family Vault—A Very Quiet Funeral.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—The funeral of Col. Sir Casimir Gzowski took place from "The Hall," Bathurst street, yesterday at eleven o'clock. The funeral was strictly private and consequently small, but many of the eminent men of the city were in attendance. There was but a very modest display of flowers. Rev. G. A. Kuhring, rector of the Church of Ascension, conducted the burial services.

The remains lay inclosed in a casket in the library in the east wing of the family residence. The remains were placed in the family burial vault.

Among those present were: Lieut. Governor Sir Oliver Mowat, Sir George A. Kirkpatrick, Sir A. T. Galt, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Chief Justice Haggarty, Postmaster T. C. Patteson, Col. Otter, Col. Sweeny, Col. George T. Denison, Hon. George Allan, Dr. Goldwin Smith, Hon. Frank Smith, Engineer Jennings, W. H. E. Massey, Donald McKay, H. P. Dwight, J. W. Langmuir, J. Calls Meagher a Smuggler.

Port Huron, Aug 27.—Regarding the arrest of Thomas Meagher of Port Lambton, Ont., Collector Avery says: Deputy Avery, with his assistant, succeeded in getting into Meagher's boat when he was 100 feet from the American shore. Meagher resisted arrest, and before he was entirely overcome he was in Canadian waters. He was then handcuffed and himself and boat brought back to the American side. Meagher will be prosecuted on a charge of smuggling.

A large size fine lawn handkerchief for gentlemen. The kind you always pay 10 cts. for. We are making a special run on these, and are selling 6 for... 25c

A large size red cotton handkerchief. In fact we offer you the choice of several different sizes. Very cheap, 6 for 25c

HATS FOR 75C.

WORTH at least $1 25

We wish to draw your attention to a big assorted lot of Fedora hats, all sizes, colors grey, brown and black. These goods have been put out to clear. They sold at $1.25 and $1.50. You may have your choice for 75 cts. This is an opportunity to get a nice hat at a very nominal figure.

Waterproof Coats.

The man who is not in possession of a good Mackintosh does not know what a comfort it is on a rainy cold day. The fall fairs will soon be on and you will be running around more or less. We combine a light overcoat and a waterproof.

A very special line of English waterproof coats, either single or double breasted, several different shades, blue, light grey and dark grey, all well trimmed and every seam sewn. This coat is warranted not to go hard. Our price $6

We can furnish you with coats at $4, $5, $6, $7, $8, $10, $12 and $15. The largest variety in Belleville to select from.

MEN'S SUITS.

"Honest trading needs no taffy." Ours is no "soft soap" establishment. We do not talk customers into buying, we do not have to. The clothing we sell talks, and customers buy it on their own sound judgment. You, who know us, know that we make no promises without producing the proof.

A new line of sack suits for fall, made of pure wool, a very pretty brown and green mixture. These suits are made by Sanford and every coat bears the label, which is in itself sufficient guarantee. They are perfect fitting, well trimmed and made. Just such suits are being offered at $10 elsewhere. We know they are worth $10 all right in the ordinary store, but our prices are always the lowest. We offer you this extra special suit at only $8

British Columbia Elections at Once.

Vancouver, Aug. 27.—A new election is to take place forthwith, and both Conservatives and Liberals are hustling to complete organization for the fray. The election will be on straight party lines, as applied to Dominion politics, it is said.

Found Him Hanging.

Consecon, Ont., Aug. 27.—George Carnrite, living a few miles from this place, committed suicide yesterday by hanging himself to a tree in the woods. He was 48 years old and leaves a widow and three children.

Dead Men Tell no Tales

But living women and hungry children do. They tell a sad tale sometimes, that brings the terrible charge of carelessness and neglect to provide, against the husband and father whom the hand of Death has stricken. What a little thing a 5 cent piece is, yet 5c. a day will provide $2,000 Insurance for a man of average age in the CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Twenty years ago there was some excuse for those who left their family unprotected, to-day there is absolutely none. The only question is safety, and in this the Canadian Order of Foresters easily leads. It has a larger Surplus per head, and still larger for each $1,000 of a risk carried, and could divide up and pay back, if so desired, more money per member than any other Society of the kind in Canada. Surplus per member, $21.82; per $1,000.00 of Insurance, $10.96.

The Death Rate of the Canadian Order of Foresters last year was lower than that of any of its competitors, being only 5.44 in the 1,000.

The Interest on the Insurance Surplus paid over 20 Death Claims of a $1,000 each last year.

THEY'LL HAVE MONEY, TOO.

Ontario Will Have Rolled in $50,000 for the Plebiscite Before Polling Day—Winnipeg Raises $2,600.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Since the announcement that the prohibitionists were sorely in need of money, contributions have poured into Secretary Spence's office. Before polling day, the officials believe that Ontario will have rolled up $50,000 in aid of the temperance cause. Rev. W. R. Harvey, in organizing Northern Alberta in the temperance cause, has covered 416 miles. So well have Toronto people contributed towards the campaign fund, that the Alliance Executive has decided to present the local union with the half million pamphlets being distributed here.

On Wednesday evening last Cornwall Temperance workers held a rousing meeting in that town. Winnipeg has raised a plebiscite campaign fund, to which $2,600 has already been subscribed.

CONFLAGRATION AT ST. THOMAS.

Still's Handle Works and the Pipe Foundry Burned to the Ground.

St. Thomas, Ont., Aug. 27.—The greatest conflagration that has visited this city in many years occurred last night. Two of the largest manufacturing establishments in this town were reduced to ashes. The fire started in J. H. Still's handle factory, and it had such a good start that the fire brigade could do nothing except save one of the warehouses. The flames crossed the L.E. & D.R.R. tracks, igniting the St. Thomas Pipe & Foundry Company. This frame structure also burnt very quickly. Mr. Stills' factory employed 60 or 70 men. His loss is $50,000; insured for $9,700. The pipe foundry is valued at $10,000 or $12,000; insurance, none.

Fell 90 Feet to Death.

Cornwall, Ont., Aug. 27.—A sad fatality occurred on the New York & Ottawa bridge across the St. Lawrence River here yesterday, when William Macauley, an employe of the Phoenix Bridge Company, fell from the traveler, 90 feet high, into the river. He never came to the surface. He was a fine young man, about 30 years of age, and a native of Sioux City, Iowa.

The Peacemakers.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Whitelaw Reid has been selected as peace commissioner. The commission so far as made up is Secretary of State Day, Senator C. K. Davis of Minnesota, Senator William P. Frye of Maine, and Whitelaw Reid of New York.

A Canadian Extradited.

London, Aug. 27.—At the Bow Street Police Court yesterday, Sir John Bridge presiding, J. A. Theriault, charged with stealing $475 from the Department of Agriculture at Quebec was committed for extradition.

The Peace Convention.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—President McKinley has accepted the invitation to attend the public peace jubilee, to be held in Chicago in October. He will possibly be accompanied by Lyman J. Gage, Secretary of the Treasury, and John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy.

Smothered in the Hold.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Charles Wetter, a German sailor of the steamship Ferndene, fell into the hold of the vessel and was smothered to death.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

The sun shines for all, but the sleeping car porter does it for a quarter.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. The cause is generally disordered stomach, and a cure can be effected by using Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, containing Mandrake and Dandelion. Mr. Finlay Wark, Lysander, P.Q., writes: "I find Parmelee's Pills a first-class article for Bilious Headache.

Love and war go hand in hand. Even the din of battle has a sort of engagement ring.

The proprietors of Parmelee's Pills are constant receving letters similar to the following, which explains itself. Mr. John A. Beam, Waterloo, Ont., writes: "I never used any medicine that can equal Parmelee's Pills for dyspepsia or Liver and Kidney Complaints. The relief experienced after using them was wonderful." As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

THE LAST SHOT FIRED.

Royal Grenadiers of Toronto Capture the Gzowski Cup—Successful Meeting.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—The last shots of the four days' meeting of the O.R.A. were fired yesterday morning, and the military occupation of Long Branch is over for 1898. The "Gzowski Cup" was the last event on the card and excited the greatest interest. The competition was in skirmishing and volley firing, the ranges being 200 and 500 yards. The prizes were won as follows:

1, cup and $40—Royal Grenadiers, 295 points; 2, $30—1st P.W.R., Montreal, 294; 3, $25—13th Hamilton, 291; 4, $20—48th Highlanders, 265; 5, $15—Q.O.R., 226.

Lieut. McNeill, Q.O.R., and his able corps of statisticians, had the winners of the Nursery Aggregate posted and the list was largely scanned.

The entries during the meeting in the extra series have been 2,300, netting $805. All the riflemen declared that the meet of 1898 was the best in the history of the O.R.A.

SUPREME COURT I. O. F.

Admits the Ladies to the Order—The Companions First Meeting.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—The Supreme Court, I.O.F., yesterday adopted a report admitting women into the order by a vote of 133 to 16. There was a warm discussion on the report led by Judge Fitzgerald of Niagara Falls, who voiced the thoughts of the opposition in a sentence, saying that while their admission might increase the numbers of the order it would also increase the liabilities.

The afternoon session discussed and passed the constitutional amendment providing for an increase in the assessment rates.

After some further routine business, the Court adjourned to meet at Foresters' Island Park, Deseronto, to day, whither the whole party goes by special train.

Companions' First Meeting.

The first official meeting of the Lady Companions as full-fledged members of the I.O.F., was held in the evening. There were present over 200 Companions from many parts of the American continent, and with them many members of the Supreme Court. The Supreme Chief Ranger addressed them.

The Crow's Nest Pass.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Mr. R. C. Clute, Q.C., who is at the head of the Royal Commission appointed to investigate the charges against the contractors of the Crow's Nest Pass Railway, says that some days will elapse before any of the evidence will be forthcoming. There are still some Montreal and Toronto witnesses to be heard, and then the writs will have to be put into shape by the stenographer. The commissioner has the evidence of witnesses taken along the line of the C.P.R.

Twenty-two thousand dollars worth of bacon was shipped over the Grand Trunk Friday to Montreal for exportation, and also $3,000 of agricultural implements for Australia.

Charles Crane, son of Rev. Mr. Crane, Methodist minister at Athens, accidentally shot Henry McLaughlin, the 17-year-old son of William McLaughlin of the same place the other day.

Mrs. Amelia Johnston, widow of the late Alexander Johnston, M.P., has been granted a judgment against the estate of her late husband for $70,000, moneys loaned by her to him in his lifetime.

The steamer Macassa and the schooner Ella Murton collided in the Burlington canal at the Beach Friday, and it will take $500 to repair them. The steamer was delayed 25 minutes on her trip to Toronto.

Mrs. Charles Grant of Erin was burning some old papers and poured some coal oil on the rubbish. In a moment there was an explosion and Mrs. Grant's face was severely burned and her arms so badly injured that part of the flesh fell off.

The Rate War.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—A prominent C.P.R. official stated yesterday that the rate war was not actually settled, but that it soon would be.

THE SITUATION NOW ACUTE.

John Bull Puts His Foot Down in the Far East.

Sir Claude Macdonald Intimates That Any Failure by China to Observe Great Britain's Wishes Will Be Accepted as a Cause for War—The Fleet Mobilized at Wei Hai Wei as a Demonstration Solely Against China.

London, Aug. 27.—The Pekin correspondent of the Daily Mail says:

"The situation has suddenly become acute. The relations between the Tsung Li Yamen and Sir Claude MacDonald, the British Minister, are strained to the point of rupture. Sir Claude MacDonald has intimated that any failure by China to observe Great Britain's wishes will be accepted as a casus belli.

"In support of Sir Claude Macdonald, the fleet has been concentrated at Wei Hai Wei and Hankow, and all the warships under 5,000 tons have been mobilized in the Yang Tse River. The naval demonstration is solely directed against China, as it is semi-officially stated that the existing relations with Russia are cordial. Lord Salisbury has abandoned the policy of the open door, substituting for it a policy of spheres of influence.

"Diplomatic conferences have been of constant occurrence within the last few days. Lord Salisbury insists upon the recognition by the other powers interested in China of the boundaries of Great Britain's sphere of influence. In the same instrument whereby Great Britain recognizes Russia's position in Manchuri, Russia is required to acknowledge the paramouncy of England in the Yang Tse Valley and guarantee that our territorial requirements shall be permanently respected.

"Great Britain is willing to drop her protest in respect to the New Chwang Railway, but Russia is required to cancel her agreement with China that the country having the largest financial interest should arbitrate in disputes connected with the Pekin-Hankow Railway.

"The negotiations are confined to Pekin."

Pavloff Has Been Stifled.

The Times' correspondent says that M. Pavloff, Russian Charge d'Affaires in China, has been appointed Russian Minister to Corea. The appointment of M. Pavloff as Russian Minister to Corea would seem to indicate better relations between England and Russia, since Pavloff has been the active agent on all Russia's advances in China.

THE CLAYTON-BULWER TREATY.

The London Spectator Strongly Urges Its Abolition.

London, Aug. 27.—The Spectator this morning, in arguing strongly for the abolition of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, says: "A movement must soon take place in America which will inevitably cause the United States to trip up against the treaty and make a vehement demand for its abrogation. That demand, unless it were properly understood and explained beforehand, might seem here unfair and unfriendly."

The Spectator suggests that England will not wait for America to ask for the abrogation of the treaty, but will arrange a treaty, by which America and England will mutually bind themselves to allow no power save the United States to make a canal across the Isthmus of Panama, the United States to keep it open on equal terms to all nations at peace with the United States.

The paper says: "If the diplomats must have a quid pro quo there are a dozen Canadian points which might be set against the tearing up of the treaty."

Nicety of Etiquette.

A true gentleman usually feels that it is essential to be courteous to the least as to the greatest, but etiquette does not always recognize this. The famous Talleyrand is reported to have used a graduation of politeness in asking his guests to take beef at a dinner party that he gave. The grade ran thus:

To Prince of the blood—May I have the honor of sending your Royal Highness a little beef?

To a Duke—Monseigneur, permit me to send you a little beef.

To a Marquis—Marquis, may I send you a little beef?

To a Viscount—Viscount, pray have a little beef.

To a Baron—Baron, do you take beef?

To an untitled gentleman—Monsieur, some beef.

To his private secretary—Beef.

But there was yet an inferior personage present, and to him Talleyrand uttered no word. He simply looked at him, and made an interrogative gesture with the carving-knife. But, if the meat were good, some of us would not trouble much how we were invited to it.—London Tit-Bits.

Japanese Fuel.

The dust of charcoal is gathered up and mixed with the chaff from wheat, barley, and other grains, and with chopped straw, in Japan. It is then moistened into a paste, rolled into balls about as big as a billiard ball, and makes excellent fuel.

An Always Ready Hat Brush.

Hat brushes are being made in Germany with spring handle attached to the back which, when opened out, serves to fix the brush in the top of the hat so as to be always at hand.

Even the healthiest constitution sometimes gets into a rut. Many people are weak and miserable because their systems have slipped off the smooth road-way of health and are ditching along through the mire of disease, which might be avoided altogether if some strong and friendly hand would only give them a lift.

Thousands of weak and debilitated men and women have found Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery the powerful and timely aid to set them upon the level road of perfect recovery. It creates health by making the digestion perfect and the liver-action regular and thorough.

It repairs wasted tissue and builds up solid healthy flesh and muscular power. It is palatable, and digestible by the weakest stomach.

In chronic coughs and lung diseases, it is far superior to nauseating "emulsions" or mere stimulating malt "extracts." Its good effects are real and permanent.

For nearly thirty years Dr. R. V. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., during which time this remarkable "Discovery" has wrought thousands of cures which seemed well-nigh miraculous. Some of the most interesting of these obstinate cases are fully described in one chapter of the great thousand-page illustrated book "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" by R. V. Pierce, M. D., which will be sent free for cost of customs and mailing only; 31 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps.

N. Gaddis, Esq., of No. 313 S. J. Street, Tacoma, Washington, writes: "I was taken ill in February, 1892, with headache and pain in my back. I called in a doctor and he came three times. He said I was bilious, but I kept getting worse. I took a cough so that I could only sleep when propped up in bed. My lungs hurt me and I got so poor that I was just skin and bone. I thought I was going to die. I tried a bottle of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it did me so much good that I tried another one and it made me strong and well. It saved

PRESIDENT AND EMPEROR.

Faure of France and Nicholas of Russia Exchange Telegrams.

President Says That He Is Still France's Faithful Interpreter, and That His Feeling Are the Same as a Year Ago, While the Czar Finds Peculiar Pleasure at This Time in Renewing an Expression of Unchanging Regard.

Paris, Aug. 27.—President Faure and Emperor Nicholas exchanged telegrams yesterday in honor of the first anniversary of M. Faure's visit to Russia.

President Faure's Gratitude.

The President's telegram to the Czar was in part as follows: "The declarations which were exchanged beneath the shadows of our flags in the roadstead of Cronstadt are memories so dear to us that I cannot let this anniversary pass without assuring your Majesty again of my very keen gratitude for the reception your Majesty gave the President of the Republic. Our sentiments have undergone no change. I am to-day, as I was then, a faithful interpreter of the French people, in renewing to your Majesty an expression of the ardent wish we entertain for your happiness, for that of the Imperial family and for the grandeur of Russia."

The Emperor's Reply.

Emperor Nicholas replied: "The Empress and myself are deeply touched by the thanks you have been so good as to express on the occasion of the anniversary of our visit on board the Pothua. We like to revert in our thoughts to those historic moments, the remembrance of which will never fade. It gives me peculiar pleasure to be able to renew at this time an expression of the unchanging and unceasing good wishes we entertain for you, Monsieur Le President, and for France, our friend."

BRITISH VICTORY.

Anglo-Egyptian Expedition Seizes an Important Island in Egypt.

Wady Hamed, Aug. 27.—Yesterday the gunboats with the Anglo-Egyptian expedition seized the island of Gib El Royan, opposite El Hajir, about 40 miles north of Omdurman, the capital of the Khalifa. The island will be used as an advance depot for stores.

Soudan Expedition Advances.

Wady Hamed, Aug. 27.—The Anglo-Egyptian forces began the advance yesterday, moving in five parallel columns at deploying distances. They were led by the Jaalin guides and by bands of pipers who were playing. It was an imposing spectacle.

The Dervish scouts are active, and it is reported that the Khalifa is preparing to make a stand at Kerreri, seven miles north of Omdurman, and will defend the Mahdi's tomb to the last.

CAGED ANIMALS BURNED.

A Serious Fire in Cross' Menagerie at Liverpool, Eng.

Liverpool, Aug. 27.—Fire occurred in Cross' menagerie in this city yesterday, resulting in heavy loss. The fire originated in the lion room. Five leopards, four lions, a tiger, a puma, a jaguar, twenty-eight prairie marmots and a black opossum were burned to death, all of the animals perished in their cages. Besides these two hyenas, a vulture, three leopards, four rare foxes, two Virginia owls and two eagles were suffocated.

A Big Colonizing Scheme.

Rome, Aug. 27.—A contract has been and the Government of Venezuela, under the terms of which the company will send 3,000 families of agriculturists to Venezuela in three years. The Venezuela Government promises to give each family fifteen acres of good land, and the association will provide houses, other buildings, animals and farm implements. After four years the houses will become the property of the colonists.

A Cunard Captain Dead.

Liverpool, Aug. 27.—William H. P. Hains, fleet captain of the Cunard line, died in this city yesterday. In his forty years' service with the Cunard line he had crossed the Atlantic more than 600 times.

Australia Supplying Manila.

Brisbane, Queensland, Aug. 27.—Three thousand tons of Queensland frozen meat, valued at £61,500, have been shipped from here to Manila on board the steamers Urnston Grange and Duke of Sutherland.

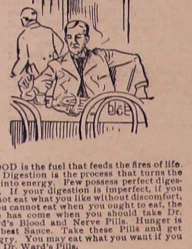

The Newmarket Hotel Trouble.

Newmarket, Aug. 27.—The five licensed hotelkeepers of this town indignantly deny that they got up a purse to the License Inspector or that they made a dead-set against the North American, and Chairman Cain of the License Board, and Inspector Hughes, deny all the allegations made against them for refusing a license to that hotel.

The Current Turned On.

Hamilton, Aug 27.—Power has been turned on by the Cataract Power Company. Last evening electricity flowed into the sub-station on Victoria avenue from the generating station at De Cew's Falls, 33 miles east of Hamilton. There will be a formal opening of the works next week.

CAN'T EAT.

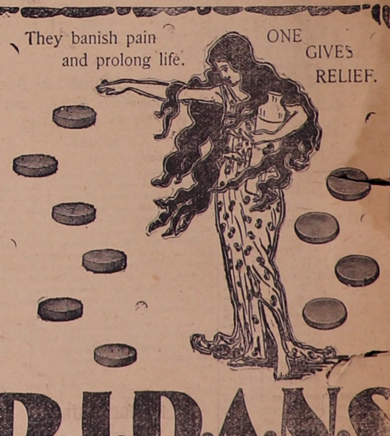

FOOD is the fuel that feeds the fires of life. Digestion is the process that turns the fuel into energy. Few possess perfect digestion. If your digestion is imperfect, if you cannot eat what you like without discomfort, if you cannot eat when you ought to eat, the time has come when you should take Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills. Hunger is the best Sauce. Take these Pills and get hungry. You may eat what you want if you take Dr. Ward's Pills.

WHAT THEIR MERITS ARE:

My system was entirely rejuvenated by the use of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I consider them a marvellous strength and nerve builder for dyspepsia. I was so sick and miserable that I seemed to have no life or energy left in me. I suffered so at times that I thought death would be better for me. I had tried Doctors and different kinds of medicines, but all failed to do me any good. I am in every way now a well woman, and have been for months. Before using these Pills I was so sick that I could not keep anything in my stomach. I was under the opinion that dyspepsia could not be cured, but now I am satisfied it can be cured, for I am able to eat like any healthy woman and feel better in every way. They have built me up also,—I now weigh several pounds more than I ever did before. In conclusion, I would advise every woman afflicted with poor digestion to give Dr. Ward's Pills a trial.

MRS. L. E. WATSON, Port Colborne, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto. Book of information free.

SOLDIER'S WILL IN A LETTER.

I Want Granny to Have Everything, He Wrote—Surrogate Puzzled.

Surrogate Jackson of Essex County, N. J., is undecided how to act on what is presented to him as the last will and testament of John E. Costello, a member of Battery B, Fifth Artillery, who died at Fort Thomas, Ky., a week ago. The document is merely a letter, in which Costello wrote, "I want granny to have everything."

Costello had neither brother nor sister and his parents are dead. For years he lived with Mrs. Catharine Green, his grandmother, whom he called "granny." He leaves some real estate and about $2,000 in bank.—New York Sun.

SUPPER ELSEWHERE.

How a Boastful Yank Was Taken Down.

It is said that a party of Americans were on an excursion steamer near Kingston a week or so ago, and were quite elated over the success of the American arms in the war against Spain. The amount of work done before breakfast by the American army and navy seemed to them to be the crowning part of the American side. Turning to an old Scotch-Canadian who was on the boat, one of the party said:—"Where we got done with Cuba and the Philippine Islands we'll come over to Canada some fine morning and capture it and take our breakfast in Canada." This was more than the Canadian could stand, and the reply was short and to the point when he said:—"You may come over and take your breakfast in Canada, but you'll take your supper in h——!" You could easily have heard the splash of the paddles of the steamer after that.—Chronicle.

U. S. JACK TARS

Indince a Great Reverence in Tim. of War in the Heart of a Canadian Woman Journalist.

Sunday morning, and the reading of the articles of war to the Jackies, who in clean white ducks lined up to hear them. Then there was a great rattling of swords as the officers had them buckled on by their orderlies, and the words loud and peremptory calls by the executive officer for missing Jackies, who came springing up through trapdoor, mopping their sweating faces with their handkerchiefs. To see Jackie in the back row stealing a chew at his quid when no one was looking, and watch him roll it into some nook inside his cheek when the executive officer pinned him with his eye, was to see a bit of blessed human nature, in which big men, and very strong men, were playing schoolmaster and schoolboy all over again. And all the while, the captain was reading out the forty-nine or so different things that, if Jackie were to do them, would send him to Davy Jones' locker with a bullet in his poor hardworking body—should, for instance, he be found asleep on watch, or kissing a girl—(poor Jackie, whose girl he has left far, far behind him!)—or doing any of those little things he would like to do. Poor Jackie! so faithful and brave, so brave and true! Such a hero, every inch of him, as he goes about his commonplace unromantic duties, cleaning ship's brasses, oiling the lamps, and ready, at the first call, to spring to the guns and defend her in her hour of trial with his brawn and muscle, and baptize her if need be, in his blood. A great reverence and great love for Jackie creeps into the heart of one who meets him in time of war.

In clean, white rows Jackie sat at service and prayer, and learned from them how to go to heaven, and being—poor God's child that he is—as near to it, I honestly believe, as any man that lives afloat—(Jackie makes straight for the other port, they say, when he gets ashore). And he sings his hymns in the same melodious tones that he sang his love-songs, and bent his head for the benediction, and blinked his eye and looked out seaward when General Howard, the great missionary we had aboard, got up and talked about the loving kindness of God, and compared it to the loving kindness of Jack's mother at home. Jackie's mother! Later he showed me her picture set in one side of a little silver pocket, and a lock of her hair in the other, and I sat on a rope coil and talked about her to him, and we grew good friends, and he got away with my little silk American flag, the rascal, next morning, when he was doing up my bridal chamber, and he kept out of my way for the rest of the voyage, played possum, the villain, and then, here in his bunk aside, Jackie, and you might of had it for the asking! —K16.

An Editor's Prayer.

E. C. Waterman, erudite ink slinger of the Newport News, is said to have attended church services a few evenings ago and was called upon to lead in prayer, to which he responded in this fashion:

"Almighty and kind Father, who doth from thy throne look down on the government of men and delinquent subscribers: Most humbly we do beseech Thee so draw near unto those in power that new things in their ears that the statutes forbid us to print. Thou knowest our want but thou subscribers knowest them not and seldom step in to inquire. Let it be known unto them that there are patches on the homestead of our pants, and there is an aching void in the front of our backs and that we hunger and thirst and he seketh us not to sup with him. Thou knowest Lord that our plant, paper and ink cost money, but the subscriber knoweth it not and careth a slight less. Thou knowest we are cold and the subscriber bringeth not the wood he promised, we are shivering and shivering and shaking while he roasteth his shins before the red-hot stove of his mother-in-law. Tell all him these things, Lord, and if he faileth and bringeth no succor banish him to lower regions to dwell among the populist calamity howlers, and Thine shall be glory and praise throughout our newspaper career. Amen."

Dollars in Diamond Dyes.

In scores of small country towns and villages in Canada enterprising men and women are adding to their yearly income by the work of dyeing for friends and neighbors around them who have not the time to do the work themselves.

These town and village dyers without exception use the Diamond Dyes in preference to all others, because they give the most brilliant, pure and unfading colors to all varieties of materials.

Hundreds of orders from these country dyers are filled every week by the manufacturers of Diamond Dyes. There are great possibilities for such work in small parishes, and the statements just made may influence many who are seeking for a plan to increase their revenue. There are good dollars in Diamond Dyes.

Snow Storms

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids! The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston at 4.30 p.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck, and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Goodearle, city passenger agent, Kingston, Ont. d&wtf

Snap Shot at a Weak Bridge.

In England a few weeks ago a certain iron bridge of one of the railways was suspected of being unsafe. It looked all right, but there were reasons why the managers were afraid of it. They could not decide themselves and they sent to London for a famous engineer to come and look it over. He came and was puzzled, too, until he thought of a way to test. He took a kodak and made a picture of the bridge with no train upon it. Then he kept his camera in position and waited for a fast train to come. Pretty soon an express came thundering on, and just as the big locomotive struck the bridge he pulled open the slide and took a second picture on the same plate that still held the first. When the plate was examined the picture with the train was found to much below the other as to show what the engineer and manager had feared—a dangerous droop to the bridge.—New York Times.

Stopped, Has It?

It was such a good watch. I never had it cleaned in five years. That is the remark we hear every day. Is it any wonder watches go to pieces? A watch is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and to give satisfaction and wear a lifetime should be cleaned every eighteen months. Has yours been attended to? If not, bring it in. Our prices are as low as is consistent with good work.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Dr. Galbraith on "Prohibition and the Plebiscite."

At Bridge St. Church Rev. Professor Doxsee preached an excellent sermon in the morning. In the evening Rev. Dr. Galbraith preached on "Prohibition and the Plebiscite," taking as his text Ps. 94-20—Shall the throne of iniquity have fellowship with thee, that frameth mischief by a law. All legislation ought to be for the highest well-being of the people, for the highest good to the greatest number, but nevertheless evil legislation was engraven upon the statute books of all nations. If we were to gather together all the bad laws which have been enacted in Christian nations the results would fall to equal the evil effects which have followed the enactment of the law allowing the manufacture and sale of intoxicating drink. He claimed that the law was mischievious in its operation upon those engaged in the traffic, upon the home in which it is used, upon the public morals, upon the life and health of the people, and upon the wealth and prosperity of the nation. The revenue argument of the saloon he claimed was merely a miserable subterfuge, the country wasted $130,000,000 a year on the traffic, while the revenuue therefrom was only $7,000,000. A prohibitory low would not interfere with true personal liberty and would be in perfect accord with true temperance principles. The choir rendered the anthem "O Be Joyful," Miss K Phillips taking the solo part. Mr. P. E. Van Buskirk, of New York, who is visiting friends in the city, delighted the congregation by his rendition of Dudley Buck's "Fear Not Ye, O Israel."

Well attended services in the Reformed Episcopal Church yesterday. In the morning the Rev. J. Simpson Trotter continued his exposition of the Redeemer's Intercessary Prayer. John 17, 17-19. In the evening the Rev. J. Tadel of Wilmington preached a good and useful sermon from the words: "Christ in you the hope of glory. The Rev. Geo. Worrell took part in both services.

Rev. R. Wallace preached in St. Andrew's Church in the morning. There was no service in the evening.

Prohibitionists at Work.

Those having the good fortune to attend the Gospel Temperance Meeting in the Royal Templars' Hall yesterday afternoon, will not soon forget the magnificent address delivered by Rev. Mr. Cowsert, of Victoria Ave. Baptist Church. The reverend gentlemen in glowing language and with eloquence and pathos throughout, depicted the demoralizing effect that the use of liquor had upon the individual, the home and the nation. The Misses Watson and Vermilyea contributed a duet, also J. T. Burns a solo, Miss Embury being the accompanist. These meetings are held every Sunday at 4 p. m. and all are made welcome.—COM.

CITY COUNCIL.

What was Done To-day.

On Saturday morning His Worship wrote Mr. Mitchell that in his opinion the by-law as it now stands would be defeated, although the feeling of the city was friendly to him personally. He asked if he would consent to enter upon new negotiations, if so voting would be postponed, if not voting would take place on the 30th inst.

The following reply was read at to day's meeting of the council.

NORWICH, CONN., Aug. 29th, 1898.

J. W. Johnson, Mayor:

Letter received, advise postponement if business really desired by representative citizens. No wish to enter Belleville against strong opposition. Any form acceptable to me provided spirit of present agreement practically retained.

(Signed) FRANK A. MITCHELL.

Vote Postponed.

Present were: His Worship, The Mayor; Alderman Chisholm, Denmark, Lennox, Naylor, Starling, Harris, Lott, Wallace, Doyle, Grils, Ashley, Panter, Bogart, Falkiner, Petty.

Ald. Bogart moved, seconded by Ald. Starling that the vote be postponed sine die. Carried unanimously.

In the meantime fresh negotiations will be entered into with Mr. Mitchell.

MOVED TO TEARS.

Mackie May Secure Bail--The Curiosity Removed.

It is said that Mackie was moved to tears when Ponton was released on Tuesday. They shared the same corridor and the Belleville man feels lonesome now that Ponton has been liberated. An effort will be made to secure bail for Mackie. His counsel will make application to the County Judge for bail this week. Pare accepts the situation philosophically. He smokes a good deal and finds much solace in the weed. Holden doesn't seem to be fretting much either.

The old wooden steps leading to the flat roof over which, according to Pare's story, the return trip to Ponton's rooms, on the night of the robbery, was made, will no longer excite the interest of the curious. They were removed on Saturday. The back window, through which egress to the hallway in the Grange block was gained, has been boarded up, and the block no longer sports a back entrance via the roof. —Napanee Express.

Boys' Halifax Suits.

The Halifax tweed suits the Oak Hall have for the boys have become noted for good wear. You may venture on other things for the lads but at the price there is nothing to touch them. Two pieces, single or double breasted, $2.50, three pieces, single or double breasted, $3.50.

LAID TO REST.

Funerals of Mrs. D. McCann and Mr. T. R. Hungerford.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Daniel McCann took place yesterday and was very largely attended. Rev. Geo. Worrell conducted the services in the absence of Rev. J. Simpson Trotter. The bearers were: W. J. Brown, W. Bowen, A. Patterson, W. Nelson, C. Atkins, F. Greatrix. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful.

All that was mortal of the late Mr. T. R. Hungerford was laid to rest yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of friends. The services were conducted by Rev. Canon Burke, assisted by Rev. Dean Bogert and Rev. S. Rhodes. The bearers were Mr. Hartley Killaly, of Molsons Bank, Trenton; Mr. Arnold, Montreal Bank, City; Mr. Allan Dougall, Montreal Bank, City; Mr. Henry Carre, Merchants Bank, City; George N. Gorman and Russel Carman. A telegram was received from the Manager of the Molsons Bank at Woodstock conveying his deepest sympathy. The floral offerings which were very beautiful numbered over forty bouquets and crosses.

POSITION WORSE THAN EVER

Violent Scenes Between Sir C. Macdonald and M. Pavloff.

Activity in the Russian Sphere at Port Arthur—British Warships at Wei Hai Wei—London Daily Mail's Correspondent a Hustler—Foreign Office Confirms His News That Matters Are Strained Just Now—Cable News.

London, Aug. 29.—A special despatch from Shanghai says: "Violent scenes are reported to have occurred between Sir Claude Macdonald, the British Minister, and M. Pavloff, the Russian Charge d'Affaires, owing to the latter's commanding the Tsung Li Yamen to break its agreement with the Hong Kong Bank under pain of the Czar's strong displeasure. The Chinese are inclined to obey M. Pavloff, seeing that the British confine themselves to verbal protests.

"The position is now worse than ever. The Russian ships have returned to Port Arthur, while the British vessels are assembling at Wei Hai Wei and Chefoo. Extreme activity prevails ashore at Port Arthur.

"The action of the Russians at New Chwang indicates an intention on their part to remain there in strong force whether they build the Tien Tsin Railway or not."

Foreign Office Admits It.

London, Aug. 29.—The officials at the Foreign Office admit that there is considerable truth in the despatch from Pekin to the Daily Mail asserting that the relations between the Tsung Li Yamen and Sir Claude Macdonald, the British Minister to China, are strained to the point of rupture and that Sir Claude has intimated that Great Britain will regard as a casus belli any failure on the part of China to observe her wishes.

They say that the situation between Great Britain and China is acute, Sir Claude Macdonald strenuously insisting that China shall observe her engagements to the British syndicates, and demanding satisfactory explanations with regard to the Pekin-Hankow Railway. If necessary, the British squadron now assembled at Wei Hai Wei will support the British Minister's demands.

He Expects War.

London, Aug. 29.—A special despatch from Shanghai says it is stated there that the Chinese Minister at St. Petersburg has reported to his Government that, in his opinion, the China question will precipitate a conflict between Great Britain and Russia. This state of affairs, he says, is owing to the British Ambassador presenting a note at St. Petersburg of such a peremptory nature, demanding freedom of enterprise in regions where Russian influence is supposed to predominate, that Count Muravieff cannot accept it. The Chinese Minister, indeed, expects that a conflict will certainly break out before the end of the year.

CZAR PROPOSES PEACE.

Nicholas Wants a General Reduction of Armaments and an Understanding Among Nations—Text of the Note.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 29.—By order of Emperor Nicholas, Count Muravieff, the Foreign Minister, on the 24th instant, handed to the foreign diplomats at St. Petersburg a note declaring that the maintenance of peace and the reduction of the excessive armament, now crushing all nations, is the ideal for which all governments ought to strive. The Czar considers the present moment favorable for the inauguration of a movement looking to this end, and has invited the powers to take part in an international conference, as a means of thus assuring real and lasting peace and terminating the progressive increase of armaments.

The text of the note is as follows:

Text of the Note.

"The maintenance of general peace and the possible reduction of the excessive armaments, which weigh upon all nations, present themselves in existing conditions to the whole world as an ideal toward which the endeavors of all governments should be directed. The humanitarian and magnanimous ideas of His Majesty, the Emperor, my august master, have been won over to this view in the conviction that this lofty aim is in conformity with the most essential interests and legitimate views of all the powers and the Imperial Government thinks the present moment would be very favorable to seeking the means.

"International discussion is the most effectual means of ensuring all people's benefit—a real, durable peace, above all—putting an end to the progressive development of the present armaments."

"In the course of the last 20 years the longing for general appeasement has grown especially pronounced in the consciences of civilized nations, and the preservation of peace has been put forward as an object of international policy. It is in its name that great states have concluded between themselves powerful alliances.

"It is the better to guarantee peace that they have developed in proportions hitherto unprecedented their military forces, and still continue to increase them without shrinking from any sacrifice.

"Nevertheless, all these efforts have not yet been able to bring about the beneficent result desired—pacification.

"The financial charges following the upward march strike at the very poor of public prosperity. The intellectual and physical strength of the nations' labor and capital are mostly diverted from their natural application and are unproductively consumed. Hundreds of millions are devoted to acquiring terrible engines of destruction, which, though to-day regarded as the best work of science, are destined to-morrow to lose all their value in consequence of some fresh discovery in the same field. National Culture, economic progress and the production of wealth are either paralyzed or checked in development. Moreover, in proportion as the armaments of each power increase, they less and less fulfil the object the Government has set before themselves.

"The economic crisis, due in great part to the system of armaments a l'outrance and the continual danger which lies in this massing of war material are transforming the armed peace of our days into a crushing burden which the peoples have more and more difficulty in bearing.

"It appears evident that if this state of things were to be prolonged it would inevitably lead to the very cataclysm it is desired to avert, and the horrors whereof make every thinking being shudder in advance.

"To put an end to those incessant armaments and to seek the means of warding off the calamities which are threatening the whole world—such is the supreme duty to-day imposed upon all nations.

"Filled with this idea, His Majesty has been pleased to command me to propose to all Governments whose representatives are accredited to the Imperial Court the assembling of a conference which shall occupy itself with this grave problem.

"This conference will be, by the help of God, a happy presage for the century which is about to open. It would converge into one powerful focus the efforts of all states sincerely seeking to make the great conception of universal peace triumph over the elements of trouble and discord, and it would, at the same time, cement their agreement by a corporate consecration of the principles of equity and right, whereon rest the security of states and the welfare of peoples."

Produced a Sensation.

London, Aug. 29.—The Czar's proposition is likely to produce a sensation throughout Europe, and, coming from such a quarter, and with such evident sincerity, it is likely to have important effects. There is no doubt with Russia taking the lead in such a step, Germany, France and the other nations will be ready to follow.

MIDDLETON'S PLANS.

How the Would-Be Railway Promoter Expected to Make Money Out of His Scheme.

Woodstock, Aug. 29.—The Middleton-Macdonald fiasco is still the talk of the district, and all have been wondering what the prisoner's scheme was, how he intended to make money out of his railway construction.

In the first place, if Middleton had had about $1,000 on hand to carry him over for another week or two, he would have been in a position to begin to reap his profit. That would have been the time when the rich contractors and railroad builders would have begun to hover around him. Middleton would have given them fat contracts at a high price and then collected a big slice from each in consideration of what they expected to make out of the job.

Mrs. Thomas' $12,000 Also.

It is also alleged that Middleton had his eye on some $12,000, which Mrs. Thomas is said to have, and in one of Mrs. Thomas' letters to him Mrs. Thomas is said to have addressed him as "Dear Mac."

Another source of income which Middleton is believed to have had his eye on was this. His plans were about ready, and the road was to be run right close to the homes of the prominent farmers. He hoped by showing the farmers that the road would practically destroy their property to receive a consideration from each farmer to divert the roadbed so as not to injure the property. But Middleton had only $2 left when the band of the law reached after him and he went to the wall.

Middleton will have his preliminary hearing to-morrow.

THE PEACE COMMISSION SETTLED.

Three of the Five Commissioners Favor Territorial Expansion.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 29. — The Peace Commission is settled—the commissioners have all accepted. The last acceptance was from Associate Justice White of the Supreme Court. The commission is as follows:

William R. Day, present Secretary of State, chairman.

Senator Cushman K. Davis of Minnesota, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate.

Senator William P. Frye of Maine, senior member of the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate.

Associate Justice E. D. White of the United States Supreme Court.

Whitelaw Reid, editor of the New York Tribune, and former Minister to France.

It is regarded as an exceedingly strong commission, and one that will satisfy the American people regarding the Philippines. There are at least three members of the commission who are in favor of holding the most important part of the Philippines and not afraid of claiming the whole group. These are Senators Davis and Frye and Whitelaw Reid. The commission will sail about Sept. 15.

IS THE POPE DYING?

Friends of His Holiness Summoned to the Vatican—The Aged Prelate Faints Twice.

Rome, Aug. 29.—The greatest anxiety has been caused by a sudden relapse of the Pope. Saturday His Holiness fainted twice and it was necessary to remove him to his bed.

It is suggested that the relapse was occasioned by His Holiness' great desire to bear down his illness and to appear well. In this he overtaxed himself.

There was the greatest uneasiness at the Vatican and the Pope's physician admitted that His Holiness was far weaker than he had ever known him to be before.

Summonses were issued by Cardinal Rampolla, calling all the Cardinals in Rome to the Vatican, and also calling all the personal friends of the Pope who were within reach of the telegraph in Italy.

The impression in the city is that the last illness is upon His Holiness and that he will not be able to get up from his bed again.

However, Dr. Lapponi, the Pope's personal physician, says there is still hope for His Holiness, and further states that much that is given out is given a sensational coloring which is not warranted.

THE ARCHBISHOP OF KINGSTON.

Vicar-General Gauthier Chosen—A Pedagogue's Brave Act

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 29.—Very Rev. Charles Hugh Gauthier, Vicar-General of the Diocese of Kingston, has been appointed Archbishop of Kingston, in succession to the late Dr. Cleary. He is parish priest at Brockville. This is the second time this place has sent an occupant of the bishopric.

The new Archbishop was born in 1844 at Alexandria, Ont., of French and Scotch ancestry. He was ordained in 1867 and became director of the Regiopolis College, this city. He was afterwards rector at Brewer's Mills, Gananoque, Williamston and Brockville. He was made Vicar-General in 1891. He is a man of good appearance and ripe scholarship, and an able administrator. He was the choice of the clergy of the archdiocese for the honor now conferred. It is likely the consecration will occur in October.

E. W. Sproule's Brave Act.

A jump from a bridge into the water below to save their lives, was the exciting experience of two young people near Sharbot Lake. E. W. Sproule, school teacher, Sharbot Lake, and a young lady camper were walking along the C.P.R. track about a half-mile west of the station. At that point there is a bridge 200 yards long spanning a body of water, and the young couple were halfway across when a C.P.R. train suddenly approached. They had not sufficient time to reach the end of the bridge and to avoid a horrible death Mr. Sproule took the young lady in his arms and jumped into the water, just a few seconds before the locomotive swept by. They reached shore in safety. Mr. Sproule was complimented for his bravery by the people at the lake.

FIRST SEMLIN CAUCUS

Discusses Matters of Importance and Retains Premier Semlin as Leader.

Vancouver, B.C., Aug. 29.—The first caucus of the new Government has been held in Vancouver during the past week. Out of the 19 straight Government supporters in the new Legislature 16 attended the caucus, those present being: Premier Semlin, Attorney-General Martin, Provincial Secretary Hume, Hon. Dr. McKechnie, and Messrs. C. E. Tisdall, R. McPherson, Ralph Smith, F. J. Loane, J. M. Kellie, R. Green, James Martin, Thomas Forster, Thomas Kidd, C. Munro, H. Helgesen and Major-General Kinchant. The absentees were Hon. F. C. Cotton and Messrs. Neill and Prentice. Important as was the meeting of the party on July 20, when the members were still in Opposition, the first gathering as a Government caucus was equally momentous. Many matters of interest to the party were discussed and Premier Semlin remains as leader of the party.

The whole of the correspondence between the Lieut.-Governor and the late Premier has been published in the Times. It occupies eight columns in small type.

ROCKLIFFE RANGES READY.

Advertisements for Tenders for a Fast Atlantic Service to Be Issued.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—Rockliffe ranges had finishing touches Saturday, and are now ready for the D.R.A. matches. There are 350 entries—a little less than last year.

A quiet but determined effort is being made by leading business men of the city to have the sitting of the Quebec International Conference removed to Ottawa. Every inducement possible is being offered.

A couple of weeks ago Harry O'Brien not only engaged several men to work on the different branches of the C.P.R. in the Northwest, but was also united in matrimony to Miss M. Kilday, head waitress at the Brunswick. Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien left town a few days later, not announcing their destination. It is now said that he is wanted in Smith's Falls for fraud and also that a charge of bigamy is to be laid against him.

Advertisements inviting tenders for the fast Atlantic service will be issued next week. They will ask for bids for a 20-knot service. It is understood that the Government will adhere to its plan of asking for fast vessels of turret type.

The transcontinental railway lines have agreed to submit the question of freight differentials to arbitration, and the C.P.R. thinks this is a victory for it, as well as that the passenger business should likewise be submitted to a similar tribunal.

A Seat for Mr. Gibson.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—It is arranged that Hon. J. N. Gibson is to find a seat in East Wellington, now held by Mr. Craig, who, owing to illness, was not able to take his place at the recent session. Mr. Craig will resign in a few days. Mr. Innes of Guelph and other prominent Liberals have settled all the details.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—At the Dunlop trophy road race, 20 miles, four on Woodbine track, fifteen on the Kingston road, and one on the track at the finish, on Saturday, the Royal Canadians won the $600 silver shield, which was won by the Ramblers last year. The first rider in was J. E. Shortt, R.C.B.C., time 55.30.4-5. The Ramblers team met with an accident which delayed some of them. The five teams stood in this order at the finish: 1 Royals, 2 Queen City's, 3 Hamilton Crescents, 4 Ramblers, 5 Excelsiors. In the men's puncture E. A. Peters mended the tire in 55 seconds, and in the women's puncture race Miss M. Phillips patched the puncture and inflated her tire in 1 min. 24 sec. Three thousand people were present.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

The Watch Fake Was Worked on Some Hotelkeepers in Ontario—An Arrest in Toronto.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—On Saturday afternoon P. C. Anson arrested George H. Wheeler, 334 George street, just after he had left the Canadian Express Company's office, and locked him up at headquarters. At the station he was charged with receiving money knowing it to have been obtained by fraud. Wheeler, it is alleged, has been representing himself as Miles Emory, a traveler for Messrs. Goldstein, Gormelly, Jones & Co., 67 to 73 Broadway, New York, dealers in tobacco leaf and cigars.

His mode of operation was to send a letter to a hotelkeeper in a town, telling him that he had met with an accident to his watch, and had taken the liberty to ask the Globe Jewelery Co. of Toronto to forward it to the hotel. The proprietor was asked to pay the charges and hold the parcel until his arrival. He would add a postscript to the letter, telling the hotelkeeper the date of his supposed arrival. In due time the parcel would arrive at the house by express, C.O.D. The charges for repairs were usually about $1.75, and express charges 25 cents. In almost every instance the proprietor paid the bill and locked the parcel in his safe. After the time had elapsed for the traveler's expected arrival, the hotelkeeper would become curious and open the parcel, only to find a large wad of lead paper. The money paid to the express company would be sent to Toronto and collected by Wheeler as consignee.

Brakeman Killed at London.

London, Aug. 29.—Angus McDonald, G.T.R. trackman, was struck by a yard engine on Saturday. McDonald, in falling, rolled under the wheels of the engine. His right leg was cut off below the knee, one ear nearly severed from his head, besides which he received other injuries, some of them internal. He was removed to the General Hospital, where he died. He was about 50 years old and married.

Jumped Off a Moving Train.

Almonte, Ont., Aug. 29.—John Devlin, aged 17, whose home was in Carleton Place, was instantly killed near the C.P.R. station here last evening. He jumped off the train and fell under the wheels, which passed over his head, crushing it frightfully. His mother was sent the news and came and removed the remains. He had no ticket.

A Dramatic Author.

Like most actor managers, Macready was pestered by would be dramatic authors. An ambitious young fellow brought him a five act tragedy one morning to Drury Lane.

"My piece," modestly explained the author, "is a chef d'œuvre. I will answer for its success, for I have consulted the sanguinary taste of the public. My tragedy is so tragic that all the characters are killed off at the end of the third act."

"With whom, then," asked the manager, "do you carry on the action of the last two acts?"

A Maiden's Dream.

Thousands of young women dream day-dreams of the youthful hero and husband that is to lead them to the altar of wed-lock—dreams that are fated never to come true because of the ill-health of the fair dreamer. Young heroes now-a-days are hard-headed rather than hard-hearted. They know from reading and hearsay that a young woman who suffers from weakness and disease in a womanly way cannot well prove a happy, helpful, amiable wife and mother.

Physicians tell young men that weakness and disease of the feminine child-begetting organism make women sickly, nervous and despondent in spite of the best of natural dispositions. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes these organs strong, healthy, vigorous and elastic. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and steadies the nerves. It does away with the qualms of the period of expectancy and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It frees maternity of peril. It insures the newcomer's health. Dr. Pierce is an eminent and skillful physician, who, during his thirty years' experience as chief consulting physician to the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., has treated thousands of women. He will answer letters from women free.

Very many women who have become happy, healthy wives and mothers through the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription have permitted their experiences, names, addresses and photographs to be printed in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. This great work used to cost $1.50. Now it is free. It contains 1,008 pages and over 300 illustrations. Several chapters are devoted to the reproductive physiology of women. For a paper-covered copy send 31 one-cent stamps, to cover customs and mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. Cloth binding, 50 stamps.

GRAND TRUNK IN FINE SHAPE

Paid $300,000 Deficit and $106,000 Half-Yearly Dividend.

An Important Interview With Mr. Joseph Price, G. T. R. Vice-President Mr. Hays' Management — Sir Rivers-Wilson's Pleasant Task at the Annual Meeting in October—Passenger Receipts Greater Despite Rate War.

Montreal, Aug. 29.—Mr. Joseph Price, ex-general manager of the Great Western, and now vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, arrived here yesterday, after a two weeks' inspection of the line. He says that the tracks and roadbed are so good that a train can be run as fast as a wheel can turn. Mr. Hays' management has, he adds, been a great success. The Vice-President says Mr. Hays has not only paid the deficit of $300,000 created to prevent the debenture stocks from going by default, but in addition to this the earnings have been sufficient during the past half year, which is the lean one, to raise $106,000 to pay the half year's dividend on the guarantee in full. He says Mr. McGuigan is a host in himself and that the divisional superintendents, Herbert, Tiffin, Fitzhugh and Cotter, are most able officials. In fact Mr. Price says he is proud of the staff. The vice-president also adds that the 26 elegant passenger coaches and the 22 powerful locomotives added to the rolling stock during the last half year have all been charged to reserve account. These engines, he says, have a capacity of hauling 40 cars with 12,000 tons of freight. The annual meeting will be held in London on the 13th of Oct., and Mr. Price says that Sir Rivers-Wilson, who sails from New York on Saturday next, will have a very pleasant message to impart to the shareholders.

The Vice-President referred to the rate war as follows: The passenger receipts are greater than last year, notwithstanding the unfortunate rate war, which, I believe, will soon be over. We are doing a good many things which I cannot tell you just now, but as I said just now, I hope the war will soon come to an end.

HON. G. E. FOSTER'S IMPRESSIONS.

Mining in the Northwest Is Down to a Practical Money-Making Basis.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 29.—Hon. George E. Foster, ex-Minister of Finance, passed through the city Saturday morning en route east, returning from a combined business and pleasure trip through the West, during which he took occasion to address several political meetings. Mr. Foster said: "I find the West flourishing. Business in the mining regions is now down to a practical basis, and, though there are some who are not doing well, the great majority of the miners are making money. The Crow's Nest Pass Railway, which will be through to the Kootenay Lakes by the 1st of November if the present rate of construction is continued, will make a vast improvement in the country and its prospects." Mr. Foster said that the several public meetings which he held in the West were very successful. The first car of Crow's Nest coal left British Columbia August 12 for Brandon, consigned to D. M. McMillan.

AN ALLEGED PROCURESS

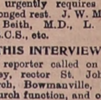

Arrested and Charged With Procuring Girls for Immoral Purposes.

Hamilton, Aug. 24.—Detective Mains, provincial officer at Niagara Falls, captured an alleged procuress named Mrs. D. Gibson, Tonawanda, Saturday evening at St. Catharines. A few hours before he detained at the bridge two girls whom the woman had sent ahead. The three were brought here and locked up, the woman being charged with procuring girls for immoral purposes, and the girls as important witnesses. The girls' names are Ida Dawson and Lizzie McImae. The prisoner's husband is now awaiting trial at Buffalo for the same offense.

THIS CERTIFICATE

Brings Forth a Story.

BOWMANVILLE, ONT.

We, the undersigned, certify that the health of the Rev. R. A. Bilkey has for months been deteriorating, and that he is now suffering from severe nervous prostration, and urgently requires immediate and prolonged rest. J. W. McLaughlin, M.D., A. Beith, M.D., L. Holland Reid, M.R.C.S., etc.

THIS INTERVIEW TELLS IT.

A reporter called on the Rev. R. A. Bilkey, rector St. John's (Episcopal) Church, Bowmanville, Ontario, during a church function, and on congratulating him on the great change for the better in his appearance, the reverend gentleman said, "It is due entirely to Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills.

"I suffered for over three years from extreme nervousness, weakness and prostration, and could not obtain relief. A few months ago it became only too apparent that extreme nervous prostration had set in, as I lost flesh and appetite rapidly. Three of our four medical men pronounced me in urgent need of immediate and prolonged rest in order to build up my nervous system, giving me a certificate to that effect. About this time, by pure accident, Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills were brought to my notice. I decided to try them, and on doing so a decided change for the better took place at once. I have since continued taking the pills, with continued and marked benefit and improvement. My appetite has returned. I am gaining in flesh steadily, and my general health is now good. Further, I am sure that these results are due to the action of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, and I have every confidence that they will do for others all that they have done for me."

THE PUBLIC MEETING—THE SPEECHES, ETC.

The large number of electors who attended the public meeting held at the City Hall on Friday night last, gave evidence of the deep interest felt in the scheme of subsidizing rolling mills to the extent of $55,000, and the security which the city is to receive in consideration therefor. It is well that it should be so.

Three different reports of the speeches made thereat, pro and con, have been published, and it were difficult to find a sentence in any of them answering successfully the objections which have been urged to the terms of the contract into which the city has entered with Mr. Mitchell, unless we are to accept vague generalities for argument, and mere statements as to what is follow from the investment of $55,000.

That rolling mills or any other industry established in a city will add wealth and population to a certain extent no one denies, but whether in the present case there will be value received for the sum invested, is, what the taxpapers have to consider, and which, we doubt not they will, when they cast their bollots.

A brief review of what was said by those supporting the by-law may not be out of place.

MR. S. S. LAZIER'S LETTER.

The first reason advanced for supporting the by-law was contained in a letter read by the Mayor from Mr. S. S. Lazier, which was to the effect that he did so "on the ground of the splendid reputation which the Mitchells bear." Those who know the worthy Master in Chancery will smile at such a reason, coming from such a source. There is no gentleman in this city who looks more keenly after a bargain, and who knows, when it is made, what is behind it, political or otherwise.

ALDERMAN BOGART'S VIEWS.

Ald. Bogart retailed the facts in connection with the now historic trip to Norwich, Conn., and the magnificent reception which the committee received, which has little to do with the fact of what we are to receive for our $55,000. He did, however, refer to the insurance clause, and t[illegible] he meeting, that the matter of insuring the buildings could easily be arranged with the city. "Certainly it could, then why was it not "arranged" in the bargain? In dealing with a twenty year contract nothing should be left to conjecture, nor to the unimpeachable reputation of those with whom the city is at present dealing. Mr. Bogart is further reported to have said, Mr. Mitchell "had given a bond securing the city for $50,000." Where is this bond? What is the "security" given? Why did not some one ask for its production, so that its nature and character could be judged by the electors before voting? At present nothing is known of this transaction, except what appears in the by-law, and with that alone we have to deal.

EX-MAYOR WALLBRIDGE INQUISITIVE.

Ex-Mayor Wallbridge, appears to have been a little inquisitive, and asked the Mayor "if Mr. Mitchell had either verbally "or by writing asked him to withdraw the "by-law?" To which the Mayor replied "that a party had informed him just an "hour before, that Mr. Mitchell, if he "thought that the feeling of the people "was manifestedly against the by-law, "would not humiliate himself by allowing "it to go the people."

HUMILIATION.

This question of "humiliation," is a new feature in the transaction. It is not often that a gentleman seeking a bonus of no less a sum than $55,000, freedom from taxation for a number of years, and other perquisites, feels very much "humiliated" by not having it lavished upon him by an unanimous people. Let us hope this "humiliation" is not of the kind described by Southey in his poem of "The Devil's Walk," when he said,

"He passed the cottage with a double coach horse,
A cottage of gentility;
And he owned with a grin that his favorite sin,
Is pride that apes humility."

The question put by Mr. Wallbridge was both pertinent and to the point, for the reason that Mr. Thos. Lazier, now a resident in Norwich, Conn., who is in the city on his holidays, an opportune time, has been telling the electors that if the feeling of the property holders in the city who are the voters, were largely opposed to the by-law he, Mr. Mitchell, would not allow it to go to the people, nor would he come to the city if the by-law were approved by only a small majority. In justice to Mr. Lazier we may add that he disavows any interest in this $55,000 enterprize, and declares that his only reason for asking friends to ascertain the feeling of the people, is to enable him to inform his friend, Mr. Mitchell, and to show his deep interest in the welfare of his native town. Let us hope that the electors of Belleville, who are proverbial for their hospitality and respect for strangers, will not "humiliate" Mr. Mitchell by forcing upon him the acceptance of $55,000. To do so would be an act of cruelty.

This talk of "humiliation" on the part of Mr. Mitchell, and the threat of withdrawal of the by-law, unless approved by a large majority, leads to the conclusion that the contractor is laboring under the hallucination, that he is bestowing upon the people of this city, a boon, without any consideration. Upon this point there is difference of opinion. Instead of humiliation, Mr. Mitchell, the people of Belleville are strongly inclined to the idea that they are asked to pay too dear for any benefit they are to derive from the buying of that gentleman's old and now useless plant.

MR. FROST'S STRONG PLEA.

Mr. John G. FROST, President of the Board, of Trade was the next to mount the rostrum, and delivered himself of a panegyric of the whole scheme, declaring, that the "agreement was a good one," and that the risk was fairly distributed" between the city and Mr. Mitchell. The elector may fairly ask why should the city take any "risk?" They are paying dearly for what they are to get, and therefore there should be no risk in the matter.

In justification of this statement he added his belief "that the plant could not be removed and put up here under a less expense than $65,000. He thought Mr. Mitchell too shrewd a man to pay that amount to gain $50,000."

If Mr. Mitchell were simply a contractor entering into a bargain to do a certain work for the city, he would certainly be "too shrewd a man" to take a job which was to cost him $65,000 for the sum of $50,000. Is that his position? Mr. Frost "is too shrewd a man" to believe his own statement. Mr. Mitchell has been carrying on business in Norwich, until through depression in trade, and for other reasons, he found it unprofitable to continue, and shut down his works, rendering his whole plant valueless; hence he seeks other fields and other markets in which he hopes to utilize his plant, and continue to add to his present wealth. He comes to Canada, and finds what he believed to be a good opening for his business: and so impressed was he with the country that when asked what bonus he wanted, replied, "I'm not looking for a bonus, I'm looking for a location," so Mr. Tickell declared he had told him, when in Belleville; and he added further that Mr. Mitchell "had also" stated to Mr. Lewis, hardware merchant, that he did not ask for any bonus. This phase of the whole affair is borne out by the remarks of Mr. Sinclair, a dry goods merchant in the city, who stated that "when money matters were spoken of Mr. "Mitchell had said that he had plenty of "capital behind him, but it was invested "and the condition of affairs in the United "States prevented it being used."

The fact is, Mr. Mitchell has a useless plant where it is, and he hopes to make it profitable by bringing it to Belleville, which, if Mr. Frost's calculations are correct, will cost $65,000, of which Belleville is to pay $55,000, leaving Mr. Mitchell to pay only $10,000 out of his own pocket to enable him to proceed with a business, which according to statements at the meeting, has made others millionaires. Yet Mr. Frost told the meeting he thought the bargain a fair one, and that the risk was fairly divided between the city and Mr. Mitchell.

The fact is, Belleville purposes to purchase and present to Mr. Mitchell a rolling mill; true, with old machinery, and then ask him to run it and pocket all the proceeds. We venture the statement that scores of industries can be procured upon the same terms.

How does this calculation of Mr. Frost's as to the value and cost of removing, and putting up of machinery in Belleville tally with his subsequent estimate of the duty to be paid? It is but charitable to believe he had forgotten his theory of $65,000 when at the close of his speech he told the attentive listeners that "the duty on the "plant had been appraised at $2,550, but "that amount had not been absolutely "fixed on, hence the by-law asked for "$3,000," $2,550, represents for customs purposes a value of only $10,200, which substracted from the $65,000, leaves Mr. Mitchell just $53,000 to recompense him for removing his machinery and erecting a building in which to carry on his business. Yet we are to furnish $55.000. Does any one believe that that sum is required? Any one who has seen buildings in which rolling mills are carried on, knows that, while strong, they are the veriest shells costing comparatively little.

According to Mr. Frost's own calculation Belleville is giving $50,000 in cash, a free site upon which to build, water protection, and freedom from municipal taxation for ten years, for a rolling mills plant worth $10,200, and a building in which to put it.

Mr. Frost could not close without declaring that "Mr. Bell's letter, he did not think, fairly cited the conditions of the by-law. Mr. Bell had said he had not seen the by-law and agreement until his attention had been called to it by Sir Mackenzie Bowell." It is true Mr. Bell did state he had not seen the by-law when his attention was called to it, but he had seen it, and read it over carefully when he gave his opinion of the contract. If he did not "fairly cite the conditions of the by-law," why did not Mr. Frost point out where he had made a mistake and in what particular he had not "fairly cited the conditions of the by-law?" Why? Simply because he could not. Merely declaring of "thoughts" is not evidence of fact. That Mr. Bell had not seen, much less read the by-law, is not a matter of surprise. There were hundreds who had not been out of the city since its first publication, and who were in the same position, until The INTELLIGENCER called attention to it.

ALDERMAN STARLING AND G. T. R.

Alderman Starling's advocacy of the by-law was of a general character, as to the good which the city would receive from the establishment of rolling mills in our midst. He did add, however, that "all "had read Mr. Bell's letter, but that "gentleman had not shown them how they "could recover $25,000 bonus from the "G.T.R." No one has any knowledge as to whether Mr. Bell was ever asked by the corporatian or any one else how the city "could recover $25,000 bonus from the G.T.R." If asked such a question, we doubt whether he would even consider it, much less "show them how to do it." Mr. Bell is the solicitor for the G.T.R., and would as such defend that company against any such demand. That is his duty. If Alderman Starling is of opinion that the G.T.R. has $25,000 of the city's money, for which no consideration has been given, it is his duty as one of the custodians of the city's interests, to take such steps as would compel that corporation to disgorge.

Mr. Alford's speech was that of a practical mechanic, deploring the depression in trade which existed, but giving strong evidence of dissatisfaction with the terms of the by-law, as an evidence of which he pleaded for delay. He was followed by Alderman Falkiner, who spoke strongly and fairly, without committing himself positively to any of the provisions in the by-law. He was in favor of encouraging the establishment of industries in our midst, winding up with a resolution asking for delay. It is evident that he had measured public opinion, and like a skilful general, prepared a mode of retreat, rather than suffer the "humiliation" of defeat.

Next Mr. W. N. PONTON enlightened the audience upon the output of the mines of North Hastings, that is the iron ore which has been taken from the mines in Madoc during the past year, and shipped to the Hamilton smelting works, and gave that as a reason for supporting the by-law. He said 1,475,000 pounds had been shipped at a cost in freight of $723, which if used in Belleville would cost but $200. A very good argument if Belleville was about to bonus smelting works, but this ore could not be used in Belleville unless such smelting works were erected, which would cost in the neighborhood of some $200,000. Rolling mills have no connection with smelting works other than to buy the pig iron manufactured at such smelter. To suppose that a rolling mills would create the establishment here of a smelter is preying upon the credulity of the people. Rolling mills have been in operation in Montreal for years, yet there is no smelting done there from ore, hence the one is not a corollory of the other. Mr. Ponton's listeners must have appreciated his giving the quantities of ore shipped in pounds. Iron ore is not spoken of in pounds, but in tons, but 1,475,000 pounds sound much better and larger than 737½ tons. Mr. Ponton expressed the opinion "that many of the objections were pure matters of detail." Even so, "matters of detail" are of vital importance in dealing with questions affecting the bestowal of $50,000 upon an industry, and so Mr. Ponton would deem it if he were dealing with a question of such importance and magnitude to the city.

The last speaker was His Worship the Mayor who, as he always does, made what is termed a good speech, describing in glowing colors which would result from having Smelting Works, Rolling Mills, etc., etc., in our midst, and what had been the result financially to those in other cities who had invested their moneys in Rolling Mills, and like others who dealt in rhetoric, overstepped the mark and proved too much. For instance the report of his speech says: "He took up the question of an iron market and showed the millions which been made by the Montreal concerns in the past 30 or 35 years."

Mr. Mitchell had been influenced by the desirable character of the market, by the prospect of government bonus for the product of a smelter, and by Belleville's peculiarly favorable location. Let us ask the simple question, without entering into any argument, why should Belleville dip its hands into the pockets of the taxpayers and abstract therefrom $55,000 to assist in establishing works which had yielded "millions" to the investors in similar enterprises in Montreal, where no bonuses were given, but where land and water power had to be purchased or leased? No wonder Mr. Mitchell was influenced to come to Canada, upon ascertaining such facts, and declaring he had plenty of capital behind him, and did not want any bonus. Was the reference to a smelter a bait for the unwary? If we are to have one here let it be a part of the bargain, and not a mere rhetorical exclamation to tickle the ear and please the fancy.

THE WEEK'S WHEAT.

A Decline for Every Day at Liverpool, But Canadian Has Kept Dull and Steady The Prices.

Saturday Evening, Aug. 27.

The speculative wheat markets during the past week have been nervous and inclined to see-saw. The tendency on the Chicago Board has been towards the firming-up of near-by deliveries and the easing-off of later options. With the approach of the end of the month the August delivery has risen 2c per bush. above the price of a week ago, and September concent. The reason for this is the depletion of old stocks, and the as yet comparatively light receipts from farmers. In view of this year's very large crops, however, most authorities agree in predicting a low range of prices for the season. The action of the Liverpool market, at any rate, would seem to point to lower quotations. Since last Saturday, on that board, cash wheat has declined 3d to 7d per cental, and the September option has fallen off 3⅜d. The English and French crops are regarded as big, and Russia, damage reports to the contrary notwithstanding, is likely to give a good account of herself.

As regards Ontario wheat it stands at 68c per bush. or 20c lower than a year ago, while new Manitoba hard is quoted at 67c afloat at Fort William. Ontario wheat is regarded as the best in quality for many years. The berry is large, plump and firm, and it is said that in many instances white wheat that weighs 62 pounds to the bush. and red wheat that weighs 64 pounds to the bush. are being found. The quantity and quality of the yield should help to make up for the deficiency in prices.

OUR CRACK.

Capt. S. W. Vermilyea's Great Shooting at Ottawa.

The Dominion Rifle Association meeting began on the new range at Ottawa yesterday. The Mail and Empire's report says: Captain S. W. Vermilyea, of the 15th Batt., of Belleville, made the record shoot of the first day at the ranges. He made 12 bull's eyes in succession, six at four hundred yards and six at six hundred yards, which include his two sighting shots. This is an exceptionally good showing. Last year 47 points carried off the first prize of the McDougall match; this year Captain Vermilyea made it with the full possible of 50 points. He wins the cup, badge and $25.

Jumped the Track

A trolley car going east to the depot, to meet the 11.20 train, left the track a little on the other side of Chown's factory, plunged through the fence into a vacant lot. The passengers, of whom there was quite a number escaped without injury. Several teams of horses were secured and the car was soon on the rails again.

A One-Price Business.

There is a great advantage in dealing in a store that has only one price, strictly. We say strictly, for some stores pretend to do one-price but work the second price "on the side" quietly. The Oak Hall have sustained their reputation for one-price through thick and thin; we do one-price and our prices are always the lowest, the lowest without any exception. We will never allow any store to undersell us, and cheerfully invite comparison at all times.

DR. CURLETT DEAD.

One of Our Oldest and Best Known Citizens.

Dr. James F. Curlett who was probably the oldest living medical practitioner in the district, died at his residence Grove st., last evening. Death was caused by a combination of diseases. Mrs. Curlett is now in the Hospital just convalescing after a dangerous illness.

Dr. Curlett was born in 1812 at Green Point, Prince Edward County. On his mother side he came of U. S Loyalist stock. His father was an Irish Patriot, who on account of his connection with the troubles of 1798, was compelled to flee to this country; he afterwards fell fighting bravely for England's flag at Queenston Heights. Dr. Curlett commenced the study of medicine in 1837 at Fairfield, N. Y., there being no medical college in Canada at that time, and graduated at Geneva, N. Y., in 1842. In the meantime the late Dr. Ralph had established a school at Toronto, which the subject of this sketch attended for a year. He began his practice in Demoresville, Prince Edward County, and met with good success until 1869 when he removed to this city where he has resided ever since. He gave up his practice eight or ten years ago but continued to do a little intermittent prescribing up to the time of his death. He was married four times, and leaves three children, the survivors of a family of six: Mrs. Bedell, of Watertown, N.Y., Mrs. Hyman, of New York, and Miss Curlett at home. He was a prominent Liberal but never sought any public office.

Dr. Curlett was always held in the highest esteem by his fellow citizens and great regret is expressed at his death, although expected for some time. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon the Belleville cemetery. Rev. Dr. Ferguson will conduct the services.

THE LEAGUES.

The Prohibition Question Still Occupying the Attention of the Young People.

The monthly consecration meeting of the Bridge st. League was held last night, Mr. F. A. Lark, President of the League, presided, and in his opening remarks expressed the hope that all christian citizens, irrespective of party, would unite to work and vote for prohibition. The roll-call met with a gratifying response, a message being received from four members of the league now in St. Paul, Minn. One active member was received into the league by card and five friends of the league were elected to honorary membership.

Holloway st. E. L. held a largely attended and enthusiastic meeting last evening, the President in the chair. The general topic was discussed in a very able manner by Miss Martin, after which a special temperance programme was carried out, consisting of a solo by Mr. Arthur Watch; duet, the Misses McMurray; readings by Misses M. McCrudden and K. Boselly, the proceedings being brought to a close by a rousing temperance address from the pastor.

The Power of Electricity

By this agency Nerviline is made to penetrate to the most remote nerve—every bone, muscle and ligament is made to feel its beneficent power. Nerviline is a wonderful remedy, pleasant to even the youngest child, yet so powerfully far reaching in its work that the most agonizing internal or external pain yields as if by magic.

Another Steamer.

Opposition is far reaching. Kingston is getting the benefit of cut rates at present, and we are informed that as soon as the excursion business is over, the palace steamer America will run twice a week between Kingston and Belleville, calling at Deseronto and other Bay of Quinte ports. Rates both passenger and freight will be cut away down. The reason given is the allegation that the Hero is working for the R. & O. Navigation Company.

Good Work.

Plainfield Public School has done some excellent work during the recent departmental examinations. Of two Entrance Candidates one was successful, of three for P. S. Leaving, all were successful, and of three for Third Class Teachers' Certificates all were successful. Such results reflect a great deal of credit on Mr. W. H. Nobes, our teacher, and compare very favorably with the work done in many of the High Schools. COM.

Died at Peterboro.

Rev. Duncan George Harrison, a Methodist probationer, died at the Nicholls Hospital, Peterboro, of Bright's Disease on Saturday. Last year he studied at Victoria University and during the summer was supplying near Bowmanville when he became ill and went to his brother, Rev. W. D. Harrison, of Bridgenorth. The late Mr Harrison was an old Albert boy and was well and favourably known here.

CONSERVATIVE OUTING.

The Sidney Association Entertained by Mr. Corby.

HENRY CORBY, Esq., M.P., entertained the President, Officers and Committeemen of the Sidney Conservative Association to the number of about 60 and a few of the officials of the Belleville and Trenton Associations to an excursion on his yacht Skylark on Monday afternoon.

The party proceeded westward as far as the canal then eastward to Big Bay, returning to Massassaga Park Hotel about 7 p.m. where an excellent luncheon was in waiting, to which some 70 sat down. After the inner man had been satisfied, the Chairman, J. S. Deneh, Esq., President of the Sidney organization, in appropriate and felicitous terms proposed the Queen, which was received right royally as is the case wherever Conservatives are gathered together. Other toasts followed, which were responded to by Sir Mackenzie Bowell, M. P. Bernier, M.P.P., W. B. Northrup, N. B. Falkiner, J. W. Johnson, C. Bogart, D. Ostrom, Mr. Pettit, of Frankford, Robt. Weddell, and others whose names we have not.

The toast of the evening, that of the worthy host H. Corby, Esq., was received in a manner to show the respect his guests had for him and the estimation in which he is held by his constituents. His reply was appropriate and to the point.

The party returned to the city about 11 o'clock delighted with the afternoon's outing.

After three hearty cheers were given for Mr. Corby the party separated with "happy to meet, sorry to part and happy to meet again," depicted on every countenance.

MINING NEWS.

The Canadian Gold Fields Will Erect a New Mill.

It has been a source of much speculation lately, whether the Canadian Gold Fields, Limited, would erect a new mill to replace the one recently destroyed by fire or suspend operations. From the Marmora Herald we learn that already material is being hauled on the ground for the erection of a new mill, not on the old site, but in closer proximity to the shaft.

We have also been informed from a thoroughly reliable source that Mr. A. J. G. Swinney, formerly superintendent for the Canadian Gold Fields, will soon return to Marmora and start operations on his property, of which he owns some 1,500 or 2,000 acres. Before leaving for this old country, Mr. Swinney made the remark that he would return with as strong, if not stronger company than the C. G. F. and great developments may be expected in the near future.

STORE BURGLARIZED.

Sergeant McCrudden Captures a Shop Breaker.

While on his beat near the station about two o'clock this morning, Sergeant McCrudden received information that a tramp had been seen going west with a new suit of clothes under his arm. The Sergeant at once gave chase and found a man named Fred Renfrow at Casey's Crossing, a mile west of the railway bridge, lying down with a new overcoat over his head, pretty well jagged. He was brought back and safely landed in the cells.

The Sergeant, with assistance, then started out to find if any store had been broken into. After a long search it was found that the back window in Mr. W. P. Paton's clothing store on Front st. was open, and the owner of the store being awakened, found that two pairs of trousers, an overcoat and coat and vest were missing, and he identified those on the prisoner as his. Renfrow's old clothes were found in the store, he having exchanged them for the fancier articles. He is an old offender, having got three months for the same offence in February last.

Renfrew, who is only 18 years of age, was brought before the Mayor, in the absence of Magistrate Flint, and the evidence being very strong against him, was committed for trial. P. J. M. Anderson prosecuted.

Boys' School Clothing.

Somehow or other that boy of yours creeps into our minds oftener than we intend. Possibly the anticipation of future business. Anyway, the gatherings for his wearing are the brightest thoughts in our store. Small wonder we think of them so often. Is he fixed for school? Three cases of stylish Fall Suits just opened.—QUICK & ROBERTSON.

Accident.

Yesterday about eleven o'clock Percy Green, who was visiting his uncle, Rev. Rural Dean Forneri, of Adolphustown, fell from an apple tree and broke his left arm at the elbow. As soon as a steamer could be caught he was taken to Picton where it was attended to by Dr. Karn, assisted by Dr. Platt. The little sufferer bore it all like a little hero. Dr. Elliott, an American tourist, was most attentive and kind to the boy on the way. Percy came home attended by his uncle last night. Dr. Embury is now attending to the case.

THE CZAR'S OLIVE BRANCH.

London Times Has Good Words to Say of Russia's Emperor.

He Has Brought the Question of Peace and Disarmament Into the Sphere of Practical Politics—London Chronicle Calls the Document an Encyclical—French Papers Approve the Idea, But the German Press Sneers at It—China's Heavy Russian Yoke.

London, Aug. 30.—The Times says editorially: "The Czar's note breathes a spirit of generous, perhaps, indeed, almost Quixotic, humanity—a spirit familiar in the effusions of visionaries, but too seldom found in the utterances of great sovereigns and responsible statesmen.

"Never, perhaps, in modern history, have aspirations which good men in all ages have regarded as at once ideal and unattainable found so responsive an echo in the counsels of the greatest and most powerful of the world's rulers. In principle the proposals of the Czar put forth on a solemn occasion with every mark of disinterested sincerity, will command the sympathy and respect of all men of good will. So far as Great Britain is concerned, we long ago abandoned Continental ambitions, and there is no power in the world which has less to gain or more to lose by any disturbance of existing territorial status quo.

"The time has long gone by when British commerce could be made to flourish in and by means of war. The greatest of our interests is peace, and so sensitive is our world-wide commerce that even rumors of war often do us more injury than war itself might do to a power less dependent than is Great Britain on a free interchange of the whole world of the manifold products of its native industries.

"If Russia, which has also a great but undeveloped industrial future before her, is becoming fully convinced, as we in England long have been, that her resources are better devoted to the beneficent arts of peace than to the destructive uneconomic energies of war, Englishmen, as essentially a peace-loving people, can only hail the Czar's pronouncement with the utmost cordiality, as glad tidings of great joy, which, whatever may be the practical issue, does cast honor upon that sovereign's generous and lofty spirit and humanity. The difficulties are great, but nothing can henceforth deprive the Czar of having brought peace and disarmament into the sphere of practical politics.

"It looks at present as though all the great powers might be willing to enter the conference, while the United States might be expected to lend a favorable ear to proposals tending in any degree to lessen the weight of the Imperial responsibility she is about to undertake. Her industrial policy is closely akin to our own and her abiding interest in the maintenance of peace is hardly less vital."

Forestalled Emperor William.

The Daily Chronicle's Paris correspondent declares that the disarmament olive branch would have emanated from Emperor William in Jerusalem, if the Czar's advisers, including, perhaps, M. Hanotaux, had not forestalled the Emperor's project. Editorially, the Chronicle says: "The Czar's encyclical is assuredly one of the most striking documents of the century. It could only have been more dramatic if the Kaiser had issued it from the birthplace of the Prince of Peace. Looking to the present attitude of Russia in the East the proposal almost takes one's breath away. A cynical view is painfully obvious. Russia has just secured a series of vast territorial and diplomatic advantages which it will take years to assimilate. She is face to face with famine, a revolt of the Poles is threatened, and she is threatened by other powers, and there are signs of a dissolution of the Russo-French alliance. Happily, the humanitarian view is equally clear and convincing. The Czar, hitherto overborne by veteran obstinate advisers, has now asserted his natural desires. He is one of only two men who could make the proposal without fear of being misunderstood. Great Britain and the United States will certainly welcome the proposal. If another great power does also much will be gained in the desired direction."

May Have a Better Understanding.

The Daily Mail says: "If the Czar had not been, the Emperor would surely have been the dramatist. It is too much to hope for the realization, but some good ought to come of it in the way of a better understanding of the powers."

The Daily Telegraph says: "The idea is so beautiful that we are reluctant to throw cold water upon it; but what is to be the basis of discussion? A conference which should recognize that free and open markets are for the advantage of the entire civilized world would indeed pave the way to universal peace; but, short of this, we fear the gathering will prove abortive."

Takes It Seriously.

The Daily News: "The Czar by this message has acquired a more righteous and enduring fame than belongs to the proudest conqueror of his illustrious house. There is no quarter from which such a manifesto would produce a more profound impression. Hitherto the great obstacle was that nobody would begin. The Czar cannot be suspected of making a virtue of necessity. We shall hardly be wrong in attributing the momentous policy to the Czar himself. It is the pen of Nicholas, but the doctrine of Cobden."

The Morning Post, discussing the difficulties in the way of the proposal, arrives at the conclusion that it would suit Russian needs and Russian designs wonderfully well, but would not suit England at all.

Sneering at Russia.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—The Czar's note was posted in the hotels and cafes, and is generally discussed rather cynically. A high official of the War Office observed that it would be a "good topic for a dull season. If the conference met there would be no doubt that France would demand the return of Alsace-Lorraine." All politicians are inclined to sneer at such a proposal emanating from Russia. The general belief is, however, that all the powers are willing to attend the conference in the belief that it will prove resultless, looking to the impossibility of agreement.

French Papers Welcome the Proposal.

Paris, Aug. 30.—The Figaro believes that the disarmament conference will assemble because the Czar would not have risked a refusal. It believes, however, that the aspiration is chimerical.

The Gaulois thinks the proposal a natural one from Russia, because the immense armament imposed upon her is the principal obstacle to her development.

Le Journal thinks the conference, instead of realizing the Czar's hopes, will rather accentuate national antagonism, if it does not lead to demands totally inimical to the world's peace.

Le Radical wishes all success to the movement, but says: The readjustment of a certain patriotic question in which France cannot and never will cease to interest herself is, however, an essential preliminary to general peace.

The Siecle and the Rappel comment in a similar strain. The Petit Journal expresses the hope that the powers will respond and that the conference will solve the problem in accordance with the principles of right and equity.

In short, all the papers welcome the proposal, with the reservation that the question of Alsace-Lorraine shall first be regulated.

Washington Views of It.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Whatever may be the result of the conference proposed by the Czar, should one be held and anything substantial eventuate therefrom, it is felt that it will not affect the United States in any appreciable degree or extent. The sincerity of the proposal, which seems on the surface to be genuine, can best be judged from Russia's response in conference to a counter proposal that her concession from China to build the Siberian railway to Port Arthur be abandoned.

The Czar Thanked.

Basle, Switzerland, Aug. 30.—The Zionist convention has passed a resolution expressing its profound thanks to the Czar for issuing his peace note.

Find the Russian Yoke Heavy.

London, Aug. 30.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Shanghai says it is reported there that the Russians at New Chwang are trying to compel native owners of land there to sell their holdings at absurdly low prices, and that in consequence of this the Chinese are on the verge of an anti-Russian outbreak. The local Mandarins are, so to speak, between the cross-fires of the Russians and natives, and are helpless.

A TURNING POINT IN HISTORY.

The Czar's Manifesto Is so Regarded by the Russian Press.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 30.—The newspapers here declare that the Czar's manifesto will probably constitute a turning point in history.

The Czar Is a Dreamer.

London, Aug. 30.—Dr. Emil Reich, the eminent Hungarian historian and British counsel in the Venezuelan arbitration, in an interview on the subject of the Czar's peace note expresses the belief that His Majesty is visionary. He says: "The Czar is a dreamer. He is not in robust health and has always to take great care of his body. This scheme for universal peace is one of his dreams. It is also a feint. Count Muravieff, the Russian Minister for Foreign Affairs, hopes thereby to get a free hand in the development of Russian schemes in Manchuria."

English Religious World's Opinion.

London, Aug. 30.—The religious world, however, loudly welcomes and praises the Czar's noble initiative. Numerous bishops have already publicly expressed their views in that sense.

All Depends on France.

London, Aug. 30.—What is noticeable in European comment is the fact that everything is held to pivot on the action of France.

Lord Minto Sails Nov. 3.

London, Aug. 30.—Lord Minto and the Countess of Minto and their staff will sail on the Dominion Liner Cosman, from Liverpool for Canada on Nov. 3. The chief part of the Governor's establishment sails on the Allan Liner Laurentian, on Oct. 27, and it depends on the arrangements at Ottawa whether they will disembark at Quebec or Montreal. The appointments to the staff of the Governor are not yet complete.

English Alpine Climbers Killed.

Berne, Switzerland, Aug. 30. — Dr. John Hopkinson, an English electrical engineer, and his son and two daughters, have been killed while ascending the Dents de Vesiwvi in the canon of Valais, the mountains of which are among the highest in Europe, and which are exposed to furious torrents and destructive avalanches. The party had gone on their perilous trip without the assistance of a guide.

To Say Farewell to the Queen.

London, Aug. 30.—Colonel John Hay, the retiring United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James, who has accepted the portfolio of Secretary of State at Washington, went to Osborne, Isle of Wight, yesterday, to bid farewell to Queen Victoria, who starts for Scotland on Wednesday. The royal yacht met Colonel Hay at Portsmouth and conveyed him to Cowes.

Welsh Coal Strike Ended.

London, Aug. 30.—At a joint mass meeting of the Welsh miners yesterday, it was decided to accept the employers' terms, offered at the Cardiff conference on Saturday, by which the miners get an increase of three per cent. in their wages. This ends the disastrous six months' strike.

2,300 Deaths From the Plague.

GEN. HUTTON'S "BULL."

Opening of the Dominion Rifle Association's Annual Meeting at the Rockliffe Ranges—First Day's Work.

Ottawa, Aug. 30. — "Major-General Hutton, commanding the Canadian militia, bullseye, 5," was the first shot registered on the ranges at Rockliffe yesterday. The Major-General arrived on the grounds about 8.30 o'clock. He was received by Lieut. Col. Dillon, chairman of the Executive, and escorted to the 600 yards firing point, where the riflemen were called opposite target No. 33, which was exposed, with the above result.

Lieut.-Col. Dillon, on behalf of the association, tendered the Major-General a hearty welcome.

Gen. Hutton's Reply.

Major-General Hutton made a pleasant speech in reply. He regretted extremely the absence of the patron of the Association, Lord Aberdeen, and the other officials. He was pleased to meet his comrades, as he took an intense interest in rifle shooting. On it to a great extent depended the standing of the militia forces, and it should be considered of prime importance not only by the soldiers, but by all. The association would be of great use in the development of shooting. Years ago Canada achieved great success because their fighting men, the Voyageurs, were hardy and handy with axe or rifle. Another instance was in Boer warfare, as the Boer was a marksman first and a soldier next. In the use of the new rifle long ranges should be advocated, with moving targets, advancing and retiring, and also at unknown distances. The Major-General then in a few feeling words referred to the loss the Dominion and the association had sustained in the death of the late Sir Casimir Gzowski, A.D.C., who had been such a long and tried friend to the association and to the riflemen of Canada. He then declared the military efficiency and welfare was to the credit of Canada

Markers Strike.

A little trouble was occasioned at the opening of the first shooting by the startling announcement that the markers refused to put up a target unless they got an advance from $2 to $2.50 per day. The Executive consulted, and, being unable to help themselves, acceded to the demand.

The Nursery Match.

The wind, or what was of it, was from the right rear when the Nursery match started, and the first possible on the new range goes to Pte. J. Weatherbee, of the 82nd, who won the first prize of $15 in the match with a score of 35.

The Bankers' Match.

Following the Nursery came the Bankers' match at the same range, the number of entries being 347, which is about the total shooting this year. The weather conditions were about the same as in the Nursery, with the wind perhaps a little more to the right. The conditions were seven shots each, the result being a tie for first place between Lieut. H. C. Blair, 78th; Sergt. J. Hutcheson, Q.O.R., and Sergt. Broadhurst, 5th R.S., 35 points each. The $53 of the first three prizes will be divided between them equally.

Macdougall Challenge Cup.

The Macdougall Challenge Cup commenced at half-past 1, nearly two hours behind the time table. The match was for a cup presented by Lady Macdougall with a badge and $372 added by the Dominion Rifle Association. The cup is to be the property of the member winning it twice in succession. The first three prizes were won as follows:

Cup and badge and $25—Capt. S. W. Vermilyea, 15th, 50; $20—Sergt. J. D. McNaughton, 30th, 49; $15—Capt. A. Wilson, 3rd, 48.

The Humber Mystery Solved.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—The Humber mystery—which means that the county police have been searching for a couple who rowed up the Humber carrying a baby and returned without—has been solved.

Dr. Tremayne and wife of Mimico were the couple, and they canoed up to join a picnic party up the Humber. Other members of the party were driving and they took the child home in a carriage.

OFFENDERS COURT-MARTIALLED.

Sentenced to Death by Aguinaldo—Were Reprieved Later.

Manila, Aug. 30.—The residential suburbs are full of armed insurgents, and several personal vendettas have been reported. The inhabitants are greatly alarmed. There was firing in the streets of San Miguel yesterday evening. The insurgent troops yesterday attended mass fully armed, and patrolled the principal residential suburbs.

Major-General Merritt, the commander of the American troops, in conversation, has avoided a declaration of his policy and gave the impression that he is undecided about the possibility of arranging to retain the Philippine Islands, although, personally, he seemed to favor that policy.

General Aguinaldo has court-martialled the offenders in the Cavite affair, and they have been sentenced to death. But it is reported that they were afterwards reprieved at the request of General Anderson.

ECHOES OF THE WAR.

President McKinley wants Admiral Dewey to go to Paris to advise the members of the peace commission. Dewey says that is not necessary, that he can advise them from Manila, and will not go unless he is ordered to by the Government.

General Merritt will go to the Paris peace commission. Gen. Otis will command in his stead at Manila.

The Filipinos will be represented at the peace commission in Paris. Aguinaldo says he personally favors an American protectorate, but his soldiers are fighting for an absolutely free country.

ALL HEADACHES from whatever cause cured in half an hour by HOFFMAN'S HEADACHE POWDERS 10 cents and 25 cents at all Druggists.

Gen. Merritt's course in the Philippines is subject to severe criticism. The Manila News Agency says high American officials, of mediocre education, are utterly unacquainted with oriental ideas and are thus utterly incapable of governing the natives. Exceptional ability is required to avoid total alienation.

U. S. artillery officers are agitating for a re-organized and augmented army, with fourteen regiments of coast defence artillery of 1,680 men each.

The leading commercial men of Manila have memoralized Lord Salisbury to prevent the Spainards regaining supremacy in the Philippines.

MIDDLETON COMES UP TO-DAY.

Brantford Expected to Supply Charges of False Pretences.

Woodstock, Aug. 30.—Reginald Launcelot Middleton will appear before Magistrate Field to-day. Half a dozen witnesses have been subpoenaed, but it is hardly likely that the case will be disposed of, as the Crown will ask a further remand.

The charge of false pretences, on which Middleton will be arraigned, will probably be supplemented by other charges of a similar nature from Brantford.

Within the past few days the Crown officer says there has been a disposition on the part of the Woodstock merchants who have supposedly been victimized by Middleton to avoid proceeding, probably seeing in this action a better chance of getting their money. Crown Attorney Ball said this morning that he would allow no backdown on the part of the prosecution.

Should further informations be laid by Brantford merchants the statements of the prosecuters only would be taken in Woodstock and the cases adjourned to Brantford for preliminary hearing. Middleton is still in poor health, but the jail surgeon thinks he will be sufficiently recovered to appear at the Police Court to-day.

According to Hoyle.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—The petition against the return of W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P. for North Ontario, has been dismissed, owing to the Reformers being unable to procure evidence to sustain the charges contained in the protest.

The American steamer Alameda, Captain Von Ottendoro, sailed yesterday from Sydney, N.S.W., for San Francisco, having on board $3,000,000 in gold.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. What follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easer to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight deceased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section knew how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonal and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining any relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

THE CONFERENCE AT QUEBEC

Business Resumed at 11 o'Clock Monday Morning.

Yankee Delegates Had a Caucus—Delegations Are Likely to Beset Them—Divergent Views of Different Sections—The Copyright Question Likely to Be Added to the Protocols—The Americans Well Pleased—Dickinson at Home Again.

Quebec, Aug. 30.—Although two of its members were absent, the International Conference, resumed its sittings promptly at the appointed hour of 11 o'clock yesterday morning. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was absent in Arthabaskaville, at the funeral of his brother, the late Dr. Ubalde Laurier, which took place yesterday, did not reach the city till 2.20 o'clock in the afternoon, when he at once proceeded to the council chamber, where the conference was convened. Sir James Winter was the other absentee, not having yet returned from the Adirondacks.

Yankees Had a Caucus.

In the morning the American commissioners held a private meeting at the Chateau Frontenac, to consider a number of memorials forwarded to them from various parts of the United States on a variety of subjects. The American commissioners appear likely to have a considerable number of memorials sent to them during the present week, judging by accounts in the American press, and will also be kept fairly busy receiving deputations. The Chamber of Commerce of Boston has sent word that it is sending on a delegation to interview the American commission, and another is on its way here from western lumbermen, who do not take the same view of things with the lumbermen of Michigan, and who want the present duty on sawn lumber taken into the United States retained. The Boston delegation will have a good many suggestions to make on these subjects, in particular with the fisheries, reciprocity and the bonding privileges. The interest of the New England States in these three questions are paramount, and in some respects at variance with the interest of the more Western States of the Union.

The Copyright Laws.

It is understood that the question of the copyright laws of the United States and the Dominion, though not now embraced in the protocols, is likely to be added to the subjects which will come up for consideration. This question of copyright is a very vexed one, and its settlement by the conference would be welcomed by the great mass of authors and publishers.

Americans Well Pleased.

Hon. R. R. Dobell will entertain the delegates to the convention at dinner on Thursday evening.

The American commissioners are highly satisfied with last week's proceedings, and one of them stated that so far no obstacle had yet appeared in the way of the commission and from all appearances the general adjustment of matters, so far discussed, would end in a very satisfactory manner.

Dickinson at Home Again.

Detroit, Aug. 30.—Don. M. Dickinson has returned from Quebec, where he was called on legal matters within the jurisdiction of the International Commission. He will make a report on his mission at a meeting yet to be called of the Committee of Lumbermen.

LONDON IN DARKNESS.

The Power House of the General Electric Company Totally Destroyed—A Very Serious Fire.

London, Ont., Aug. 30.—At 1 a.m. the fire at the London General Electric power house was reported under control, but the machinery and costly plant is a total loss, and the city is deprived of all power coming from that source.

It will be some days before the machinery can be rigged up sufficiently to renew power. The city is in complete darkness, so far as artificial light is concerned, and promises to be so for two or three weeks.

STRENGTHENING THE GARRISONS.

Additional British Troops to Be Stationed at Halifax, Vancouver and Bermuda.

Halifax, N.S., Aug. 30.—The Halifax garrison is to be strengthened by an additional regiment and several batteries. The field artillery and two infantry regiments are to be sent to Vancouver, and three additional regiments are to be stationed in Bermuda. The change will take place this fall.

Warships to Visit Montreal.

H.M.S. Intrepid and Pearl have been ordered to Bermuda to relieve the Talbot and Indefatigable. The last two named accompany the battleship Renown to Quebec on September 18. The Talbot and Indefatigable will go to Montreal from Quebec, remaining there for several days

Wheeler Not the Principal.

Toronto, Aug. 30.—George H. Wheeler, the man accused of swindling several country hotelkeepers out of small sums of money, was arraigned in the Police Court yesterday. Crown Attorney Curry stated that he did not consider Wheeler was the principal in the swindling, and the Magistrate remanded the case until to-day. It is said that other arrests will be made.

The Carleton Place jury finds that Peter Blair came to his death by Paris green administered by unknown persons.

A step ahead of others in quality—but never ahead in price—every purchase proves it.

Get the Boys Ready for School—Here are the New Suits.

In a very few days the cheery music of the school bells will be heard thro' the land, and the laughter-loving, boisterous, happy, rosy-cheeked boys will be marching to the tune of "readin', 'ritin' and 'rithmetic." They'll want new Suits, good strong ones, and here they are, fresh from the best clothing makers in the country. This store is never satisfied with giving its customers anything short of the best.

ONTARIO LOGS.

Canada Furnishes One-Half the Season's Cut of Cheboygan Mills.

Cheboygan, Mich., Aug. 30.—The tug Duncan City has gone to Georgian Bay to bring to Cheboygan 2,000,000 feet of logs. This will be the last tow of logs to come over from Canada this season and the amount of logs brought to Cheboygan this year will exceed that of any previous season. The figures in the Custom House show that when the Duncan City arrives Cheboygan will have received this year from Canada nearly 54,000,000 feet, one-half the average season's cut for the mills here.

Laying in Canadian Logs.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 30.—Some firms have stocked up largely with logs in anticipation of the operation of the prohibitory Act of the Ontario Legislature, and this apprehension has stimulated the market for Canada logs. The Saginaw Lumber & Salt Company, which is running its Crow Island plant day and night, has enough logs bought and put in by the company to stock the mill during the whole of next season. Hale & Booh, a Canadian firm, has sent thirty million feet of Canadian logs over from Georgian Bay to the Michigan market, all of which have been sold.

The Alger, Smith Co. of Black River, Alcona County, will log this winter in West Algoma, Ontario, where it owns three timber limits on Pigeon River, near the international boundary, and it is expected that about twenty million feet will be cut.

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Hogs—Estimated receipts to-day, 38,000; left over, 1603; market weak to 10c lower; heavy weak; light, $3.70 to $4.15; mixed, $3.60 to $4.10; heavy, $3.50 to $4.05; rough, $3.50 to $3.65.

Cattle—Receipts, 22,000; market generally 10c lower; beeves, $4 to $5.60; cows and heifers, $2 to $4.80; Texas steers, $3.30 to $4.30; Westerns, $3.60 to $4.50; stockers and feeders, $3.10 to $4.60.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

East Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 29.—Cattle—The market was in a fairly satisfactory position to-day, considering the liberal offerings, 210 loads, and the common quality of the bulk of the receipts. There were 68 loads of Canada stockers and a large proportion of medium quality of cattle. There were really no cattle here to-day as good as last week, which made the general average about 10c lower. The tone of the market was steady and good desirable butchers sold strong and the undesirable grades of all kinds were those affected by the decline. Choice to extra stockers sold full up and the light, common kinds lower by a full quarter. Good to best smooth fat export steers, $5.20 to $5.35; good to best, $4.90 to $5.15; butcher steers, $4.90 to $5.15; common to good butcher bulls, $3.25 to $3.65; good to best stock steers, $4.10 to $4.30; good to best stock calves, $4 to $4.15; stock heifers, $3.25 to $3.50; heifers, good to best fat, $4.25 to $4.50; fat cows, good to best, $3.75 to $4; springers, good to extra, $35 to $50; calves, choice to extra, $7.25 to $7.50; good to choice, $6.50 to $7; calves, buttermilk, $3.50 to $4.50.

Cheese Markets.

Utica, N.Y., Aug. 29.—At the Utica Board of Trade to-day the following sales of cheese were made: 5216 boxes large white and colored at 7c, 160 boxes large white at 6⅞, 584 boxes large white at 6¾c, 976 boxes small white and colored at 7¼c, 140 boxes small white at 7½c, 685 boxes both kinds consigned; 60 packages creamery butter at 18½c; 55 packages prints at 19½c.

At Little Falls, the sales were made as follows: 100 boxes large colored at private terms, 1150 boxes large white and colored at 7c, 950 boxes small colored and white at 7c, 4395 boxes small colored and white at 7¼c.

British Markets.

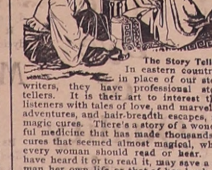

Liverpool, Aug. 29.—12.30.—No. 1 North, spring, 6s 9½d; red winter, 5s 7d; No. 1 Cal., 6s 3d to 6s 4d; corn, 3s 1d; peas, 4s 11½d; pork, 51s 3d; lard, 26s 3d; tallow, 19s 6d; bacon, heavy, l.c., 30s; light, 29s 6d; short cut, 29s 6d; cheese, white, 37s 6d; colored, 38s 6d.

Liverpool—Close—Spot wheat firm, with red winter at 5s 7½d; No. 1 Cal. at 6s 3d and No. 1 Northern at 6s 9½d; futures quiet at 5s 7d for Sept. and 5s 4d for Dec. Maize steady at 3s 1d for spot; futures, 3s 1½d for Sept., 3s 2d for Oct. and 3s 2⅜d for Dec. Flour, 21s 6d.

Maud Gibson of Lockport, N.Y., pleaded not guilty before Magistrate Jelfs at Hamilton yesterday to a charge of procuring girls for immoral purposes. The case was enlarged until to-day.

H. A. Harrington of Toronto, who claims that he represents the American Wringer Co., quarreled with T. Miller of Guelph, his partner on the road. Miller got the best of it, then he drew a knife and stabbed his partner in the neck. County Constable Phillips arrested him, and the Magistrate fined him. As he could not pay he had to go to the county jail.

M. Bouard, a French artist-journalist who is walking to the Klondike for $25,000 if he does it and earns his way in eight months, is in Toronto. He has already walked around the world twice. He makes landscape sketches and delivers lectures for his living by the way. He regards the Czar's peace message a bluff, as he says the Emperor has 150,000 soldiers a few hundred miles north of Vladivostock.

The Story Teller. In eastern countries, in place of our story-writers, they have professional story-tellers. It is their art to interest their listeners with tales of love, and marvelous adventures, and hair-breadth escapes, and magic cures. There's a story of a wonderful medicine that has made thousands of cures that seemed almost magical, which every woman should read or hear. To have heard it or to read it, may save a woman her own life or that of her husband. The medicine is the discovery of Dr. R. V. Pierce, an eminent and skillful specialist, for thirty years chief consulting physician to the great Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It makes the appetite hearty, the digestion perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and rich, the nerves steady, the brain clear and the body strong. It is the great blood-maker and flesh-builder. It cures 98 per cent. of all cases of consumption and diseases of the air-passages. It cures nervous diseases and is the best medicine for overworked men and women. A woman may save her husband's life by keeping a bottle in the house, and getting him to resort to it when he feels out-of-sorts. All men are heedless about their health. Medicines stores sell it. Doctor Pierce's reputation is world-wide, and his fellow townsmen, of Buffalo, N. Y., think so highly of him that they made him their representative in Congress, but his great love for his profession caused him to resign that honorable position that he might devote the remainder of his life to the relief and cure of the sick.

Another good thing to have in the house is a vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They cure biliousness and constipation and never gripe.

Can't Sleep.

The weary vigils of the night, anxious hours that drag like days. How often they come, and how unwelcome they are. A system robbed by sleeplessness of natural rest cannot be vigorous and strong. The nerves are at fault and must be built up. Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are the remedy that cured

MISS EMMA TEMPLE.

HERE IS WHAT SHE SAYS!

At last, after eight months of physical weakness and nervous prostration, caused by over exertion and want of rest,—during which time I suffered greatly on account of the shattered condition of my nerves, and for which I was unable to find any relief. I have found a medicine (Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills) that in three months made my nerves strong, removed all nervous troubles, built up my physical system and made me strong and well. They removed despondency, and in consequence of taking your valuable Pills I look forward to the future hopefully. I have to thank your great cure for nervousness and bodily weakness for my present good health and strength.

Yours truly,

Signed, EMMA TEMPLE, Hastings, Ont.

District Meeting.

The financial meeting of the Belleville District of the Bay of Quinte Conference is proceeding at the Bridge St. Church this afternoon, with a number of clergymen and laymen in attendance. Nothing of special interest is transpiring, the work being merely of a routine nature. The amount which the District will ask the General Missionary Board to grant Belleville North circuit, which is the only mission on the District, was fixed upon and arrangements were made for missionary meetings on the different circuits. Rev. C. E. McIntyre is presiding.

Not of the Ancient Order.

The art of compounding liniments and lotions is regarded among the ancients of many ages back, but Griffiths' Menthol Liniment is a decided improvement on all previous liniments brought before the public. It combines the well-known pain relieving properties of Menthol with the best counter irritants known to medical science. Sold by all druggists, 25 cents.

THE FAST LINE.

The annulling of the agreement entered into between the late Conservative Government and the Messrs. Allan, of Montreal, to place a fast line of steamers on the route between England and Canada, and the entering into of a contract with Messrs. Petersen, Tate & Co, has, as was predicted, proved disastrous to the enterprise, for the present at least, and probably for some time to come.

The latest information we have upon the subject is in a letter from Mr. Petersen to Hon. Mr. Dobell, which letter Mr. Dobell has given to the press.

Mr. Petersen expresses regret, that the Government did not give his firm more time in which to manipulate his scheme, on the ground that they did "all that lay in human power" to carry out their contract, and then he adds:

"Whatever the result may be of the future fate of the fast line, all I can say is that a more genuine or commercially sound and honest scheme than the one for which your government granted us the contract will never be produced. The subsidy was more than sufficient, and if anything more is paid in the future the Canadian people will be robbed in order to feed the shareholders' pockets."

Has not Mr. Petersen, in his desire to defend the policy pursued upon this fast line contract of the Laurier Government proved, or rather, said too much?

If this contract of the Petersen firm was "commercially" a "sound and honest scheme," and the "subsidy more than sufficient," to remunerate those who would invest their money in it, how is it that the shrewd commercial men of England, who are ever ready with their superabundant wealth and resources to engage in enterprises which show even a moderate return for their investment, did not take the bait and assist in carrying out the terms of a contract, which had a "subsidy" guaranteed "more than sufficient" to make it pay? In fact Mr. Petersen says if "any thing more is paid in the future, the Canadian people will be robbed in order to feed the shareholders pockets." This looks very much like a dog in the manger policy. Mr. Petersen having failed, does not wish anyone else to succeed, and therefore says to the Canadian people, don't increase your subsidy, you have offered enough, and to give any more will be to rob the people. Yet Mr. Petersen failed with, as he alleges, a subsidy amply "sufficient" for the work as per performed. It is difficult to reconcile this statement unless upon the presumption that the shipping interests and moneyed men of the kingdom had no confidence in the contractors.

It is altogether probable, however, that there were other reasons underlying this defence of the Government in the course pursued in this fast line scheme, one of which crops up in the closing sentence of the Petersen letter to Mr. Dobell, which reads in the following manner:

"Trusting that you will be kind enough, as promised, to use your influence and implore the Government to exercise their leniency, and, if possible, refund us our deposit."

The deposit was a large one, and the gentleman interested could afford to say a good many nice things to Mr. Dobell to ensure its return. Will the Government return the deposit? We predict it will.

It is now stated by the Government organs in Quebec and Montreal, that a 20 knot service is too slow and that, any new contract will be for a 16 knot or 22 knot service. The former would be simply a freight service, and would not accomplish the objects which Canada has in view. A line that will compete successfully with the New York liners, or none, should be the motto of the Canadian people.

PLATT'S PLAN.

Canadians are interested in United States politics, reflecting as they do to a certain extent upon public men and public affairs in Canada. The present condition of politics in New York State is one which is attracting widespread attention.

Senator Platt's tacit acceptance of Col. Roosevelt as the Republican candidate for the governorship of New York State must not be regarded as evidence that the famous "boss" has become a convert to the principles of clean, honest government, nor need it be imagined that the sagacious Thomas is simple enough to expect that he can "come Paddy" over the bluff commander of the Rough Riders. The simple fact of the matter is that with Black as candidate, there is a very strong probability that the Democrats would not only elect their gubernatorial candidate, but would also succeed in obscuring the national issues and by making the record of the Republican State government the issue, would succeed in electing their representatives to the Federal Congress. Black, who for the past few years, has simply been Platt's cringing puppet, is seemingly to be coolly deserted by the boss, and will now be allowed to return to the position of obscurity from which his talents, as a political trickster and a sycophant temporarily raised him. The machine of course will have an overwhelming majority in the state convention where the candidate is chosen, and Platt's word will be law.

The probabilities at present are that Thomas will yield to the wishes of the Citizens Union, or mugwump, element of the party and accept Roosevelt as the party candidate but will insist at the same time that they shall swallow the balance of his ticket. If they consent to this, he, with a majority of the legislature at his back and and with the state officials under his thumb, will be able to hold Teddy's reform proclivities in check and thus spike the guns of his esteemed friends, the mugwumps. The latter gentlemen are inclined to hum and haw but their failure to comply with Thomas' ultimatum means that he will run a machine ticket, governor and all, spoil their candidate's chances, and hand the state over to Tammany, in the same manner as he presented them with the greater New York. Verily the heathen Chinee has not a monopoly of "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain."

Arther Sturgis Hardy must be grievously assailed by the green-eyed monster, when he ponders over the masterly generalship of Platt. Just to imagine the exquisite delight of being able to take the troublesome Tories by the throat and forcing them to swallow retroactive legislation in great big chunks. Even Geordie Ross' sardonic soul would be so softened and mellowed by such a prospect that he would be compelled to satisfy the cravings of the triumphal muse by editing some more of Longfellow's canto, or maybe Jim Conmee, the coming poet laureate of the Government benches, might favor the party organs with some of his mellifluous verse—although we might quietly mention to Jim right here, that Ruddy Kipling is the only poet who is allowed to make "glory" rhyme with "topsail."

WALTER L. MAIN'S BIG SHOW

Undoubtedly the best circus That has Ever Visited Toronto.

Its Attractions Are Unequalled--The Performances are Superb--Feats of Agility and Daring Thrill Thousands-- Description of the Manifold Attraction--The Gorgeous Parade.

(Toronto World.)

"Thank heaven when Main's circus is out of here!" was the exclamation of thousands of Toronto fathers all last week, when the youngsters pulled at their tails and begged to be taken to see it, but when the steam calliope sang out yesterday on the streets the situation was completely changed. The old boys were among the first to rush into the grounds and hundreds of grown-up men and women, whom the reporter saw last evening rolling with laughter on the circus benches or shivering at some daring aerial act, had to confess that they had been at the afternoon performance as well. Unlike most circuses Main's show is not merely the children's delight. Big snakes, fine horses, bristling tigers and huge elephants there are in abundance, but there are European specialties as well, whose performers have played to packed houses in London, Berlin, Paris, and received salaries three times as big as Premier Laurier or his Cabinet get. It is no wonder that 25,000 men, women and children crossed into the show, and shouted themselves hoarse over its attractions. To reach it one had to go through the menagerie and here, among the roaring tigers and glaring hyenas, whose eyes blazed like bicycle lamps, was "Admiral Dewey."

The little chap, who is the tiniest baby elephant in captivity, was gorgeously decked out in a coat of red and blue silk. So wild was the enthusiasm of the children over him that no show was possible until he was removed.

The big program started out with a processional tournament, just to show what it had on tap for the day, and from that moment to the close of the two-hour program men, women and children forgot everything else. Prof. Ferris' living pyramid act, where the pyramid was composed of trumpeting elephants, roaring lions, leopards and pumas, snow-white Arabian horses and fierce Siberian hounds was a daring performance. Human control of so wild a conglomeration had not been witnessed before, and the act was concluded with a storm of applause.

The children's faces grew white when an Arabian horse rushed wildly into the arena with a huge lion fastened on his back, but they broke out with cheers when they discovered that both rider and ridden were used to it.

"Mingo," the "old clown," who does a lot of infinitely funny tricks while 13 feet high on stilts, introduced a carnival of fun. A World reporter had the pleasure of an introduction to this actor in his dressing room afterwards. "Mingo" is well off but finds circus applause too pleasant to think of retiring into private life. A fellow-clown, whom, to call Crandall, is to make use of a name known all over Europe, does some wonderful riding on mule back. It was all immensely comical and the vast audience fairly yelled with delight. Crandall was badly wanted by Barnum, but, although that veteran showman offered him big inducements, he wouldn't accept. One also spied the famous character clown Hodge of Hodge & Christy's minstrels, and his house overflowed many a good laugh.

Torontonians had heard so much of the Eddy family that curiosity ran high when this famous English troupe walked into the arena. People were simply crazy to see the actors who were all the rage in English titled society, and thoroughly endorsed the taste of the aristocrats. Dainty Louise, who showed her convent training, was greeted with shouts of delight, and lady acrobats threaten to be the next fad of the town.

There were loud cries of approval while the Werntz family dangled in midair, and gave a wonderful performance lasting some 15 minutes, accompanied by music, during which the youngest member was handled like a doll.

Stopped, Has It?

It was such a good watch. I never had it cleaned in five years. That is the remark we hear every day. Is it any wonder watches go to pieces? A watch is a very delicate piece of mechanism, and to give satisfaction and wear a lifetime should be cleaned every eighteen months. Has yours been attended to? If not, bring it in. Our prices are as low as is consistent with good work.

THURLOW WEDDING.

Miss Alice M. Wilson Becomes Mrs. Frank Bennett.

At ten o'clock this morning at the residence of the bride's father, 2nd con. of Thurlow, Miss Alice M., daughter of Mr. J. B. Wilson, was wedded to Mr. Frank Bennett of the same township. Rev. Mr. McArthur, of Melrose, officiated. The bride was assisted by Miss Elsie McConnell and the groom by Mr. N. Duffin, of this city. The young couple left on the 2:45 train for a trip to Toronto and other points before taking up their residence in Thurlow. A large number of the friends of the contracting parties witnessed the ceremony and the bride received many beautiful presents.

Both the young people are very well and favorably known in this city and throughout Thurlow and we join in the showers of good wishes.

New Overcoats and Ulsters.

Remember the Oak Hall have all their new overcoats, ulsters and pea jackets for the fall and winter now in stock and ready to sell. Early buyers know the advantage in getting the first pick out of a fine new stock, such as we carry. We have all the new and correct styles and all the latest fabrics.

LAST OF THE SEASON.

Christ Church S. S. Holds Its Annual Picnic.

The last Sunday School picnic of the season took place to-day, when the scholars and friends of Christ Church and St. George's Schools holidayed at Twelve O'Clock Point. Two trips were made at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. and the Merritt was well loaded each time. A jolly time was spent by the picnickers in spite of the heat. The usual foot races and sports were held. There will be a moonlight excursion to Deseronto on the Merritt this evening, under the same auspices.

The Circus.

Mr. Geo. S. Cole and Mr. Don McKenzie, of Main's Show are in the city today. Mr. Cole is contracting for provisions for the show during its stay here, and Mr. Mackenzie is arranging the ground. The show will arrive here at three o'clock to-morrow morning and will commence unloading at five. The street parade will take place at ten o'clock and the performances will take place at two and eight. It takes thirty cars, each sixty feet long, to contain the menagerie and circus hands and performers.

MR. PORTER IS SANGUINE.

Ponton's Lawyer Thinks He will Easily Get Off.

The Mail and Empire says: Mr. E. Guss Porter, counsel for W. H. Ponton in the Napanee bank robbery case, arrived in the city last evening, accompanied by his wife. Mr. Porter has been taking a couple of weeks' recreation on the Muskoka lakes, and looks very well indeed. In conversation with a Mail and Empire representative last evening in the Rossin house, Mr. Porter expressed himself as fully confident that he would succeed in getting his client his liberty.

"The case will be tried before Judge Ferguson in September next," said he "and the prosecution are not going to have it all their own way. There will be surprises on our side as well as on theirs."

$6.50 Suits.

Oftentimes, when we set out to get a thing, more comes from it than was expected. No doubt you've been buying your winter goods from the same house for a long time, but don't forget that other people make them. This season we have a brown and green mixed suit for men that we sell for six fifty. It will cost you eight dollars elsewhere.—QUICK & ROBERTSON.

Friendly Arabs Capture Five of the Dervishes—Another Gunboat Wrecked in a Terrific Sand Storm.

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 30.—A brigade of friendly Arabs, commanded by Major Stuart Wortley, it is announced in a despatch from Wad-El-Obeid, dated yesterday, which has been pushing round Omdurman, the Dervish camp near Khartoum, with the view of cutting off the retreat of the forces of the Khalifa, had its first brush with the enemy on the east bank of the Nile and captured five men and a grain laden boat. The Dervish scouts, the despatch continues, are now frequently sighted, and the whole Anglo-Egyptian army has reached Uterif, thirty miles from Omdurman. It will move into a new camp ten miles further south to-day.

The gunboat Melik has been wrecked while reconnoitering ten miles up the river in a terrific sand storm.

A SUDDEN DEATH

Miss Fannie Greatrix Dies of Apoplexy.

Yesterday morning Miss Fannie Greatrix, who lived with her nephew, Mr. A. J. McCrodan, took suddenly ill and died in the evening. Apoplexy was the cause of her death.

Miss Greatrix was the daughter of the late John Greatrix, and was born in Hacelby, Lincolnshire, England, over 60 years ago. She came to Belleville in 1861 and has resided here ever since. Three brothers survive her, Richard, of this city, John and Thomas, of Thurlow.

Deceased was held in very high esteem by all who knew her. The funeral took place this afternoon at four o'clock.

Rev. Newton Hill conducted the service. The bearers were Thos. Wills, John Wallace, Byron Myers, C. Rathman, Geo. McCarthy and Stephen Haight.

Deer Hunting.

To the Editor of the INTELLIGENCER.

Sir,—The Chief Game Warden of Ontario has issued a circular propounding the following questions:—

Do you approve of the hounding of deer?

Do you think the abolition of hounding would conduce to the increased protection of deer?

Do you approve of the killing of deer in the water or just leaving the water?

The one and only object distinctly stated is "the protection of deer," and the replies to the above questions are requested with this object in view."

In this circular is veiled with the evident intention not to procure the unbiassed opinion of sportsmen as to the question of deer hunting generally, but for the purpose of getting a negative reply to these questions, and to use these replies in influencing future legislation.

If the one and only thing aimed at is "the protection of deer," it would of course be advisable not only to stop the hounding of deer, but to prevent the killing of deer altogether under any circumstances, and in order that this might be effectually done, it would be better to order the extermination of deer hounds, and the imposition of a sufficient penalty to prevent any persons carrying firearms in the woods where deer are likely to be found.

The present prohibition of killing deer in the water or "just coming out of the water," is practically a dead letter, and will continue to be so. It is better to have no restriction in this respect than one which cannot be properly enforced. To insist that deer shall be shot only on runways results in the driving, if not a still larger proportion, so shot being only wounded, and escaping from the hunters to die lingering and cruel deaths in the swamps. A friend of mine who is a wood-ranger, informed one of my last year's guides that he had, during the previous season, found no less than 14 dead deer in the woods, that had been wounded, but not so disabled as to prevent their escaping from the hunters. Not one in a dozen of ordinary sportsmen can shoot accurately enough at a running deer in the woods to kill on the spot. The "cruelty" urged against the killing of deer in the water is more properly applicable to the shooting of deer on runway.

The only method of properly hunting deer except by hounding is by "still hunting." I was in the woods last year during the greater part of the open season, and there was not a single still hunting day, and the year before in the locality I visited there was only one still hunting day, and that was on a Saturday. Weather suitable for still hunting comes later in the season, and when the venison is growing less fit for food. Deer are in the best condition for food early in the open season.

The present open season of 15 days is too short. It simply has the effect to send deer hunters all into the woods together, which is most objectionable. The open season in New York State is three months—from the 15th of August to the 15th of November. The open season in the State of Maine is two months and a half—from the 1st of October to the 15th of December.

The Government must, independent of the Fenny Warden, have in view not simply the "protection of deer," but allowing deer hunting under proper and reasonable restrictions, I would suggest:—

First, that the open season, instead of being as now from the 1st to the 15th of November, should be from the 15th of October to the 15th of November. License and coupon system now in force strictly limiting the number of deer to be killed to be continued, and the restrictions as to how and where deer may be killed to be entirely removed.

I believe if these conditions would be entirely satisfactory to the great mejority of those who are practically conversant with the matter,

Yours, etc.,
D. W.

WEDDED TO-DAY.

One of Belleville's Daughter's Goes to Cleveland.

At eight this morning in St. Michael's church Mr. Thos. McCarty, of Cleveland, Ohio, formerly of Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McCarty, was married to Miss Jennie Newman, daughter of Mr. Chas. Newman, W. Bridge st. Rev. Fr. Connolly performed the ceremony in the presence of a large number of friends. The groom was assisted by Mr. John Dolan and the bride by Miss Lulu Newman. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. V. Sidley. The young couple left on the noon train for Cleveland, where they will reside in future.

Numerous beautiful presents were received by the bride, including a magnificent silver tea service from Mr. and Mrs. W. McCarty. She was also kindly remembered by the staff at D. V. Sinclair & Co's. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome brooch and to the bridesmaid a gold ring. Both Mr. and Mrs. McCarty were well known and highly esteemed here and the best wishes of their many friends follow them to their home across the line.

Snow Storms

Will soon be here again. Before they come enjoy a trip to Montreal via the American Line through the 1000 Islands down the St. Lawrence and shooting the numerous rapids. The boats leave Kingston daily, either for the islands or the combined trip. The new river boat, the "New York," is without doubt the finest ever put on this route, everything being up-to-date, and the cuisine excellent. The "American Line" steamer leaves Kingston daily at 4.30 a.m., and passengers are entitled to berth free the night before departure of steamer. There is no smoke, no freight, dining rooms on main deck; and the boats are modern light draught day line steamers. For full particulars write or call on J. A. Enjoyable Musicale.

Last evening Mrs. J. J. Rice's pupils gave a very satisfactory musicale at the Bleecker ave. parsonage, which was thoroughly enjoyed by quite a number of parents and other friends. The pianoforte selections were rendered by the following: Misses Annie Tenny, Amelia and Lucy Forster, Bessie and Nettie Root, Edith and Ethel Mayo, Annie Hill, Ada Hill (Toronto) and Bernice Flower and Master Roswell Flower. All the pieces rendered showed good progress. After light refreshments had been served, all joined heartily in singing a hymn and the happy company broke up.

PLEBISCITE NOTES.

As the time approaches for the voting on the question of Prohibition, various schemes are resorted to, pro and con, to influence the electors.

A short time ago, attention was called to the attitude of the French Ministerial press of the Province of Quebec, notably Tarte's and Pacaud's papers, both of which told their readers that the Plebiscite was not a Ministerial measure, and therefore the supporters of the Government were not expected to vote for it, as such. This does not appear to have been sufficient to clinch the habitant vote against the principle of prohibition, hence another cry had to be raised, which to the French Rouges is, when everything else fails, to appeal to race and creed. The Laurier Grit-Rouge crowd succeed in the last campaign upon that cry. Why not now? Here is the last resort:

Some parties in Quebec have started the creed cry in connection with the plebiscite campaign. A statement has been going the rounds of some of the French papers opposed to prohibition, that should prohibition carry it would mean perpetual discontinuance of mass, that the move is a Protestant one, which if successful would aim a crushing blow at Catholicism. Under the act no more wine could be procured, and wine is a necessity of the masses. Dominion Alliance officers in the city this morning pointed out that the act would not prevent the procuring of wine for sacramental purposes.

If those who are raising this foolish cry will refer to the past history of their own Province, they will learn that the most rigid laws of a prohibitory character were enacted at the instance of the Jesuits and other ecclesiastics, even to the hanging and shooting of those who sold brandy to the Indians, and the masses were not affected thereby. It is a senseless cry, and should be frowned down.

There seems to be great uneasiness in the Grit party as to what is to be done in case of a favorable vote. Here are some of the breakers ahead, which the Grit Banner of Dundas points out:

There seems to be a great deal of curiosity regarding the plebiscite which nobody is able to satisfy. Supposing the plebiscite should carry in favor of prohibition, what then? Will the Government bring down a bill to give it effect? And if the commons does it, will the Senate throw it out? Could prohibition be enforced if it were made the law? What about the liquor that the distillers have on hand, which the law requires them to keep in stock for two years before selling it? Who is to pay for this?

Next comes the action of the Licensed Victuallers' Association in Ontario. The last information as to the intentions of the members of this body is contained in a telegram from Ottawa to the following effect:

The position assumed by the licensed victuallers of Ontario to the prohibition plebiscite was explained by Provincial Secretary Dickey at a meeting of the trade here last night. He says they are confident that the prohibitionists will not poll more than one-third of the vote recorded. The licensed victuallers, he said, believe that the financial aspect of the question will prevent a popular declaration in favor of prohibition. The prospect of being taxed to make good the revenue now derived from the traffic will, in their judgement, prove the salvation of the business. The men in the trade have decided to do nothing in an organized way to meet the campaign of the prohibitionists. They were told that literature has been prepared and if they want it it will be forthcoming, but the trade in each centre is expected to pay for what it uses. The retailers think that the manufacturers and wholesalers, who get the lion's share of the profit, should provide the sinews of war for the campaign.

Here, is a strong plea for prohibition:—There is an old lady named Jane Cakebread dying in an Old Country asylum who holds the world's record for intoxication. She has been convicted of drunkenness nearly 300 times, and was never out of prison for much over a day at a time for about 15 years. Lady Henry Somerset took her in hand, and put her in a home, but Jane found life there too slow and wandered off to the nearest public house. After that the gaol was her home as before, and now she is in an asylum, where she ought to have been long ago. There never was a clearer case of mania, and it is a disgrace to English law that there should have been no recourse but to let the woman revolve between the public house and the prison.

DEER HUNTING.

We call the attention of those interested to a letter in to-day's issue from "D. W." upon the subject of Deer Hunting. It is from a gentleman who understands the subject of which he treats, and is worthy the attention of sportsmen.

Miss Shaw, the correspondent of the London Times, has returned from Dawson to Victoria, B.C., and will now go east, writing up Manitoba's wheat and then on to Labrador by canoe from Churchill. Yukon prospects are more encouraging than she anticipated.

A number of Dominion Bank bills stolen from Napanee were presented for payment by a countryman at the Hochelaga Bank at Three Rivers, Que., yesterday. He had received them in a remittance from Manchester, and was much dismayed when told they were stolen funds and of no value.

The Bristol Chamber of Commerce will take advantage of the presence in Britain of Canadians and other colonists attending the meeting of the British Association to hold a conference in which business men may discuss the question of the improvement of trade between throat Britain and her colonies.

The Sir Garden City yesterday rescued three men clinging to an upturned sailing skiff about a mile and a half from Toronto's eastern gap. They had been in the water two hours, and were nearly exhausted. A fourth man, capsized with them, had started to swim ashore, but it is not known if he succeeded.

'TIS BLAMED ON THE QUEEN.

A Charge That Her Majesty Inspired the Czar's Peace Note.

The Czar Grows Uneasy Over What He Saw in Siberia—He Fears an Outbreak of Malcontents There Under Military Burdens—Hence His Peace Manifesto—Belief That the Proposal Will Be Shelved—France Is Irritated.

Bristol, Eng., Aug. 31.—The Trades Union Congress has unanimously passed a resolution expressing satisfaction at the Czar's peace note, and calling on the British Government to give effect thereto, "as militarism is the great foe of liberty and is a crushing burden to the toiling millions."

In other quarters it is alleged that the Czar's pronouncement was directly inspired by Queen Victoria, whose great hope is that her reign may not again be disturbed by war. The Queen, confessedly, has long sought to restrain Emperor William and it is not unlikely that she used her great influence with the Czarina to secure the Czar's support.

Germany Will Accept.

London, Aug. 31.—The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: "The subject was long on the mind of Emperor Frederick, who feared the time would come when Europe, exhausted by militarism, would be at the mercy of the industrial competition of the United States. A diplomatist assures me that Emperor William intended to revert to the subject of disarmament while at Jerusalem, in the coming autumn, to attend the dedication of the Church of the Redeemer.

Czar Fears for Siberia.

"In addition to taking the wind out of the Kaiser's sails, the Czar is the only Russian sovereign who has traversed Siberia, and he must have seen such a population of political malcontents as might easily be induced by American, Japanese and English interests to declare for independence. The greatest objection to the circular is that such a clever person as Count Muravieff signs it."

If Only Four Powers Agree.

London, Aug. 31.—One correspondent says: "Emperor Nicholas has had in mind the reparative activity of the United States and Japan in the world's affairs, and has ascertained that Great Britain is absolutely determined to oppose upon China a complete military and naval reorganization. I understand that if only four powers agree the conference will be held without the others."

TO SHELVE IT.

Belief That a Conference Will Be Called —France Angry at the Czar.

London, Aug. 31.—The newspapers here continue to devote a large amount of their space to commenting upon and criticizing the Czar's peace note. While naturally differing in regard to the reasons actuating the appeal, they generally agree that the outcome will be a conference of the premiers, if not of the sovereigns themselves, probably at Copenhagen, which will be followed by an expression of concurrence in the humanitarian aims of the Czar, and a report of the resolution to their respective governments, when the whole thing will be shelved indefinitely.

The latest comments from Paris show there is intense irritation there on the subject. The Czar's proposal is regarded as being unfriendly and inconsistent with the Franco-Russian alliance.

Curiously enough, in support of this view, yesterday's official Hamburg Correspondent publishes a telegram from St. Petersburg, confirming the report that Emperor William of Germany and the Czar exchanged views in regard to the establishment of a lasting state of peace, "which was fully demonstrated by the identity of the monarchs' wishes."

Lord Salisbury on Armed Europe.

London, Aug. 31.—The Daily Graphic says that Lord Salisbury in 1888 communicated to Emperor William a memorandum showing the tremendous cost of armed Europe. Emperor William was so impressed that he privately intimated his intention to summon a disarmament congress. The semi-official German press ventilated the idea, with the result that so much curiosity was revealed on the part of France that the Kaiser abandoned the project.

He Thought of It Himself.

London, Aug. 31.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says: "Count Muravieff, the Russian Foreign Minister, declares that the idea originated entirely with Emperor Nicholas. There is much skepticism in diplomatic circles as to any practical results from a conference; and it is admitted on all sides that the circular came as the greatest surprise."

BRITISHER MADE "A FINE CHOP."

Mr. J. Walmsley Devoured by Cannibals on the Ivory Coast.

Liverpool, Eng., Aug. 31.—Advices from the Coast of Africa give details of a horrible affair at Blenson on the French Ivory Coast. Mr. J. Walmsley of Liverpool, although expressly forbidden to do so, went out through the surf to the old Calabar, then lying in the river, his boat was overturned and he was drowned. Three days later his hand, the body being caught and mangled by sharks, was discovered on the beach, and was buried. His arms and legs were afterwards found, and two natives were despatched with a case with a view to carry them to the spot where the head was. The natives took the remains of what remains were left, cooking and devouring them with rice and cassava. The white man, they said, made "a fine chop." The "Fetish Black Devil" (Fetish King) ordered the remains to be eaten or all the natives would die. He demanded certain portions for himself.

Andree Search Fruitless.

Tromsoe, Norway, Aug. 31.—The steam whaler Fridtjof, having on board Walter Wellman and the members of the expedition to Greenland, has returned, after landing an expedition at Cape Togethoff, on the southern point of Hall's Island.

While the Wellman party were returning they met the expedition to Franz Josef Land, under Dr. A. G. Notheest, at Konigskar Island, and were informed that all search for Professor Andree, the missing balloonist, had proved futile.

THE TSUNG LI YAMEN

Feels That Britain Must Be Firmer With Russia if China Is Not to Be Dismembered.

Pekin, Aug. 31.—A high member of the Tsung Li Yamen (Chinese Foreign Office), who is a British sympathizer, complained, in the course of a recent interview, that Great Britain's assurances of support against Russian aggression were belated.

"Why," said this functionary, "with hold such a declaration until Russia has secured Port Arthur and France obtained considerable cessions in the south? The disintegration of the Empire has begun, and to-day the necessity for strong action is less urgent than when Russia first obtained a foothold."

He admitted that China had broken her promises to England, but this, he argued, was because Russian pressure was too strong to be resisted. He complained of "British ignorance of Russia's line of action," and said:

"Why does not England approach Russia directly with a declaration that Russia's interference in China will be regarded as a casus belli? It is useless to punish helpless China and to participate in the disintegration of the empire. The Tsung Li Yamen prefers that British influence should be paramount; but it is impossible for anything unless England helps, with sword in hand."

A New Combination.

London, Aug. 31.—The Pekin correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Negotiations are being conducted by Yung Wing, an American citizen, to whom the Tsung Li Yamen granted a concession for the Tien Tsin, Chin Kiang Railroad, with Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Company of London, and Mr. Allan, representing a New York banking syndicate and a German banking house in Berlin, with the object of establishing an Anglo-American-German combination for the construction of the railway. The estimated outlay exceeds £5,000,000, and it is intended that the undertaking shall be solely of a commercial character.

ANARCHY AT MANILA.

The Insurgents Said to Be Hunting and Pillaging the Spaniards While Natives Sack Villages.

London, Aug. 31.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Manila, dated Aug. 27, says: "All the outskirts of Manila are in a state of complete anarchy. The insurgents are hunting and pillaging the Spaniards while the natives generally are sacking villages, robbing vehicles and stealing horses."

ECHOES OF THE WAR.

When Gen. Miles returns to Washington he will be asked for an explanation of recent interviews appearing with him and the publication of certain despatches which the War Department had not made public.

The hospital train of twelve Wagner cars with 200 sick soldiers from the 8th New York Volunteers passed through Syracuse, N.Y., yesterday. Some of the men were delirious and they were being taken care of by the stronger men in the party.

Gen. Weyler now proposes to be independent of both the Government and the Opposition. He says the Carlists have lots of money.

The Spanish peace commissioners will be Senor Leon y Castillo, Spain's Ambassador at Paris; Senor Urrutia, Spanish Minister at Brussels; the Duke of Najera, the Governor of Cadiz; Senator Marcoaitu, and Senor Abatzuza.

MILLIONAIRE OFFICIALS.

Dr. Matthewman Has Met Them in the Shape of Government Employes.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 31.—Dr. G. P. Matthewman, has returned from the Klondike. Matthewman was on the Corona when it was wrecked on January 28 last, on its way to St. Michael's from Victoria. Matthewman appears to confirm reports from the Yukon that some of the Government officials have become millionaires. He says that Capt. Bliss, the Government accountant, was one of the first millionaires he met.

Dangers of Delay.

If we were allowed to look in the future and see the fatal consequences that follow a neglected cold, how differently would our course be; could we realize our danger, how speedily we would seek a cure; but with many it is only when the monster disease has fastened its fangs upon our lungs that we awaken to our folly. When follows a neglected cold? Is it not diseases of the throat and lungs, bronchitis, asthma, consumption, and many other diseases of like nature. It is worse than madness to neglect a cold, and it is folly not to have some good remedy available for this frequent complaint. One of the most efficacious medicine for all diseases of the throat and lungs, is Hickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine is composed of several medical herbs, which exert a most wonderful influence in curing consumption and other diseases of the lungs and chest. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, soothes irritation and drives the disease from the system.

It is easier to be good than great—there is less opposition.

At Death's Door—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph.—"Gentlemen,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live when I commenced to use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 lbs. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the Vegetable Discovery consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold thirty dozen Vegetable Discovery since it cured me, so I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life as I never expected to recover when first I commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for dyspepsia. (Signed) Jean Valcourt, General Merchant, Wotton, P. Q.

The sun shines for all, but the sleeping car porter does it for a quarter.

Totally Deaf.—Mr. S. E. Crandell, Port Perry, writes:—"I contracted a severe cold last winter, which resulted in my becoming totally deaf in one ear and partially so in the other. After trying various remedies, and consulting several doctors, without obtaining relief, I was advised to try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. I warmed the Oil and poured a little into my ear, and before one-half the bottle was used my hearing was completely restored. I have heard of other cases of deafness being cured by the use of this medicine."

How to Cure Headache.—Some people suffer untold misery day after day with headache. There is rest neither day or night until the nerves are all unstrung. The cause is generally disordered stomach, and a cure can be effected by using Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, containing Mandrake and Dandelion. Mr. Finlay Wark, Lysander, P.Q., writes: "I find Parmelee's Pills a first-class article for Bilious Headache.

Love and war go hand in hand. Even the din of battle has a sort of engagement ring.

The genuine cures of Parmelee's Pills are constant receving letters similar to the following, which explains itself. Mr. John A. Beam, Waterloo, Ont., writes: "I have used any medicine that can equal Parmelee's Pills for dyspepsia or Liver and Kidney Complaints. What experience after using them was wonderful." As a safe family medicine Parmelee's Vegetable Pills can be given in all cases requiring a cathartic.

THE SECOND DAY.

Splendid Weather and Excellent Shooting at Rockliffe Ranges, Ottawa.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 31.—The shooting at the Dominion Rifle Association matches at Rockliffe ranges started yesterday morning with the Dominion of Canada match, at 500 yards, and the weather was grand. So was the shooting. The men appreciated that they must do their best, as on the scores in this match depended the Walker match prizes for battalion teams, the two competitions being this year doubled up. There was a light rear wind and the light was splendid. At 500 yards the scoring was very high, a number of possibles being put on at this range. At ten o'clock the men moved back to the 600 yards to complete the match.

Dominion of Canada Match.

The Dominion of Canada match, 200, 500 and 600 yards, 7 shots at each, possible 105. The first prize, $25 and the Patterson Cup and special badge, were won by Capt. O. W. Wetmore, 74th Battalion, with a score of 99.

The Walker Match.

The Walker Match, for battalion teams—Challenge Cup and smaller cup, presented by H. Walker. The 1st P.W.R. won the Challenge Cup and badges, with a score of 554. The other teams followed in this order: 8th R.R., Quebec, 548; Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, 548; 77th Dundas, 545; 59th, Cornwall, 540. Sergt. P. Armstrong, Royal Grenadiers, wins the individual cup prize in the Walker match with a score of 98.

The Davis Match.

The Royal Grenadiers won the Davis Cup in connection with the Dominion of Canada match, with a score of 561.

Minister of Militia Match.

Minister of Militia, teams. The first prize, $30 and Caron Challenge Cup, was won by 8th R.R., Quebec, with a score of 308, and the other teams followed in this order: Royal Grenadiers, Toronto; 77th, Wentworth; N.B. Prov. R. A., 48th Highlanders, Toronto, 12th Battalion York Rangers, 43rd Battalion, Ottawa, Guelph R.A., B.C.R.A., N.S., Q.O.R. H. Co., R.G., Cornwall R.A.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Two letters from H. Rider Haggard, the famous novelist, addressed to Alex. Macdonald, and now in the possession of Detective Greer, are the latest developments in the Middleton case. The letters, under date of April 11 and 17, 1898, are corroborative of the story that while Macdonald, or Middleton, was in England, he secured an introduction to one of the most noted of English novelists in connection with a new story of the Klondike. The letters are written on the note paper of Mr. Haggard's residence, "Detchingham House," Norfolk.

In the left-hand corner of the front page is the Haggard crest, a peculiar looking affair, composed of mysterious hieroglyphics.

The first letter states that a friend of the writer, Mr. Arthur Cochrane, has said Macdonald might be inclined to spend a quiet Sunday at Norfolk, and contains an invitation from Mr. and Mrs. Haggard, who would like to meet one who has led so adventurous a life. Whether Macdonald accepted the invitation or not it is hard to say. It is hardly likely that he did, but he wrote Mr. Haggard, and the second letter, written six days after the first, acknowledges a communication, and accepts an offer to write a story of Macdonald's life, experiences and discoveries in the British Northwest Territories, Alaska and the Arctic regions, for a consideration of £10,000, nine thousand to be paid in cash and the balance to be taken in shares in Claim 30, Eldorado Creek Company. Both letters are signed by the famous novelist and look perfectly genuine.

Macdonald's only object in getting them would be that they would be useful to him in the gigantic mining scheme which he was working in London, and which was nipped in the bud as he was about to get out with £10,000 of somebody's money for "development" purposes.

The letters of Mr. Haggard came into the possession of Inspector Greer yesterday through Mrs. M. C. Thomas of Hamilton, who is one of Macdonald's mothers-in-law. There is no doubt that Maggie Thomas was married to Macdonald in Chicago by Justice O'Toole on May 27, 1897. Mrs. Macdonald showed Inspector Greer her marriage certificate yesterday. This makes three sure weddings which the man now in Woodstock jail must account for. The charge of bigamy laid yesterday will be heard next Tuesday at the conclusion of the false pretences charge, and developments of a most startling nature are promised on Monday.

MIDDLETON ON TRIAL.

Charged With Obtaining Goods Under False Pretences—Evidence Taken at Woodstock—Remanded for a Week.

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 31.—Reginald Launcelot Middleton appeared in the Woodstock Police Court yesterday morning to answer on preliminary trial to the charge of obtaining goods from E. J. Cole, of the Empire China Hall, under false pretences, the alleged false pretences chiefly being that Middleton got the goods on the representation that the Brantford & Woodstock Railway was being built by the C.P.R.

Middleton was gaped at by a big crowd of people on the way to the Police Court, while every foot of space in the court room was taken up by spectators, and many were unable to gain admittance. The prisoner wore a wan look as a result of his illness in gaol, but brightened up as he found occupation in posting his lawyers, H. J. Finkle and A. S. Ball, who conducted the defence.

Pleads "Not Guilty."

The prisoner pleaded not guilty. Mr. Cole said that Middleton not only intimated that he was the chief engineer of the new railroad, but that when asked who was building the road Middleton answered "the C.P.R." This was when Middleton was purchasing goods in Mr. Cole's store. Middleton had explained that the vouchers for the goods were all sent to Montreal, and those to whom debts were due were expected to meet the pay car and receive their pay. After explaining this the prisoner had purchased goods to the amount of seven dollars, and gave a voucher as payment. The account was opened, said Mr. Cole, on the understanding that the C.P.R. was at the back of it.

Crow's Nest Also.

To Mr. A. S. Ball the witness said that the prisoner had been introduced to him by Mr. Charles Pyne, of the Hotel Oxford. Another of Middleton's representations to Cole was that he had built the Crow's Nest Pass Railway.

The Other Evidence.

Mr. Alf. Rubbra of the Sentinel-Review, who took a trip over the survey of the road with Middleton, told of the railway man's representations to him, which were to the effect that the C.P.R. were behind the B. & W. road. Middleton had also showed the reporter a copy of a railway journal, in which an item appeared intimating that Middleton was working under the C.P.R. auspices.

Mr. James Holmes and Mr. Peter Poole of Woodstock, A. J. Davis of Brantford, and James Cornish of Burford, who also had dealings with Middleton, were all closely questioned concerning the methods of the alleged swindler. This was all the evidence taken, and at the request of the Crown the case was further enlarged for a week.

The Charge of Bigamy.

At one o'clock in the afternoon an information was sworn out against Middleton, alleging that he did unlawfully marry Miss Sarah Smith of Sarnia, while he had already a wife in the person of Miss Lillian Munroe of Toronto.

To Be Charged With Stealing.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—The police here have received word that R. L. Middleton, alias McDonald, the railway projector, now in Woodstock jail, will be prosecuted, whether convicted on the other charges or not, for stealing a valuable collection of coins from the Post Office Department, Ottawa, some months ago. It is said the department has received strong evidence against Middleton.

A city business man, who gets to work at nine in the morning, takes an hour for lunch and leaves for home at four or five in the afternoon, little understands the hardships of the life of the farmer, who starts to work at break of day and frequently works on into the night by lantern-light.

A man to endure the hardships of a farmer's life, must be robust physically at the outset, and if he would live a long life, always keep a watchful eye upon his health. He should remember that it is the apparently trifling disorders that eventually make the big diseases. It does not do for a hard working man to neglect bilious attacks or spells of indigestion. If he does, he will soon find himself flat on his back with malaria or crippled with rheumatism. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the best of all medicines for hard working men and women. It makes the appetite keen and hearty, the digestion perfect, the liver active, the blood pure and rich with the life-giving elements of the food, and the nerves strong and steady. It builds firm muscles and solid flesh. It is the greatest of all blood-makers and purifiers. It cures malarial troubles and rheumatism. It is an unfailing cure for biliousness and indigestion. An honest dealer will not try to substitute some inferior preparation for the sake of a little additional profit.

"I was a sufferer for four years with malarial fever and chills," writes Robert Williams, of Kiowa, Barber Co., Kan. "Four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cured me and I now weigh 160 pounds instead of 150, my old weight."

Costiveness, constipation and torpidity of the liver are surely, speedily and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. They stimulate and strengthen the jaded organs until a regular habit is formed and may then be discontinued without a return of the trouble. They stimulate, invigorate and regulate the stomach, liver and bowels. Medicine stores sell them, and have no other pills that are "just as good."

A step ahead of others in quality—but never ahead in price—every purchase proves it.

Get the Boys Ready for School— Here are the New Suits.

WILL RETURN TO QUEBEC.

International Commissioners Work Hard While They Are at It—The Behring Sea Sealing Question Reached.

Quebec, Aug. 31.—After a week of rain and cold, the sun shone out from a cloudless sky, bright and clear and warm yesterday, and the United States commissioners to the International Conference began to look with kindlier feelings upon their place of meeting.

All the United States Commissioners will return to the United States during the adjournment, beginning next Friday. The approaching fall election will occupy the attention of a number of them, notably Mr. Dingley of Maine.

Lord Herschell will spend a portion of the two weeks at Newport, and will also visit Toronto. He does not expect to go to Ottawa. Sir James Winter will return to Newfoundland on Thursday.

All the commissioners were present yesterday morning, Sir James Winter having returned to the city during the night.

One thing is certain, so far as the commission is concerned; they are doing something. When the joint commission meets they sit continuously from eleven o'clock until late in the afternoon, and have their luncheon served in the Parliament buildings. During all the sessions the secretaries and messengers are kept on the jump for books and papers concerning the subjects under discussion. It is known that books relating to the Behring Sea sealing question have been much in evidence yesterday, and it is inferred by outsiders that this important question has been taken up.

Some of the Canadian authorities believe that the commissioners will never get beyond the sealing question. They argue that last winter when Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Sir Louis Davies went to Washington to have a settlement of that question they failed, and that conditions have not changed since then. It is asserted here that Sir Wilfrid Laurier at that time would not enter into any settlement of the Behring Sea matter unless the authorities at Washington were willing to take up and settle all other disputes. This the men at Washington were unwilling to do, and it is now maintained that the attitude of both Canadians and Americans is unchanged.

Lord Herschell last evening removed a misapprehension under which the newspaper representatives were with regard to the official news to be given out of the conference's doings. It had been understood that Lord Herschell and Senator Fairbanks had been named to give out to the press daily a brief announcement of what the commissioners had done during the day. To the group of newspaper men who waited upon him last evening His Lordship said this was a mistake. It was not the intention, he said, that he and Senator Fairbanks should necessarily give out anything. Only they should decide mutually when there was something to be given out.

It has been definitely determined that when the conference reassembles on Sept. 20 it will again meet at Quebec.

The commissioners were photographed yesterday in a group by Livernois.

SOUTH ONTARIO PROTEST.

Argument Heard Yesterday at Osgoode Hall—Judgment Reserved on All Points.

Toronto, Aug. 31. — Yesterday Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, acting for Mr. Charles Calder, M.P.P., of South Ontario, appeared before Mr. Justice Osler at Osgoode Hall, to move to set aside the election petition against Mr. Calder. Mr. Nesbitt argued on two objections to the petition. He held that Mr. C. M. Pilkey, the petitioner, was an alien and had no right to be a petitioner. Mr. Holman, for the petitioner, said that Mr. Pilkey was on the voters' list and had every right to act. Mr. Nesbitt further claimed that Mr. Pilkey did not act in good faith, and that the petition was decided upon at a meeting at which Mr. Pilkey was in attendance. Next day the petitioner swore that the charges were correct, and Mr. Nesbitt quoted two cases in New Brunswick courts where petitions were voided on similar grounds. Judgment was reserved on all the points. The petition is set down for hearing at Whitby on Sept. 12.

CAN'T ENJOY LIFE

Because of nervousness, dyspepsia, heart trouble, etc. Lots of people just have to sit and look on while their healthy, vigorous friends have all the enjoyment of a strong and robust body. Dr. Ward's Pills will bring back health, strength, snap, vim and energy to even the weakest and weariest of suffering humankind.

A BAD INVESTMENT MADE GOOD.

I have half a gross of empty bottles upon my shelves. Everything my neighbors and friends would tell me to try I would go straight away to the drug store and purchase. I was in a terrible condition from dyspepsia and liver troubles and was getting worse all the time. I was so discouraged buying one medicine and the other and receiving no benefit that I was about giving up all hope of ever getting better, when my husband brought me home a box of Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills, which he said had been highly recommended to him. I began using them at once, when, to my great surprise, I felt better in a very short time and continued them for about two weeks more which cured me entirely. I have not the least sign of dyspepsia or liver troubles now, and have also gained several pounds in weight.

Signed, ANNIE E. GAUNTLEY, King Street, Berlin, Ont.

Dr. Ward's Blood and Nerve Pills are sold at 50 cents per box, 5 boxes for $2.00, at druggists, or mailed on receipt of price by The Dr. Ward Co., 71 Victoria St., Toronto.

SNAP SHOTS AT TIMELY TOPICS.

—The present indications are that Mr. Cecil Rhodes and his party have been successful in the Cape Colony elections. With Sir Herbert Kitchener pushing southward with his already victorious forces and Cecil Rhodes pushing northward with his railways, it will not be long before the dashing soldier of the north and the daring statesman of the south make connections somewhere in the Equatorial provinces, when Great Britain will have a high road straight through Africa from Alexandria to Cape Town.—Events.

—Gloves for street wear are, according to a New York paper, going out of fashion. Only a year or two ago a woman would as soon have thought of appearing on the street bathless as gloveless, but now she goes barehanded into public. Can this be one of the results of the advancement of woman? Is it possible that since she has begun to mix more in public, and take a hand in all public affairs, that she has learned that the only way to get even with the world is to handle it without gloves?—Events.

—What has become of the Washington of the North that Laurier was going to turn Ottawa into for the credit of Canada? Mr. Mulock has done all he can to lessen the population of the capital by removing several families out of it to run dead letter offices in Toronto and elsewhere, and now Mr. Hardy, Laurier's right arm, is going to remove the Ontario timber offices in Ottawa, and at the same time transfer the fisheries to Toronto. That does not look much like helping on the Washington of the North idea. The fun of it is that there are men in Ottawa, who should have known better, who actually believed that Laurier, if he got into power, would spend the money of the people of Canada for the sole benefit of Ottawa. Indeed so firmly convinced were they that this was going to happen, that, Tories as they were, they voted for the Liberal candidate at the last elections. Only this afternoon I heard one of these gentlemen complaining bitterly and declaring that he would never vote Liberal again. It is wonderful how literally some people take the utterances of politicians who are talking to catch votes. Even the City Council thought something wonderful was going to happen, and they are at a loss to account for the fact that nothing has yet happened. These men are more to be laughed at than pitied.—Events.

THE INDUSTRIAL.

Sir Oliver Mowat Presses the Button and Sets Toronto's Fair in Motion.

Toronto, Aug. 31.—The ceremony of opening the Industrial Exhibition this year fell to the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Oliver Mowat. Before he touched the button, which was electrically connected with the machinery of the Fair, Sir Oliver listened to that ancient infliction—an address of welcome—one paragraph of which is worth recording. The excerpt is:

"To you, Sir, who have had no small share in the making of this Dominion, it must be especially gratifying to contemplate her present position, to review her past and anticipate her future. As an alderman of this city, which has been your home for nearly sixty years, as a member of the Parliament of Canada; as a judge; as Premier of Ontario for almost a quarter of a century; as Senator and Minister of Justice, and now as her Majesty's representative in this your native province, you have for many years taken a prominent and honorable part in raising Canada to the position which she occupies to day, recognized by the world as a nation commanding the resources and controlling the destinies of half a continent."

By 3 o'clock yesterday Sir Oliver had touched the button, the machinery was in motion and the Fair happily started. The function was witnessed by the usual local celebrities, the Mayor and aldermen, the city officials, the city and county members of Parliament and of the Legislature, and Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere, Emerson Bainbridge, M.P., England, and the mayors of several Canadian cities. They were afterwards entertained at luncheon by the directors.

The attendance was the largest ever seen on an opening day.

In the evening a consecration service was held in the Temple.

American Roads Cutting Rates.

Buffalo, N.Y., Aug. 31.—Mr. George H. Daniels, General Passenger Agent of the New York Central Railroad, was in Buffalo yesterday. In an interview, he declared that every road entering Buffalo, with the exception of those included in the Vanderbilt system, were cutting rates right and left, and had been doing so for a year.

Atlantic & Lake Superior Railway.

Montreal, Aug. 31.—There appears to be little doubt now as to the final success of the Atlantic & Lake Superior Railway scheme, and its steamboat connections. The report cabled yesterday as to a very large block of stock being underwritten has been confirmed by private cables to the promoters here.

Prof. Brodie, entomologist of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, has just discovered a new bug which attacks the pears. It promises to be extremely disastrous. Measures will be taken to stamp it out wherever it is found.

Glacier Ice.

The Paris Ice Company has conceived the idea of making some of the glaciers furnish the ice needed for consumption, the last winter having been so mild that their other resources failed, and they have accordingly laid the DuCasset glacier under tribute.

Reversible Shirt Bosom.

A Pennsylvanian has patented a reversible shirt bosom composed of four fronts, placed back to back in pairs and hinged together at the bottom, with loops for attaching them to the edge, thus forming a shirt with four bosoms.
